Dawson Quits Thumb Conservation Post

David H. Dawson, Tuscola County Soil Conservation District Farm Planner, is resigning from the Soil Conservation Service June 26. Mr. Dawson plans to enter private business as a Landscape Architect in his home town of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, according to B. A. Myers, District Conservator for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in the Thumb Area.

Dawson began work with the Soil Conservation Service in 1937 at Menomonee, Wisconsin. His work was interrupted by World War II in which he served as Major with the 1st Ranger Battalion and earned the Distinguished Service Cross, Purple Heart and Silver Star. After the War, Dawson completed his education at Michigan State College, earning a degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry.

Dawson re-entered the Soil Conservation Service at Lapeer, Michigan, where he worked as Farm Planner from September, 1948, until May, 1950, when he transferred to Caro.

Dawson is a member of the Caro Exchange Club and the Soil Conservation Society of America. The Directors of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District and their former cooperators regret Dave's leaving, but wish him the best of luck in his future work.

Sharp Students The American Music Conference recently revealed that in a survey of 200 colleges and universities, officials of 196 declared musically trained students to be far superior to all others.

Related Family Western red cedar, whose technical name is Thuja plicata, belongs to the same botanical family as the Cedars-of-Lebanon used for Solomon's Temple in biblical times.

TO THE VOTERS of Tuscola County

J. Benson Colton

I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination to the Office of Coroner at the Primary Election to be held August 5, 1952. Your support toward my nomination and election will be sincerely appreciated.

HOLBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Robinson and son, Larry, of Detroit spent the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jackson spent Sunday at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jackson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hendrick and son and Paul O'Harris at dinner on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trathen visited Sunday at the Felix Shagena home near Argyle.

Robert Becker and Ronald Jackson are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jackson.

Forest Region

In addition to logs and poles and piling, the forest region of the West Coast furnishes much of the greenery used by florists of the nation, burlis used by furniture and fine cabinet makers, cascara bark much in demand by druggists, honey, digitals, a very important heart stimulant, wild blackberries and huckleberries, and of course, Christmas trees and greens.

Panama Canal

The Panama Canal Zone was granted to the United States in 1904.

Colostrum milk is real medicine for newborn calves. Dr. C. F. Huffman, dairy researcher at MSC, says this first milk contains many health factors that help to guard the calf. It shouldn't be wasted.

Varied Program at Summer 4-H Camp

George C. MacQueen, County 4-H Club Agent, wishes to remind all 4-H club members that the dates for the summer 4-H camp are July 23-26. The camp will be held again at Sleeper State Park Group Camp, north of Caseville. All who wish to spend the three days on the shores of Saginaw Bay are urged to get their reservations into the Club Agent's office soon.

Reservations will be taken on a first-come first-served basis until the camp is full. A deposit of $2 is required for a reservation and will be applied against the total camp fee of $5.50. Several reservations have already been received. A program of crafts instruction, swimming, athletics, special 4-H activities instruction and nature and conservation instruction will round out the three-day camp.

Fire Protection
Fire prevention officials recommend that rural homes be equipped with several galvanized steel fire pails. Bucket brigades still offer practical protection against conflagrations, the experts declare.

Holstein's Average 20 Quarts Daily

Brattleboro, Vt., June 18—With an average of 436 pounds of butterfat and 12424 pounds of milk, the 17-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by A. B. Quick, Caro, Michigan, completed their test year recently. Their production averages approximately 20 quarts daily for each cow in the herd for the year. Testing was carried on under the official Herd Improvement Registry program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Milking was done two times daily and testing was supervised by the Michigan State College in cooperation with the national Holstein headquarters.

Seeing Faults
The discovery that a stepped-up blink-rate indicates difficulty in seeing is likely to help in future visual research.

Largest Library

Grease Fires
Grease fires on or near kitchen ranges are ever-present dangers to homemakers, so fire prevention officials advise caution in handling and storing food grease and fats. The experts warn against using water on grease fires. To fight such fires, they recommend using galvanized pails filled with sand or portable fire extinguishers filled with appropriate chemicals.

Longer Life
Galvanizing is the process which lengthens the life of steel containers, such as ash cans, garbage cans, baskets, pails and tubs, by providing rust-resistance. Galvanized containers are covered with protective zinc.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL DAIRY FARMER SAYS:

"GO ELECTRIC"

WHEN YOU BUY A WATER HEATER

Cleaner utensils keep bacteria count low and milk sales high.

Lloyd Morrison, near Peck, owns one of the most efficient milk houses in Sanilac County. And of course, his water heater is electric.

Without work or worry, fuel or flame, he has a full tank of piping hot water every day to speed up dairy chores and to keep his equipment in spotless condition. Economy is another big reason for going electric. Edison's special water heating rates are low. And the cost per gallon is even less when (like Mr. Morrison) you have two electric water heaters: one in your milk house and another in your home.

Better see your plumber, appliance dealer or Edison Farm Service Advisor tomorrow.

Good wiring is always important. So always ask your Farm Service Advisor for his recommendations.

DETROIT EDISON

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS BRIEFS

There are no reports that any State legislator received a speeding ticket while hurrying to Lansing Tuesday for the last regular session. They'll probably be traveling considerably faster when they head for home next week.

For legislative duties have cooked up unusually severe headaches this term. Solons will be glad to call it quits sometime around a week from today.

As in many Michigan homes today, finances are causing furrowed brows.

Like John Q. Public and his family, legislators are faced with the problem of balancing income and expenses. There are only two ways to do that: Cut your expenses or raise your income.

Here's an over-all picture of what Michigan legislators are up against.

Then listen to what Treasurer D. Hale Brake says about the tax situation. Cutting expenses is simpler in theory than in practice.

For example: 73 per cent of state sales tax revenues are automatically returned to home governments—schools, cities and townships—under a twice-approved constitutional amendment.

Faced with a deficit of $50 to $60 million by July 1, the legislature has to save or increase its income—$30 to $40 million.

Such savings would have to be made from one or all of the regular accounts which represents Michigan's expenditures:

General Government, operating offices, cost of the legislature, civil service and retirement, takes $12.5 million a year. Education takes $154 million appropriated money.

Public Health needs $13.77 million and Mental Hygiene, after years of neglect, costs $38.23 million. Public Welfare costs $54.4 million.

Safety and Defense (state police and National Guard) at $8.6 million; Adult Corrections (that's prison, pardon and parole setup) at $10.8 million. Conservation, Recreation and Agriculture at $6.69 are essential as bread and butter.

Debt Service (to pay off our bonds) takes $14.49 million and Aeronautics grants of $287,000 brings the total budget for '52-'53 to three-hundred thirty million dollars $330,000,000!

Estimated income for that period is $303 million.

John Q. Public can cut his expenses by putting his family on a diet of hog jowls and barley grits. But they wouldn't stay healthy—or happy—very long.

These basic public services might be cut drastically, too. But it's debatable how healthy governments would be. It's beyond debate that the citizens of our fair state would squawk loud and long when such cuts would curtail services they have grown to consider and accept as necessities.

State Treasurer Brake, who knows more about Michigan dollars and cents than anyone on both peninsulas, has been doing lots of back-of-an-envelope figuring on the problem. He observes:

"From time to time the suggestion has been made that public welfare, which was formerly a local problem, be returned to local units. Rural townships, in many cases, could probably handle direct relief but most of our cities couldn't—and there the problem is greatest. Neither cities nor townships could take on old age assistance and aid to dependent children which make up most of the $52 million."

Unable to cut expenses appreciably, the State can do only one other thing: Raise its income. Michigan's income is its taxes. Raising taxes always brings protest from the taxpayers. That isn't bad enough; legislative attempts to raise the intake have run into vetoes by Governor Williams.

Mr. Brake reminds us that "the legislature was urged by the Governor to pass a corporate income tax law. Some legislators favored a general income tax. But the majority turned down both propositions and sought by a series of increases of taxes already in use to build up State income by $30 million and avoid any increase in the deficit."

"They passed a USED CAR TRANSFER tax that was to raise $12 million. This the Governor vetoed," says Mr. Brake.

Williams vetoed a bill replacing the 3% sales tax on liquor (which has to be split up with schools and local governments) with a 3% HANDLING TAX (which the State can keep entirely). He also vetoed an attempt to keep $1.5 million in LIQUOR LICENSE FEES in the State treasury instead of passing it down to local government.

"They raised the CORPORATION FRANCHISE TAX from 3½ to 4 mills—this is supposed to yield an additional $10 million. Increases and revisions in INTANGIBLES TAXES should add $6.5 million. Another million is to come from changes in INSURANCE COMPANY and NATIONAL BANK taxes."

Now hopes for a balanced budget lie in the proposed 2% industrial processing tax estimated to raise $20 million. That faces rough sledding. In the House this week, it goes to the Senate next week if approved.

"Position of legislators is not enviable," he opines. "Folks back home don't want new taxes; serious curtailment of (public) services would bring vigorous protests."

So, when the legislature adjourns next week (if it can really push all pending legislation to a final vote by that time), lawmakers will be glad to get away from the whole mess for a while.

If one of the solons speeds through your town on his way back home, don't blame him. Just sympathize with his problem of making two plus two in income equal two plus three in expense.

Make a picnic dessert that is unusual and fun—fruit cobbler. Use coffee cans for making individual serving dishes. Put sweetened fruit in can and add dough. Cook over fire. Leave the cans in the rubbish barrel when you go.

SHORT STORY

The Yeggs

By Lytle W. Robinson

JOE wasn't very happy as he drove past the few remaining houses on Sixteenth Street and turned into the El Paso highway. He knew Marie's answer was going to be "no." For a full ten minutes now she had sat gazing silently out the window; if she were going to say yes she would already have said it. Out of the corner of his eye he saw her turn and look at him. She didn't say anything; he knew she was studying him. She would have to make up her own mind—he wasn't going to try talking her into it. In four years of courtship, Joe Brummitt had never talked Marie Pennington into anything!

3-Minute Fiction

Marie looked at him, a slight frown coming into her brow. "You're nice, Joe—and quiet and stable, and you like children, but—well, you're unimaginative and too easy-going. You never have an opinion on the things we do—"

"Go on," he said.

Marie looked away. "I know this is small—but you act slow, talk slow—even think slow! And me, I'm excitable and always in a hurry. I'm afraid I'm just not the one for you, Joe. You understand, don't you?" She pressed his arm.

"Yes," he said weakly. "I see." But he didn't see. His mind was turning somersaults. So that's what she thought! He was a do-nothing!

"Okay, Buddy—get out!" He flashed an automatic in his face.

Little muscles flexed across his jaws as he reached down and found the radio switch in the darkness. Perhaps the music would soothe his empty, as well as ruffled, feelings.

In a moment it suddenly blared out with a news commentator, and Joe snapped off the switch and drove on in silent thought.

Suddenly he pulled the car over to one of the gaily lighted filling stations. Marie looked at him questioningly.

"Be back in a minute," he said lightly, getting out of the car. "I want to phone Ray Adams."

JOE was gone more than a minute, but Marie didn't seem to mind. Nor did they talk much as he drove leisurely on out beyond the business sections and into the darkened stretch of road that led by Sunrise Heights.

Joe at length turned off the highway and started up the long, lonely grade leading to the Pennington's house. They were halfway up the incline when they saw the other car, parked on the side of the road near the crest, headed down-hill. "Somebody having tire trouble," Joe muttered to Marie, slowing down. "This will be my good deed for today."

As he pulled to a stop two men disappeared into the darkness, one on each side of the road.

"What's the trouble?" Joe called, craning his head out of the window.

Marie shrieked, "They have on masks!"

The man on his side grabbed the door handle. "Okay, Buddy—get out! We'll take the car!" He flashed an automatic in Joe's face.

"Make it snappy, girly!" the other man said in a loud, rasping voice, jerking open the door and taking Marie by the arm.

"Why—er," Joe stammered. Then suddenly he reached down, flashed on the dash light and clicked his radio. Excitedly, he shouted in a loud voice:

"Calling all cars! Hold-up! Sun-rise Heights off highway eighty—hurry!" Then, to the men, he said evenly, "You've got two minutes to get out of here!"

"The guy's a highway copper!" frantically yelled the man on Marie's side. "Look at his hat."

The other man took one bewildered look and started backing away. Neither of them wanted to take a second look at anything as they turned and fled for their car.

Marie buried her head in Joe's shoulder, trembling and making a lot of senseless noises.

"Joe! It worked! Your Scoutmaster's hat does look like the border patrol's!" Marie exclaimed, throwing her arms around his neck. "Will you ever forgive me, darling?"

"I'll give it serious consideration," he said, smiling to himself as he put his arms about her. "You're an awful sissy, you know."

But inside his heart was singing wildly; it did work! And the Adams brothers were a couple of darned good yeggs!

Final Rites Held For Vincent J. Wells

Funeral services were held Friday, June 13, at 2:00 p. m., from Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, for Vincent J. Wells, 79, of 473 South Paddock Street, Pontiac, who died unexpectedly Tuesday, June 10, at his home.

He was born at Oxbridge, Ont., July 28, 1872, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wells, and in 1898, he married Annie Hershey at Cass City, and moved to Pontiac 42 years ago.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, David V. of Pontiac; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Rev. George Murphy, pastor of United Missionary Church, of which he was a member, officiated, and burial was in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

SHORT STORY

With All The Fixings

By Michael Tiff

AS USUAL, stepping out of the exclusive Bankers and Manufacturers Club building, I felt that I had a lot to say to the world in general and to my favorite shoe-shine boy, Mickey McKensie, in particular. In fact, I was overjoyed to see him coming toward me through the crowded sidewalk, with his business stock and equipment housed in a crudely constructed box with a shoe rest. The feeling of satisfaction within me, born of recent pyramidal successes in the stock market, glowed with pleasant warmth; and I wanted presently to transmit that glow to Mickey himself.

"Hi, Mr. Crowley. Shine?"

"You bet, Mickey. How's your business?"

"Okay. Mr. Crowley. How's your business?"

"Okay, Mickey."

I watched him again with satisfaction. I approved of the way he worked, with his long sandy hair falling from one side to the other as his slight body swayed to his task.

Noticing Mickey's curious glances at the other members of the club walking into or out of the building in greater numbers than usual, I informed him, "Today is the anniversary—the hundredth—of the Bankers & Manufacturers' Club. Nice sunny day for it, too."

"Sure's an old club. I once belonged to a club, too. It was a hiking club. But I got plenty o' walking all day looking for customers. so I lit out of it."

"I'm doing pretty well right now, Mr. Crowley, with my own business."

I was suddenly interested in his personal life—and I was positive Mickey had one. "I suppose, after your day's work is done, you can't wait until you're in a movie theatre watching your favorite Western hero? Eh, Mickey?"

I expected, when he raised his rather large blue eyes, to see them aglow with sudden fire. Instead they were quite calm, perhaps skeptical. "The movies are oke, Mr. Crowley, but they're mostly for kids."

"TELL ME, Mickey, what do you like to do besides shining shoes?"

"Eat, Mr. Crowley. Just eat. My specialty's hot dogs and—fishcakes. But gimme hot dogs any time—with lots o' mustard and onions and saurkraut. 'Course I go for fishcakes too. But hot dogs is my specialty. When I get home mom's got potatoes and beef stew and that's okay with me. But I always sneak down to the hot dog stand on the corner with two or three nickels—sometimes as many as six—and get myself hot dogs with all the fixings."

"Guess I'm just about the hot-dog-eatest guy in the city. Gosh! Guess I'm always hungry for 'em. Mom says I got a barrel for a stomach, always going after eats the way I do. But mom's a pretty good sport anyway for letting me have some of the nickels I take in over the day."

I could tell, by the rapt expression on Mickey's gold-lacked face, that he was mentally immersed in those delicious frankfurters, with "all the fixings"—concocted by this genius Mike. That small tongue of his seemed to move faster as if it were curling about a portion of his favorite delight. I could almost taste with him that incomparable flavor, laden with the essence of onions, mustard and saurkraut. But Mickey was straightening up and packing his brush, his rags, his cans of polish back into the crude little box. His small grimy palm hovered toward me and with a burst of generosity, I placed on the little hardened palm not one nickel but three. I watched the freckles for the sign of joy. But a man happened to pass close by me at the moment, one of my fellow club members, and he placed a brotherly hand on my shoulder.

"Fred," he called me by my first name, of course, "don't you forget the dinner tonight. Hundredth anniversary of the club, you know. And it's going to cost you just one hundred dollars for your plate, whether you come or not. Cheap at that."

One hundred dollars a plate! I saw Mickey pocket the three nickels I had given him and when I looked into his eyes, they stared back at me, very wide and very blue, and I had nothing to say.

Need First Aid Kits

With farmers smack in the busy season of the year, inexpensive first-aid kits properly located where they may save a life or prevent serious infections from injury are especially important.

Modern farm equipment includes first-aid kits, according to Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. He points out that such in the house and at convenient points about the farmstead and on farm equipment.

Ballweg explains that it is a simple matter to provide satisfactory home-made first-aid kits at low cost. The National Safety Council recommends several materials for assembling a good kit. The box should be tight to keep dirt out. A cash box, fishing tackle box or even a tightly-covered tin can will serve as a container. It should be thoroughly cleaned and well labeled.

The kit should contain rolls of adhesive tape of varying widths, sterile cotton, swabs and sticks, and sterile white cloth for large bandages and tourniquets. Also essential is a tube of sterile white vaseline for minor burns, scissors, boric acid, tincture of benzoin, an accepted antiseptic and aromatic spirits of ammonia.

Rock Dust Treatment
A safety procedure regularly followed in U.S. mines is the application of rock dust on sides and roofs of entries to prevent explosions. The rock dust, which is powdered limestone, keeps coal dust from becoming combustible.

Even Then Beauty shops did a thriving business in the old Roman days.

Well Managed Acre Will Support a Cow

An acre and a quarter of well-managed, well-fertilized pasture will provide good "board and room" for a dairy cow during the summer grazing season and keep that cow sleek and well-fed with high-protein grass silage through the winter. J. L. Haynes, agronomist at Ohio Experiment-Station, says. To build high yielding pasture, he recommends seeding a legume grass mixture and adding plant nutrients to the soil.

Tour Shows Farmers Safeguarding Soil

A tour of five farms cooperating with the Tuscola Soil Conservation District on Saturday afternoon, June 14, clearly shows how farmers are winning the struggle against nature to safeguard their soil, says Alfred P. Ballweg, county extension agent.

Field arrangements, tile drainage layout and the influence of soil structure on soil drainage were pointed out by Dave Dawson, Unit Conservationist, on the farm of David Gray of Gliford township.

A stop at the Cole Brothers farm, 1 mile north of Watrousville, showed how farming on the contour is not only keeping soil in place but also less expensive and easier to farm. For the third stop the group met in a tree planting and wind-break area on the Mike Hill farm.

1948 and 1950, on land suited only to growing trees.

At the Caro State Hospital farm, Rex Griffin, farm superintendent, pointed out how the construction of grass waterways and diversion of run-off water had prevented serious gully erosion and loss of productive farm land.

Last stop was at the farm of Ellis Russho, where the group saw what can be done to conserve run-off water by dam construction and the application of this water to the land through a portable sprinkler irrigation system. Ballweg pointed out that this is only a sample of what hundreds of Tuscola County farmers are doing to safeguard their greatest heritage, the soil.

Mostly Surface

More than 20 per cent of America's bituminous coal supply comes from surface mines.

American Diets Improve During Past 15 Years

Americans as a whole are better fed than they were 15 years ago, nutritionists report. Compared to the period before World War II, people in the U.S. are eating 19 per cent more meat, poultry and fish; 42 per cent more eggs; 11 per cent more fruits and vegetables; and 20 per cent more dairy products except butter. They are eating 24 per cent less potatoes and 17 per cent less grain products.

It is not necessary to inoculate the calf with rumen bacteria if the calf lives in the general dairy barn where it will pick up the healthy bacteria easily. If the calf is raised apart from the herd, it should be provided with hay that cows have nuzzled over. Such hay is annotated with good bacteria that may have come up from the cow's rumen.

St. 27+32 to 33+20—3 ft. Bottom

St. 33+20 to 41+20—3 ft. Bottom

Level to 18 in.

In the construction of said drain the following public utility easements for pipe will be required and contracts let for same:

Cemetery Road at Outlet—48 ft. of 42 in. Pipe C. M. P.

Sta. 6+22—Thelma Hunt—20 ft. of 30 in. 14 gage C. M. P.

20 sq. yds. Cement Sack Riprap

Said job will be let in accordance with the diagram now on file with the other papers pertaining to said Drain, in the office of the County Drain Commissioner of the County of Tuscola to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and the same shall be made available accordingly. Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the work in the sum then and there to be fixed by me, reserving to myself the right to reject any and all bids, and to adjourn said letting to such time and place as shall be determined by me.

The date for the completion of such contract, and the terms of payment therefor, shall be ascertained at the time, time and place of letting. Any person desiring to bid on the above mentioned work will be required to deposit with the Drain Commissioner a certified check or cash to the amount of one hundred and ten dollars as a guarantee that he will enter into contract and furnish the required bond as prescribed by law. Checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned after contracts are awarded. The payments for work shown on drawings will be made as follows: To be announced.

Notice is further hereby given, that on Wednesday the 26th day of July, 1952, at the County Drain Commissioner's Office in court-house in the Village of Caro, County of Tuscola, or at such other time and place thereafter, to which I, the County Drain Commissioner aforesaid, may adjourn the same, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the "Hahn Drain Special Assessment District," and the apportionments thereof will be subject to review for one day, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon, at which time and place computation of costs for said Drain will also be open for inspection by any parties interested.

The following is a description of the several tracts or parcels of land constituting the Special Assessment District of said Drain:

EKLAND TOWNSHIP

Section 9

18 acres, Thelma Hunt—NE 18 A of SE 1/4 of SE 1/4

Section 10

25 acres, Sam Blade—N 25 A of NE 1/4 of SE 1/4

Section 11

7 acres, Clarence Boulton—NW 7 A of SW 1/4 of NW 1/4

15 acres, Edward Hahn—W 15 A of SW 1/4 of NW 1/4

Now, therefore, All owners and non-resident persons, owners and persons interested in the above described lands, and you:

Fred Mathews, Tuscola County Clerk

Edward Rawson, Supervisor of Elkland Township

Roy LaFave, Chairman, Board of County Road Commission

are hereby notified that at the time and place aforesaid, or at such other time and place thereafter to which said letting may be adjourned, I shall proceed to receive and receive bids for the construction of "Hahn Drain," in the manner hereinbefore stated; and also, that at such time and place as stated aforesaid from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the Hahn Drain Special Assessment Districts will be subject to review.

And You and Each of You, Owners and persons interested in the aforesaid lands, are hereby cited to appear at the time and place of such reviewing of apportionments as aforesaid, and be heard with respect to such special assessments and your interests in relation thereto, if you so desire.

Dated this 14th day of June A. D. 1952.

FREELAND SUDEGEN,
County Drain Commissioner,
County of Tuscola.

Proper Drainage Means Better Crops

Under Drainage System Quickly Pays for Itself

It is a well-known and established fact that more crops and better quality crops are grown on land that is properly drained than can be grown on undrained land.

A farm underdrainage system may easily pay for itself in from one to five years.

The actual cash return comes from the basic benefits. They include: It deepens the soil bed; it conserves the top soil; it lengthens the growing ing season; it raises soil temperature; it permits uniform cultivation of fields; it permits earlier cultivation after rains; it protects crops from frost damage; it increases value of fertilizing; it reduces labor and machinery costs; it tends to make crops drought-resistant; and it increases value of any farm.

The right and wrong way to lay tile line. Be sure that grade is even at all times.

Sheep Become Popular With Midwest Farmers

Sheep are seen more and more on midwest farms. Many of these farmers are finding that the "woolies" make good use of soil-conserving crops and can be produced with less labor than other livestock.

According to Successful Farming magazine, the long-time price outlook for a native-sheep flock is excellent compared with that for beef and dairy cattle.

Most farmers prefer to start in the sheep business with a small flock. This has advantages, for it does not seriously disrupt other farm work.

The same amount of pasture is needed for five ewes and their lambs, as for one cow and calf.

What will it cost to go into the sheep business? Compared to beef, the cost is lower.

Let's Talk It Over

Ed Vallender - Farm Editor WBCN - Bay City Crop Reports

A lot of folks in Washington are keeping their fingers crossed these days. Those watching with anxious eye are the crop forecasters.

First of all—they're looking for the second largest wheat crop in history. One billion, three hundred million bushels in all.

All crops have fared well, generally. Of course, there are reports of flood and drought.

Milk production in May was two per cent below average for the month.

Pastures are reported generally in excellent shape for early June—the grazing is good, and pastures in most areas carry a reserve of green feed.

Second Guessing We think that the universal importance of food is sometimes overlooked.

We have a large stockpile of atom bombs but, generally will view with equal importance our stockpile of food reserves.

When people of certain nations go hungry for years and even generations, they are ripe targets for any propaganda that can even promise them a better diet.

Men from this area of Michigan have taken leave of their stateside jobs to go overseas and help.

We all realize there is a limit to what we can do in the way of exports. Emergency measures are one thing.

Only then will the threat of communism by hunger be removed.

Experiments at Michigan State College have shown that during two out of three years, plowing down a green manure crop May 31 gave half the yield of May 15 plowing.

That's why our crop reports are so important. More than munitions or men under arms, our abundant harvest can mean the difference between peace and war.

COOPERATING WITH NATURE

Did you ever figure out that man has been studying the human body for thousands of years, written thousands of books about it without being able to manufacture one single tissue cell?

Yet nature, in 280 days, manufactures 400 billion tissue cells, groups them in their proper places and produces life.

Nature also provides all the machinery necessary to maintain health—a nervous system supplying impulses to every organ, gland and tissue cell in the body.

And chiropractic goes hand in hand with nature, first acknowledging that nature knows best how to cure its ills and second, making sure that nature's own healing agent is free to do its work properly.

Chiropractic is effective in any type of illness because it cooperates with nature, because it recognizes that sickness starts when the flow of nerve impulses to the body is restricted or blocked off entirely.

See for yourself by calling on your local chiropractor, DR. E. V. CLARK, at 148 W. Lincoln Street, Caro, or phone 370 for an appointment.—Adv.
