Culbert grabs victory in supervisor race

By DARLENE STINSON

Incumbent Supervisor Noel Culbert broke an eight-year "jinx" Tuesday night when he walked away with 43 percent of the Democratic supervisor votes and won his party's nomination. An incumbent supervisor has not won a Canton primary since 1972.

Culbert easily beat Trustee Robert Greenstein and Harold Stein, who have both held the supervisor's chair before.

Greenstein garnered 30 percent of the Democratic tally, or 832 votes. Stein's 652 votes won only a 24 percent share. Culbert easily topped both with Greenstein, Canton's supervisor from 1974 to 1976, lost his trustee seat on the Township Board by staging the unsuccessful campaign for Canton's top administrative job. His trustee term expires in November

What can I tell you?" Greenstein asked late Tuesday evening. "I'm real pleased that I can lose this election with honor.

DEPUTY TREASURER Maria Falkiewicz took the evening's largest margin of victory in the Democratic treasurer's race. She won 52 percent of the total 2,411 votes cast.

Anna Bradley, Canton's treasurer from 1976 to 1978, came in second with 630 votes compared to Ms. Falkiewicz' 1,245. Gerald Brown came in third with a vote total of 536 Ms. Falkiewicz wore a smile of surprise as she was greeted by well-wishers in the meeting room at Township Hall. "I'm just really shocked. I really didn't think we'd make it.' The Republican treasurer's race was a close one all evening. James Kearney and Leo Knasiak took alternate leads as the precinct-by-precinct totals were pegged on a board in the Township Hall meeting room. When the last precinct came in, Kearney showed 434 votes compared to Knasiak's 348. Kearney and Ms. Falkiewicz will battle it out for the township's first full-time treasurer's job next Novem-

IN THE RACES for four trustee nominations, Democrat Carol Bodenmiller and Republican Robert Padget won the largest margins of victory.

Incumbent Bodenmiller took the lead in the Democratic trustee race with a 1.354 votes. Gary Roberts came in sec-

Incumbent Trustee Eugene Daley came in a close fifth as he lost his job with 816 votes. Sixth place in the nineway Democratic race went to Dianne Neihengen with 808 votes, seventh to James Bridenthal with 737, eighth to Elizabeth Hamann with 637 and ninth to Michael Quick with 591.

Padget, a current planning commissioner, easily won a Republican trustee nomination with 621 votes.

Incumbent Trustee Stephen Larson, who won a Township Board seat by appointment last year, earned second place in the Republican race with 484 votes. Loren Bennett placed third with 396, while farmer Duane Bordine narrowly earned a spot on the November ballot with 364 votes.

Defeated Republican trustee candidates were Thomas Carman, with 341

Campaign workers crowd around the phone and jot numbers as election results come in. Sandwiches, snacks and a huge cake compete for space on a large buffet table. Beer flows, and somebody turns on the music to liven the party. Excitement mixed with exhaustion alternately brighten and dull the eyes of candidates and their supporters.

Incumbent township Supervisor Noel Culbert permits a smile to break through only when it is apparent he has won the Democratic primary. By a margin of a little more than 300 votes. Culbert has the nod to run against James Poole in the November election

Why Culbert? The victorious candidate said he mailed flyers to Canton residents who traditionally vote in primary elections.

"I don't know," said Culbert. "I think people are satisfied with the way the township is run.

"It's quiet," he added. "They (residents) correlate that with doing a good job. I have a better personality.'

NEITHER Greenstein nor Stein expressed bitterness about the outcome of the primary. Both are former township supervisors.

"I make offers on my own terms," said Greenstein. "I made an offer to the voters of Canton to run the best government for the next four years. "Anybody who does things on their own terms knows they have to accept that (loss)," he added.

Stein said he didn't have a "feel" for the outcome of the election, because there were several candidates.

"I think we tried what know-how I have," said Stein. "My legs are numb from standing on concrete for hours

But Norma Topp, who organized the literature along with husband Bradley, as president never intended to provoke a political storm. The group wanted to urge citizens to vote, she said.

Last weekend, Citizens for a Better Canton distributed 5,000 to 10,000 pamphlets endorsing the campaigns of eight Township Board candidates.

Mrs. Topp said the 60 to 75 citizens who comprise the group reached the endorsement decision informally. Most of the group's members reside in For-

NANCY WHITE, president of the League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novi, said her group plans to ask an opinion from the Michigan Secretary of State's Office regarding the ehtics of the flyer.

LWV members living in Canton received dozens of phone calls for irate residents over the weekend, she said. Two candidates endorsed in the flyer - Democratic treasurer hopeful Gerald Brown and Republican trustee candidate Robert Padget - vehemently objected to the use of their name in the publication, according to Ms. White.

Brown said Monday that he was upset over the flyer, because he is "an absolute independent" who was unasso-

"I'm upset about it," said Ms. White. "It looks something like our Oakland County Voter's Guide. You wonder if this was an innocent mistake or just an attempt to deceive. I think it has affected our reputation."

Farmer market kicks off—despite rain

Eager customers cleaned out Ernest Cosantino's supply of sweet corn at the Canton farmers market last Saturday.

Then the corn-hungry folks headed over to the Cosantinos' Cherry Hill roadside stand to buy more.

Jack Suddendorf had a variety of fresh vegetables to sell at the farmers market, too. He had to go back to his Saltz Road farm three times to replenish his stock.

Only four Canton farmers - including Suddendorf and Cosantino braved rain, lightning and thunder to helf inaugurate the market. A few came for a while.

About 10 farmers were scheduled to be at the Kmart shopping center lot at Ford and Sheldon to sell fresh, Cantongrown vegetables

"WE ALMOST cancelled because it wasn't just raining," said Dianne Neihengen of the farmers' market committee. "Lightning drove them

"It was too dangerous to pick," she added. "Maybe it wouldn't have been as much fun if we didn't have so many obstacles. I think they did very well."

Ms. Neihengen said she expects more farmers and crafts persons to take part from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each Saturdays through the end of September.

The market's schedule may be extended if there is enough variety of produce, she added.

Ms. Neihengen said both shopping center merchants and farmers are taking an interest in the market.

FOR EXAMPLE, Rose Cosantino and her husband, Guido, run a farm and roadside stand on Cherry Hill west of Beck. Their son, Ernest, ran a stall at the farmers' market.

"It was real good," said Mrs. Cosan-in later weeks. The market is set to run tino. "Oh, people loved that sweet corn. People came to the house.'

Sandy Suddendorf said her husband, Jack, picked their vegetables the night before and kept them chilled. "It was all good and fresh, and that's the important thing," added Mrs. Sud-dendorf. The Suddendorfs, who have been farming for about 10 years, plan to concentrate on selling their stock of vegetables at the Canton farmers' market. Previously, they had used the Ypsilanti market. "We're encouraged," said Mrs. Suddendorf. "If we have enough, we'll go to Ypsilanti.'

More participation in the township-sponsored farmers market is expected next year.

Election pamphlet sparks flurry of protests

"I don't think we have any legal recourse," she added. "The wording is very careful here. But it isn't clear to the average voter who just skims the front page. People called to ask why the league was endorsing candidates."

Mrs. Topp said her group used a an LWV statement which appeared in newspapers simply as a way to urge citizens to vote. No one in the group thought the flyer would appear like an LWV publication, she said.

MS. HAMANN, a Democratic trustee dirt, they knew it," she said. "Now, it's candidate who was not named in the flyer, pleged to file a complaint with the Wayne County Election Commission over the matter.

An attorney, Ms. Hamann admitted that the wording of the pamphlet clears the citizens group from legal charges.

"But if a complaint is filed, they'll investigate and tell these people they can't dissemenate anything they feel like. I think you've got to put people like that on notice.

Padget, Larson and Thomas Carman. Greenstein denied any knowledge of twice, a feat which Spanich says attests the flyer until it reached his mailbox.

The Topps received about a dozen calls from LWV members, candidates and citizens over the weekend. Their address was printed in fine print on the last page of the flyer.

"We were really feeling bad because everyone was so upset," she said. "My mind feels like it's been through the wringer. That (to deceive) was not our

MRS. TOPP said Citizens for a Better Canton first published a political flyer two years ago. The literature endorsed the campaign of then-trustee candidate Robert Greenstein and criticized Harold Stein, then a supervisor

Mrs. Topp said the 1978 flyer contained some "mud-slinging.

"This one, I thought was real nice,"

"In the election four years ago, we became aware of the fact that the primary is a big election. Unfortunately, there's a big turnout in November and a smaller one in the primary. We wanted at least to get people out to vote."

Mrs. Topp declined to reveal the cost of the flyer or the individuals who made contributions. That information will be contained in the group's public statement of election expenditures.

In ex-Navy plane, sky's an open road

By SUSAN ROSIEK

Jack Spanich likens flying his highpowered Douglas Skyraider to driving a finely tuned sports car.

"You can take a car out on a country road and enjoy the way it handles. It's the same thing with an airplane," says Spanich, who enjoys performing "limited maneuvers" with his single-engine

However, the sky is Spanich's "open road" when he puts the 2,700-horsepower ex-Navy warbird through its

FROM MAY through October, Spanich tours the country on weekends participating in airshows. Besides a variety of local appearances, his flight log includes trips to the Pauxtan River, Ma.; Oceania, Va.; Clearwater, Fla.; Jackson, Miss.; Harligen, Texas and several Wisconsin stops.

Spanich enjoys commanding the Skyraider because of the challenges in-

"You act as pilot, navigator, engineer and radioman. It's a lot more demanding that an ordinary plane," says Spanich who has flown a variety of single-engine and light twin-engine aircraft in his 20-year career.

Is it dangerous? "No more so than any other small plane or jet aircraft for that matter," maintains Spanich.

However, not just any pilot can step in and guide the controls of a Skyraider, or any other military-type aircraft for that matter, Spanich said.

"IN THEORY, all airplanes are the same. They have wings, a tail and propellor, but speed is the difference. It's like going from an ordinary car to one used in the Indy 500 - it's takes some

That practice includes passing a special test over and above what's required for the normal pilot's license.

"You can't afford to get rusty," says Spanich, who flies regularly from May through October and at least twice a month during the winter months.

This weekend, he's looking forward to powering up his plane for the hometown crowd.

Free Contour Analysis Helps Determine If You Really Have To!

In a recent research program Contour Analysis screening tests disclosed 94% of the scoliosis cases found to be positive by x-ray examination

Contour Analysis involves taking a three dimensional picture (Called Moire photography) of the surface of the back to help detect postural distortions. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomotology, and levels of spinal tenderness. Such composite examinations may indicate such things as spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion

A free Contour Analysis screening test is also being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic office listed below People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neuralgia, nerve pain, neck pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc. are also invited to receive this free examination

These tests, including consultation with the doctor, are being offered to the public at no charge, or obligation, for the next 30 days. Anyone wishing to receive this free examination may telephone the participating office directly for information or an appointment. If treatment, or additional examination, is indicated, almost all health insurance policies cover chiropractic care. All fees thoroughly explained prior to any additional service being rendered

Keep pets from heat

Fifteen minutes in the sun on a 90-degree-plus day can make you hot and uncomfortable, but it can actually kill your pet, the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS)

"Dogs and cats cannot sweat the way people do," cautions Phyllis Wright, director of animal sheltering and control for HSUS. Wright explains that dogs and cats rely on panting, a way to exchange the hot air inside the body for the cooler air outside, to regulate their body tem-

When the temperature outside is hotter than the animal's own body temperature, that system can easily break down, resulting in heat exhaustion and death in just a few

Wright recommends that during times of extreme warm weather, animals should be kept inside and given more water to drink than usual. Exercise should be limited to the coolest part of the day - early morning or late evening. Above all, never leave a pet in a car during the day in the summer, even in the shade

Incumbents survive

70% favor Wayne County charter body

An Observer roundup

A landslide vote said yes to a Wayne County Charter Commission, the first step toward putting a single executive in charge of county budgets and management

There were no surprises as all county officeholders, congressmen, local state representatives and county commissioners won renomination.

Suburbs voted as strongly as Detroit in favor of Proposal A, which will set up a 27-member charter writing commission in 1981.

With 93 percent of the vote counted, there were 133,361 yes votes to 58,626 no. The victory margin was nearly 70

Voters also nominated candidates in partisan primaries for charter commissioner. Those elected Nov. 4 will have six months in which to work and set a date for final voter approval probably in November of 1981.

ONLY COUNTY Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz had any real contest for Democratic renomination. Seeking a second term, Wojtowicz gathered 38,508 votes and was followed by state Sen. George Hart of Dearborn with None of the other four treasurer candidates had more than 20,000 votes. Yet it was a thin victory for Wojtowicz because most other Democratic incumbents in county office got 70,000 or more votes.

Other county results with 93 percent of the vote tallied:

Democratic - Prosecutor William Cahalan, 93,131, over Roman Karwowski, 26,527; Sheriff William Lucas, 115,562, over Wayne Lynn, 16,012; Clerk James Killeen (unopposed), 93,041; Register of Deeds Forest Youngblood, 78,502, over David Sobczak, 18,459, and Edward Opanowski, 17,494; Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood (unopposed), 101,920; Auditor Richard T. Rotarians gear up for festival

Club flips over pancake plan

By W.W. EDGAR

If you are a lover of pancakes and good, crisp country sausage the place. to be on Saturday morning is Griffin Park in Canton. The Canton Rotary Club is serving breakfast as part of the annual Canton Country Festival.

This is the first year the Rotary Club is involved in the festival. But like its counterpart breakfast in Plymouth, the Rotarians are planning the affair to the point where there is little likelihood of

This will not be just an ordinary breakfast. It is possible that a modern record will be set before the last pancake or the final link of sausage is eat-in charge of the breakfast, the Rotarians expect a gathering of 2,000 diners between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m.

In a covered section of the park at Canton Center and Cherry Hill will be seating capacity for 300 persons. Aside from this, there will be a carry-out station at the Pearle Vision Center on Ford Road where there also will be seating for 50 people.

If this mark is reached, it will surpass the record now held by the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth, which serves 2,500 dinners in nine hours.

Rotarians are prepared to cook 7,200

Bob Evans sausage links. To get some idea of the vastness of the plan, these links would stretch 2,100 feet or four city blocks if laid end to end. A sufficient number of grills are being set up to prepare 25,920 pancakes, or enough to provide four pancakes each for 6,480 servings.

To meet these figures, six grills are being set up with the Rotarians working, three men to a team. Each person will tend two grills, flipping 18 pancakes on each grill. At this rate, according to the advance plans, it would mean that 108 pancakes can be flipped every minute and a half.

TO KEEP PACE with the pancake flippers, there will be four sausage press grills. Two power generators will be at the site to furnish the needed

LWV objects to political flyer

Editor

During the weekend of Aug. 2-3, a four page tabloid, entitled "Canton Voters' Guide," was distributed in Canton Township. While the sponsoring group was identified in the tabloid as the "Citizens for a Better Canton" (a misleading statement), the words, "Important Election — League of Women Voters hope for a good turn out" appear in large letters in the center of the front page.

League members have received dozens of phone calls asking if we have changed our well-known policy of never endorsing or supporting candidates. This partisan tabloid used the name of the League of Women Voters without our knowledge or permission.

The League of Women Voters is a national, nonprofit organization which never supports or opposes any political party or candidate.

We are gravely concerned that the use of the name of the League in this partisan flyer has had a detrimental effect on the reputation of our 60 year old organization. We want to emphasize that this tabloid is not a League publication, and that in no way is it to be construed as an endorsement by the League of Women Voters of any candidate.

Plans OK'd for offices, small shops

The Canton township board has approved the site plans for two new developments on Canton Center

Approved were the plans for a small shopping center on Canton Center between Ford and Warren and an office-bank complex on the east side of Canton Center south of joy.

The plans for the shopping center call for a party store and one or two small shops on a 2.2-acre parcel zoned community commercial. A single-family house on the property will be torn down, said architect Roy Albert of Lathrup Village.

Albert said he expects work to begin on that development in the next few weeks.

Plans for the office-bank complex, to be developed by Loren Gould, call for 12 offices and a bank on a five-acre parcel zoned for office use. A planning commission report notes that the site will be linked through traffic lanes to an existing office development nearby.

TRUSTEE Carol Bodenmiller said she was concerned about "hot-shot young drivers" from nearby Plymouth-Canton High School cutting through the parking lot.

"Economics will dictate that the developer will take care of that," noted Treasurer James Donahue.

Donahue also commented that water and sewer hookup may not be immediately available.

Repairs are presently being made to the water system to ease chronic water pressure problems.

- The Skill Bank is an organization of local tradesmen and handymen who help retirees with small repairs and home maintenance. Charges are negotiated between both parties. (Additional workers are needed).
- The Vial of Life program amkes available patient's medical information in small capsules in predetermined locations in one's home. In case of emergency help, this information then is on hand for rescue workers. The vials are available at local fire stations, or by calling 455-4907.

Muzzleloaders, meteors on tap

By LEM MESEE Outdoors writer

Some 250 shooters from eight states wili be firing muzzleloaders and old cannons in the seventh annual North-South Skirmish this weekend.

It begins at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday on the grounds of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association, 6700 Napier Road north of North Territorial Road in Plymouth Township.

Admission to the family event is free, said Tom Ramsey, skirmish chairman.

Most competitors and their families will be in Civil War-style costumes. The women will hold a dress competition Sunday morning

Individual shooting competition will be on Saturday and team competition on Sunday, said Ramsey, who called it a fun way to get acquainted with historic American weaponry SKYWATCHERS will see "the best meteor shower of the year" next week, says astronomy Professor Richard G. Teske of the University of Michigan.

The shower starts Saturday and lasts until Wednesday. Look high in the north and northeast skies before midnight. There will be no moon to interfere with the spectacle.

Monday night the meteor shower will hit its peak. "As many as 50 to 100 meteors per hour ought to be visible after midnight, when the best viewing is anticipated. But late evening hours should be nearly as rewarding." Teske said

One good way of seeing the meteor shower will be aboard the "Island Queen" excursion boat in Kensington Metropark near Milford. Naturalist Steve Horn will discuss meteors and summer constellations during the trip, which leaves the west shore boat dock at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Charge is $2. Call the metropark office at 685-1561 to register in advance and assure yourself a

Teske calls this the Persoid shower of meteors. "A typical particle of the Persoid shower is made of fluffy, low-density rocky material, is a few tenths of an inch in size and about as heavy as a postage

They arrive at a speed of nearly 40 miles per second, glow brightly at an altitude of 60 miles and vaporize before reaching the ground. Seven to 10 arrive each hour.

They are debris from comets. The Persoid shower was generated by a comet first recorded in 1862.

"Insect Lifestyles" - 10 a.m. Sunday at the nature center. Naturalist Steve Horn will examine how insects communicate, reproduce, escape enemies and catch food. Call 685-1561, to register.

"Barnyard Weeds - To Know Them Is To Love Them" - 11 a.m. Sunday at the farm center. Farm interpreter Dave Moilanen will lead a tour of the barnyard, garden and farm lane. Call 685-9105, to register.

A one-hour morning nature cruise aboard the "Island Queen" excursion boat - 10 a.m. Aug. 13. Naturalist Gordon Lonie will discuss human and natural history. Meet at the boat dock on the west side of Kent Lake. Cost of the boat trip is $1.50. Register by calling 685-1561

All except the boat trip are free. Admission to the park is $2 per vehicle or $7 for a season pass.

It's unlikely that an angler can spend a day on the water without seeing one or more of these birds

Luckily for humans, birds are seldom interested in the same kinds of fish.

Research has shown that most fish taken by birds are nongame species, although where it is possible to feed on gamefish, birds don't hesitate to do so. A survey of cormorants in the Midwest showed that half their stomach contents were gamefish, the remaineder non-gamefish and other aquatic life.

Elsewhere, great blue herons were found to be eating mostly suckers, frogs and sculpins despite a healthy trout population in the same stream.

And in Michigan, biologists estimated that mergansers, expert diving ducks were eating an average of five trout apiece, per day.

Birds preying on fish is not one-sided. Fish often feed on young water birds and one study proved that pike have a definite appetite for immature div-

Reports of lethal dog disease spotty

By TOM LONERGAN

Several veterinary hospitals in western Wayne County show an uneven pattern of parvovirus infection, a potentially lethal dog disease.

"We've got (suspected cases) coming out of our ears," said Dr. Donald Sturtevant of Westcott Animal Hospital in Old Redford. He said the hospital has treated two suspected cases of the intestinal disease per day during the past

A Garden City vet said he has treated 15 possible cases of the disease during the past two weeks.

Two Plymouth area veterinarians and one in Livonia, however, said they have seen only a couple of cases.

The dog-killing virus is more prevalent in other parts of the state.

BECAUSE SYMPTOMS are similar to common intestinal upsets - vomiting and diarrhea - five area veterinarians interviewed this week urged dog owners to have their pets vaccinated and not let a suspected case go un-

"It's impossible to look at the animal and say, 'Yes, he does have it,' " said Dr. Stuart J. Morrison of Garden City. You have to take lab tests.

"It's difficult for anyone to be sure," said Dr. Richard Kirchgatter of Plymouth. "Last year, they would have called it (due to) poor food or something — (eating) garbage.

According to one vet, "The odor of the (dog's) stool will just about knock you over," said Dr. Glenn R. McClure of the Strong Veterinary hospital in Livonia. He has treated two cases of the disease. One dog died.

Dr. Sturtevant said another initial sign of the disease is depression. "The animal will be lethargic and uninterested in anything," he said, which indicates a high fever. He has had one case where a dog had a 107 degree fe-

"THERE ISN'T a whole lot of time to play around with this thing," said Dr. Sturtevant. He said the fatality rate for dogs with the disease is "50 to 60 percent."

The virus is primarily spread through dog feces.

"If a dog drops on the ground and another dog goes over and sniffs it, he's been exposed to it," said Dr. Sturbe carried on people's clothes after they have held a small puppy.

"There are a lot of them (suspected cases) that are false alarms," Dr. McClure said. "My only concern is don't wait 24 hours to see what happens." He said the disease could be fatal within 48 hours.

A recently developed vaccine to treat the virus is in short supply. Dr. Morrison said only one company in the country makes it.

THE SOUTHEASTERN Michigan Veterinary Medical Association recommends dog owners isolate their pets for the next two weeks — cutting down on the number of walks and keeping the animal leashed.

"Keep them away from any other dogs," said Dr. Sturtevant, "and watch where you step." An inadvertant walker may transmit the disease via the

"Don't let them wander," added Dr. Morrison. "It's more important now than ever.

The disease may infect either the bone marrow or the heart, according to Dr. William Schall, associate professor of small animal surgery and medicine at Michigan State University.

When it affects the heart, the virus Dr. McClure said the disease can also causes quick death with no indication of illness, Dr. Schall said.

When it affects bone marrow, dogs usually have diarrhea and are vulnerable to other infections because the disease-fighting white blood cells are diminished.

Dog shows, boarding kennels, state parks and roadside rest areas are places where dogs could pick up the infection, said Dr. John Richardson of Farmington, president of the Michigan Veterminary Medical Association.

SC awaits state funds for culinary addition

By TOM LONERGAN

The Michigan Legislature willing, Schoolcraft College officials hope their $1.2 million Culinary Arts addition will be off the drawing board in October.

The seven-member Board of Trustees last week unanimously approved final plans for the one-story addition to the Waterman Campus Center and set Sept. 10 for the opening of bids. The board plans to award contracts Oct. 1.

THE CONSTRUCTION timetable could be delayed, however, if state legislators don't approve $570,000 for the project next month. The state is funding half of the project. "For me to sit here tonight and guarantee to you that on Oct. 1 that project will be reinstated and ready to go, I son Grote told trustees last Wednesday. "We could end up Oct. 1 and not have an appropriations bill on the governor's

The project is a scaled-down version of a two-story building scrapped due to repeated millage defeats. Grote said the college had to re-apply for state approval and funding when it revised the plan after the fourth millage defeat last summer.

Last year, the legislature re-allocated $650,000 due Schoolcraft, Grote said, pending completion of plans for the addition. College officials are now looking for most of that money to be reinstated. The state has approved $100,000 for the addition.

GROTE SAID, "There's not a single vote against the project," on the legis- pletion date. Actual construction cost, lature's Joint Capital Outlay Commit-

He said the $570,000 Schoolcraft needs is "miniscule compared to $10 million and $11 million projects for other (state) colleges and universities."

Grote said spending cuts ordered twice by Gov. William G. Milliken since the first of the year will not affect the Schoolcraft project.

The Legislature will not reconvene until the second week of September. Grote says he's "cautiously optimistic" state funding will be approved by the end of next month.

The local share for the project -$638,000 — is from an 11-year-old bond

The 11,300-square-foot addition to be built north of the Waterman Campus Center has a January 1982 target comaccording to architect F. Gene Ralls, of Livonia, is an estimated $887,000.

Kitchen and food service equipment will cost an estimated $370,000

The addition will allow for a doubling of the Schoolcraft culinary arts enrollment. The 60 culinary arts students now enrolled prepare all the food for the college's food service and ban-

ON OTHER state funding matters, Grote said Schoolcraft can expect no more than a 2 percent increase in state aid for the 1980-81 academic year.

Under the budget which took effect July 1, college officials estimated a state appropriation of $5.2 million 2.7 percent more than received during the 1979-80 academic year.

"The least they will give us is a continuation appropriation," Grote said. "If the economy stabilizes, we might get a 1 to 2 percent increase."

School foundation: praise and some questions

Some people in the Wayne-Westland school district may soon be singing a song from some time ago called "I Believe in Miracles.

The cause is the Wayne-Westland Foundation for the Improvement of Instruction. Such a foundation is now under study by the school board.

It is the brain child of Supt. Timothy Dyer, who learned about foundations as a supplemental financing tool while serving as trustee on the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents. His idea is to provide Wayne-Westland students with a number of small miracles that would enhance their educa-

VOTERS SHOULD be careful not to mistake this for tax relief. It isn't. Residents in the district still have the responsibility to fund schools and pay teachers' salaries.

What this foundation would do is seek donations from corporations and private benefactors, eventually funding some educational "extras" with interest carned on the investments.

It's an innovative idea, especially attractive in a district intent on serving all residents regardless of

The board received a brief introduction to the foundation's proposed by-laws and articles of incorporation at a recent study session. It is expected to approve formation of the foundation this month.

Since the board of education must approve the organization, and since the board president and treasurer will compose two-thirds of its members, the foundation appears to be a quasi-public body. Because of its close connection to the school district, public perception of the foundation is a key to its success. It may appear to be a public group run privately by the board.

SOME THINGS concern us about the by-laws.

We're puzzled over a provision that calls for more trustees on the board of the foundation than there are members in it. The foundation will have three members, including the superintendent, and five trustees or any other odd number but not less than

At the study session, the board and administration discussed the possibility of adding someone from the financial and law fields to the foundation's board of trustees. That could be a benefit, but a financial institution officer is specifically prohibited from being on a foundation board subcommittee that would disburse funds.

What's needed on the board of trustees is just some plain folks - residents who are in touch with the community would act appropriately as a liaison, providing information on what the community needs and soliciting donations.

Also needed on the board are some women. Right now the three members of the foundation are men simply because that's who fills those posts of superintendent and board president and treasurer. The members should make it a point to find some women for the same reason as Title IX was necessary in education — to insure that the needs of young girls aren't overlooked.

Uses of funds is vague, as now specified for the foundation. The school board should take a look at how funds will be disbursed and, in general terms. for what uses.

Handling the funds, as the provisions now read. can be done by an "executive committee" of two The school board must be careful not to limit money matters — and therefore power — to just a couple of persons.

Also of serious concern is a specific provision which says meetings of the foundations don't have to be public. While the foundation may not be covered under the Open Meetings Act, if it holds closed meetings it certainly violates the spirit of the act and raises evebrows. Open those doors!

The administration already has spent considerable time researching the proposed foundation. The school board must likewise study this carefully This is one proposal that shouldn't be allowed to

Tenting isn't like cramped, leaky old days

A few days back, a news release came sailing across my desk extolling the virtues of camping a strange coincidence since I'm planning my annual trek to the north woods.

The release was meant to show the versatility of the Oakland County park system.

A young couple interviewed was all for primitive camping — no john, sleeping in a tent and cooking over wood fires. The other couple, nearing their 70s, are professional campers. They move around the country in their giant camper equipped with color television, full bath and kitchen. Such talk reminds the veteran campers of how it has all changed over the years — particularly, when it comes to tents.

LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE in today's inflationridden society, tents are incredibly expensive. Having just purchased one, I know

Remember those little jobbies that are just big enough to hold two Boy Scouts? Well, believe me, it takes a heck of a lot more than two Boy Scouts' allowance to buy one today. It's nothing to pay $200-$300.

But then, even today's two-person tent is a Cadillac compared to the Edsel-like tents of old.

Think back about 20 or 30 years when at least half the challenge of camping was setting up and living in the tent

BEFORE ANYONE could have imagined anything as outrageous as a mobile camper, my parents bought a tent with which Barnum and Bailey would have been comfortable

Its purchase was a family highlight. For years we had been renting those obnoxious little umbrella tents. You remember those. Unlike today's sleek lightweight tents with aluminum frames which support the tent from the outside, the old umbrellas were canvas and wood monsters.

The wooden support frame went inside the tent. And like an umbrella, there was a giant pole stuck smack dab in the middle of the tent.

Assembling it was a major trauma with lots of yelling and screaming and bruised knuckles. But that was only the beginning. Sleeping four in one of them was the ultimate challenge. Campers who survived became quite adept at wrapping themselves around the middle support pole.

Needless to say, we all were more than happy to rise at 5 a.m. to go fishing

OF COURSE, part of camping in northern Michigan is the rain. It must rain at least one day while you're camping in the Wolverine State. It's a rule.

Naturally, the tent would leak, which played havoc with the rainy-day Scrabble game. Most times the entire family would end up sitting in the old '53 Ford station wagon, particularly after the the old umbrella had been blown over by a gale wind and my father had been smacked in the head by the wooden center pole.

Us kids sat quietly as my mother patched up

I thought of those old times as I forked over $200plus to buy the brightly colored nylon tent with the shiny aluminium frame.

Pa doesn't camp anymore. He swears it just isn't the same as the good old days. But then, memory has a way of blotting out the bad things.

Substitute was the champ

After all the fuss raised over Tommy Hearns' bid for the world welterweight championship last weekend in Joe Louis Arena, it might be difficult for today's fight fans to realize Detroit was the scene of the weirdest title bout held in the history of the manly art of self-dense.

It might be more difficult to believe that the champion came into the ring as a substitute on 48 hours notice and the price of admission was only 50 cents for the balcony compared to the $500 asked for ringside seats to see Hearns.

This weird title bout came into being under the most unusual conditions. At the time - before Olympia was built - Detroit already was considered a great fight town, and bouts were held in what then was called Danceland at the corner of Woodward and Forest.

IN THE UPSTAIRS of the building, a robust fellow named Walter Langlois operated an after-hours watering spot and doubled as matchmaker for the boxing club on the first floor.

His best drawing card was a middleweight named Bob Sage, who later became an outstanding judge in the Detroit courts. Langlois was bringing him along slowly in the hope that he would develop in to a title

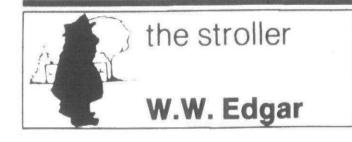

In order to give Sage a chance to climb the ladder, Langlois matched him with a run-of-the-mine fighter.

Early one morning after the Detroit dailies had gone to press, a group of the sportswriters congregated at Langlois' "blind pig." They found Walter yelling and screaming about his tough luck. In his hands was a telegram stating that Sage's opponent had broken his hand and could not appear.

"Imagine that," Langlois yelled, "and I have the best advance sale in months.

"Why not get a substitute?" he was asked. Langlois countered, "Where can you get a suitable substitute on such short notice?'

ONE SPORTS WRITER in the group asked, "If we get a substitute, will you use him?" Langlois nodded in assent

The writer called the police department in Pittsburgh and asked the officer in charge to contact Harry Greb, then the world middleweight champion and the greatest playboy the game ever has known.

A half hour later, the Pittsburgh officer called back and had Greb with him. The champion was asked if he would come to Detroit as a substitute and fight a fellow named Bob Sage.

"Hell," he said, "I haven't had a boxing glove on in two months.

He was told that he could outbox Sage easily and that he would be helping out his old friend, Walter Langlois.

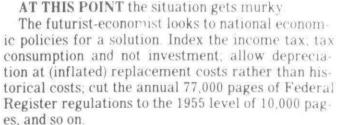

"When do you want me there?" Greb asked. "Come in Friday morning in time for the weigh-in at noon," he was told

"I'll be there," answered the champ. IT SO HAPPENED that when they got on the scales Sage had made the middleweight limit of 160 pounds, and Greb weighed the same. Under these conditions, the bout became a championship affair, but the public didn't know about it until the afternoon of the match. It is history that Greb won easily, but it marked the first time that a champion defended his title in the role of a substitute on the day of the bout.

Did you know that for the past 10 years, a unique hospital and research facility in Ann Arbor has attracted young patients from all over the nation and around the world? About 6,700 children a year enter Michigan's Mott Children's Hospital. Care for some of these children starts even before birth, and Mott ? heart surgeons have actually performed open heart surgery on children as young as 1 day old.

Reagan dislikes 'gingerbread,' gets to point

By JOHN SILVI

Ronald Reagan's writing has a simplicity of form that tells us the Republican presidential nominee does not like ornamentation or unnecessary frills.

He prefers down-to-earth simplicity, and he cannot tolerate what is sometimes called "ginger-

My analysis of Reagan's handwriting has been structured only from an examination of his writing specimen — an autographed photo given to Clara Giordano. No consideration has been given to anything that has been said or printed about him.

He knows that overornamentation in anything — whether it is speech, terminology, material structure, ideas, proposals, concepts or anything that might be a component part of human behavior - would contain a high degree of phoniness. This man cannot stand anything based on deceptive falsity that is obscured by a coating of frills and embellishments.

PEOPLE WHOSE writing has simplicity of form become impatient if they are forced to come to grips with complexity. They immediately set out to transform the complexity into easily understandable simplicity that can be comprehended by the man on the street.

A direct offshoot of this personality quality is a behavior that goes right to the point and does not dilly-dally in time-wasting circling around the

This, along with other facets of Reagan's functioning process, is supported and monitored by an extremely keen, sharp and analytical mind. He is not satisfied with "This is what we should do," but asks, "Why should we do it?"

The combination of deep comprehension and his analysis process will function as a watchdog to monitor the decisions and assure a high degree of wisdom in choices, selections and conclusions.

REAGAN IS MOTIVATED by a deep self-interest. It is not conceit but a healthy and desirable regard for self.

He will consider how he is affected by his total environment, and his self-interest will spur him toward efforts to improve that environment.

He loves his country because his keen perception shows him he is an integral part of that country; and his self-interest urges him on to enhance that element of which he is a component.

Reagan is fiercely independent in thought and action, and this may result in his embracing ideals and concepts that may evoke serious opposition from those of other persuasions

However, his conclusions will not be based on the questionable reason that he merely "feels" that way. Instead, his choice will be founded on, and To Clara

This man can be relied upon to present reasons for his ideas. They will be reasons that are not encumbered by his personal feelings, thus making his ideas and proposals more acceptable to others who may also base their conclusions on logic and not on personal emotions or feelings.

REAGAN'S WRITING indicates the presence of possibly quick but short-lived displays of temper. These quick reactions are usually the result of some provocation. In his case, they can be considered as mere "spice" in his personality

This is because his overall personality control mechanism is based on cool judgment and not on transitory feelings or emotions. These responses to a provocation result in a personality that is not wishy-washy or bland, but they indicate there exists a high degree of inner substance and strength.

There are strong indications in this writing of a love for deep colors, sounds and tastes. This is a man who will appreciate a beautiful sunset, who will derive a great deal of inner peace and satisfaction from communing with nature. In this aspect, he will see those wonders as the substance of simplicity and not complexity.

When Ronald Reagan goes to church, he will be more impressed by a good sermon than by the grandeur or the ornate beauty of the architecture. He is a man more interested in the contents than the container.

John Silvi, of Livonia, is semi-retired from Bell Equipment Co., serving area municipalities. He is national coordinator for the Society of Integrated Graphology and author of "Handwriting and the Human Mind."

Was he right about Ford?

In 1974, shortly after Gerald Ford became president but prior to his pardon of ex-President Richard Nixon, John Silvi wrote this analysis of Ford's penmanship for the Observer & Eccentric, Excerpts:

Ford's handwriting shows temporizing traits which will keep him out of the trouble Nixon found

One of the strongest traits . . . is an unbelievably high degree of personal pride. . . . This pride is fed by a deep and probably unrecognized desire for

The booby trap here lies in the fact that there may be times when he makes wrong decisions, but he will be reluctant to recognize or admit that he

We have on one side a sharp analytical mind, and at the same time there are some areas in this man's thought processes where he refuses to move but stolidly pokes along with a complete disregard for the urgency of the matter at hand

The writing indicates a will power that hurls itself against obstacles and goes through like a bulldozer to the other side.

The president's handwriting indicates a marked conservatism. This is a man who will use ample consideration before he spends.

The handwriting shows a complete lack of desire for unnecessary ornamentation.

To sum up, it may be said that Ford's worst enemy could very well turn out to be himself. We have here a man with a combination of sterling qualities that add up to a powerful potential for presidential

However, the one flaw in Gerald Ford's armor is his compulsive desire for approval and the ensuing delusion that because he is such a "great guy" he cannot ever be wrong.

If he will recognize and correct this dark corner of his mental makeup, he could do down in history as one of the greatest presidents this country has

If he does not make the correction, it is my opinion . . . he will succumb to an inner erosion that will disintegrate what started out as a very promising structure indeed.

YOU'VE PROBABLY beard it be fore "It's just another birthday." The tone is melancholy and the statement usually is prefixed with a sigh.

Consider persons like Mary Elizabeth Smith whose birthday is Dec. 25. She never did have a birthday party until this summer when friends Helen Merrill and Nan Cooper decided to do something about it.

A first birthday party was not too appealing, so they decided it would be Mary Elizabeth's 10th. A 10th birthday party is an important event in any little girl's life and Mary Elizabeth had been deprived this pleasure.

The celebration was a surprise. The guest of honor was invited to Helen's for lunch. It was to be a bring-your-own sandwich affair or so she was told.

The rest of the guests were told to come dressed for the the occasion. They came in knee socks, patent leather shoes, white gloves, frilly dresses, curls and pigtails. Some of them brought their dollies and some smacked their bubble gum. Mary Lou Sick did not believe the costume bit on the invitation so they tied a scarf on her head and told her she would have to be the mother

When Mary Elizabeth arrived, they were all out in the Merrill backyard waiting to wish her a haapy birthday. Suitable 10-year-old attire awaited her and she was hustled into a navy blue jumper and a large bow of ribbons was attached to her hair.

Amid considerable pushing, whining and shoving, they proceeded to play the prescribed games — pin the tail on the donkey, clothes pin drop in a bottle, pass the spoon and a bubble gum blowing contest.

Those who sat down to the birthday spread of hotdogs, lemonade, birthday cake and ice cream were Marge Fisher, Sue Rogers, Helen and Jean Rosbolt, Jo Wilson, Dee Carlson, Mary Lou Sick, Gae McCord, Jo Lundberg, the hostesses and Mary Elizabeth. (Who will never forget her 10th birthady par-NANCY PETRUCELLI'S birthday was last Tuesday and she knew something was going to happen. Birthdays can be pretty exciting in Nancy's circle of friends. She has been in on the planning of too many birthday surprises to sigh, "It's just another birthday.

She was in on the Joanie Gerigk birthday caper. The gang took Joan to an unknown destination by automobile (she had a ski cap pulled over her eyes) and then put her on a train for another mystery destination. (They drove to Ann Arbor and then led her aboard a Chicago-bound train)

Nancy had helped engineer Jan Sibbold's birthday weekend - a trip to the Bluegrass Festival in Harrow, Ontario.

With her own birthday in the offing. she was giving everyone a rough time, tossing out impossible birthday dreams. One day it was a raft ride down the Colorado River, another time it was Nancy singing with a famous rock group, and yet another was a trip to Point Pelee. By 7 p m July 29, Nancy announced to her family. "This is the worst birthday I ever had." She had met with her friends for a birthday breakfast. They had all said goodby and that was it. She had been waiting all day for something to happen and it didn't.

She was supposed to be picked up at 6.15 p.m. to have dinner downtown at the RenCen Club and her friend did not show up until 7:15. First glimmer that something was in the works occurred when they arrived at the RenCen and she saw two mysterious men. They were wearing earphones. One was talking into a calculator and the other was talking into a Bic lighter.

The two "security persons" entered the elevator with them and escorted them to the roof where a helicopter awaited on its pad. (One of the security persons turned out to be Dave Sibbold's NANCY WAS still looking for her friends. "I was looking in the office windows from the roof thinking, 'Where are they?'

They boarded the helicopter and had "a wonderful ride" over the Joe Louis Arena, back over Belle Isle, over Detroit to the Southfield Expressway where they could identify the Dearborn Country Club, Greenfield Village and finally, the Hyatt Regency, where they landed

Cruelty to animals termed misdemeanor

A state law provides protection for animals which are tortured, tormented, deprived of necessary sustenance, cruelly beaten, mutilated or cruelly

Persons who see cruelty committed can contact their local police and identify this law to give them a legal basis to do something about animal cruelty. Most animal shelters also have cruelty investigators.

Country festival opens Friday

Canton is definitely the place to be for lots of fun and great food at a good price. The Canton Chamber of Commerce has worked very hard in planning and preparing the fifth annual Canton Country Festival. The festival will be Friday-Sunday, Aug. 8-10.

This is the first year the festival has been expanded to more than one day in length. Also in the past, the festival has been known as the Chicken and Sweet Corn festival. This year the C-C made an all out effort to get everyone involved from residents, to businesses to clubs.

The Canton Library, Historical Society and Newcomers Club will all have displays. I have seen the new Historical Society stationery, and it is really nice. They also have note pads, and both will be on sale at the festival. The Newcomers will have information about the club, so if you are new in town, be sure to stop there.

Events will begin Friday with the Muscular Dystrophy Softball Tournament. The Willow Creek Dental Clinic has taken charge of this event, and over 30 teams will participate. For more information call Dr. Jack Falvo at 453-2060.

FRIDAY WILL also bring sidewalk sales and midnight madness sales by area merchants.

Saturday begins with some good eating. The Canton Rotary Club will be hosting a pancake breakfast from 7 a.m. until noon. The cost is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children and includes all the pancakes you can eat plus sausage, juice and coffee. This has to be one of the best deals in town.

Henry Salla is chairman of this year's breakfast.

The five-mile run also will be Saturday. It begins at 10 a.m. with runners reporting to the Township Administration Building by 9:30 a.m. Another sporting event for adults Saturday will be the tug-of-war. This will pit eams such as the Fire Dept. against the D.P.W. and club against club.

So come out and help cheer your favorite team on to victory.

The children have not been forgotten. There will be a moonwalk and hot air balloon rides. Knowing my children, they'll want me to go up with them.

While I've often been accused of being full of hot air, balloon riding just isn't my bag.

Chamber of Commerce sponsored pet show. All dogs, cats, fish, birds, exotic pets, and small barnyard animals are welcome to compete in this amateur pet show. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the winners in each catego-

The six categories include the most unusual pet, most colorful pet, most talented pet, best dressed pet, best groomed pet, and the pet with the longest tail. Co-chairmen for this event are Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Bartkiewicz of Bartz Animal Hospital.

More good food is one the agenda with the Canton Fire Dept. spaghetti supper from 4-8 p.m. Jim Sumner is the chairman this year, and all proceeds will go to the Burn Center in Ann Arbor.

Sidewalk sales will continue Saturday at Harvard Square and New Towne Plaza.

Stage shows featuring local talent will provide entertainment Saturday and Sunday. Groups such as the Canton Wheels of Michigan (square dancers), the Senior Citizens Kitchen Band and dancers from Masters of Dance will perform.

SUNDAY will feature the Chamber Chicken BBQ dinner from 12-6 p.m. This is the event that started the festival five years ago. You can eat there or carry out, but either way, the price is right. For $3.50 you get half a chicken, an ear of corn, tomato slices, a roll, and either coffee or an orange drink.

Sunday will provide games for adults and children organized by Kathy Zelek and Doreen Mullins of Beginner's Inn. and fudge bars. They will give away a handmade quilt and afghan.

The Newcomers, under president Penney Luddecke, will be selling fresh corn by the dozen or half dozen. They also will sell watermelons by the piece or whole.

Chairperson Pat Machnee and the Faith Community Church members will sell helium balloons and potato chips. The Historical Society will be selling popcorn, snow cones and tickets on a lawn swing, a picnic table and a lawn chair. Bart Berg is the chairman.

St. John Neumann Women's Guild will sell desserts by the slice or whole. Chris Swift is chairperson. The Jaycettes, under president Sue Jagoda, will be selling coffee and orange drink.

The Plymouth Cadet Squadron under Bill House will be selling Pepsi and "manning" the parking lot. And the Michigan Bell Volunteers will be helping out wherever they are needed.

Mary Tortora, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce says they are really excited about this year's festival. It certainly seems they have good reason to be.

Save This Map. It Could Save Your Life.

This map—courtesy of WOMC FM104—is specifically designed to help you pinpoint the location of reported tornadoes. So please, carefully choose—in advance—a safe tornado shelter. Then paste this map up on the wall.

When a tornado threatens, listen to WOMC FM104 for exclusive, accuweather reports and follow these basic safety rules:

• Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Protect your head.

 In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level. Get under something sturdy. In schools, factories, shopping centers or other public places, move to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on lowest floors are best.

In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to more substantial shelter.

 If outdoors, and no shelter is nearby, lie that in the nearest ditch or ravine and shield head with arms.
 Tornado Watch: Tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are possible.

Tornado Warning: Tornado detected. Take shelter immediately.

Sale close for Livonia church

By MARGARET MILLER

Holy Resurrection Orthodox Church, a 75-family congregation with a widespread membership, is close to purchasing a church home in Livonia.

Archpriest Nicholas A. Fedetz, whose congregation has been meeting more than eight years in North Congregational Church of Southfield, said an offer had been made and "accepted verbally" for purchase of the building constructed in 1959 for Pilgrim United Church of Christ.

The building, at 36075 Seven Mile in Livonia, is occupied now by the Livonia Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), which shared the facilities with Pilgrim Church for about 10 years until the latter voted dissolution in 1979.

The property was turned over to the Michigan Conference of the United Church of Christ, and a denomination spokesperson confirmed that dealings are under way with Holy Resurrection

Fedetz said he expected to complete the purchase later this month when state UCC officials return from vacation.

The Holy Resurrection pastor added that he had received word through his attorneys that the Livonia Christian Church, which is renting the facilities from the UCC with option to buy, did not plan to exercise that option before the Sept. 1 deadline.

There was no immediate announcement of plans by Livonia Christian Church.

PILGRIM UCC was a mission unit of Brewster-Pilgrim Congregational Church of Detroit when its Livonia home was built. The Detroit congregation sold its inner-city building to the Shrine of the Black Madonna and moved westward.

The move to share facilities with the Livonia Christian Church, which had been renting school building space, proved advantageous financially as well as in other ways.

Nevertheless, the Pilgrim membership found itself in an ever-tightening financial bind. Shortly after its minister, the Rev. James Schaefer, left at the end of 1978 to accept a new pastorate in Iowa, serious discussions began as to the future of the church.

Cornielius de Stigter, a Livonia resident who headed the Pilgrim congregation as moderator, said the congrega-

Members joined other churches, mainly Nativity United Church of Christ in Livonia and Salem UCC in Farmington, and the property was turned over to the denomination.

HOLY RESURRECTION, a congregation affiliated with the Orthodox Church of America, was organized in 1972 as an English-language church in the Eastern tradition and representing some 20 ethnic backgrounds, Fedetz said, and it became clear we would not be able to build with the money we had available

At that point the congregation received word of the possible sale of the Livonia church building.

We took a secret vote on whether we should make an offer and move to Livonia if it was accepted. Fedetz said. "The result was 82 0 to make the offer, which should show how we feel about making the move. We hope to finalize the agreement between Aug. 18 and 25

Donald Eliott of Livonia is president of the Holy Resurrection parish council. The church draws members from an area including Livonia, Garden City. Northville, Novi, Farmington, West "But money became tighter," Fedetz Bloomfield, Southfield and Lathrup.

'Responsible stewardship' figures in decision

The question of how a Christian congregation can best use property figured strongly in the decision of a small Livonia congregation, Pilgrim United Church of Christ, to disband last year.

The group opted to turn its building on Seven Mile over to the denomination's state organization so that its sale might help other churches get start-

"It became a question of whether we wanted to keep struggling to support a piece of property," said Cornelius de Stigter, who led the congregation in its decision-making in his office of moderator.

"I was extremely pleased with the way we were able to get a small group to be of one mind about what we should do," he added. "We explored every proposal, and when we reached the decision we could say we had done the right thing.

"We had no fear for the members of the congregation, because there were two other nearby churches in our denomination. What we wanted to do was be good stewards of what was there - a relatively debt-free property that was becoming too expensive to maintain.

DeStigter said he is confident that "most feel good about the decision in spite of pangs. "People say they miss Pilgrim," he added, "but they don't say they think we made a mistake. The decision also won praise from the Rev Mur dell Leyseth, one of the associate conference minis ters for the United Church of Christ in Michigan. · "The people of Pilgrim Church owned that prop erty and the decision was theirs," she stated "That is how our denomination operates", she continued, explaining there is no question of interference or ownership at the state level

"We owe them and "we owe them a lot. Ms Leyseth added. "It took courage to do what they

"They saw that things were not going the right way, so they took their memberships elsewhere, allowing a sale so that there can be help for other churches in Michigan.

On hand will be Marjorie Guthrie, widow of folk singer Woody Guthrie, who died of Huntington's disease in 1965.

The festival runs 1:30-9:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the football field of Northville High School, on Eight Mile west of Center Street.

RICE, OWNER of the Gitfiddler Shop in Northville, has been putting on the festival to raise money for the Huntington Disease's Foundation

"Last year's festival brought in $2,000, and the year before we raised $3,500," said Rice, who is shooting for more this year.

"With the groups we have at the price we're offering plus a lot of generous hearts, I think we can reach that goal.

Huntington's disease is a genetic disorder which deteriorates the nervous system, often striking people in the prime of life. Mrs. Guthrie, who will be present both days, is founder and chairwoman of the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease.

SATURDAY'S lineup includes bluegrass groups Blue Velvet and John Hunley's Kentuckians: Dean Rutledge, folk singer; Gitfiddler Neil Woodward; the group Phoenix with Matt Watroba; local bluegrass bands Sunrise and New Cut Grass; and the Ruff Water String Band.

Sunday's performers include folk singer Ron Coden of "Hot Fudge," Michigan Consolidated Grass Company, Calico, a recording group; Paul Tucker and Hired Guns, a country group; Livingston County Grass; the Sharon Hallow String Band; Wes Linenkugal, hammered dulcimer, Banjo Betsy, and the Cobblestone Country Dancers.

A donation of $3 is asked from adults and $1 for children under 13. Rice advises bringing blankets, picnic baskets and Frisbees to make a day of the festival.

Free parking will be provided on the south side of Eight Mile.

Tom Rice is the organizer of the fourth annual folk and bluegrass music festival this weekend in Northville.

ALICE COOPER

Another round of insanity

By NICK CHARLES

Thursday, August 7, 1980

The master of schlock rock, Alice Cooper, will bring his latest personality to town Friday and Saturday. .

Cooper has felt the pinch of hew wave. It's hard to tell just exactly who he is this year

We have watched him grow as the king of ghoul with his snakes, tarantulas and guillotines, and we have observed him as he became the sleek detective on his album "Lace and

No matter who he is, he will always be thought of as strange. On his new album, he sings songs such as "Leather Boots," "Aspirin Damage," "Nuclear Infected" and "Pain." Not exactly your basic love songs.

Whether Detroit's own Vincent Furnier (alias Alice) is just a Cokedrinking, golf-playing boy next door or a madman is still kept a secret. We know Alice is not the person he drags out of the closet and onto the stage, but does it really matter? We're fairly sure that he's not a model citizen.

Cooper has been let out of the school for the hopelessly insane for another rousing round of insanity since his last parole in February 1979. when he did an incredible show at An Alice Cooper show is complete with Cyclopses, dancing bottles, girls and costumes galore. It is a perfect combination of music, acting and dance. There is never a hint of boredom in the audience.

Cooper will give shows at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Joe Louis Arena. Tickets are available for both nights at the arena box office and CTC outlets.

• ROAR

"King Kong" (1933), 6:30 p.m. today at the Bloomfield Township Public Library, 1099 Lone Pine, phone 642-5800, free. Running time 100 minutes.

Filming began on "King Kong" in May 1932. One year and $650,000 later unheard of numbers in those days it was complete

The brainchild of producer Merian Cooper and the handiwork of technician Willis O'Brien, "Kong" utilized, for the first time, many special effects still used by makers of today's outer space blockbusters.

Stop-motion photography of dollsized objects made it seem as though a giant ape and men moved and interacted together in the same scene. In fact, models of the great ape and the people none more than 16 inches in height were moved imperceptibly and filmed after each minor set of moves to create the illusion of actual movement. It's the same premise on which cartoon figures are drawn, but look for more stilted movements in Kong than you're used to with Popeye.

Matting was another technique that made it seem as though humans and

Kong were only inches apart, when, in fact, the human actors were filmed with no Kong - real or model-sized in view. Here, a print of the ape and another of the human actor are exposed atop one another, giving the appearance of togetherness.

Note, however, when matting is used that the human always remains in one section of the scene (top right, bottom left or whatever) and often the backlighting is different from print to print.

Rear projecting is the process of running a film behind the actors as they act before the cameras. The end result is to have the rear-projected film and the up-front action appear as one. Note with this technique, though, that depth perception is foreshortened.

Life-sized models of Kong's head and hand were also used by the filmmakers. You can tell when this is the case but it's usually when the final product seems the most convincing. In other words, sometimes that really is Fay Wray in a "real" ape's hand.

When watching "Kong," though, look beyond the technical wizardry because it's really a small-scale film full of emotion and, to be sure, eroticism. The "beauty and the beast" theme has never been taken further

The spirit lines may just be busy

Peter Seller's wife was quoted as saying that her husband had promised to contact her after his death, and that she is now ready and waiting to hear from him.

I hope the lady has a lot of patience, because she will probably have to wait a very long time.

Harry Houdini, who has been dead since 1926, made the same promise, and no one has heard from him yet.

This is not to say that I don't believe in spirit communication, because I do. But I believe that ghosts communicate only when there is a real reason to do so.

A NORMAL SPIRIT is ready to go on to whatever comes next after this life is over. Therefore, one is not very likely to hang around visiting with those of us who are still earthbound, without a far more dramatic reason than the simple promise of "I'll get in touch with you later.

How many times in this life does the average person promise to call or get back with a friend, and then forget all about it when something more important comes up?

Don't you think it is possible that Houdini, Sellers, and all of those lesser-known souls who have also promised to communicate with their loved ones after death may get to the other side, where a view of eternity makes this lifetime seem so minute that they feel, Why bother to call home. They'll all be joining me here soon.'

Many people waste countless hours and countless dollars on spiritualists to help them reach a loved one gone on ahead. If that loved one has cause enough to contact you, he will do it without the aid of a spiritualist. And if he doesn't have a reason, then why call him back, and inhibit or slow down his journey?

Whatever it is that you have to talk to him about, you can take up with him when you see him again, and that will be soon enough.

You may write Gundella c Box 434 Garden City, 481235. For a personal reply, please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Allen Park sweeps Canton Elks in regional Hosts foiled in title bid

By SCOTT ADLER

The Canton Elks, defeated twice Monday by Allen Park, 11-2 and 3-2, lost a chance to move into the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) World Series slated for this weekend in Columbus Ohio

The two losses eliminated the Elks in the eight-team NABF Regional at Plymouth Canton High School.

Canton had beaten Allen Park last Friday, 3-2, in the second round of the double-elimination tourney to avenge a 4-1 regular season setback.

Heading into Monday's final, Canton was the only undefeated team left in the tournament (4-0) while Allen Park came in at 3-1. The Elks needed only one victory for the championship.

Kevin Shaw, acquired from North Farmington, pitched another strong game for Canton, only to run into Allen Park's Tony Demarti, who tossed a sixhitter to kill the Elks' title hopes.

"It's bad when you get beat," said Canton coach Dave Racer, "but it's even worse when the ump blows a call that could have cost us the game. I don't know. It was a big play

Canton's downfall began in the bottom of the fifth inning with the Elks leading, 1-0. John Recher reached first on an infield error and was sacrificed to second by John Mousigian. Matt Ruud followed with a sharp double to tie the score at 1-1.

DENNIS ALVIS HIT a slicing line drive down the right field line that Dan Smith dropped. Smith, thinking the ball was foul, didn't go after it right away which enabled Ruud to score from second as Alvis moved to third. Then came the most controversial play of the strong (five complete games). We were matically make it a dead ball, sending the runner back to third. The umpires, however, didn't make the call and the run scored with Grives reaching first safely. Racer protested but to no avail.

Canton closed the gap to 3-2 in the top of the sixth thanks to two straight fielding errors by Recker and an RBI single by Smith, but it was too little,

'Shaw pitched a helluva game," said Racer. "Our kids just didn't hit the ball the last couple games. They (Allen Park) swing the bat well.'

In the earlier game, the Elks were bombed by the red-hot Allen Park bats, Smith gave up eight runs in 3% innings and the contest was never in doubt.

Dale Sklar, Canton's other North Farmington pick-up, blasted a two-run homer for the Elks' only runs.

"DANNY SAID he was all right," said Racer. "I didn't take him out because when it's tournament time, you have to go with your best."

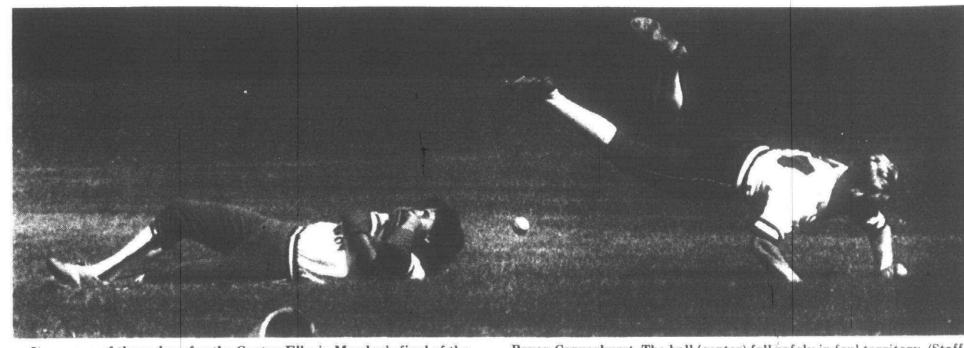

In Sunday's rain-delayed games, Canton mowed down Taylor, 8-1, and Toledo VFW, 6-1, to advance to the

Once again it was the Elks' awesome pitching that told the story as Sklar fired a one-hitter against Taylor and Dave Malek scattered seven hits in going seven innings to beat Toledo.

"Our pitching was super throughout the tournament, except for the one game against Allen Park," said Racer, whose team finished the summer at 24-

"I didn't think our pitching was that in the driver's seat and lost it.

Eagles swoop past Caesars

Despite being eliminated from the Connie Mack district baseball tournament Sunday at Pontiac Jaycee Park, Canton Little Caesars coach John Gravlin was not all that disappointed.

"It was the best game of the tournament," said Gravlin, after the Detroit Eagles downed his team, 3-1.

"Speed was the determining factor," said the Canton coach. "I'm just delighted. Our kids played well and we were beaten by a good team.'

The lightening-quick inner city squad did not run at will against Caesars. The Eagles, however, stole bases when it counted the most

"It was by far Funkhouser's best game of the year," said Gravlin. "It's the best he's thrown."

Two Funkhouser walks led to the first Detroit run. Using his effective move, Funkhouser picked off three Eagle runners before being called for a balk in the third inning.

"That kind of shook up Danny,"

DETROIT then put together three consecutive singles and two thefts in the fourth to push across two runs.

Canton tallied its only run in the sixth when Dave Meador walked, followed by consecutive singles by Jeff Stemberger, Gary Kucher and Shawn Hopper.

Stemberger and Steve Schumacher combined for four of Canton's five hits

Canton's most serious threat came in the first inning when Jim Anderson, who was picked up from the Salem Elks, was robbed of an extra base hit down the left field line with two runners aboard.

Rosters should stay constant in tournies

Summer baseball tournaments are ly and they proved to be a big help. But often very exciting, but bothersome to Tournies are the culmination of a long season. They spark renewed interest in the summer. Such was the case last weekend when a pair of Canton teams, the Elks and Little Caesars, along with Salem Crestwood Dodge, completed their respective campaigns on various levels of tournament competition.

Canton's Elks recently hosted an eight-team National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) regional tourney for Mickey Mantle League teams (15and 16-year-olds)

The Elks settled for second place in the double-elimination event. Allen Park, the culprit, won the title and advanced to the NABF World Series tomorrow at Columbus, Ohio.

Salem Crestwood Dodge competed over the weekend at Dayton, Ohio, in a four-team NABF Sandy Koufax World Series (13- and 14-year-olds). Salem won its first game against the eventual champs, Bay Shore, N.Y., but lost its next two games and was eliminated.

Canton Caesars competed last weekend in the Connie Mack (18- and 19year-olds) district at Pontiac Jaycee Park Caesars finished at 2-2 before being knocked out.

If Canton had won the district, it would have played next in the Mack regionals at Marshall

I often wondered how this all got started, adding three or four players from other teams for tournies.

It's gone on as long as I can remember, even when I played little league.

Most summer post-season tournies are double-elimination and very grueling. Pitching is often at a premium. Every team needs pitching because it's 80 percent of the game.'

Salem Crestwood Dodge ended its Sandy Koufax League (13- and 14-yearolds) baseball season in Dayton, Ohio, by finishing third in the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) World Series over the weekend.

Salem, coached by Ron Riedel, finished a fine summer with a 23-10 overall mark.

Riedel's squad opened play Saturday in 95-degree heat with a 7-0 win over eventual winner Bay Shore, N.Y. Crestwood Dodge then fell to host Miamisburg, Ohio, 8-6, in a rain-shortened five-inning game. Dodge was eliminated Sunday by Bay Shore, 5-3.

"We didn't have a good tourney," said Riedel. "It was not one of our better performances defensively.

"In three games I was not used to seeing the errors we made. We just went flat. The defense just wasn't there as it had been all year.

Riedel, however, called it "a great season.

"We had a great bunch of young men," he said. "They were the type of kids who listened.

Riedel said, "Our pitching came through, and we were fortunate to get through the first one.

SALEM'S Eric Hartnett, Todd Riedel, Tim Michalik, Mike Janovsky, Mark Landini and McNamara each collected two hits for Salem.

Scott Anderson came through with a big two-run triple in the fifth inning to break the game wide open. Landini and Mike Cindrich also smacked triples.

The error-prone Crestwood squad continued to struggle in its second round clash with Miamisburg. Michalik pitched for Salem and hurled six innings before umpires halted play because of rain.

Salem, the home team in the game, was not able to bat in the bottom of the sixth and consequently the score (8-6) reverted back to the score at the end of five innings.

Miamisburg outhit Salem, 8-5, collecting six runs in the first inning. Crestwood Dodge countered with two in its half and tied it up in the third with four runs.

Miamisburg, though, tallied two runs in the fifth to win it.

Bay Shore totaled just three hits in beating Salem on its second try.

Salem raced out to a 3-1 lead after one inning, but Bay Shore battled back, scoring three runs in the third and one in the fourth.

Oasis rolls into 3rd with softball victory

Oasis Golf Center moved into third place in the Livonia Women's Fast Pitch Softball League with a 4-1 triumph Friday night over the Lansing Stylerites at Ford Field. The victory upped Oasis' league record to 6-2. It also clinched a spot in the Class C state tournament, Aug. 29-Sept. 1, at Petoskey.

Oasis opened the scoring against Lansing in the third inning on a lead-off single by Allison Cole, followed by a clutch two-out single to center by Plymouth Canton graduate Vicky Cavallaro.

Stylerite evened the score at 1-all in the fourth. Betsy Rhodes reached hase on a error and later scored on a two-out double by Barb Mazzie

Oasis then erupted for three runs in the sixth inning — all unearned to put the game away.

A single by Joanne Pachiva followed by a walk to Julie Stafford and two consecutive Stylerite errors led to the three Oasis runs.

Denise Cifaldi hurled another strong game for Oasis. In every inning, with the exception of the sixth, Cifaldi allowed the lead-off batter to reach base but was able to come through in the clutch, limiting the Lansing squad to five hits.

She walked only one Stylerite batter in posting her fourth victory over the year against one defeat.

The game will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday at Ford. Oasis will meet St. Agatha at 6:30 p.m. Friday in a regularly scheduled game.

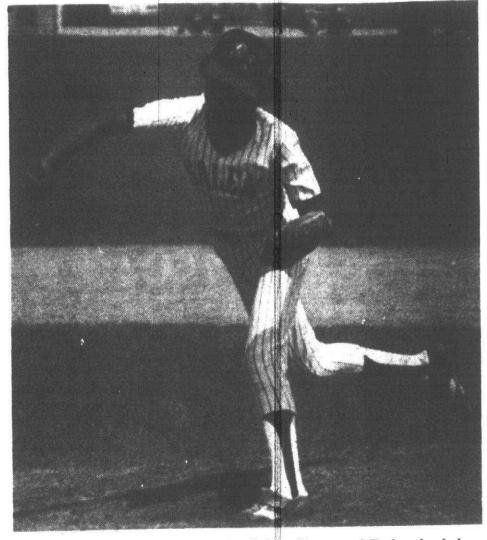

Oasis will also play a doubleheader against a team from Ann Arbor beginning at 2 p.m. Sunday at Massey Field in Plymouth.

Westland gains Adray bat final

After losing its first game of the double-elimination Livonia Adray League playoffs to Redford, Westland brought out the heavy-hitting artillery and battled back to force a seventh and deciding game in the tournament.

Westland whipped Livonia, 9-2, after clubbing Redford, 9-0, last weekend to force the rematch with Livonia.

Livonia won the regular-season championship. Westland placed second. Each team won two, lost two and tied two during their six regular-season

Westland collected 14 hits during the victory over Livonia.

Herb McManaway opened the scoring for Livonia by clubbing a two-run home run in the first inning. Jim Hopson, who had singled, preceeded McManaway across the plate.

Chuck Lux singled home Westland's next two runs during the fourth inning. Steve Raymond and Greg Stano had reached base that inning with a single and on an error, respectively.

In the fifth inning, McManaway doubled, Raymond drew an intentional walk and Stano sent both home with a double into the power alley in right center field.

Westland added three runs during the sixth inning. Hopson singled home one and Raymond picked up two RBIs with a single.

Tim O'Malley scored Livonia's first run in the fourth inning on a passed ball. He had reached first base on an error, stole second and went to third on a wild throw during the steal attempt.

Art Wendt singled home O'Malley with Livonia's other run in the seventh inning.

Westland received a solid pitching performance from Rob Costa, who struck out six, walked four and allowed only two hits. He hurled all nine inn-

Marino sizzles at Hagen Tourney

By TOM BAER

Mark Syron had never set foot on Glen Oaks Golf Course before Tuesday, when a semifinal round of the Metropolitan Detroit Walter Hagen Junior Golf Championship was played there.

But Syron, a 15-year-old golf whiz from Pontiac, didn't let the strange course bother him.

Syron shot an even-par 70 to win his age division (the boys' 13-15 Golden Masters) and top the field of 71 young golfers in the semifinal round at the 18hole, 6,009-yard layout in Farmington

Syron was one of 17 golfers at Glen Oaks to advance to the Walter Hagen finals Aug. 12 at Northville's Salem

Sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the tournament seeks to perpetuate the memory of golf-great Walter Hagen, a cancer victim, and to raise money to support cancer-control programs in the Detroit area.

Syron, whose father Frank is the pro at Pontiac Country Club, helped his cause with an eagle and two birdies to offset four bogies. He seemed to like the longer holes. The eagle came on the 489-yard, par-five 15th and one birdie came on another par five, the 480-yard

Two of his bogies came on par-three holes, the sixth (190) and the 10th (215). He also went one-over on a couple of par fours, the 14th (438) and the 18th

"The back side was a lot easier with those two par fives," said Syron, who plays high school golf for Waterford

RUNNER-UP honors in the Golden Masters division went to Farmington Hills Aaron Shapero, who shot a 75.

In the women's Golden Masters, Lisa Marino, an outstanding golfer at Plymouth Salem High, won with an 81, 17 strokes better than second-place Danielle Corriveau of Farmington.

James Wrobel of Birmingham won the Masters (16-18) with a two-over 72. Jack Linklater, also of Birmingham, placed second with a 74, and Alan Brink of Berkley was third with a 75.

In Masters girls play, Anne Kish of Bloomfield Hills was best with a 92. Another Bloomfield Hills resident, Lindy Kosak, placed second with a 98, and Janis McGlone of Plymouth finished third with a 102.

Kathy McGrath, who organized the tournament for the American Cancer Society, praised Glen Oaks for its cooperation.

"We had to work around some leagues, but all in all Glen Oaks couldn't have been more hospitable," she said. "All the kids seemed to enjoy themselves.

These are anxious days along the bowling front.

Hundreds of the shop workers who bowl in the industrial or shop leagues are wondering if they will be called back to work. If they aren't, many of them will be forced to forget bowling because of economic conditions.

On the other hand, the proprietors have their schedules filled for the most part, but the schedule includes many shop or house leagues that depend on the office and factory workers to fill the teams

" I haven't heard from any of the secretaries so far," George Bashara of Wonderland Lanes said, "but I guess they, too, are waiting to see if the members of their leagues will be back at work.

With the season only a few weeks away, the anxiety becomes more intense. And if the men are not recalled to work there may be many vacant lanes - especially on the

As Bashara pointed out, those who are certain to report want to bowl on the early shift and thus spend more time with their families. So, both proprietors and bowlers are keeping their fingers crossed, hoping for the best.

Craig Pickard proved otherwise last weekend, leading the Livonia Wolves to a 3-0 victory over the Macedonians in a Detroit Soccer League game.

Picard scored one goal with a thrown and assisted on the other two goals with well-placed throws from the side-I'ne to teammates streaking toward the

"The way he throws the ball in can't be matched," said Joe Mancini, coach of the Wolves. "I've been watching soccer ever since I was about 5 years old and I've never seen the ball thrown in like him.

A throw-in is awarded a team when an opponent kicks the ball out of bounds over the sideline. A player must keep his both feet planted and use both hands to throw the ball back inbounds.

Picard's throwing range is nearly 40 yards, Mancini said. "He can throw the ball in farther than some people can kick," Mancini said.

Dan Naurato scored the Wolves first goal at the five-minute mark. Pickard threw the ball over the defense from the left sideline and Naurato, charging from the right, found the net with a kick from 12 yards out.

There was a long dry spell for both teams after Naurato scored early in the proceedings. Chip Stencil took a throw-in from Pickard 33 minutes into the second half and booted the ball into the cage to give the Wolves a 2-0 ad-

Four minutes later, Pickard scored on a throw-in.

Actually, it's against the rules to throw the ball directly into the net. However, once a throw-in is touched, it may go into the net.

Macedonians' goalkeeper just grazed the ball with his fingertips as it sailed into the net

Mancini passed plenty of praise around to everyone.

"The defense was tight. Dave Gray (goalkeeper) turned in a brilliant performance. The midfield always plays good," he said.

By DOUG FUNKE

Now is the time for all good golfers - and maybe those who aren't so hot - to sign up for the annual Observer & Eccentric Golf Tourna-

Both men and women will have their days in the sun.

The men's 36-hole tournament will be contested Sept. 13-14. The women's 18-hole competition will be conducted Sept. 17.

Whispering Willows Municipal Golf Course in Livonia will be the site of both tournaments.

Amateur golfers who live in the O&E circulation area - Plymouth, Canton, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Westland, Garden City, Rochester, Avon Township, Livonia, Redford, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Troy may enter.

Entry fee is $25 for men, $11 for women. Entry coupons are available in most editions of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and at Whispering Willows, which is located at 20500 Newburgh Road just south of Eight Mile Road.

As in years past, golfers will compete in divisions based on handicap in order to make the tournament more competitive. The effect is that several mini-tournaments will be going on simultaneously.

The men's tournament, limited to 225, will be divided into four flights. Gary Whitener, golf professional at Whispering Willows and the tournament director, said that the flights will likely break down the following

• Championship Flight — scratch to eight handicap.

• Flight 1 - nine to 14 handicap.

• Flight 2 - 15 to 21 handicap. Flight 3 — 22-36 handicap.

There will be three flights in the women's competition based upon the following approximate scale, Whitener said:

• Championship Flight - scratch to 14 handicap.

• Flight 1 - 15-23 handicap. • Flight 2 - 24-40 handicap

Actual flight determinations will be made as the entries begin to come in and trends are established. Medal (stroke) play will be followed. Gross (actual score) and net (score with handicap) champions will be crowned in all flights. Trophies and gift certificates will be awarded in all flights. Prize winners will be limited to one gift certifi-
