Presents

Practicality of Computer Security in City Government

Speaker: Mark Frankel

Information Security Manager
Office of Emergency Management
The City of New York

Mark Frankel is responsible for securing information systems and infrastructures vital to the operation of the City's Office of Emergency Management. Mark will discuss the threats he encounters in his work and will describe both polices and mechanisms needed to deter attacks and intrusions. Mark recently completed the M.S. in Forensic Computing at the John Jay College. His M.S. thesis examined Web 2.0 vulnerabilities that are commonly used to propagate malware.
