Election Cancelled, To Be Held Soon

The election that had been scheduled for last Tuesday concerning the amendment to the constitution was cancelled because of insufficient publicity.

Last week's article in the Spectator about the election and the amendment was called to the attention of freshmen English classes by Professor Hess. It was pointed out that according to the article the different classes and organizations would have no representation in the Student Council, and that the information was not official because the secretary of the Student Council had not signed it.

The entire Article III, Section 2, of the constitution was not included in the Spectator story thereby explaining some of the confusion about the amendment.

Correctly stated Article III, Section 2 Part (a) of the constitution

An Improvement?

An election on the revision of the constitution of the student council will be held in the very near future. The revision on which students will vote is the work of a group of students that circulated a petition asking that faculty representation be redistributed; in effect, that the Dean of Men and Dean of Women be elected to the student council, if desired by the students, and not appointive as it now stands.

In the future all faculty representatives on the council will be elected except the Dean of the college. Now outwardly this would seem to be fine because no one will deny that an organization needs new blood. But what are the implications behind this move?

Are those students that started the petition actually interested in improving the council, or, are they trying to show certain members of the faculty just where to get off? It has been pointed out that at the present time some of the faculty representatives do not take their responsibility seriously; that certain members miss numerous meetings and attend only when something big is to be discussed; and for these reasons faculty members should be elected by the student body, because then persons actually interested in the council and its work will be more inclined to attend the meetings.

But we fail to see that this is actually a weakness in the present council. Some students and student members of the council share our opinion. We feel that a group of students are taking their personal grudges out on individuals and not on the constitution where the weakness actually lies.

Before becoming too hot and bothered about the faculty representative we would advocate something being done to the constitution in reference to the relationship between the council and the board of publications, where all of this trouble originated.

Some read from the constitution that the board of publications is supreme in its decisions while others read that the council is supreme because the publications board is a subsidiary of the council.

At the present time the council has a committee working on various revisions of the constitution. Eventually the student body will hear about the recommendations of this committee; but until then, what?

Forget your petty differences; try to work for the betterment of the council and try to wipe out the talk about what the council has not done this year.

Our Burma Road

More than likely not many students on the college campus realize that we here in McPherson have a Burma Road. Actually that is not the name of the thorough fare but it most closely resembles its famous counterpart part in China.

The avenue of travel we are speaking of is the chow up fifteen blocks of East Euclid. Since the snow first covered the black top and that covered street, the travel on Euclid has been extremely hard on the surface. Now that the thawing has taken place the street has become a veritable cow lane.

Because of the great amount of moisture in the ground the city fathers have stated that no major repair work on McPherson's streets will be done until this summer. Until the work on Euclid is taken care of the street remains a danger to both human lives and property. The big hazard is the large numbers of deep chuck holes that are to be found on the avenue.

What can college students do until the city can repair this street? Undoubtedly the most important thing we can do is to drive slowly and sanely until repairs can be made. It is our responsibility to see that there are not any serious accidents because of careless students driving on an under-par street.

Take it easy with the speed until the street is resurfaced. Stay alive in '49.

Guest Editor Brethren Become Part of Society

This week's guest editor is Raymond R. Peters, executive secretary of the Brethren Board. Mr. Peters has been active in church work for many years. Mr. Peters writes on the social and cultural trends in the Church of the Brethren. Last summer Mr. Peters traveled over Europe inspecting the BSC units throughout the various European countries.

Mr. Peters' editorial follows: The early Brethren in Germany pulled away from the traditional form and culture of their day and became known as Separatists. There has been a strong pietistic influence in the Brethren culture. A great deal of emphasis has been placed on the simple life and religion had little value unless it issued forth in good living. Thus, the Brethren traditionally attempted to live the good life among themselves. This concept was also reflected in the non-conformist idea as related to society and the state.

Since the turn of the century, the Brethren have been shifting their position and are becoming increasingly more cosmopolitan in their outlook. They are more and more a section of society. They are finding themselves in the professions and various avenues of business. Thus, they are becoming interested in civic, political, educational, economic, and cultural aspects of the community. They are actively participating in the constructive organization of the community.

This change in point of view has made the Brethren interested in the world in which they live. As a result, they have taken an active part in the world-wide missionary enterprise of the church, and in recent years have been particularly interested in relief and rehabilitation in the war devastated areas of the world. The concern which Brethren have had traditionally for each other is being expressed to unfortunate people at home and abroad. They feel that Christianity involves leadership in all of the efforts that go to make for more peaceful and harmonious living in all social relationships.

Brethren feel that social progress takes place to the extent that the individuals participating in human betterment are themselves motivated by high idealism and possess in their own lives a high ethical code. The Brethren are interested in producing people of high intellectual attainment, deep spiritual insight, and broad social sympathies. In this spirit they are moving into the contemporary world humbly but hopefully.

There Is A Place For You Four Workcamps Are Slated For Western Region

Where do you want to serve? A pamphlet reviewing the work camps that will be sponsored by the Church of the Brethren has just been released and it lists seventeen different projects for which students can volunteer.

Four work camps will be held in the Western Region. Wichita, Kansas, Kansas City, Missouri, Rocky Ford, Colorado and Avery, Iowa, will be the sites of the Western Region camps. In Wichita the camp will work in an under privileged community located outside the city just southwest of the industrial section.

In Kansas City, campers will work at the Carver Neighborhood Center. The area is predominantly occupied by Negroes. Campers will do both physical and mental work. In Rocky Ford, the campers will work with migrant laborers, most of whom are Spanish-speaking people. Campers will organize recreation for all ages, make friendly calls, and conduct classes in crafts, storytelling and arrange worship services. The fourth camp will be in Avery, Iowa. Campers will clean a community playground and help with recreation.

Other Camps
Other camps will be sponsored in the eastern and western parts of the United States. Camps vary from those that the campers finance to those where campers are paid a salary. Two camps that will pay campers a salary are being held at Catonsville and Crownsville, Maryland. Both of these camps will be interested in working with the mentally ill.

Foreign workcamps will also be sponsored this year. Camps in Germany, Austria, Italy, and Poland are tentatively scheduled for the summer months. These camps will be dependent upon campers who are able to pay their own way to Europe and back. The total cost, including incidental travel expenses will be between $500 and $600.

If more information is desired, interested persons may write to One Huxton, Brethren Service Commission, 22 South State Street, Elgin, Illinois, or to Miss Ruth Early, Regional Office, McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas.

City Desk

By Carmina

As long as this is a column of the people, by the people and for the people, we thought it might be nice to circulate around this week and get a few ideas from the kids as to what they thought should be done to punish the culprits who carried off the seats of the chapel. The question proved to bring about as much controversy as the recent elections, but here are the kids' opinions. All opinions expressed are purely personal and don't necessarily express the feelings of this column.

The first place we went to find someone to interview was the favorite gathering place, the Student Union Room. Here we found several students gathered together discussing this very question. Dot Little on one hand thought no punishment should be necessary, but instead a blue ribbon for the offenders, plus a special chapel in their honor.

Paul Mingenback had another idea. He was in favor of requiring a series of chapel speeches by the offenders, perhaps on the evil of school pranks.

Don Shultz added an interesting sidelight. He thought once the seats were recovered it would probably be best to issue them to the students and let them carry them around, then they'd all have their own when chapel time came around.

Wilbur Beattie, who was sleeping peacefully in a remote corner, thought the culprits deserved an A for effort. If they had the ambition to go to all that trouble, Don Smith would only remark, "That's college life, what would it be without an occasional sidelight."

Jack Mathis didn't want to go on record as having an opinion, but he did think it might be nice to brand them in some way so everyone could tell just who was responsible.

Next we asked Ann Oberst what she thought the punishment should be. She thought that no punishment was necessary unless the seats were damaged, and concluded that she thought it was just another school prank.

Harry Heckethorn was very emphatic in his answer. He thought the culprits were deserving of praise, and when they were caught the school should have a holiday in their honor. A little radical perhaps, but that's what Harry thinks.

Robert Hill had a safe way of looking at the question. When asked for his opinion, he said he had none, for opinions only got you into trouble. Could be. Larry Tredler perhaps had the most severe opinion of the group. He suggested immediate expulsion from school, and suspension for three years, until the offenders were mature enough for college. Another solution says he would be increased homework for it seems they haven't enough to keep them busy now.

Fritz Gatz and Kenny Newport also were pretty lax on the punishment needed. They think the seat swipers were pretty smart fellows and deserved a pat on the back.

Journeing on over to the college inn we met a few more kids with opinions on the matter. Buck Reinecker, our student council president, thought it would be a good idea to make them wear signs proclaiming to all that they were the culprits, and embarrassing them all over the campus.

Earl Grindle would only say, "Do whatever's right."

Phyllis Brown came up with a really constructive idea. She thinks it would serve the offenders right to make them go through one of those famous M. Club paddle lines.

Gene Arnold's only solution for the problem was to keep a better tab on the student ministers.

Here's the place to end all this, and remember, as our immortal Abo Lincoln said, "The world will little note nor long remember what we say here."

Election To Be Held

is as follows: "Membership of the Student Council. (a) The Student Council shall include: a President, elected by the Student Body from the Senior class of the following year; a Treasurer, elected by the Student Body from the Junior class of the following year; the Treasurer of the previous year; one man and one woman from each of the four classes, elected by the members of the class to be represented; one man and one woman representing the extra-curricular activities; the Dean of the College; the Dean of Women; and the Dean of Men."

The proposed amendment is as follows: "In article III, Section 2, dealing with membership of the Student Council, the phrases; 'the Dean of Women; and the Dean of Men.' should be stricken out and replaced by the phrase, 'and two faculty members, to be elected by the Student Body in general election.'"

Signed, Jeane Baldwin, secretary.

According to supporters of the amendment such a change would be more democratic than the present method. The Student Council is considering proposing another amendment, if the above one is accepted, that would call for one faculty member to be elected every year for a two year period, thus eliminating the possibility of having two new faculty members the same year. The election date will be set in the very near future.

College Students In Onicon Show

The Beta Omicron Chapter of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority are meeting with good results in securing talent from McPherson College to appear in their annual talent show, which will be held this year Wednesday, March 9, at 8:00 in the high school auditorium.

To date several students have entered, and several more are considering appearing in the show, which will feature talent from every phase of the entertainment standpoint. Lawrence Eggleston, tenor, and Chuck Royer, batonist, have already signed to appear, and a few more numbers may be accepted before the show next Wednesday.

The talent will range in age from a seven-year-old piano player to an elderly cellist, with plenty of entertainment for all. The judges will represent every walk of life, with one being a member of the McPherson College faculty. The judges' names will not be disclosed.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the organization sponsoring the show, or at the door that evening. The admission price is 40 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

Anyone else interested in entering the show, and perhaps walking away with the $10 first prize, is asked to contact Carmina San Romani, Annette Shropshire, or Lenore Sorenson.

Warriors Downed Again By Bulldogs

The McPherson Bulldogs repeated an earlier victory over the Sterling Warriors this time at Sterling by the score of 38 to 32 Friday, Feb. 25.

From where the record stands now, it looks like a cinch for a playoff between Ottawa and Kansas Wesleyan, probable co-champions of the Kansas Conference for the 1948-49 season, for a spot in the N. A. I. B. tournament to be held in Kansas City's municipal auditorium March 4 to 7. The Wesleyan Coyotes have only to topple the Bethel Graymaroons in their path to the co-championship.

Furthermore, we feel safe in predicting that the Coyotes will take the rubber game of the series and enter the playoffs. From there, we don't care to speculate; however we might add that just how far our representative get in the tourney will serve as an accurate barometer of exactly how good a brand of ball is played in our Kansas Conference.

Coach Russ Davey of the Baker Wildcats has succeeded Coach Wally Forsberg of the conference-leading Ottawa Braves on the Kansas N. A. I. B. committee.

Sports Sidelight—Although the score was 57 to 45, throughout the last Ottawa-Baker game, tension was high and the margin was low. The Wildcats wanted to take the lead, very bad. Bill Horn, Baker photographer, offered to take the Wildcats picture on the Ottawa floor in an old-fashioned night shirt. Well, Bill Horn was there with camera and nightshirt; however the Wildcats couldn't pull through with that win.

As we mentioned last week, the closing season always brings all-star time when we select players we think have given an outstanding performance. So picking the ten best in our own opinion from the six other clubs in the Conference we'll choose Charley Fifte, Harold Pounds, Gene Anderson, Kansas Wesleyan; Warren Nevins, Faker; Jack Smith, College of Emporia; A. B. Turner, Bill Tiegreen, Musgrave, Ottawa; and Dave Anderson, Bethany.

Bulldogs Lose To Winfield Quintet

The McPherson Bulldogs closed their 1948-49 season with a defeat at the hands of the Southwestern Moundbuilders at Winfield, Tuesday, March 1, by the score of 64 to 50.

The Bulldogs started, however, surprisingly well as they drew an advantage of 9 to 1 in the early part of the game; but the powerful Moundbuilders came back in regular fashion as they led continuously 32-22 at half-time, continuing in the last half to win 64 to 50.

The Moundbuilders' brilliant post man, Danny Kahler, scored 23 points against the losing Bulldogs while Peters took McPherson scoring honors with 13 points.

Miss Eula Witmore, soprano, will present a recital Friday evening, March 11, at 8 in the college chapel. Miss Witmore is a student of Prof. Don Frederlek and is active in the choral groups on the campus.

The program will be varied and present both heavy and light musical numbers. Miss Witmore will be accompanied by Miss Helen Stover, senior.

Speech Classes Study Argumentation, Debate

The beginning speech classes, under the direction of Mrs. George Noyes, are spending a few weeks studying the methods of argumentation. The classes have been spending their time discussing various controversial issues of today, and reports of much enthusiasm have been received.

The students have worked in groups of three, four or five, and each group prepares a subject for discussion, and starts the arguments rolling with their views of the situation. Then the subject is turned over to the class, and they battle it out until the whistle blows.

Subjects chosen for these assignments have been along the lines of "Whether or not Marriage and the Family courses should be offered in American Colleges"

"Do we need a peacetime military training program" and, "Who is to blame for juvenile delinquency, the parents or the children?"

Wagoner Is New Peace Secretary

Mr. Paul Wagoner, senior, has been approved as the Regional Peace Secretary, effective June 1. Mr. Wagoner will replace Mr. Ed Crill, who left the position to take over the management of the Volunteer Service Units in Training at the New Windsor, Maryland relief center.

During the interim the position has been filled by Miss Ruth Early.

Mr. Wagoner comes from Adel, Iowa. He has been very active in school activities. His main interest lies in the music field and as a result has been in the A Cappella Choir for four years.

Mr. Wagoner's engagement to Miss Mary Metzler of McPherson was recently announced.
