Board Focus On Budget, Plant, Education Policies

By Maureen Traxler

As administrators, teachers and students settle into a new school year, the Hicksville Board of Education began to focus on educational, policy and plant improvements, as well as preliminary planning for the 1989-90 budget and the future of New York State aid to the district.

Superintendent Catherine Fenton reported that administration will be forwarding a preliminary budget to the Board in December and will formally present a draft budget in January. The Board's Finance committee, functioning solely during the months of January, February and March, will tackle with this budget. All other committees will resume activity in April.

Dr. Fenton said that when presenting the budget, she will review the Holt management system of mathematics on the elementary level, and possibly request that the computer system be extended to the middle school. She will also present science and social studies recommendations. The Superintendent stated that she would like to know from the public and the Board where there are areas of concern, so that they may be focused on, or highlighted, in the budget.

Board President Jo Ann Miltenberg requested information on the Senior High School International Baccalaureate program, in particular, which students are participating and what is the cost to the district. Trustee Pat Rooney requested detail on the Academic Enrichment Program as well. President Miltenberg included that the English-As-A-Second-Language (ESL) Program may need some scrutiny. She observed that the program prepares students for the English language, but not for our culture. She suggested perhaps an orientation or buddy system for ESL students to help them understand every day life at school.

Dr. Fenton noted that through sources on the State level, she has been informed that the district will be receiving less and less State aid. Dr. Fenton said that "as Hicksville students score higher on State tests, we receive less money."

With a 2.5% drop out rate and a "very favorable" attendance record of at the least 90% monthly, Dr. Fenton said that the district receives no aid in these areas. Yet, the district does incur costs. The district hires personnel to insure that students do not drop out, and staffs an attendance office which calls parents, and confirms student absence. All these facilities are at the cost to the district, to the local taxpayer.

On November 10, the district will be host to Senator Ralph Marino and other legislators in an effort to explain the hardships to the community of maintaining these services. Dr. Fenton said that she will outline Hicksville's exceptional services including vocational education, alternative school, ESL and the senior high school crisis counselling for youngsters in desperate home or individual situations. The Superintendent said, "We are paying for them; somebody has to help us."

Mrs. Miltenberg said that in her conversations with New York State Education Commissioner Thomas Sobol, he expressed hopes of finding other avenues for aid. Trustee William Bennett added that the State is "trying to phase out 'save harmless,'" a system whereby no less aid may be given to a district than has been given in the previous year. He continued, "Most State revenue is going to the City of New York," and the State is trying to work out "regional funding."

President Miltenberg commended Hicksville Congress of Teachers leaders Bob Zaleski and Elayne Kabakoff who were instrumental in securing a Proclamation from the Town of Oyster Bay to declare the Week of November 13-19 as "American Education Week." Ms. Kabakoff said that the district's educators "need and deserve the support of the public." Ms. Kabakoff said that the HCT will sponsor a contest in the Hicksville schools for grades K-12, to include essays, poems and posters, entitled "Why I Like School."

The HCT will award six $50 bonds in written and poster categories, one each on three levels. Winners' entries will be displayed at the public library. The HCT also plans to hold "breakfasts" in individual schools for all staff during the designated week.

The Board received two policies for consideration and discussion. These policies will be submitted for approval at subsequent meetings: A revision of #4770, Graduation Requirements, an update of the policy to reflect requirements under the Regents Action Plan; Proposed policy #8722, Errors and Omissions Insurance, providing for the defense of

Conspiracy Charges Made

Det. Sgt. Everitt Campbell of the Major Case Squad reports the details of an arrest for Conspiracy Second Degree (Conspiracy to commit murder). The arrest was made after a joint investigation, which began October 20, between the Major Case Squad and the Eighth Squad.

Robert Coiro 19, of 5 Scherer Street, Bethpage, was arrested at 6 p.m. October 31 in a bank parking lot at 500 Hicksville Road, Bethpage. It is alleged that Coiro wanted to have John Fazio 16, of 34 Berkshire Bethpage killed because he had been involved in an altercation with a female acquaintance of Coiro sometime earlier.

Det. Harry Pizer and Det. Jerry Herman of the 8th Squad and Det. Joe Polimine of the Major Case Squad set up meetings between Coiro and an undercover officer posing as a hit man. At the second meeting Coiro was arrested.

Richard Petersen of Carver, MA, left, a former Bethpage resident, became the "One Millionth Guest" of the Long Island Marriott Hotel in Unlondale, when he recently "checked into" a celebration with exciting prizes. In honoring the hotel's celebrated guest, Bruce MacLellan, right, the hotel's general manager, presented Petersen with a "Key to the Hotel" to mark this milestone in the hotel's nearly six year history. In addition, Petersen received a vacation for two at Marriott's Orlando World Center, with airfare provided by American Airlines via the Raleigh-Durham Hub to Florida; complimentary room accommodations for the night of his arrival; dinner for two at Chardonnay, the Long Island Marriott's gourmet restaurant and other valuable prizes.

Editor's Notebook

In addition to voting for the candidates this Nov. 8 voters will be asked to approve a $3 billion transportation bond issue.

To people with an ordinary memory span this bond issue is reminiscent of one that was put before voters in 1983 and approved by them. In that bond issue we were told that all types of improvements would be made in roads and some of them on Long Island. After six years there have been very few of the improvements made and the money is gone.

So once again the voters are being alerted to the sorry condition of many roads in the state, (something that doesn't have to be done for motorists who already can see the pot holes etc.) and told that this is an urgent bond issue. The problem is that repairing the roads is urgent but a bond issue passage is no insurance at all that those things will be done.

The problem, of course, is the poor management of our state finances. Generally a bond issue is not the best way to keep things in repair. A bond issue will be a way of embarking on new construction but if the upkeep does not come out of general revenue then the taxpayers are going to get further in debt and have to pay long term interest for borrowing.

While there will be important reasons given for passing the bond issue we will not be among those who vote for it.

Fees Set For Ice Skating

The Oyster Bay Town Board has approved the 1988-1989 Parks Department schedule of fees for the Town's three ice skating rinks, according to Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

All rinks will open for public skating sessions beginning Friday, November 25, weather permitting.

"The three outdoor rinks are located at the Bethpage, Marjorie R. Post (Massapequa) and Syosset-Woodbury Community Parks. General admission for two hour public skating sessions will be $2 for skaters 16 years and older and $1 for children 15 and under," Ocker said. "A reduced rate of $.50 per two-hour session for seniors age 62 and older will be available again this year. In addition, a special $1 one-hour session rate will be in effect at the Bethpage rink for skaters 16 years and older, $.50 for children 15 and under and free for seniors age 62 years and older on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from noon to 1 p.m. and 1 to 2 p.m.

"Skaters of any age should take advantage of special discount books of 10 tickets for $7.50 - a savings of up to $12.50 over the individual two-hour per session fee. These discount ticket books also make a great gift for the holidays," Ocker said.

The Town will again conduct its Recreational Ice Hockey Program for those youngsters who enjoy the high energy, fast pace sport of ice hockey. This program is designed to provide a meaningful worthwhile hockey experience, and is offered to players between the ages of 6 and 17. The registration fee for this program is one regulation ice hockey puck.

"Instructional skating lessons will be available at Syosset-Woodbury and Marjorie R. Post Park rinks," Ocker explained. Weight Control Program Proves Highly Successful Every overweight person knows that the name of the game is not just losing weight, but keeping it off. Yet, people in their desire to lose weight quickly, constantly participate in diet programs which actually cause them to gain their weight back later on.

In a healthy weight control program, a person should be able to dine out, go on vacation, and experience holidays and special occasions without having to put up with the unreasonable restrictions required by most diets. Along these lines, the Obesity Clinic of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine has developed what is called the "LEARN" program for permanent weight control.

The "LEARN" program does NOT use gimmicks, pills, or low calorie diets because medical research reveals that these methods generally do NOT lead to permanent weight control. Instead, the "LEARN" program emphasizes sound nutritional principles, changing eating habits, eating normal foods in amounts which are reasonable, increasing physical activity, and learning specific techniques for behavioral self-control. Permanent weight control is not the result of dieting, but rather the result of permanent changes in habits and behavior.

Recently, the "LEARN" program has been refined and expanded by Dr. Jeffrey J. Felixbrod, a behavioral psychologist who directs the Institute for Eating Disorders in Nassau County. The following article, which originally appeared in local newspapers describes the actual experiences of two people who participated in the revised "LEARN" program.

Remarkable things can happen when a person loses weight in a nutritionally sound program that emphasizes permanent changes in eating habits. An example is what happened to John D. Murray, a youthful-looking, 48 year old sociology professor at Manhattanville College.

John, who is 6 feet, 2 inches tall and weighed 262 pounds in May of 1987, was attracted to a healthy weight loss program offered by The Institute for Eating Disorders.

He was told by Dr. Jeffrey J. Felixbrod, the behavioral psychologist who directs the Institute, that a slow, healthy weight loss program might allow him to consume more calories per day after reaching his goal weight than would be the case if he were to lose weight quickly. "This is because the body often adapts to low-calorie dieting by burning calories more slowly. When this happens, it is enormously difficult to keep the weight off," Dr. Felixbrod explained. John was initially skeptical.

As of April, 1988, John had lost 78 pounds—but his friends are puzzled and amazed. Recently, many have observed him dining regularly and eating heartily at places ranging from neighborhood restaurants to classy restaurants on Manhattan's east side. "How can you do this without gaining the weight back?" they ask with astonishment.

"The answer is simple," according to John. "By participating in a weight control program that emphasizes slow weight loss, good nutrition, changing eating habits, and increasing physical activity, I have to consume at least 2,600 calories per day or I'll continue to lose weight!" Needless to say, many are envious not only of the improvement in John's appearance, but of the way his is able to eat without gaining weight.

When asked about the long-term results of his weight control programs, Dr. Felixbrod talks about one of his most famous patients.

Nearly three years ago, the Gannett Westchester Newspapers reported that a Yonkers woman took a 112.7 mile walk from the steps of St. Joseph's Medical Center to the doors of the University of Pennsylvania to dramatize her extraordinary success in a weight control program.

Barbara Ciegler Cann chose the beginning and end points of her six-day journey because Dr. Felixbrod's program at St. Joseph's Hospital is where she took part in a treatment that was originally developed at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

Mrs. Cann had been overweight since she was 12 years old and since 1972 had been afflicted with colitis and high blood pressure which continued to pose a great risk to her health through 1984.

Her mother had suffered greatly from diseases related to long-term obesity and Mrs. Cann said she was "fearful she would end up in the same position." When she joined Dr. Felixbrod's weight control program in March of 1984, Mrs. Cann, who is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighed 260 pounds. In 13 months she lost 120 pounds on the program.

Now, almost three years later, Mrs. Cann has successfully maintained her weight loss. "For the first time in 22 years, I'm healthy and I feel no pain," she said. "I don't stand out in crowds anymore," she explained. "People of normal weight can never understand how obese people feel."

Dr. Felixbrod points out that this weight control program is not a diet. "Almost 98 people out of one hundred gain their weight back following popular diets and rapid weight loss methods. On the other hand, our programs emphasize good nutrition, appropriate eating habits, psychological approaches to self-discipline, and lifestyle change. Medical evidence reveals that this is the most successful approach to permanent weight control."

Professor Kelly D. Brownell, a leading obesity researcher at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, agrees: "Permanent weight loss is the goal, so select a program that will help you change your lifestyle. Be suspicious of popular diet programs, since many are filled with senseless gimmicks. A program should focus on sensible changes in nutrition and lifestyle, and should be based on the best scientific studies available."

The programs run by Dr. Felixbrod at The Institute for Eating Disorders are available at his Manhasset Hills offices. According to Dr. Felixbrod, "Approximately 80 percent of patients with eating disorders pay a weekly out-of-pocket expense of five dollars or less." For further information, contact Dr. Felixbrod at (516) 294-5000.

Open School At Kramer Lane

Kramer Lane School in Bethpage held "Open School Day" October 25. Parents had the opportunity to visit their children's classes in action and see the activities which take place in a typical elementary school day. In the photo, parents of Mrs. Hunt's second graders help their children make tissue paper ghosts while visiting Mrs. Norris' Art Class. Kindergarten parents pay their first open school visit to Kramer Lane to watch Miss Buxton teach their children how to write the letters of the alphabet.

Our Children

How do you cope with snobbish children?

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Q. Prejudice is an issue that has always concerned us in our family, but an unusual type has recently emerged.

We seem to have handled successfully the most frequent types related to race and religion, but what can we do about comments our children make about other youngsters' parents who earn less than my husband and I do and who are not in professional occupations as we are?

A. A starting point may be affirmative statements of your own about how much we depend on other adult workers, whether their occupations relate to banks, garbage pickup, teaching, mail or other equally important contributions to our welfare. Coming on too strongly may be questionable, but an occasional, natural reference to this matter might fit into everyday conversation.

As parents we also have to be aware that our children sometimes draw inferences from casual negative remarks and even facial or hand expressions related to "those people."

How this situation is handled depends on the children's ages. The older they are the more detailed our conversations with them on this subject might be.

Perhaps the bottom line should be that as important as money is many other factors relate to a person's happiness and contributions to society. Most of us can bring up a broad range of occupational examples from among our friends, family and acquaintances, individuals whom our children like and to whom they can relate.

Handling this delicate subject is far from a one-time thing. Thoughtful parents recognize that all varieties of prejudice require constant vigilance.

Q. We recently had an argument in our house — well, a friendly one — on a subject that may seem silly to you. What is the most important time of the day for a family?

I said it is the first thing in the morning because we have to start out in a good frame of mind to cope with the day ahead.

Our 14-year-old daughter thought it is the last thing in the evening because a pleasant night's sleep is so necessary.

My wife kidded around and said it is any time during the day when she is away from both of us! (At least I hope she was kidding.)

What's your choice? Are you on my side?

A. It is fun "playing Solomon," and easy to do this time because I don't agree with any of you.

The first five or 10 minutes when everyone is at home later in the day is especially crucial. That is when each person may have something to say and wants to be listened to.

Ignoring any member of the family or starting a conflict can result in what I've heard referred to as "another one of those terrible evenings."

Q. What is the latest in family home etiquette on finishing everything served on a plate or leaving a little bit so that one doesn't look on the piggish side?

As a child I was told to clean up, and was frequently reminded of the "starving children" in other countries.

Do you think that is still a pretty good policy for parents to use with their young children? We have two of them and would like your point of view.

A. Eating everything on the plate or leaving what isn't wanted is probably the way to go. I guess that is more a matter of being practical than of the "latest" in manners.

In bringing up children there is a place for encouraging them to try out whatever they are served, but the responsibility still exists for parents to make the servings attractive and appropriate in size (related to a child's age as well as his or her food likes and dislikes).

Too often some parents don't recognize that children as well as adults have favorite and non-favorite foods. Although it is of course important to provide a balanced diet, children's feelings about what is placed in front of them, or what is available when they are mature enough to help themselves, should be considered more often than it sometimes is.

Gregory Museum Open House

A beautiful fall afternoon and two new exhibits attracted many visitors to the Hicksville Gregory Museum this past weekend. An Open House had as its feature attractions a new and enlarged exhibit area for the museum's awe-inspiring fluorescent minerals, and a new historical exhibit opened in the authentic old-time museum jailhouse area.

"Hicksville at the Turn of the Century" the new exhibit has made it possible for the Museum Historical Committee to place on display, a charming selection of artifacts and photographs donated by village residents. Here in a focal display the visitor can see a recreation of the Julius Augustin home which occupied the large acreage of today's Delco Plaza. Augustin was one of the enterprising German-American businessmen and justices of the peace who built this village railroad hub into a thriving, tree-lined village by 1900.

Among the other family heirlooms, graciously donated to the Gregory Museum over the years, safeguarded by historian Richard Evers, and now on exhibit are: the leather working and saddlery tools of the late Ben Levitt; the tailor equipment of Conrad Duerr and an oil painting and the shoe last of cobbler Carl Rumpf. There are gold beating materials from Glenn Muench, carpenter's tools from Marge Giannelli, an antique apothecary's pill roller from the late Harry McInitski, and numerous other artifacts. These heirlooms are organized for school children and visitors in exhibits reflecting old-time general stores, a drug store, a household kitchen, and children's toys. The corridor to the Museum's exhibit is decorated with striking large framed prints of Hicksville, 1900-1910, the copy and restoration art of Museum photographer Edward Bady.

The Gregory Museum is in its 25 year of public service, one of Long Island's most distinctive cultural and educational facilities. The museum offers free admission to Hicksville residents and is opened Tuesday - Friday, 9:30 - 4:30 and on Saturday and Sunday 1 - 5 p.m.

Halloween Fun At Fork Lane

Fork Lane held its annual Halloween Parade, with students and faculty marching through the grounds of Fork Lane, all costumed up. On Halloween night, a party was held in the gym - with over 200 people attending. There were games set up for all to play, with prizes for all the winners. Raffles were sold, and many nice prizes were given away. Peter Pan and a beautiful Damsel were busy making cotton candy. Cupcakes, ice cream and lemonade was also served. A safe Halloween was had at Fork Lane School.

Bethpage Veterinarian Suffers Stroke

Stephen Arnold, a North Massapequa veterinarian and owner of the Bethpage Animal Hospital, died in North Shore Hospital, Manhasset, after suffering a stroke. He was 40.

He grew up in Seaford and graduated in 1965 from Gen. Douglas MacArthur High School, Levittown. He then attended Colorado State University, graduating in 1969, and earned his degree in veterinary medicine at the New York State College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University in 1974.

Dr. Arnold established his own hospital in 1985 after being affiliated with the Plainview Animal Hospital. His achievements came after a successful battle with cancer as a young man. But he required chest surgery 15 weeks ago and then suffered a stroke.

A scholarship in Dr. Arnold's name is being established at the Cornell veterinary college to assist other veterinary students.

Survivors include his wife, Anita; twin daughters Stacy and Jennifer; a brother, Alfred, of West Babylon, and a sister, Andrea Leonard, of Port Matilda, Pa.

Woman Dies In Hit-Run

Nassau police are searching for a brown Oldsmobile Cutlass in connection with a fatal hit-run accident Monday in Hicksville that killed a 60-year-old Bethpage woman.

Agnes McDonald, a secretary for the Bethpage Credit Union, was fatally injured by the car as she left mass at Our Lady of Mercy Roman Catholic Church and attempted to walk across South Oyster Bay Road. The car sped from the scene, police said.

Detectives initially thought she might have been struck by two cars. But homicide squad Det. Nick D'Avanzo said yesterday that witnesses and "evidence found at the scene" have helped narrow the search to a single vehicle: a dark brown Cutlass. D'Avanzo said detectives expect to determine the year of the car and then will start going through area registrations of such a vehicle.

McDonald, who lived on Bradley Street in Plainview, is survived by her husband, Alexander, and three children, Thomas, Kenneth and Nancy McDonald.

Mass will be offered at Our Lady of Mercy Church at 9:15 a.m. Saturday, with burial at St. Charles Cemetery, Farmingdale.

GOP Club

'Get Out Vote'

The Weekend before election day will be a busy one for the Committeemen and Committeewomen of the Theodore Roosevelt Republican Club. They will be walking through the Bethpage community "getting the vote out."

George Yochmann, Executive Leader of the club will be hosting a breakfast for the committee on Saturday morning and immediately afterward, the committee people and other members of the Republican club will walk through the Bethpage Executive area distributing election literature.

"We will meet in the American Legion Hall about 10:30 a.m. Our people will form teams and take with them campaign literature and information pertinent to their election district," said Mr. Yochmann. "Our area has 3 Assembly Districts with Joe Covello running in the 13th Assembly District, Fred Parola running for re-election in the 14th A.D. and Philip Healey also running for re-election in the 12th A.D. It's our job to get the vote out for our candidates. Voting is a right that we have in America that is missing from many other countries. I've said it many times before and I'll say it again, as Americans, it's important that you exercise your right to vote this election day."

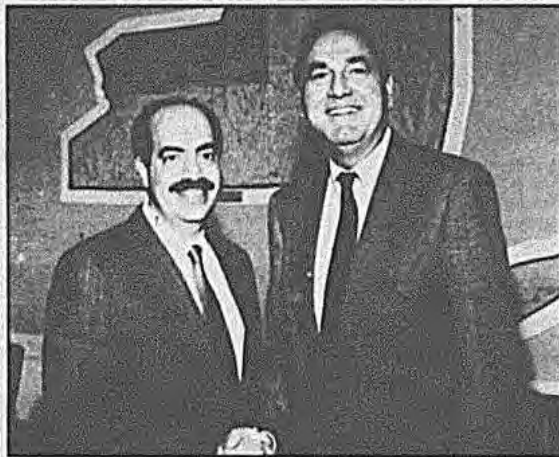

In addition, members of the organization have been at the Bethpage railroad station introducing the candidates to their constituents. Last week, Town of Oyster Bay Councilman Kenneth Diamond, who is running for District Court Judge, was at the station meeting the Bethpage Commuters. This week, Executive Leader George Yochmann, Club President Kevin Galloway and Membership Chairman Buddy Mazzara will accompany Assemblyman Philip Healey to the Bethpage LIRR station.

Remember! Election Day is Tuesday, November 8. Go out and vote.

Dear Friend,

Please help me and help yourself this Election Day! Joe Covello, the Republican candidate in the 13th Assembly District, has pledged to work side-by-side with me in Albany for safer, drug-free neighborhoods, more state dollars for Long Island school districts and roadways, and increased protection for our fragile environment.

This year, let's send a new and energetic representative to the State Assembly. Please help me on November 8th and vote for Joe Covello for Assemblyman. He'll make a difference in Albany!

Sincerely,

Senator Ralph J. Marino

I, Carl L. Oyster Bay Town Clerk Carl L. Marcellino was the guest speaker at Briarcliffe School for Business in Hicksville. Here, he chats with the school's director, Faith Zimmerman, right, of Woodbury and students, left to right, Patricia Flannelly, Madeline Hoehn of Plalaview and Jill Glassbrook. The Town Clerk talked about various governmental issues and the role of business in government.

The only one who pays for the Cuomo/LILCO deal is you . . .
THAT'S A FACT!

FACT . . .

Under the CUOMO/LILCO deal LILCO is reimbursed for the entire Shoreham fiasco. . . and you pay for it!

FACT . . .

Under the CUOMO/LILCO deal the outstanding debt at the end of the deal is actually $4.7 billion or $1 billion higher than it was originally. . . and you pay for it!

FACT . . .

Under the CUOMO/LILCO deal your electric bill can increase more than 100%. Don't forget, when your electric bills increase the same increase applies to your school district, town and county. . . and you pay for it!

FACT . . .

Under the CUOMO/LILCO deal LILCO borrows $1.3 billion to finance part of the $4.2 billion in dividends guaranteed to pay its shareholders, incurring an additional debt of $2.9 billion. . . and you pay for it!

FACT . . .

Under the CUOMO/LILCO deal 24 top LILCO executives retain their $10.4 million 'Golden Parachute' retirement benefits despite the fact that LILCO is virtually bankrupt. . . and you pay for it!

Dear Neighbor:

Most of my colleagues in the state legislature who represent Nassau and Suffolk Counties have joined me in the battle to defeat the CUOMO/LILCO deal. The Governor wants to bring the deal to a vote after the election. We need your vote of confidence on Election Day so we can show the Governor that the people of Long Island want him to renegotiate the deal with LILCO and close Shoreham without bankrupting us. We have given the Governor alternatives that will accomplish this. Your vote on Election Day, Tuesday, November 8th is critical!

Pioneers Beat V. Stream 3-0

By Jay M. Schwartz

The 1977 Pioneers from the Americans Soccer Club defeated their arch rivals, the Valley Stream Cougars by a score of 3-0 on the Cougar's home field Saturday. The Pioneers took the early control, keeping the Cougars at bay on their own territory. Although the ball moved around quickly, the Pioneers kept the attack on.

Minutes into the game, Jonathan Schwartz, at center half, took a side swing at a ball and sent it sailing. Everyone watched as it took off, floated high, and dropped in over the goalie's head. The goal was a tone-setting one and took the wind out of Valley Stream. Hicksville maintained its pressure as the fullbacks Joey Matz, Danny Wolchok, David Nelsen, Tim Dalton and Robert liskey, created the plays to push the ball forward.

The Pioneers had their second goal as Sean Flanagan took an indirect kick and Gregory Latini headed in a beauty passed the goalie. Even as the ball was sent passed the Hicksville halfbacks Jonathan Schwartz and Joe Florio, Joey Matz was there to defend the attack. Late in the half Ricky Ladimir who had two saves, watched as three quick shots were taken in succession - all wide. The ball was not being cleared out and it led to attacks.

Early in the second half, Greg Latini, now goalkeeper, made a strong kick save, one of eleven saves in the half. The forwards, Phil Caputo, Tommy Coffey, Russell Brousseau, Richard Werchenski, worked the ball up to the box. Jonathan Schwartz sent a pass up and was taken by Peter Titone who took off on a breakaway. As he ran towards the net he took a shot but it went wide.

The pressure was turned on Hicksville and the fullbacks came through with clearing passes. Jonathan Schwartz cleared another ball up to the forwards. This one was taken by Phil Caputo who ran down the right wing. Just up to the net, he was blocked by the goalie but knocked the ball in to the far post for the third goal.

The team showed great determination and skills as they dominated the play on the field today. The MVP award goes to Jonathan Schwartz today, for one goal and one assist. He played a skillful center halfback position as it should be played. The coaches and Westbury Federal Savings and Loan should be very proud of the team's courage.

Doyle, Koetter Shine In Local Soccer Win

By A. Blicker

The Hicksville Warriors, 1974 travelling soccer team, ran their L.I. Junior Soccer League record to 4 wins, 3 losses, via a 4-1 pasting of the East Meadow Running Rebels, at the latter's field, on Sunday, October 30. The game featured a Chris Doyle second half hat trick, and fantastic goaltending on the part of Chris Koetter, as the Warriors played 11 ironmen, which was then narrowed to 10, against East Meadow's 18.

Both teams had numerous first half chances but the defenses met every challenge. At about the 20 minute mark, Chris Doyle fed Jason Kingsley, as he broke right to left, and Kingsley put it in with his left foot, going away. The Warriors carried a 1-0 lead into halftime, thanks, in part, to a fantastic save on the goal line by left fullback Eric Blicker, after a rebound of a Koetter save. The second half began slowly for the Warriors, now playing with 10 men, as the Rebels dominated, only to be thwarted time and again by Chris Koetter's goaltending.

At the 50 minute mark, right fullback Brian Harkins, cleared the ball back to striker Chris Doyle, who beat the Rebel defense, carrying the ball up the right side, then breaking to the left, and shooting as he went past the goal. The Reels then came back to make it 2-1, as the Warriors failed to clear, leaving Koetter at the Rebels mercy. The Warriors then took control again, Blicker breaking up a Rebel play and feeding it to left inside halfback Dave Lovato, who gave Doyle a lead pass, resulting in the same play as his first goal. Not to be outdone, Lovato did it again, five minutes later, and Doyle repeated the same play for the third time and his "hat trick", this time laying flat on the ground as the ball rolled in, with three defenders on his back.

The defense, led by Koetter in goal, had some of their finest games. Chuck Oliver, at sweeper, Brian Harkins at right fullback and Eric Blicker at left full, were always in the right place at the right time. Oliver and Blicker contributed some fine goal kicks, as well as some offensive charges. Harking was his usual hustling self, contributing numerous, on target throw ins, as well as the perfect lead to Doyle. Matthew Pordum, at stopper and halfback, had a tremendous game, with fine defensive and offensive play, always anticipating the movement of the ball. Kareem Holman constantly made his presence felt from the halfback position. Dom Perillo, at halfback, led many charges and broke up numerous Rebel plays, which adding some strong corner kicks. Dave Lovato, playing outside and inside halfback, was a force to be reckoned with, and had two big assists. Karl Rice had a strong game at left outside halfback and left wing. Jason Kingsley had a fine offensive game and contributed the first goal. Doyle, who played the left 50 minutes at "lonely striker," was never better.

Congratulations to the Warriors, coach Pat McHugh and assistant coach Pat Harking Jr., for putting on a great soccer show. A speedy get well to Kristian Friedrich who could not play due to a hamstring injury.

H.S. Government Classes Stage Debates

Debate teams, questioners, and moderators hold an informative Presidential debate at Bethpage High School.

At Bethpage High School, senior Participation, in Government and Economics classes presented Presidential debates at two assemblies attended by the entire student body on October 27.

The debate, coordinated by teachers Miss Morawski, Mr. Hager, Mr. Clark, and Mr. Rottmann, took place between two four-member teams representing the Bush/Quayle and Dukakis/Bentsen tickets. The teams responded to direct questions from three student representatives; each team had the opportunity to answer its own questions as well as rebut the opposing team's answers. At the conclusion of the debate, representatives for each team delivered a rousing summation speech.

The on-stage dais was draped with colorful banners handmade by Miss Morawski's class, and several members of the audience carried partisan placards to add to the authenticity of the occasion.

Questions to Dukakis' team spanned domestic to global issues, including defense spending, the comprehensive anti-drug bill, criminal furloughs, and the economy. Issues addressed by Bush' team included arms sales to Iran, support of the Contras, balancing the budget, and abortion.

One of the most energetic dialogues concerned how defense cuts could affect residents of Bethpage and Grumman employees. The Dukakis team asserted that Dukakis supports a strong defense but opposes "fantasy programs" such as the Strategic Defense Initiative. The Bush team responded that the space shuttle was considered fantasy thirty years ago, too, drawing cheers from the audience.

Brett Fox, summarizing for the Dukakis team, said that it is time for America to raise its sights and idealism to meet the challenge of the American frontier. Bush' representative said the Republican ticket stands for lower taxes, less crime, a kinder and gentler nation, more parental control in day care, and world peace.

Following the debate, the Political Activities Club held a mock vote. The Bush/Quayle ticket defeated the Dukakis/Bentsen ticket by a 2-1 margin. The club will be taking further surveys in the high school to determine how parental voting preferences influence high schoolers' presidential preferences as well as other factors influencing political orientation.

The debate was a great success due to the thoughtful research and enthusiastic participation of moderators Amy Shulman, Kathy Eastwood, Jennifer Parry, and Marisa O'Brien, questioners

Carol Berman, Shelly Aronowitz, Russell Singer, Tom Ho, Mike Zeltser, and Michele Lubelsky. Bush/Quayle team members Elizabeth Gerold, Jeffrey Parrett, Christopher Persad, and Kirell Lakhman, and Dukakis/Bentsen team members, Brett Fox, Tom Rousakis, Judy Hall, Sue Fredricks, and Kim Mondelli.

At the October 19 Facilities Committee meeting, the removal of three feet of asbestos wrapping from pipe in a boys' room at East Street School was discussed. It was reported that a trained Hicksville employee, using special tools, supplies and equipment, removed the asbestos covering and properly sealed it in a special container. Board President Miltenberg noted that such asbestos is triple bagged, put in a 55-gallon drum, and deposited in a mine shaft in Maine, labeled from the Hicksville School District.

Also at the Facilities meeting, Tom Shaw, Director of Facilities and Operations proposed a revamping of the telephone system, allowing the district to save about $6,000 a year. The system would require a new 3 digit number to replace 933. A second proposal was made to replace the "pay telephones" throughout the district generating revenue between $3-4,000 per year. Both proposals were recommended by the Office of Business Services.

The district is trying to work out a schedule for increased use of building facilities, including opening up the All-Purpose Rooms and Gymnasiums at the same time. The Facilities Committee also reported that the district is experiencing a delay in the demolition of the temps at Dutch Lane and Burns Avenue Schools beyond Thanksgiving week, pending EPA approval of the demolition.

The next regular meeting of the Board will be held on Wednesday, November 22, at 8:15 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Administration Building.
