Wheat allotments will be set for Valley county July 14, the Triple-A office reports. Marketing quotas will be voted on August 13. Paul Owens, chairman of the Valley county committee, said this week that farmers who need additional storage bins or near their farms should get in touch with the Triple A office at once.

Under the storage-construction plan, the CCC will either guarantee loans made by local lending agencies or will make the loans direct. Loans will cover up to 85 per cent of the cost of storage structures or 45c per bushel on storage capacity, whichever is the smaller. For complete details consult the county Triple-A office.

Burglars at Taylor, Scotia Last Week

Seven hundred dollars in bank funds and the contents of a number of safety deposit boxes were included in the loot taken by burglars who cut through the fire wall of the Bank of Taylor early Thursday, according to Guy Fletcher, the cashier.

Wednesday evening burglars entered through the back door of the Ashley Hardware in Scotia and took a diamond ring which was kept in the safe. It is believed that they might have had the bank next door in mind and got into the wrong building by mistake. The burglars have not been apprehended in either case.

Weather Perfect For Harvest And Corn Cultivation

Combining Started in the Wheat Fields, No Report on Yields.

The past week has seen perfect weather for farming, though rather hot at times. However, hot weather is needed to get the grain in condition for combining, and the corn has been growing apace all through the hot days. There has been little dew at night to slow down the process.

Some grain has been cut with the binder, but much of it is waiting for the combine, and requires a good drying in the field before the machines will do a satisfactory job of threshing. A few small fields have been bound near the alfalfa mill.

Combines were started Tuesday afternoon in two fields just southeast of the city limits, but they seemed to have trouble getting under way. Possibly the grain is still too tough to thresh right. In any case, the weather, according to the long range forecast, is likely to remain hot and dry, which will help the harvest.

Corn has never grown faster than it has the past week. With plenty of moisture in the soil and the necessary sunshine to make it grow, the corn is growing so fast that many fields will be laid by with what ordinarily would be the second cultivation.

Weeds do not seem to be much of a problem in most corn fields, but grass is causing trouble in many places, especially in the low ground and in drilled corn. The grass grew so fast this year that it was almost impossible to cover it between the rows in the first cultivation.

Last week Ed Burrows said he usually had his corn laid by the fourth of July, but that he would be lucky to have it all over the first time by the fourth this year. Mr. Burrows expressed the views of quite a number of farmers.

Off to a late start last spring because of weather conditions, all farmers have been trying to catch up with their work all through the spring and into the summer, and many of them are still behind. There is no unemployment problem in this area, with so much help needed on the farms.

Rollin Smith, Early Resident Dies in Calif.

The older residents of this city will regret to hear of the recent death of Rollin Smith of Los Angeles, California. Mr. Smith was reared in Ord. He moved to the west coast about forty years ago. His wife preceded him in death and he has two grown daughters who survive him.

His brother Charles Smith and sister Mrs. Claude A. Davis also survive him. He was a cousin of Maude Goodenow of the Burwell vicinity. His passing came as he was working a crossword puzzle in his home and was due to heart trouble which he had had for some time.

At that time there were 23 clerks in the store, with extras on Saturdays, in addition to the firm members, L. D. Bailey, Oto Bailey, Lulu Bailey and Clarence Bailey.

Of the four only Miss Lulu is still living, and her health would not permit her to be in the picture. Many of the clerks of the store of nearly fifty years ago, have answered the call of death also.

Among those who worked in the store shortly after the turn of the century were Ed Kallal, now in Canada; Bill Clark, deceased; Dorothy Sorenson, Oakland, Calif.; Ergot Fogt, Katie Sorenson, Ella Crow, Bee Vopat, deceased.

Mrs. A. F. Kosmata, Claude Homnoid, Ed Armstrong, deceased; Steve Parks, deceased; Joe Barts, Alice Hamilton, Bill Larsen, Jake Chalupsky of Comstock, Olive and Tommy Fuson, deceased; Emil Zikmund, Bessie Rawles, Ann Novotny, a Dane whose first name was

Thirty Teachers Hired in Rural Schools to Date

Ahead of What Had Been Expected Says Miss McClatchey.

Miss Clara McClatchey, county superintendent, has furnished the Quiz with a list of all rural teachers known to be hired by July 1. The total is thirty, which is better than she had expected by that time.

The teachers already contracted for are all experienced teachers. Some are in the same districts as last year and quite a few are located in other districts. It is probable that some schools have not reported, and these must be reported at once.

One important fact is that the time to report applications for free high school tuition ended July 1. However, there may be a few who have not reported, and these must be reported at once.

Teachers Hired for 1949-50: Garnette Kokes, Dist. 2; Mrs. Evelyn Willoughby, Dist. 3; Florence Christoffersen, Dist. 6; Lila Kirby, Dist. 9; Lois Cook, Dist. 9; Mrs. Anna Marie Adams, Dist. 11; Wilma Klanecky, Dist. 13; Mrs. Frances Svoboda, Dist. 14; Eva Gregory, Dist. 16; Bessie Shepperd, Dist. 19; Joan Masters, Dist. 25; Muriel John, Dist. 26; Geneva Benson, Dist. 28; Mrs. Dolly Johnson, Dist. 29; Evelyn Grabowski, Dist. 32; Mildred Waldmann, Dist. 35; Elara June Cook, Dist. 36; Greta Oliver, Dist. 38; Dorothy Skoll, Dist. 40; Ila Williams, Dist. 41; Maxine Yak, Dist. 42; Rossa Pasola, Dist. 43; Anna Mortenson, Dist. 44; Mrs. Barbara Ragland, Dist. 54; Doris Mae Beranek, Dist. 55; Dorothy Holtz, Dist. 57; Kathryn Shepperd, Dist. 62; Minnie Holoun, Dist. 63; Georgia Pesek, Dist. 73.

The last normal training examination to be given under the old normal training regulations will be given in the county superintendent's office on Saturday, July 16.

The schedule for the examinations is as follows: Morning: 8:00 to 8:50, Arithmetic, Mental Arithmetic and Bookkeeping; 9:00 to 9:50, American History, Civil Government.

10:00 to 10:50, English Composition, Grammar, Penmanship and Orthography.

11:00 to 11:50, Physiology, Hygiene.

Afternoon: 1:00 to 1:50, Elementary Course of Study Theory and Art.

Four Men of L. D. Bailey Store Crowd Talk of Happenings Fifty Years Ago

Saturday Jake and Will Zabloudil, Tony Kosmata and John Ward got together for a talk of the old days when they were a part of the clerical force of the then famous store of L. D. Bailey and Sons.

At that time there were 23 clerks in the store, with extras on Saturdays, in addition to the firm members, L. D. Bailey, Oto Bailey, Lulu Bailey and Clarence Bailey.

John R. Ferguson Of Taylor is Dead

John R. Ferguson passed away suddenly at his farm home west of Taylor Thursday morning. Mr. Ferguson has been in poor health for several years, and his death was due to a stroke.

He was born in Dodge county, Neb., and came with his parents to Blaine county in 1891, where he grew to manhood. He married Susie Reynolds, bought the farm on which they lived until his death.

He is survived by his widow; eight sons and two daughters, also several brothers and sisters, among whom is Dr. A. J. Ferguson of Ord. Funeral services were held at Taylor. The Fergusons of Ord are in attendance, also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pray and family of Denver.

Valley County Fair Now Only Four Weeks Off

Agricultural Show Could Be Among the Best in History.

Four weeks from the date of this paper the Valley County fair will be observing its last day. From appearances now, there could be a fine agricultural exhibit of all earlier crops, which look about as good as they have in years.

This year the fair is turning back to fundamentals. The fair idea from the beginning was built around products of the farm, with entertainment features in a secondary position. In recent years many of the drive bids have been away from the original idea.

The entertainment feature will not be neglected, however. The Rockwell Shows, a carnival company from Kansas, only 3 years old, and everything practically new, will have a stand to entertain both young and old. Being a product of the middle states, this carnival specializes in the cleaner forms of entertainment.

Literature on the James Chittwood entertainment group with their new drive bids to be completed in the allotted time. Valley county has the opportunity to obtain a hospital for a much lower figure than any of these, and a cooperative hospital, the best kind obtainable for general public.

The more I find out about 4-H club work the more I become enthused about it," Carson said. "It seems to me that one of the finest things we can do to teach young people better ways to live, to work and to play, is to have them see by what the young people in our area are getting through 4-H club work."

"The training must be effective, too, as one never hears of a 4-H member getting into a jam with the authorities."

Village Board of North Loup Votes Against Liquor

Unanimously Opposes Application of Cress for Hard Drink Sales.

Last night the hearing on the application of Ronald Cress of North Loup for license to sell liquor in the village came up for a hearing before the village board at a meeting held at the Community hall.

Since the application was made, considerable objection has been voiced by the public, and the board apparently took this into consideration when the five men voted unanimously against the application.

The same board voted 3 to 2 in favor of the present beer applications when they came up for consideration. Licenses to sell beer are held at present by Mr. Cress and Monta Edwards.

Jimmie Kucera Wins Trophy at Hastings Races

Hot Rod Specialist Makes Good in July Fourth Contests.

Jimmie Kucera, who is a good driver, whether it be a big semi outfit or a hot rod, came through at Hastings July Fourth to win first place and the coveted trophy and cash for himself, and honor to his home town and the local hot rod organization.

Three weeks ago he won two first places and one third place at Hastings. Two weeks ago he didn't do so well, having to be content with a couple of third places. A week ago he was unable to compete at all, because his car was out of repair.

July Fourth he had his car in good working order, took third place in the first race, first place in the second race, first place in the feature event. Jimmie has a lot of friends in Ord and elsewhere who are glad to know of his success.

Gov. Val Peterson in Burwell Thursday

Governor Val Peterson will visit Burwell Thursday of this week and will speak at the Rodeo theater at 3 p. m. on the subject of changing the road between Burwell and Taylor, and also changing it over to black top.

The state plans are calling for an oil road between Taylor and Burwell. If present plans are carried out, Burwell will become the crossroads of two important state highways. Nebraska's Big Rodeo was no doubt a determining factor in present road plans.

Harvest Holding Hospital Drive Near Standstill

Rural Areas Too Busy For Raising of Fund.

The hospital committee, a part of whom are farmers, find themselves about as busy as they will be with the harvest on, the corn ready to lay by, to say nothing of the second cutting of alfalfa, which is coming on apace.

For this reason the drive may be delayed a week or two in the rural areas. The plan considered last week will be worked out, and the solicitation in the country be done by school districts, rather than by townships.

Thursday evening a group of members of the Chamber of Commerce met and consulted with members of the hospital board. Archie Geweke, president of the board, expressed complete confidence that the board would be able to complete the drive on the voluntary basis.

The board would like to get in contact with somebody who has a small trailer house or similar vehicle to be located on the square, from which to boost for the hospital drive. Anyone knowing of such a vehicle should get in touch with Dr. Auble.

It might be well to keep in mind the fact that there are a dozen or more hospital drives being conducted at the present time in counties over the state, and in every case the amount to be raised is far in excess of that to be raised in Valley county.

These amounts total from $100,000 up to $250,000, and in every case the drive bids fail to be completed in the allotted time. Valley county has the opportunity to obtain a hospital for a much lower figure than any of these, and a cooperative hospital, the best kind obtainable for general public.

Carson Again Stakes County 4-H Club Shows

Hugh Carson, prominent Ord farm owner, is staking 4-H club work in this year county fair again this year to the tune of $400. The money is split equally between Valley, Greeley, Howard and Wheeler counties and may be used by agricultural exhibit officials in these counties in any way they see fit to boost 4-H club show work.

The more I find out about 4-H club work the more I become enthused about it," Carson said. "It seems to me that one of the finest things we can do to teach young people better ways to live, to work and to play, is to have them see by what the young people in our area are getting through 4-H club work."

James Skala Sent Up for One Year On Forgery Charge

James B. Skala was arraigned in district court at Ord before Judge William E. Spink July 6 on a charge of forgery. The check in question was one in the amount of $62 to which he signed Joe Ulrich's name. County Attorney Ralph W. Norman filed the charge.

Skala was sentenced to one year in the Nebraska penitentiary. He was sent to the penitentiary from Scotia's bluff county and was released from prison in October, 1948.

Dana College Dean Dies While Bathing

G. J. Lemmon, Dana college, was drowned in Ohio on his way to his home in Pittsburgh at the close of the college year. He had stopped to visit some relatives when he met his death.

Prof. Lemmon, 35, was in swimming when his friends noticed he seemed to be in trouble. They brought him to the bank, but he apparently had been the victim of a heart attack. He was dean of men at Dana the past year.

R. L. Lincoln, Ord Business Man, Returns to Farm After 34 Years

Things won't look quite the same at the L. and L. shop from now on. R. L. Lincoln, who made the place his headquarters for 21 years, recently sold out the business to "Chuck" Jones, and will move to the farm he bought at the edge of North Loup as soon as the place is vacated.

After all, there is nothing unusual about Lincoln going on a farm. He lived at Scotia before coming to Ord, Feb. 22, 1915, and he used to work on a farm in that area. His first job in Ord was relief man for Standard Oil, driving the tank trucks, which was then pulled by horses.

In 1917 he was working for Dan Huff in his garage. Shortly after that he was called into the navy and spent 21 months in active service. After that he was in the reserve 7 years, but was never called for active duty.

Coming home he worked for the Union Pacific for about 5 years, and after that worked for the

Fatal Accident in Nevada Made Ord People Consider Hospital Need

If the people of Valley county had been with us in Nevada on the afternoon of June 21 - if they had seen the automobile accident we saw and been forced to watch helplessly while two people died because no doctor, no ambulance and no hospital were available, the Ord Cooperative Hospital fund would be over-subscribed by this time.

Such automobile accidents are happening all the time. They happen on our own roads and highways. More deaths would result from them, to our own boys and girls, were it not for our good doctors and hospitals.

We were on the most desolate stage of our trip, traveling north through the desert from Winnemucca, Nevada, to Boise, Idaho. It is 79 miles from Winnemucca to McDermitt, a village on the Nevada-Oregon state line. It is 105 miles from McDermitt to Jordan Valley, Ore. It is 50 miles from Jordan Valley, Ore., to Caldwell, Idaho.

There are doctors and hospitals at Winnemucca, Nev., and at Caldwell, Idaho, but none at McDermitt or Jordan Valley. There is no telephone service anywhere in the region - until you get to Jordan Valley - one hundred and eighty-five miles with no doctor, no hospital, no ambulance - and no telephones to summon medical help with even if it were available.

There used to be doctors at Jordan Valley, we learned, but the "old doctor" was crippled with age and had retired from practice, while the "young doctor" left for war and settled elsewhere when it was over. McDermitt never had a doctor.

We were half way between McDermitt and Jordan Valley when we saw a girl or young woman, dressed in jeans running down the

Swimming Pool Popular Place In Hot Weather

Swimming Contest Is Postponed, As More Contestants Needed.

The Ord Municipal pool has plenty of bathers all day long and in the evening, but about 150 more swimmers are needed to enter the different contests in the swimming meet. The one scheduled for July 4 was postponed due to lack of enough to make a full scale contest.

Manager Keith Kovanda estimates that there were 400 at the pool last week, and about 150 over the holiday. Two more lights have been installed in each dressing room, and the front lights have finally arrived and have been installed.

The oldest swimmer to date is estimated to be about 55 years old, he is a regular attendant. He also dives off the high board. The youngest, attended by parents, of course, is about 1 1/2 years old. Night swimming is popular now. That is the time when the older people like to come.

state until he and Ross Lakin bought out the Peter Hallen Auto Electric shop in 1928, when it was offered for sale after Mr. Hallen's death.

The two were in partnership until ten years ago, when Lincoln bought out Lakin's part of the business, which he ran himself until he sold out to Chuck Jones in May. Ross Lakin is now living in Colorado.

Looking around for a good investment in farm land, Lincoln decided to buy the Hutchins 40-acre tract just south of the east half of Ord. This land is one of the best tracts in the entire valley and is all under irrigation, with plenty of good buildings all in good repair.

Mr. Lincoln married Vlasta Kosal in 1923. They have no children. They plan to keep busy on their new farm, but also expect to have time for an occasional game of pinocle with their friends, both old and new.

sides of the highway and soon found one of the babies, a little 2-year-old girl, thrown fully 40 feet back from the highway and a hundred feet or more from where the car rested. The child was barely alive, lying in a pool of her own vomit and blood, unconscious but convulsively clenching and unclenching her hands and feet. Again we were helpless to aid her.

Search for the second baby was continued but about that time another car pulled up from the south which contained the wife's parents, her two brothers and the second child, a boy of five. The two cars had been traveling together from Polson, Calif., to Idaho but one car had fallen behind because of the trouble. The little boy had got into this car to ride a half hour before the accident and the mother, in her shocked condition, had forgotten it.

By this time a car driven by a native had stopped at the wreck and from him we learned that the closest ambulance would have to come from Caldwell, Ida., 125 miles to the north and over a range of mountains; that the closest place from which a phone call to Caldwell could be made was Jordan Valley, 46 miles to the north; that an Oregon highway patrolman trained in first aid work was stationed at Jordan Valley.

After a conference we decided that since our car was a fast one, and we were traveling north anyway, we could go to Jordan Valley at full speed, send the patrolman back and call a doctor and ambulance. The Texas man volunteered to remain with the injured people and do what he could to help until the patrolman arrived. Probably an hour had then elapsed since the car had wrecked, a half hour before we reached the scene and another half hour spent in searching for the babies. We knew that if the injured people were to have any chance for their lives they needed medical aid quickly. I drove the 46 miles to Jordan Valley in something like 30 minutes, traveling 95 and 100 miles an hour all the way. At that we were fortunate for ten miles south of Jordan Valley we met the highway patrolman making a routine patrol. We gave him particulars, he wrote a note authorizing an assistant at Jordan Valley to call the Caldwell ambulance, and then hurried south to give what aid he could.

An hour or so later, as we coasted down the last mountain into the fine Idaho valley which surrounds Nampa and Boise, we passed the ambulance from Caldwell laboring up the grade, its siren screaming and its red spotlights flashing. The driver had a run of over 100 miles to reach the wreck, then it would be two or three more hours before the victims could be in a hospital.

When we reached Boise I reported the wreck to The Idaho Statesman, the fine daily newspaper published there, and later that evening telephoned the city desk to see what they had learned about the victims. "The man died right after they got him in the ambulance, the little girl died just before they reached the hospital; the woman has concussion and is in the hospital in bad shape." Since our road led east we never heard whether she survived or not.

There is no doubt in my mind that if a hospital had existed in Jordan Valley, with a good doctor in Ord, that those people would be alive today. Had the good people of Jordan Valley provided a community hospital, probably their "young doctor" would have returned to them after serving his country, and perhaps brought a doctor or two with him.

The gravel between Ord and Jordan Valley is not exact but it is coming too close for comfort, Dr. Miller told this editor Monday that he positively will close his hospital in September if it is not bought before then by the community group. All our doctors have grown old in our service. They are not yet "all crippled up" as is the "old doctor" of Jordan Valley but they cannot be expected to continue caring for the health of our people indefinitely. And no new, young doctors are locating here. Two have expressed interest in Ord but only when they know there will be a hospital in which they can practice will they decide to locate with us.

We still need to raise nearly $30,000 more to assure the community a first class hospital. It is a large sum but paltry compared to the $200,000 which some communities are trying to raise to build hospitals no better than Ord would have, thanks to Dr. Miller's kindness in selling his hospital at a fraction of its value.

Nearly all of the $30,000 already raised was subscribed by Ord business men. Some of them have given all they can. Some will give more if necessary. But the hospital is something everyone should be interested in. There are 250 farmers in the Ord area who are financially able to buy $250 to $1,000 worth of hospital stock each, and who should have as great a stake in such a hospital as any person in Ord. Business men of nearby towns should be interested too.

We MUST have a hospital. We cannot allow people to die in this beautiful valley of ours for lack of medical or hospital care. We need good doctors and a good hospital as insurance that our own loved ones will receive care should they need it.

It doesn't seem to us that any farmer or any business man should wait for a member of the hospital committee to solicit him. He should walk up to Dr. Glen Auble, or Leslie Nash, or Archie Geweke, or some other committee member and say "See here, I want to do my share." And he should do it quickly—NOW—so we may have our hospital in operation at once.

Jennie B. Clement, Resident 72 Years, Called by Death

Service to Community and Devotion to Home Characterized Life.

Jennie Lucinda Bee was born Nov. 8th, 1873 at Alden, Minn., the daughter of Nehemiah and Celina Bee and departed this life July 7, 1949, at the age of 75 years, 7 months, and 22 days.

Leaving Minnesota with her parents at the age of four years she came to Nebraska, where they settled in North Loup, which was then a typical frontier town. Here her parents engaged in business, her father for a time as a farmer and later as a shoe maker and her mother for many years as a milliner.

She was the youngest of three children. An older sister, Emma, preceding her in death while she was still a young girl and her brother, Raymond, for whom she had a deep affection, passing in September, 1922.

She was a graduate of North Loup High school, and while there made a fine record both as a student and in high school dramatic work, her ability along this line being exceptional. Following her graduation, she taught school for two years in the Manchester district, south of North Loup.

On February 10, 1897, she married Guy G. Clement and began married life on the place homesteaded by his parents. There they resided for the first years of their married life and it was here that Clare, their oldest child, was born.

In 1900 they moved to the place which has since been her home. Here three children were born, George, Edna Belle and Mary Celina, and here the family grew to maturity. June 4, 1916, she lost her husband following a long illness during which her courage and devotion was an inspiration to all.

And through the years following, while the family was growing up and being educated, she with the help of her sons kept the home together.

Early in her youth she became a member of the North Loup Seventh Day Baptist church, and remained loyal to that faith until death.

No history of her life, however, can properly tell of her loyalty to her family, or her patience and courage under hardship and trial, of her fine sense of honor and fair play, or of her ability as a homemaker.

Her house was always truly a home. With a deep sense of beauty she was able to keep it cozy and attractive while the people who shared its shelter felt the comfort and well being that only a natural homemaker could create, and they knew that their welfare was vital to her.

During the school days of her children she was a constant presence to their schoolmates and friends; and throughout her life the many who shared the hospitality of her home felt her charm and learned to love her. Everyone felt at ease with her, and young people who came to work in her home were soon calling her "Ma Jen." Although patient and tolerant she nevertheless demanded the best of her household, and the boy or girl who gave a poor performance or violated her standards of conduct soon learned his error and that it was not to be repeated.

Always a lover of beautiful flowers she spent many happy hours with them and it delighted her to share plants and cuttings from her finest specimens with her friends and neighbors.

Besides her 4 children, she leaves to mourn 7 grandchildren, one own niece, Mrs. Esther Bee Looftboro, and many other relatives and friends.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clement were held Sunday afternoon from the Seventh Day Baptist church in North Loup, with Rev. Chet bringing the message. Mrs. Edward Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. George Cox and E. T. Babcock sang and Mrs. Harlon Brennick was at the piano.

Pall bearers were all men who had worked on the farm and were Marvin Arthely, Gilbert Babcock, Menzo Fuller, Ray Peterson, Sheldon Van Horn, and Leslie Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Roe cared for the many floral tributes.

Dinner for the family was served by the Ladies Missionary circle of the church in the basement at noon.

Burial was in the family plot in Hillside cemetery.

Hastings and Pearson were in charge of arrangements.

Ernest C. James, Well Known Here, Dies at Lincoln

Ernest C. James, born August 22, 1870 at Greenfield, Ia., died at the Veterans Hospital in Lincoln, June 29, 1949 at the age of 69 years.

Services were held from Hodgman-Spahn mortuary in Lincoln on Saturday, July 2, 1949 and burial was in Wyuka cemetery. VFW Post 131 had charge of the firing squad and the blowing of the taps.

His boyhood was spent in Greenfield Ia., until he entered the army at the age of 18. He served in Co. G, 51st, Iowa Regiment for the duration of the Spanish American War and the Philippine Insurrection.

He was with the Burlington Railroad for 25 years and had worked with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York for the past 15 years.

He was married to Cora Gregory on October 19, 1904 at David City. They moved to Ord in 1912. Nine children, all of whom survive, were born to this union. All nine children graduated from the Ord High school.

He was a member of the Methodist church, the Masonic Lodge of Ord, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the United Spanish-American War Veterans, where he served as department inspector, and of the Life Underwriters Association.

Survivors include: his wife, Cora G. James, Lincoln; sons, Ralph A. Stonyford, Calif.; Ernest C. Jr., Oakland, Calif.; Robert G. Cambridge, Mass.; daughters, Mrs. Fred Rother, Auburn, Neb.; Mrs. Helen Fell, Lincoln; Mrs. W. J. Sack, Lincoln; Mrs. E. R. Litzette, Omaha; Mrs. K. R. Peterson, Pontiac, Mich.; Mrs. Robert Skinner, Herman, Neb.

He is also survived by four sisters, two brothers and 16 grandchildren.

The nine children were all present for the funeral services.

Ammonium Phosphate

We will have another carload of Ammonium Nitrate on track either Thursday or Saturday of this week. Use this on your corn and you will be well repaid. If you have some late corn be sure to use Nitrate on it as it will develop the corn much faster than without it. Also use it on Bromo Grass Fields. Bromo Grass needs a large supply of Nitrate and the results will more than pay the bill. This car is our fall quota of Nitrate and we believe that this will be the last car that we will get before December or January. In Eastern Nebraska Nitrate was used on many wheat fields last fall and the results were very good. We feel that more of this will be used in the future.

Then we have Superphosphate on hand and it should be used on pastures, alfalfa and sweet clover fields.

Ord Makes 11 Hits 9 Errors To Lose To Mason City 8-5

Locals Flub Their Dub Drop into Fifth Place; Play Novosads Sunday

It may have been a ball game—at least a good crowd by local standards planked down their dough to see it—but when the Ord Colts floundered through nine errors behind the six hit pitching of Patrick and Beran on the local diamond Sunday, the inevitable happened. Mason City won eight to five.

Everything disastrous that might have happened to a ball game Sunday happened to Ord. And in spite of 11 hits, including a few in the clutch spots that might have meant a ball game, the local team trailed throughout.

New bleachers, erected especially for the first home game since Ord took the league leadership on July 12 with a fast victory over Arcadia, failed to collapse, giving the locals one bright spot for the afternoon.

Patrick, on the mound for Ord, got into hot water in the first inning, by walking the Mason City lead-off man. He settled down through the second, third and fourth cantos, and blew high in the fifth by issuing three walks with his teammates making one error behind him. Beran took the mound in the same inning with slightly better results, giving up three hits and three runs in the rest of the contest.

Ord had their batting clothes on throughout a wild game, but were unable to bunch their hits.

Sunday night, July 10, the locals journey to Loup City to meet old rivals in the persons of the Novosad brothers, Bill and Bud, who double as pitcher and catcher for the Sherman county aggregation. Since both Bill and Bud had from Ord, the rivalry will be thick enough to cut with a ball bat, and a whole of a fracas will probably develop.

Losing to Mason City, Ord dropped down into fifth place in the Loup Valleys League standings.

—Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kokes and daughter, Lucile of Tekamah, drove to Ord Sunday to visit with the many relatives here and to attend the Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kokes. The daughter teaches in Gothenburg and is spending her vacation at home. Mr. Kokes was interested in the drug business in Ord in the '90's. He came here first in 1892, and graduated from Ord High Class of 1898. He followed Mr. Eas with the Patty Drug company after the fire that nearly put Mr. Patty out of business. Leaving Ord in 1900, he located in Tekamah, where he has been ever since, retiring from business 3 years ago. They left for Tekamah Wednesday morning, Mrs. E. W. Gruber going with them for a visit.

Mrs. Mary Klima and Fish

Ign. Klima Tells of Fish Troubles

Writing from Seattle Ign. Klima recalls the pleasant days he once spent around Lake Erickson and the Cedar river. He recalls the fact that he nearly always got a mess of pan fish. Now he says he is out in a fisherman's paradise, where salmon and trout and steel-head abound.

He says this may be true of salmon, but the Puget Sound and the ocean is a lot of water to find them in. He says he owns quite a lot of deep sea tackle, and has gone fishing on different occasions, but that he has never hooked a salmon.

He says spotting goods places occasionally display catches of trout from out-of-the-way places accessible only by pack-mule or helicopter. Local stocked streams produce only occasional catches of fish very little over the minimum size. He says there are too many fishermen and too many good roads and autos.

He encloses a snapshot of his mother, Mrs. Mary Klima and the sea bass weighing 26 pounds which she caught near her home at Vero Beach, Fla. This picture does not go into the Quiz fishing contest, but Mrs. Klima wants her friends in Valley county to see what she is doing. The fish was caught in the famous Sebastian inlet, along the Florida coast.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Selik and family of Comstock and Mrs. Minnie Savage and Mary Jane of Omaha were Thursday evening guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knopik.

—Bobby Gravin of Clay Center a nephew of Mrs. Guy Mulligan, who has been spending three weeks here went to Loup City to stay with his grandparents.

—Verke Mulligan, who is attending summer school in Kearney, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mulligan.

Ed Zabloudil, Former Resident, Buried Friday

Born in Valley County Was in Business Many Years in Ord.

Ed Zabloudil was born on a farm west of Ord, Aug. 15, 1878, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zabloudil. It was a day of pioneering in that community, and in his early years he experienced the joys and hardships common to pioneering.

He attended school in Ord, but went to work as a boy and was employed for five years by A. J. Firkins on the former Firkins farm across the river from Ord. He then worked three years for Harry Bailey on the Bailey farm further north.

After that he farmed for himself on the J. W. Beran farm, later known as the Anton Beran farm. He then bought a farm north of the Beran farm, which he farmed for several years. In 1905 he moved to Ord and bought the ice business from W. T. Drayer.

In 1908 he bought the Valley Bottling works from Charles Masin. This he sold to his brother William in 1916. In 1918 he left Ord and moved to Houston, Tex., where he worked for the Petroleum Iron Works company, and afterward for the Humble Oil and Refining corporation.

While in the employ of the latter company he met with an accident, which he recuperated in Ord, but for further work of the kind. However, he continued to live in Houston, doing such work as he was able to do, until the time of his death, June 26, 1949.

He leaves to mourn his passing three brothers, John and Will of Ord and Jake of Fort Worth, Tex.; five sisters, Mrs. Anton Precup of Omaha, Mrs. Jerry Pliva, Mrs. Will Urban and Mrs. Louis Volf of Comstock, and Mrs. Ernest Johns, of Hastings, Nebr., besides many other relatives and friends.

Mr. Zabloudil never married. While living in Ord he was very active in the Ord Volunteer Fire department, being a member of its celebrated hose racing team. He was also a member of the Z.C.H.J. and the Knights of Pythias.

He always led a very active life. As a young man he joined the Ord Methodist church. His better nature always manifested itself in other relatives and friends.

His last request was to give all his personal belongings with the exception of his watch and cash to the Salvation Army, which was done.

The body was brought to Ord, where funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel Friday afternoon at 2, Rev. B. A. Filipi of Clarkson officiating. Pall bearers were Joe Rysavy, Anton Adamek, Frank Adamek, Ed Zikmund, Frank Fryzek and Henry Misko. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bartunek assisted with the flowers. Mrs. Wallace Doe sang three selections, with Mrs. O. A. Kellison at the organ. Burial was in the family plot in the Ord Bohemian cemetery. Hastings-Pearson had charge of arrangements.

—A caesarean operation was performed last Wednesday on Mrs. Stanley Owen of Burwell.

New Wheat

New wheat started to roll into our elevator Tuesday morning and it seems to be very good quality. It has been testing around 60-62 lbs. and the moisture on some is down as low as 11 1/2%. We will follow Omaha markets as closely as possible. Trucks available.

This twine is guaranteed to suit you in every way or you may return it and your money will be cheerfully refunded. In case you have your twine taken out and you have a hail storm we will take the twine back and refund you your money. Remember this twine is guaranteed to you at only $12.50 per bale.

Safe and Sane Fourth.

The United States has just finished celebrating what some people might choose to call a safe and sane Fourth of July. On the first reports Tuesday morning there were no fatalities attributed to fireworks, although a number of accidents did occur and people were hurt.

In one respect the Fourth might have been called safe, but in another respect it was neither safe nor sane. Any holiday week end that kills a greater number of people than the entire population of North Loup and Elyria combine has all the earmarks of insanity.

It is easy to understand why law-makers are inclined to sidestep the job of making laws regulating the handling of fireworks.

during the national holiday. Why try to save a few people from death or injury from this cause when accidents cause so much death, injury and property loss that comparisons are ridiculous. Nine out of ten accidents would not have occurred if the people concerned would have heeded the general principles of safety and common sense. Less than half of the accidents were traffic accidents. The next highest loss was by drowning. Why not use a little common sense while taking a swim?

Most of the traffic accidents were caused by too much hurrying, by people traveling too fast for safety, by people making short cuts where safety is concerned. They seem to have forgotten that there is no short cut to safety. The fact an auto can do ninety is no excuse for breaking the speed limit of 60 miles per hour.

For many this lecture has come too late, but if it had been published last week, these same people would not have read it. If they had, they would have said: "That doesn't apply to me; I am a safe driver." The pity of it all is that a large percentage of those who died were in the right—they were dead right, but dead, just the same.

Ancient Holidays

A proposal is now being backed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars to make September 2 a legal holiday. Other groups are of the opinion that the proper day to set aside as the end of World War 2 is August 14. The proposal is a good one, except for the all-important fact that we have about as many holidays, official and otherwise, as we can afford to take.

Official in the United States at the present time are New Year's Day, Jan. 1; Feb. 22, Washington's birthday; May 30, Memorial Day; July 4, honoring the signing of the Declaration of Independence; the Fourth Thursday in November, now officially recognized as Thanksgiving Day; and Dec. 25, generally recognized as Christmas Day.

In addition to these six, Arbor Day, Labor Day and general election day are recognized as holidays in some states. Officially also, Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, is considered as a holiday in the northern states. Then we have Armistice Day, Nov. 11, usually designated as a holiday in most parts of the United States.

Luckily, all the above dates are far enough apart and so fixed that there is no chance of a conflict. However, Labor Day is designated as the first Monday in September. Designating Sept. 2 as an official holiday would bring two holidays within the same week. Further, because one is variable, all kinds of combinations, and complications, would result. This comes on Friday, where the 40 hour week is observed, there is little work done on Saturday anyway. Then comes Sunday, and the next day is Labor Day, Sept. 5. Next year there would be three holidays in a row, Sept. 2, Sunday and Labor Day. In 1951 Sept. 2 would come on Sunday, would be put over until Monday and it and Labor Day would be observed the same day.

From an economic point of view, August 14 has more to recommend it. It comes in a month which has no legal holiday. It is more than two weeks away from any other holiday. It comes at a time when the farmers could use an extra day of rest, that is, if they had time to observe it.

It would seem, then, in order to keep the number of holidays within bounds and at the same time have a day that would commemorate the two World Wars, either Armistice Day should be replaced with a day peculiar to World War 2, or that it should be retained and used to observe both World Wars.

It is agreed that the VFW is right in asking that the end of World War 2 should be observed. Yet the only day we have observing the end of a war is Armistice Day. We have none to mark the end of the War for Independence, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War or the Spanish-American War. If these were all included it would add five more holidays to a list already long.

Something Different

Hello, people! While I have not been writing my column I have been gadding through the west, seeing many wonderful sights. I want to tell you about some of them. For instance, Salt Lake City, with which we quite fell in love, for the streets are broad and clean, it is all so well run, so much thought is taken for the welfare of the poor, the old and particularly the young people.

The fabulous tabernacle choir sang in special concert for us, and Reuben Clark told us of the Mormon religion, or as they always say, the church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints. These cheerful, wholesome people believe miracles still happen, and that one happened to them, and when you view their city and their famous welfare square, you agree.

In their welfare square are produced milk, shoes, clothing, many types of food, flour, etc. All work is done as a matter of course by church members during their off-hours. Everyone works. No one is paid unless it is necessary to hire a foreman or teacher for some department. All who are needy, work as much as they are able. For all the products of this work are given out to those who apply for them to the bishop of their particular church. He certifies the genuine need, then the articles he needs are selected in regular stores.

Even their own truckline is maintained by this church, and their many trucks are seen scurrying all through the intermountain and west coast area. The big warehouses are everywhere. No one from this faith ever goes on public relief rolls if it can possibly be helped, and I certainly feel these people are to be admired for looking after their own so perfectly.

They maintain that the Bible tells us to look after those in need; that is one of their strongest beliefs. Their church has no preachers as such devout members of the congregation serve without pay. Every truly religious young member of their church devotes a year or two to evangelical work, surely an admirable way of spreading a gospel... if you believe it, work at it.

Something I didn't know, and that is, people of the L. D. S. church dance a great deal. There are weekly dances for all, and families attend as a group, a wholesome custom we also have here in Ord which I like very much particularly found among our Bohemian and Polish descended citizens.

The youngsters and young people are kept very busy. As they reach the age of eight, every child is asked to take part in the church services, so they grow up knowing how to speak, and do it easily. There are many parks and playgrounds and developments for youth. It seems quite the custom for a well-to-do citizen to bequeath something to the young of the city, say a park or an aviary.

Then I could tell of the wonderful sight of 7000 roses blooming in the municipal rose gardens in Salt Lake City. Roses are all lovely named varieties, a bed of each kind. Clipped lawns separate the many beds, which are donated by individuals or clubs, or perhaps given in memory of someone now gone.

Shall I give you the names of a few of the beds that took my eye most? Though it was terribly difficult to choose one from the others, they were all so fragrant, the buds so perfect. Well, there was World Fair, a deep red, multi-blooming rather short rose. Catalina, a flaming red hybrid tea rose of low growing habit. Imperial Potentate, a rosy pink, rather low rose.

G. A. Kossan, rather like Tallisman, lovely. Tamon Back, like "Peace," a tall rose. A wonderful high hedge of orange roses, seven feet or so high, called Austrian Copper. Hinrich Gaede, peach, multi-colored, a vision. Breslau, rather peach-toned. Beautiful buds. Crimon Glory, a perfectly wonderful luxuriant red rose. There were several beds of this one.

And there were dozens of other beds I did not get to investigate so much, or did not note. I can't remember them all. But I would definitely love to have a rose garden like that in Ord. A shade milder would do, of course.

—Ima.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Some people have a way of saying a whole sermon in a very few words. I ran across one such a few days ago in a little magazine that happens to be lying on the desk. It reads: "A halo needs to slip but a little bit to become a noose." A man might study that sentence for days and still not get all the meaning that the author put into it. It embraces all people from the beginning of time, down to the present and on into the distant future. It embraces all classes of mankind, from the rich to the poor, from the high to the low, from the saint to the sinner, for no man is so mean and so down and out but that somebody, somewhere, imagined a halo on his brow. That somebody may be a mother, a wife, a sister, a sweetheart, a gun moll, or what have you, but she is around somewhere. She imagines that halo until it becomes real. A man may be a bum, but he is a saint to somebody.

The higher up in public esteem a man is, the quicker his halo slips. Charles Lindbergh won his halo in 1927 in his solo flight to Paris. He lost it for standing up for what he thought to be right just before the second world war, and he has not regained it since. Herbert Hoover had a halo, so to speak, in 1929, but it was gone by 1932. He is respected today, but the halo is gone. Woodrow Wilson won his halo in 1916, when "He Kept Us Out of War." He lost it in less than four years, and died heartbroken. Today many people realize that he was blamed unjustly, but they still blame him, and it will be another generation before the halo gets back in place. Admiral George Dewey won his halo at the Battle of Manila Bay, and he held it for a short time. Then a lot of admirers subscribed money and bought him a big home in New York City. Dewey did not want to live in New York City, so he sold the home they gave him. He lost his halo there and never did get it back.

People who wear halos are not to blame for them being there, and often they are not to blame for losing them. Other people put the halo in place, and other people slip it down and make it a noose. The public is prone to forget that great men are no different from other men. Statesmen are swept into office on a wave of popular opinion. Because they saw and grasped the opportunity, men become heroes over night. An actor wins the Academy Award, and dops a halo. A ball player comes to bat in the last half of the ninth, two men on, two out and his team two runs behind. He loses the ball over the left field fence, and the gang puts a halo on his brow. The first time he fails to hit in a pinch the gang makes a crown of thorns out of that halo. As a rule a man bet that halo. That does not make him a super-man. The very next time he may guess wrong and find himself right back where he started, but with a noose around his neck.

The young man went into the editor's office, which happened to be at the top of a steep flight of stairs. He had a complaint to make. In a very short time he came down the steps in a way that would make a circus tumbler jealous, stood on his ear a moment on the sidewalk and then rolled over into the gutter. Presently he got up, brushed the dirt off his clothes with his hand, and went back up the stairs. Immediately he came tumbling down, much the same as before. Again he climbed the stairs and tumbled back down the third time. As he was preparing to make another attempt, a friend caught him by the arm and begged him to desist. To his well-meaning friend the young man said: "I know he's thrown me out three times, but it don't do me much harm and it does him a lot of good. He'll get tired of this before I do."

One virtue all too often overlooked is persistence. The man who believes in a thing enough will continue to have faith in it, and defeat will only spur him on to greater effort. He will stay with it until he wins out in the end. Dwight Griswold ran for governor of Nebraska quite a few times before he won out. If he had quit after that first defeat he would still be the editor of a country newspaper. By persistence he finally won the governorship. He lost the battle for United States senator, but in the fight he won the attention of the leaders of the land. Today he is a national figure and is doing his part in straightening out the foreign muddle. Where would he have been without persistence?

Then there is the story of Benjamin Franklin, who persisted in everything he did. He believed that anything worth doing at all was worth doing well. He didn't let difficulties discourage him. They only served to spur him on to greater efforts. To such men as Franklin the world owes a debt that it will never be able to repay. In "Poor Richard's Almanac" he gave us many gems of wisdom that are often quoted today. Franklin came by his persistence honestly. He was the seventeenth child. If his parents had quit sooner we would have had no Benjamin Franklin.

Occasionally something happens that hits you right where you live. You can't put the feeling into words, but it is there. When it happens you feel that, perhaps, you have not been wasting your time in this world. Thursday was my day off, and I could do a better job of the office, the three brothers of Ed Zabloulli drove to North Loup to give me the matril so I could write Ed's obituary. Other people no doubt could have written it as well. The point is that these three men believed I could do a better job than the other fellow. Maybe I can and maybe I can't, but I will remember the honor they paid me for a long time to come.

The passing of Ed Zabloulli should not be a cause of regret because he is gone, but of thankfulness because he lived, and lived the kind of a life the Lord intended that men should live. He left an impression among his old friends that was not dimmed by the passing of 31 years since he left the old home town. His old friends still remember him well and six of them bore him to his last resting place. Yes, Ed was not forgotten after 31 years of absence. It is certain that he will continue to be remembered for many long years to come.

His passing calls to mind the famous horse racing team of which he was a part, and of which the present generation knows nothing because it is well over a generation since that horse team hung up their running shoes and the Ord Volunteer Fire department became mechanized. In those days it was the custom for the Ord and St. Paul hose teams to have a sub-and-hub race on the Fourth of July, the teams taking a standing start, hub to hub, and racing down one of the main streets. The best runners in each department were selected, and they practiced for weeks for that one big event. Sometimes one team won, sometimes the other, but they always made it most of the way neck and neck. It was a sight once seen, never to be forgotten.

Fullerton Stop On New Stage Routes

Fullerton is very much interested in two proposed bus routes, both of which will pass through the city if the green light is given them. One of these will run from Columbus to Spalding and return, and the hearing will be at Columbus July 14.

Friday, July 15, also at Columbus, will be heard the application of the Meridian Transit lines on a proposed route from Columbus to Burwell. This route is the same as the first mentioned as far as Spalding.

The PCT Stages, operating between Burwell and Grand Island, is opposed to the proposition, since it would divide the business out of Burwell, which at the present time is hardly enough to pay one route to run buses. E. L. Vogelstanz will represent the PCT at the hearing, it is understood.

How the Other Half is Living

H. D. Miller, long time resident of Stanton and president of the First National Bank, has donated to the city a plot of ground with the stipulation that it be used for the erection of a city auditorium or other worth while building.

A farm home north of Fullerton occupied by the David Burns family was struck by lightning in a storm Wednesday night and burned to the ground. The Fullerton fire truck went into the ditch and had to be pulled out with a tractor.

John Penner, aged resident of York, fell from the high bank into Beaver creek and drowned. He was revived, however, and taken to the hospital, where he died that night, presumably from the shock.

Ralph Schaefer fell from an REA pole at Creighton, hitting a bolt on the guy wire on the way down, cutting a gash in his chest and breaking three ribs. He is resting easier in the hospital, and is expected to recover.

Darrell Miller, World-Herald carrier at Burwell, won for himself a trip to Chicago for a week with all expenses paid. He had to get 25 new customers on his paper route to win the award, and Darrell did it in 2 days.

Ulysses H. Holmes of Cotesfield, 84, was buried from the E. B. church Wednesday. He was a resident of Howard county since 1887. Mrs. Etta Boly of Taylor is a sister, and Byron Holmes of Taylor is a brother.

The county valuation of Scotts Bluff county is up four million dollars to a total of 54 million. Starting July 1, the postoffice at Gering entered the top bracket of second class post offices, having exceeded the required $33,000 of business for last year.

Seven new houses built during the war at Clay Center were sold at sheriff's sale, the Western Bohemian association (ZCBJ) buying 6 of them at $3,950 each. Bob Stump bought the seventh for $4,001.

Schuyler Firemen Have New Housing

The Schuyler Volunteer Fire department held open house Saturday evening and a large number of citizens called to have a look and the new equipment and new housing was recently completed.

An addition was erected to the city hall, which gives them space for their equipment. Practically all the department's first aid equipment was raised by popular subscription. Wm. Sladek is fire chief.

How You Can Help Your Beer Retailer

Most tavern keepers strive to cooperate with the purposes of the Brewing Industry's Self-Regulation program.

They know it is good business to keep their places clean and wholesome—they are anxious to place the selling of beer on the same high plane as that of any other commodity.

Most of the occasional violations of the law occur at the instance of the customer who asks favors not permitted by law or the rules of good conduct.

Therefore, you are urged not to request special favors of your tavern keeper that might involve a violation. Encourage your dealer to always operate in the public interest. Commend him when he is careful of law observance.

These are some of the ways in which you can help your beer retailer and build a better community.

The Truth About Electrical Appliance Prices
Are Prices Too High? Are You Getting the New Features and Quality You Expected in Post-War Appliances?
If your family has been thinking of buying a new appliance, you may be confused by conflicting stories about today's prices and values.
Compare this with the price increase in automobiles, houses or almost anything you buy — up from 50 to more than 100 percent.
The fact is, there is no purchase you can make at this time that brings you more real value for your money than a good electric appliance. While the cost of living is up 70 per cent over 1939, according to government statistics, the average price increase of ranges, refrigerators, washing machines, water heaters and dishwashers is only a little more than half that!
For example, today you can buy a brand new 1949 Hotpoint Refrigerator for $189.75—only $10 more than the same kind and size cost in 1939—and this is a lot better refrigerator and has many improved features. When you consider that the dollar today is worth just 60% of its 1939 value, you must agree that this new, vastly-improved Hotpoint post-war refrigerator actually costs a lot less.
We see no reason for you to wait to buy a new appliance. At today's new low appliance prices you get the greatest dollar-for-dollar values we have ever been able to offer. We say this knowing full well that our future depends on satisfying you. We sell a lot of things—everything for the complete electric kitchen and home laundry—so we can't afford to lose you as a future customer when you buy any one of our appliances.
"You can Look to Hotpoint for the Finest—FIRST" is no idle statement. We mean it. So, we back it up with the greatest dollar-for-dollar value in quality appliances ever offered—right now!

Corn Borer Poses Real Threat For Nebraska Crops

Pest Can Be Destroyed By Proper Spraying, If Done at the Right Time

"Although we did not realize that the European corn borer was with us until last month, there is a surprisingly large infestation in the fields of the North Loup Valley," says C. C. Dale. An inspection trip to the Middle Loup Valley near Arcadia showed that borers were present there also, although no fields were found as badly infested as some of those near Ord.

A trip up and down Highway 11 disclosed that borers were showing up in every field of early corn, very light in some fields, and rather serious in others.

The first borer infestation from outside the two valleys, to be recognized was on the Jos Marks farm in Mira Valley but Dale says the borers are apparently not yet widespread in the dryland areas of the county, as he failed to find any in several fields which he checked between Ord and Arcadia.

No Help This Season. There is no need for farmers to become too much excited he says because the time for effective control of this year has passed. However, the borer may be embedded in the tassel area or in the stalk itself and cannot be reached by sprays or dusts. He doubts that damage will be serious this year, except in a few cases, but if the borer population increases in production next year, farmers will need to take protective measures.

Spraying with DDT just after the eggs hatch has been found effective in controlling the corn borer, and the proper timing of the spray is all important. Farmers will need to learn to identify the borer eggs and watch carefully for the hatching time. Just before the eggs hatch they turn dark at the end. That is what the entomologists call the blackhead stage and is caused by the dark head of the small unhatched borer appearing just beneath the outside membrane of the egg. Then is when the farmer must get ready to spray and get the job done within a few days after the eggs have hatched.

Shortly after hatching the borer starts eating the leaves in the tassel area, leaving them full of holes, and giving the plant the appearance of having been hit by a charge of shot from a shotgun. This is when farmers first become aware of the damage, and the effective time for spraying is past, at this stage. Most of the borers leave the tassel area and work toward the base of the stalk where they bore in and continue to feed and grow on the inside of the plant, emerging late in the summer as moths, which lay another crop of eggs. The borers of this crop spend the winter in hibernation inside the dry stalk, and the moths emerge the next spring or early summer, find good crops on which to lay their eggs and the life cycle is continued. Spraying is practical and effective for the first brood only, the second brood doing little actual damage because of the corn being mature or nearly so before they start to work.

Farmers in the east have learned to live with the corn borer and produce big crops of corn in spite of it, and all indications are that farmers here will have to do the same, in the opinion of the County Agent.

Kansas Man May Be Burglar Who Stole at Scotia

Charles Taylor Wanted by Greeley County for Questioning in Case.

A Kansas man, Charles Taylor, 27, Greensburg, may be the man who broke into the Ashley hardware recently and stole a diamond ring out of the safe. It is understood that he was traced from his car number, which some one had noted a day or two before the robbery.

Taylor was picked up in Omaha, and had a key to an apartment in his possession. Two detectives went to the apartment to search for a 21 year old girl, Joan Amos, there. In an effort to escape they jumped from a two-story window and fractured both legs. It is not known whether Taylor has admitted the Scotia burglary.

Mrs. Laura Wilcox Dies Following an Extended Illness

Born at Ord 66 Years Ago, She Spent Nearly All Her Life Here.

Mrs. Laura Cass Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cass, was born at Ord, Feb. 3, 1883. After a lingering and painful illness she passed away at an Ord hospital Sunday, July 10, 1949, at the age of 66 years, five months and seven days.

Mrs. Wilcox received most of her education west of Ord. Dec. 22, 1901, she was united in holy wedlock with Ed Wilcox of Ord, who tenderly cared for her in their home until she was taken to the hospital. Most of their married life was spent in and around Ord except for brief periods spent at Lebanon, Ore., and Cozad, Nebr.

Mrs. Wilcox is survived by her husband; six nieces, Mrs. Bernice Bish, and Mrs. Kathryn Bohl, both of Lincoln, Nebr.; Mrs. Gladys McCullay, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Vera Matthews, Iliff, Colo.; Mrs. Mildred Anderson, Spear, Nebraska, and Mrs. Jean Porter of Ord.

Also by two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Pearl McCoy of Grandon, Mo., and Mrs. Hattie Shepard of Ord, besides many friends in the Presbyterian church, in the work of which she was active until illness prevented.

Mrs. Wilcox was of a cheerful nature, even during her time of suffering, and when she was able she tried to help those in need. Before her death she gave testimony that she was saved and was trusting in the Lord.

Funeral services were held from the Hastings-Pearson chapel at 10 a. m. Wednesday, Rev. Eugene Olson officiating. The ball bearers were Art Jensen, Frank Clark, Everett and Art Mason, Dr. F. L. Blessing and Alvin Anderson. Burial was in the Ord city cemetery.

Steps Are Taken for Reappraisal by County Board

Contract Approved for Revaluation in Municipal Areas.

The Valley county board, in its final June meeting, unanimously approved the action of the Classification and Reappraisal committee in accepting the proposition of E. T. Wilkins and Associates to re-appraise and revalue all property within the bounds of incorporated cities and villages in the county.

This is a part of the original contract whereby this company, in the county for the amount of $16,500. Under the budget law, the board could not obligate the county for more than the amount of money available for this purpose.

Cost Ads $7,725. However, there was enough on hand to take care of the reappraisal in the towns, so a contract was drawn up for them for the amount involved being $7,725. This amount was on hand during the fiscal year which ended June 30, and could therefore be voted for this purpose.

Any time in the fiscal year 1949-1950 that the board decides it can, it may vote to have the remainder of the reappraisal done. It is doubtful if this will be taken up at the meeting of the county board this week, as a large amount of routine business requires their attention.

Re-Appraised Needed. There seems to be no question that the property in the county should be reappraised. A check of the records shows that glaring discrepancies have developed through the years. Until these are corrected, it is inevitable that some will be paying more than their share of taxes and others will be paying less.

The board in its action is not trying to raise taxes. In fact the reappraisal has nothing to do with taxes except indirectly. It is being done to make the valuations as fair as possible to every citizen in the county. Other counties have been and are following this procedure, with general satisfaction to all concerned.

Former Resident Passes Away at Winner, S. Dak.

The Quiz has received word from Mrs. Edna Taylor of Lincoln that her mother, Mrs. Margaret Peters, passed away June 25, at Winner, S. D., the cause of her death being a stroke. As Margaret Johnson, she lived for many years in Ord, and will be remembered by some of the older residents.

Her father was J. V. Johnson, and she was a sister-in-law of Mrs. E. L. Johnson of Ord. She married Lou Peters, who was a brother of Mrs. C. C. Hawthorne of Arcadia, and also of the late Mrs. A. H. Meyer of Burwell.

Earliest County Fair in Nebraska Comes Aug. 1 to 4

Chitwood Daredevils, Home Talent Show & Hot Rods Features.

This week the Valley county fair board is announcing the complete program for the three program days of the fair, Aug. 2, 3, and 4. Aug. 1 is entry day and no program will be given then.

Aug. 2 an open contest for hot rods will be staged with good prizes offered. Valley county people will be especially interested in these contestants since our own Jimmie Kuecera will be one of the contestants. Jimmie won well deserved acclaim when he took the feature event and the trophy at Hastings on July 10th.

In the evening there will be a home talent show. This is under the management of Mrs. Leslie Nash, who has unearthed some fine talent. This show will be especially appreciated, since it will represent an entirely different type of entertainment from the Hot Rod races of the afternoon.

Hot Rods Again. In what M. B. Cummins described as one of the most interesting sales of the kind held in years, the Howard Stowell farm in Springdale was sold Wednesday, July 6, Herman Stowell, uncle of the owner, being the purchaser.

No less than six men were active bidders and had made financial arrangements to handle the transaction in case of purchase.

This place, once known as the Claude Rathbun place, is a good, all-purpose farm, with 25 to 35 acres sub-irrigated, the rest rolling. The owners, Howard and Phyllis Stowell, were well pleased with the sale, which was conducted by the Cummins Realty company. A large crowd was present, and all showed much interest in the sale.

Parade August 1. Aug. 4, a huge machinery and stock parade will be held, at which the winning animals will be shown. While plans are not complete it is expected that the Ord band will lead the parade. No pains will be spared in making this one of the outstanding parades in the history of Ord. The evening show will bring the outstanding performances of Chitwood and his Daredevil troupe.

Each day and evening of the Valley county fair the Rockwell shows will be ready at all times to entertain the public. This carnival is one of the newest and best recommended in the west, only three years old and with all equipment looking like new. These shows come from Kansas and bear the fine reputation the state has for producing clean entertainment.

The dance floor on the grounds will be the scene of a dance each evening, with famous bands featured. This floor has proved very popular in the past and should draw lovers of good dancing from a long distance. The usual line of local concessions will also be located, probably in about the same locations as in the past.

Mr. Horner is the second of twelve children to pass away. Mrs. Stanley Mitchell of Burwell was the first one. Mr. Horner leaves his wife, the former Mable Forbes, and two children.

Miss McClatchey Flying to Lincoln Courtesy of U. N.

Miss Clara M. McClatchey, Valley county superintendent of schools, is one of 105 teachers who will fly to Omaha this summer, courtesy of the University of Nebraska and the State Department of Aeronautics.

The flight to the Omaha Municipal airport is a part of the air education course offered by the University. While in the air, the passengers take note of the weather conditions, cloud formations, and topographical conditions.

Visits to the weather station, communications officer, and the commissary constitute a part of the tour. A United Airliner DC 6 is to be also inspected.

Business Places Probably Will Close For Fair

While the matter will be settled definitely at a meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce to be held, probably next Thursday evening, it is likely that Ord business places will close on the afternoons of Aug. 2, 3 and 4, because of the Valley County fair.

The next session of the Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Masonic basement, which is much cooler than the Knights of Columbus hall during the hot nights of summer.

Nonagenarians Note. Gust Rose is much interested in politics and current events in his community, and loves nothing better than visiting with his many friends, mostly children of the many good neighbors that once lived on Haskell Creek, but who have passed on.

He would like to hear of any who have passed the 90 year milestone. He would enjoy visiting with them and talking about incidents that happened in the days before most of us were born, just as he is visiting with the two old friends in the accompanying photo. Do you know of any more people 90 or older, will you please tell Mr. Rose or the Quiz?

Winter Wheat Is of Fine Quality With Good Yield

Grading Number One, 50 Bushels an Acre Is Highest Reported.

The Quiz reporter watched carefully last week to report the first wheat sold in Ord, but Harold and Irving King got in with the first load, July 5. It was really something to grow about. The wheat was sold to Noll Seed company. It was Pawnee variety, graded No. 1, with a moisture content of 11.5. The 50 acre field made better than 30 bushels per acre.

The Kings also had some Nebraska wheat which made better than 20 bushels per acre. This was also No. 1, weighed 61, and had a moisture content of 11 1/2 to 12. The Kings were the first to market wheat in Ord, but many others followed, and Bob Noll reported taking in about 6,000 bushels by Saturday forenoon, with the harvest just nicely under way.

The best yield reported by Noll was that of a 5 acre tract raised by Fred Craft of the North Loup area. This made 224 bushels, or more than 44 bushels per acre. This was a corner of a large field, separated by a grassed waterway. The main part of the field, lying higher, was making considerably less per acre.

Fred Clark of the Farmers elevator says that the first wheat arriving there came July 6 and was raised by Ed Zagina on the E. L. Kokes farm near Olean. This graded No. 1, weighed 62 pounds to the bushel with 11.35% moisture content. Wheat being brought in was running from 30 bushels per acre on up.

Former Resident, Archie Burger, is Called by Death

Born, Raised in Ord, His Passing Mourned by Many Friends Here.

Archie Burger, better known as "Bud", passed away Sunday afternoon at an Ord hospital of a heart ailment of six years duration. He was 64 years old. The son of Henry and Emma Burger, he was born in Ord, Sept. 27, 1891. He attended the Ord schools and graduated in 1913.

He worked with his brother Lawrence (Dutch), now deceased, in the cement business before moving to Blaine county on a farm in 1928. He moved to Almeria in 1948, due to his health.

Left to mourn are three sisters, Mrs. Elsie Draper of North Loup, Mrs. Gertrude Yocum of Almeria and Mrs. Nettie Sisson of Port Angeles, Wash., and one brother, Herbert, of Eugene, Ore.

Archie was a veteran of World War I. He was a kind and loving son and brother and will be long remembered by his friends and relatives.

Funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel Wednesday afternoon, July 14, at 2:30. Rev. L. V. Hassell officiating. Don Auble sang several selections, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Viola Kellison. The pallbearers were William Strong, Ralph Robyler, Orval Krause, Galyen Dunbar, Pete Clement and Ike Cook, all from the Almeria vicinity. Military rites were conducted at the family plot in the Ord cemetery, by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Fidelity Post No. 38 American Legion, of which he was a member.

Harris Brothers See Real Lion on Loose

While it wasn't the celebrated mountain lion that has been causing excitement over the state for some months, Harris brothers of Greeley recently had the unusual experience of seeing a lion on the loose. They also had a part in getting him back into captivity.

They were returning from a fishing trip in Minnesota and were following a circus caravan, when the door of the lion's truck fell open and one of the lions fell out. The driver failed to get the lion back into the cage, but he obligingly jumped in when Lester Harris sounded the horn.

Chitwood Death Dodgers Tops in Their Line, Rockwell Carnival One of Best on Road

By Gene Leggett. I wonder if local people realize what a splendid program has been lined up for the Valley county fair, which comes the first week in August? It is only three weeks away and there is so little talk about the fair that I believe people haven't awakened yet to the fine entertainment to be given.

That Jole Chitwood troupe of death dodgers is indeed tops in its line. Chitwood, who finished 4th at the big Indianapolis automobile race on Memorial Day, drives a racing car for relaxation. His main business is defying death by driving stock cars in ways they've never been driven before, for the education of crowds all over the North American continent, and he's been at it for years.

A pioneer in this dangerous business was Jimmie Lynch and Chitwood was one of his drivers. Now Chitwood has assembled a troupe whose exploits far surpass those of Lynch himself. They roll cars over an over, jump them over barriers, hurt them through hoops, spin them upright on two wheels and generally make them do things automobiles haven't any right to do and still permit their drivers to live.

The fact that Chitwood and his drivers use new Fords has caused the Ford Motor Company to use full page space about them in Life, Time, the Saturday Evening Post and many other magazines, and they also have been the subject of several movie shorts, at least one of which has been shown in Ord.

The Chitwood troupe is an expensive attraction and only the fact that the Valley county fair

D.D.T. Spraying Soon; Cosmos Need Money

Spraying of Ord with D.D.T. to eliminate flies, mosquitoes and other insects, and largely as an anti-polio measure will start on the first favorable day, officials of the Ord Cosmopolitan club have announced.

The spraying will be done with new and improved equipment this year. Henry Janus, who will do the work, has spent some time studying methods used in other communities and promises a better job of bug eradication than before.

The Cosmopolitans also need money to do this year's job. Last year's receipts on the DDT spraying were $100. The club spent $300 to do the job, and needs about $125 to have enough funds for this year's job.

Contributions for the DDT fund may be left at Beranek's Drug store, mailed to either Ord bank or to the Quiz. All amounts small or large will be gratefully received, Edw. Gnanter, Cosmopolitan president, said.

Grasshoppers Are Worse Than Last Year, is Opinion

Wet Weather Proved Favorable to Their Growth This Spring. Contrary to the old belief, the wet weather of the past few months has proved favorable to the development of one of the commonest of the farm pests, grasshopper. Usually it is considered that wet, damp weather will decrease their numbers, but there are far more this year than last.

Last year, following a dry spring, grasshoppers by the millions appeared in the fields to pester the farmers. This year they are to be found in far greater numbers. To date they have been doing their worst damage in alfalfa and sweet clover left for seed.

They have a habit of cutting off the end of the stems containing the seed pods. These fall to the ground and it is impossible to harvest them. In fact, the field has to be left until the pods mature, the grasshoppers have plenty of time to develop and ruin the field.

Many reports of damaged and ruined gardens are coming in from all parts of the county. However, it is believed that they will not do too much damage to the corn, especially in the irrigated fields, as they will not stay where a field is being irrigated.

The use of chloridan spray on fence rows and weed patches is recommended. This chemical must not be used on crops to be eaten by livestock. The cutting of weeds around the fields and along the fences will only tend to hurry the migration of the hoppers into the fields.

The grasshopper is a voracious feeder. It will eat anything edible when he is hungry. In some places potato vines are being stripped of leaves. It would be well to consult your druggist about your particular case.

Frank Fafaite Jr. Sells Tavern to Two Ord People

Last week Frank Fafaite Jr., sold his south side tavern to Bohumil Holecak and Mrs. Rose Suchanek, both of Ord. The new owners will take possession as soon as they obtain their license, which will probably be about the first week in August.

Mr. Fafaite opened his tavern a year ago last October and has enjoyed a good business since that time. His season for selling is that the doctor has ordered him to get out in the open air for his health. He has not been at all well since his illness about a year ago.

Winter Wheat Is of Fine Quality With Good Yield

Clarence Fox, Jr., on the Arnold Bredthauer place in Mira Valley. He had a large field there that was averaging more than 50 bushels per acre. A sample brought in by Henry Hachy weighed 61 pounds, and tested 11.48 moisture. One by Steve Beran weighed 62 with test of 11.62. A third by Walt Foth weighed 62, with test of 11.5.

Valley County Best.

Compared with reports from other parts of the state, wheat in Valley county is turning out better than any place reporting. This is especially true by comparison with the east part of the state, where the stand of wheat was cut by ice last winter. Many fields were plowed up, others were left, although the stand was too thin. In the neighborhood of Blair yields of ten bushels per acre are being reported.

Most of the time the weather has been favorable to harvesting and for completing the corn cultivation. The rain Friday was general but spotted, with some places getting a heavy downpour and others being missed entirely. Luckily the rain came straight down, with little wind and no hail, and did no harm to the fields of standing grain, except to delay the harvest another day or two.

Corn Catching Up.

During the week a number of fields of second cut alfalfa were harvested. While some of the crops may be behind the normal time, alfalfa is well ahead of schedule, and with plenty of moisture, most fields should yield four good crops.

The corn, which seemed to be behind schedule a short time ago, is growing so fast that it has gained back much of the lost time. Luckily, most fields have been laid by. If it were not done it would be impossible to get into them without breaking down much of the corn. In some fields the corn is so rank that it is impossible to distinguish the rows from a distance. Given below are wheat yields reported from other places:

Harvest got under way generally over the state last week, with reports being given in a number of Quiz exchanges. Quite a variation in yield is shown in the various reports, the yield being lighter in the southeast section of the state. It will be recalled that winter weather damaged many wheat fields in that area.

At Crete the wheat run was slow and the yield lower than last year. The first load of wheat weighed in June 30, was brought in by Don Kahle, who farms a mile east of Crete. The average yield there was from 10 to 20 bushels, with the moisture content a little below 13 percent. The first wheat to come in was Pawnee wheat, which is normally about three days ahead of Turkey Red.

The wheat harvest was reported half done at Ashland, with an overall average of 12 to 13 bushels per acre. The moisture content is variable there, and the test weight from 51 to 60 pounds to be classed as No. 1.

Comblines went to the fields at St. Paul July 4. Bob Ullman of near St. Paul brought in the first load of wheat, which tested 59, with a moisture content of 13, and was pronounced of good quality. The first wheat near Dannebrog was brought in by Ray Lauritzen. It tested 60, with 12 percent moisture. Many farmers there expected to harvest more than 25 bushels per acre.

Wheat from the Clyde Keown farm south of Scotia was the first to come in to the Scotia elevator, July 5. It tested 61 and was estimated to make 25 to 30 bushels per acre. John Hansen, north of Scotia, began hauling July 6, and his wheat tested 60. At Greeley wheat and rye were expected to yield fair results, with a few choice fields making 40 bushels per acre.

Wheat near Havena tested 58 to 60, with a moisture content of 11 1/2 to 12 1/2 percent, which rates No. 1. It will run from 10 to 20 bushels per acre. Barley there may be pretty fair, but oats is expected to be a poor crop, with some fields average.

Spanish-American War Veteran Laid to Rest on Friday

Jacob Osentowski was born March 23, 1870, at Ft. Huron, Mich., and came to Valley county at the age of one year, with his parents. His father, Frank Osentowski, homesteaded in Eureka township, and the post office of Sedlov, long gone, was located in his home. The mail came there and was distributed all over the area. He was stationed and trained in Georgia. Before called for over seas he became ill with typhoid fever which incapacitated him for three years, and when he was discharged the camp doctors did not expect him to reach home alive.

He came home, purchased a property in Eureka township and at the age of 24 years married Bertha Panowicz of Elba. To them were born three daughters and two sons: Mrs. Adelaide Neathberry of Omaha, and Mrs. Gertrude Ciochon, Mrs. Helen Holloway, Edward and Leonard, all of Los Angeles, Calif.

In 1916 he moved to Winner, S. D., where he had a mail route and also worked on country road construction until 1925, when he returned to the farm in Valley county, where he lived until 1937. He then moved to California, but the climate did not agree with him, and he returned to Ord in 1937. He purchased a home in Comstock and moved there, where his wife died June 5, 1942.

Since that time he had visited and traveled in Michigan, California, Florida and Washington, spending much time with his children. June 25 he suffered a stroke, and died at the Veterans hospital in Lincoln July 5. In addition to his children, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Grabowski and a brother Philip.

Ideal Summer Weather Being Enjoyed at Ord

To date the weather in the immediate area surrounding Ord has been ideal. It has been warm at times, but no temperatures in the 100 degree range have been recorded, which is unusual. Two rains, both of which came in the form of tropical rains, have kept a sufficient supply of moisture for the crops.

Last Friday a rain of 1.34 hit Ord, but was lighter in other areas, and heavier out in Mira Valley to the southwest. Wednesday forenoon a similar rain measuring .63 fell at Ord, but was much lighter to the southwest, tapering to none at all only a few miles out.

Farmers have been taking full advantage of the weather and are getting their grain crops harvested and their corn laid by. Much of the corn is already finished and some has begun to tassel. It should be well out of the way by the time the first frost comes.

Wheat yields continue to roll in and the crop is running all the way from 20 to 50 bushels per acre, with all reports showing a good weight and well under the danger point in moisture content. Some oats has been harvested but with binders, so that the yield is not yet known.

Do You Get Your Money's Worth in Today's Home Appliances?

If You Need a New Appliance for Your Kitchen or Home Laundry, Be Sure to Read the Truth About Present-day Quality and Prices!

With so many conflicting stories making the rounds about all lines of merchandise and their prices, you may be wondering about the true value of today's appliances.

The fact is, you get more real value for your money in a good electric appliance today than in almost any other purchase you can make.

As an example, we have a new 1949 Hotpoint 6-cubic-foot refrigerator that you can buy for $189.75—only $10 more than the same size and kind cost in 1939—yet it's a great deal better. With today's dollar worth just 60 cents in terms of the 1939 dollar, we can honestly say that the actual cost of this new, post war refrigerator is really a lot less.

By comparison, look at the price increase in automobiles, houses, or almost anything else you buy—up from 50 to more than 100 per cent.

If you are thinking of buying a new appliance, we see no reason for you to wait. We honestly believe that at today's low prices you will get the greatest dollar-for-dollar values in appliance history.

Quality is at an all-time high. From new post-war factories, Hotpoint brings you new, modern appliances that are as fine as technical facilities and human skill can produce, and we sincerely believe that you'll never buy a poor appliance with the Hotpoint name on it.

At your next opportunity, look over the new Hotpoint ranges, refrigerators, automatic washers, dishwashers and other appliances. We think you'll agree that you can "Look to Hotpoint for the Finest—First"—and be sure of the most for your money—right now!

Colts Outclass L. C. Team, Win 3 to 1 in Overtime Fray

Beran, Patrick Pitch 3-Hit Ball, Novosad Gives Up 6 Hits.

Dick Beran and Don Patrick pitched 3-hit baseball for Ord while their mates climbed on Bill Novosad for six safe blows, and as a result the Ord Colts won a crucial game 3 to 1 under lights at Loup City Sunday evening. An overflow crowd attended.

The Colts got off to a lead in the third inning when Pat Beran doubled and scored on a single by catcher Johnson. That single score looked big enough to win until the seventh inning when Wieserski singled, stole second, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on a wild pitch by Beran to tie the score.

Score 2 in Tenth. When the regulation nine innings ended the score was still tied 1 to 1 but Ord put it on ice in the tenth when Vail got on through an error, Moore and Dugan hit safely and Johnson was safe on an error, with two Ord runners crossing the plate. The Colts held Loup City scoreless in their half of the inning and thus capped the victory, 3 to 1.

Dick Beran pitched near-perfect ball for Ord for seven innings, allowing but one hit and striking out nine. He weakened in the seventh but no damage resulted and Patrick went in to confound Loup City batters for two innings. Patrick got credit for the win, since the score was tied when he entered.

Rol Beran and Johnson each got two safe blows for Ord, Moore and Dugan contributed singles to make up Ord's quota of six singles. But Novosad, Wieserski and C. Krollkowski were the only Loup Citizens to hit safely.

New First Sacker. Manager Walt Douthit unveiled a new first baseman in the person of McQuilian Greeley, a man who has been carried on the Ord roster all season but saw service for the first time. He fielded his position capably and seemed to provide the spark that the Colts needed, but failed to show at the bat though he is normally a hard hitter. Moore, at second base for Ord, handled four hard grounders in sparkling fashion but kicked one in the tenth inning, which fortunately caused no damage. The Ord infield with Wozniak at third and Dugan at shortstop, along with Moore and McQuilian, looked the best it has all season.

Baseball Lights Being Installed On Athletic Field

Poles for the lights on the Ord athletic field arrived over the Burlington Tuesday afternoon. The rest of the material has been on hand and all the work that could be done was being done, so as to be ready for the poles when they came. Erection of the poles will begin at once, and the lights should be ready for the Comstock-Ord next Sunday, but there will be two more scheduled games played at Ord and probably others, so the lights will be given a thorough try-out.

Certified Seed For Saunders Co.

R. C. Russell, Saunders county agent, reports that 23 fields of small grains were inspected in June for the production of certified seed in Saunders county. The records show that ten farmers in the county have applied for the certification of seed this year. Among the seeds are alfalfa, red clover, soybeans, safflower, sudan grass, brome and field grains.

Nelson Motors Wins Game From North Loup Jrs.

Gerald Severson Is Hero of No. Hit 7 Inning Battle.

Gerald Severson reached the hall of fame when he threw the ball past 21 North Loup batters at North Loup Sunday holding them without a single hit. At that he needed the fine support he got as Dean Hutchins was pitching a good enough game to win nine out of ten.

While Hutchins allowed the Ord Junior Legion five hits, he out-classed Severson by striking out 10 men to Severson's six. It was anybody's game until the last man was out and the final score, 2 to 1, gives some idea of the kind of ball the kids were putting out. Marion Geneski was the batting hero for Ord, connecting for a double and a triple out of three times at bat. There was a good crowd in attendance and much enthusiasm was shown. To date the Nelson Motors Junior Legion has not lost a game.

The Ord Midgets and North Loup Midgets also tangled in a fiasco that ended with Ord ahead 20 to 0 at the end of two innings. The North Loup boys, while game, were completely outclassed. Dale Earnest pitched for North Loup with Hawkes behind the plate. Ign. Piskorski and Jim Douthit were the Ord battery. The Ord team played well, and all were hitting.

Crete Directors Talk of Swim Pool

The board of directors of the Crete Chamber of Commerce are discussing ways and means of building a swimming pool for that city next year. It is agreed that plans must be made now if the pool is to be used by the city in 1949. The pool planned for will be about 50' by 100 feet in size. Nebraska laws limit the amount to be raised by taxation for a swimming pool to $35,000, and it is agreed that this amount is not sufficient to build the kind of pool Crete needs. The entire amount, or perhaps the amount needed over $35,000, will be raised by popular subscription.

Archie Bradt and Catfish.

Archie Bradt Is In First Place In Fish Contest

Brings in Biggest Catfish Seen Here for a Long Time.

Just to settle definitely who is the best fisherman in these parts, Archie Bradt got busy yesterday and hauled in a fish that weighed fourteen pounds and some ounces, for exact amount, see the new lineup of champions.

Archie said he could have got a big one just any time he wanted to, but evidently didn't want to until this week. Just to prove that the catch was no fluke, he turned up catching another one that weighed five pounds or so.

It may be that Archie is a little previous in claiming the championship. There are better fish in the sea, and elsewhere, than have ever been caught. Somebody ought to bring in a 16-pounder, just to give him an incentive to exert himself.

Nice Fish at Pibel.

July 9 John Beran went over to Pibel Lake and brought home a 10 1/2 pound catfish. He was using a rod and reel and chicken entrails for bait and was all by himself at 6:45 p. m. when the big fellow took the bait. He also got his limit of bluegills and one nice bass.

John enjoyed the honor of being in second place for three days, until Bradt took first place. Now he has to be in third place with a fish that ought to win first prize in most contests.

Francis Canfield had the most unusual catch. He was fishing at the dam and noticed his hook was out of bait. The line was in the water while he was getting his bait ready and a 1 1/2 pound carp grabbed it and dived under a stone. He had to have help getting him out. Because of the unusual situation the Quiz is using a picture of Francis and his catch.

Bass Entries Slow.

From now on, except in the case of unusual pictures or circumstances concerning a catch, the Quiz will use only pictures of fish that put the fisherman in the winning list at the time they are caught. But keep in mind that there are NO ENTRIES FOR BASS OR TROUT is as yet.

Both kinds of fish have been caught in the area, but none have been entered in the contest to date. A one pound fish would be high until a larger one is entered. Let us have some entries in these departments.

The standings: Catfish: Archie Bradt, first, 14 lbs., 5 oz.; Otto Schraeder, Sargent, second, 11 pounds, 8 oz.; John Beran, Ord, third, 10 lbs., 12 oz. Bluegills: Lynn Rice, Ord, first, 9 1/2 oz.; Anna Mraz, Ord, second, 9 oz.; Jerry Howart, Ericson, third, 8 oz.

Crappie: Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, Scotia, first, 1 lb. 4 oz. Women: Mrs. Rose Suchanek and Miss Margaret Zulkoski, Scotia, tied for first, 6 lbs. Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, Scotia, second, 1 lb. 4 oz.

Ravenna News Is Now Sixty-Four Years Old

The Ravenna News, always a good paper in a good town, observed its 64th birthday last week. The paper has clung to one basic policy through the years, Community Service First. It has never missed a single issue, and has a rule to be on time within the hour, except for mechanical difficulties. The News has been under continuous management of the same family for 62 years, the present year marking the 20th anniversary of the present editor, L. P. Cass. He states that, while the News probably will never be a big paper, they have always tried to make it a busy and interesting small one.

Scotia Protests North Loup Game

Scotia has protested the game played with North Loup June 19, which ended in a win for North Loup, 8 to 6. The reason given for that North Loup used a player not on the original roster as certified to G. A. Dilla, secretary of the Sherman-Howard league.

The player in question, Wayne Sheldon is a veteran North Loup player. While it is doubtful his playing was the cause of North Loup winning, the fact that he played makes the game subject to forfeit, according to rules. Scotia is not asking for a forfeit, but to have the game replayed, which will doubtless be done.

Fifty-One Counties in Disaster Area

Fifty one counties of Nebraska have been designated as areas where disaster loans can be made to eligible farmers by the Farm Home administration. This decision was reached from field reports which showed widespread damage had resulted from blizzards and freezes and that existing credits in the newly designated areas were unable to meet the needs of farmers who suffered losses from these natural disasters.

Applications for assistance may be filed at the Farm Home administration offices in Garfield, Greeley and Valley counties. To be eligible for a loan applicants must certify that they suffered damage as the result of disaster and that they are unable to obtain adequate credit from commercial and cooperative sources. Details on loans may be obtained from the offices named above.

Team Standings Unchanged With Sunday's Games

Palmer, Elba, Scotia and Farwell Winners: Two Shutout Contests.

Palmer, Elba, Scotia and Farwell all copped victories in the Sherman-Howard league Sunday but these wins did not affect the team standings in any way. At Elba the local lads outslugged and outscored the Ashton crew and took a 12 to 10 decision. Scotia did not have much trouble in handling Wolbach a 5 to 1 defeat while at Farwell the locals blanked Dannebrog 3 to 0 and at Palmer the home team gave the same score to North Loup. Progress Is Being Made on Bridge Across River

Lloyd Janovec, foreman in charge of construction of the North Loup river bridge at Ord, states that progress is being made despite difficulties in the form of a sandstone stratum run into ten feet below the surface, which makes trouble for sheet and beam pile-driving.

Monday, while driving sheet piling for the west abutment a collection of scrap iron and cement hindered progress. Jack Sayer, veteran drag-line operator, worked until dark trying to remove trash previously broken up with the 3,500 pound hammer.

As this is at the point where the west end of the bridge will be, the material was doubtless put in the water at that place to prevent bank washing away, and to help protect the water intake, which is about two rods down stream.

We Never . . .

make it a point to brag about cheap meat and low prices because we just can't see the reasons for having low prices one day and week and high prices the next day.

We have tried to maintain an even keel, charging what we know quality meat is worth, and no more than should be charged. For example—we always have top beef liver at 40 cents a pound, pork liver at 25 cents. This is not a special, but an every day price. We sell our roasts — cut from choice quality steer quarters for 49 cents a pound every day of the week, and freshly ground hamburger at 45 cents.

Our number one quality home cured bacon — the rind trimmed off and sliced — can be bought Monday through Saturday for 55 cents a pound, and choice quality round steak at 75 cents a pound.

We know that once you shop at our market you'll be back for more.

Henry Benda, secretary of the Valley County fair is surprised at the interest being shown by owners of hot rods who are writing to sign up for the races here. Inquiries have been received from four states, and this number will increase before the date of the fair arrives.

Twenty five have already announced that they will be here. Among them are several entries from Kansas City, Mo., two from Oklahoma, some from Denver and quite a few Nebraskans, including Ord's own men.

Best known local man is Jimmie Kucera, who led the field at Hastings July 4. Then there is Bob Lange, who has the nerve it takes to sit behind the wheel in one of those stripped-down jobs. Nelson Motors are to have a car entered, but the driver has not as yet been announced.

The hot-rod races will consist of 9 events, in addition to the time trials, each day. There will be six places in each event, and all races will have reversed starts (slow cars in the lead) except the semi-main and main events.

The main event will be for 15 laps, while the semi-main will be for ten laps. The chief steward, or superintendent for the races will be Gene VanWinkle of Lincoln, and the starter will be Gene Barnett, also of Lincoln. The rest of the officials will be local men.

The way hot-rod races have been going over this year indicates that they are more popular with the public than the regular racing events, and they will draw a large crowd at the Valley County fair, just as they have in Hastings, Council Bluffs and many other cities.

—Mrs. Frank Kinnmont of Huntington Park, Calif., and Mrs. Sidney Pechota of Omaha, cousins of Mrs. Fern Carson, have been visiting here. Mrs. Kinnmont and Mrs. Pechota are daughters of Fred Hather and visited Wednesday in Burwell with a brother, McViv Hather.

Mayor Blessing To Throw Switch Lighting Field

Ten Thousand Dollar Set Bleachers And Lights Get First Test

Ord's new ten thousand dollar baseball club will be given its first work out Tuesday night, July 26, when the Ord Colts entertain the fast St. Paul baseball club here.

In a dedication ceremony preceding the game, the Ord high school band will give a concert from 7:30 p. m. to 8 o'clock p. m. Following the band concert, two short talks will be given by Wm. Heuck, representing Ord business men and E. R. Apking, representing Ord veteran's posts, groups who financed the lighting installation.

Walter Douthitt, manager of the baseball club will present the field to the city of Ord, represented by Mayor E. L. Blessing. Mayor Blessing will throw the switch lighting the field and throw out the first ball.

Lights Long a Dream. Baseball lights, a project of which local citizens have dreamed for years, became a reality late this spring when interest parties started circulating a pledge for loans to finance the construction. Ord business men and several prominent farmers of the area put up approximately $5000 to finance the project, and Ord's American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts loaned the remaining $5000.

Cooperative Venture. The Ord city government entered the picture to the extent of acting as purchasing agent for the equipment necessary for the field, supervising construction and planning, and building a new transmission line to the field.

New bleachers, with a seating capacity of 1000, making 1500 seats available at the park, were built, largely with local volunteer labor. Ord business firms furnished material for the bleachers at cost.

Proud of Lights. "We have a set of lights that any baseball club in the state can be proud of," James Gilbert, president of the Ord Baseball Club, told the Quiz. "When we finally made up our minds to install them, we decided to get the best material and equipment money could buy."

Flower Exhibit At Valley County Fair is Assured

Fine List of Prizes is Offered For Different Classes of Flowers

According to information furnished by Miss Katharine Helzer, home agent, plans are complete for one of the finest flower shows ever seen in Ord, which will be a part of the Valley County fair, Aug. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Mrs. Opie Kellison is chairman, and she has able assistants from the various women's organizations of the city and county.

The points on which these flowers will be judged are as follows: Color harmony will count three points, arrangement three points more, relation of bouquet to container one point and condition of blooms three points for a total of 10 points. Flower experts will be called in to judge the exhibits.

The rules for exhibitors are also of interest. Flowers must be grown by the person exhibiting them. Flowers exhibited by children must be arranged by them. Each exhibitor is allowed only one entry in each class, but can have one entry in as many classes as there are (one for pansies, one for zinnias, etc.)

Every exhibitor must be responsible for containers. No foliage will be permitted in "Specimen" or "Display," but may be used in "Arrangement." Flowers must not be mixed, except where specified, such as "Mixed Annuals" or "Perennials" or in "Special Arrangement" Class (Sec. 4). The classification prize list will be published in full in the Quiz.

Prizes of 50c, 30c and 20c, first, second and third, will be offered in all the different classifications of flowers, about one hundred in all. These include annuals, perennials, bulbs, roses, special arrangements, specimens, the children's and cottage and 4-H club sections. Each club is to furnish its own table and cover. No silver is required for the dinner table arrangement.

Members of the several ladies organizations of the community will be in charge of the exhibit each day of the fair, and all who wish to furnish their services. For further information, see Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink, Arcadia, Mrs. Ign Pokraka, North Loup, Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski, Ord, Katherine Helzer, home agent.

Wheat Harvested, Oats Partly Done, Corn Coming Fast

Timely Rain Increases Chances of a Bumper Corn Crop for 1949

Much of the oats crop has been harvested, but little has been put on the market. Some has been tested, and this is running about the usual 32 pounds to the bushel and the quality is fair. The yield is below normal in most fields because of infestation by aphids while it was shooting. An occasional field has been showing up much better than the average.

Rye was not an abundant crop in the county, but most of it made a good yield of good quality. Barley seems to be doing better than oats as to yield. Potatoes had a bumper crop, especially where the fields were sprayed for blight. Potato beetles have not been a serious menace to the crop this year. In many places there are none at all.

The weather the past week has been ideal for continuing the harvest, with no rain in the area until early Wednesday morning, when Ord had 99 of an inch of moisture, accompanied by plenty of thunder and lightning, but no reported hail. W. O. Zanger reported 70 of an inch at his Ocean farm, and the unofficial from North Loup was a quarter of an inch.

Good Rain. From there on south the amount decreased until there was only a very light shower in Grand Island. The rain came at just the right time to give the corn another boost, although none of it was suffering for rain. Where the rain was heavy some early corn should be guaranteed without any further rain.

While the top of the ground was dry and hard, there is plenty of moisture just below the surface, much more than is usual at this time of the year. The farmers' under-irrigation are taking chances, however, but have been busy the past week or more getting water into their corn fields. Except for a few fields, corn in the county never looked better.

Hay Crop Good. Some fields of alfalfa have already seen the second crop harvested and are growing rapidly for the third crop. Estimates put the hay crop a full week ahead of the usual time, and this should assure four good crops of alfalfa on the earlier cut fields. All the low ground wild hay has been cut and stacked, and was a heavy crop.

Fred Clark of the Farmers elevator reports that the later wheat has not been testing quite as good as the earlier, for the reason that it has stood out in the weather longer, and that the weeds have grown high enough to interfere in combining. He suggests that, where the wheat contains a lot of foreign matter, it might be well to run it through the combine a second time.

Recleaning Wheat. This was tried in one case where the grain was hardly fit to market as it was, and it came out in good condition. As many fields have quite a growth of weeds, he believes the practice would be beneficial, and might prevent grain heating in the bin because of the presence of damp material from the weeds.

Spraying Completed; Cosmos Need Money. "We need contributions of about $150 to pay for the spraying of Ord DDT," Edw. Gnaster, president of the Ord Cosmopolitan club told the Quiz this week.

"Our first request for donations was apparently ignored as so far we have received contributions of only $5.00. Donations can be sent to either Ord bank or left at Beranek's Drug store."

Many Cases Appear In County Court During Past Week

Three Liquor Cases, One Driving While Intoxicated, Heard

Three liquor cases in which the violation occurred July 3 were heard in County Judge Clochon's court this week. In the first Sidney Hunt was charged with delivering liquor, beer, to a minor, Norma Skollil. He drew a fine of $10 and costs, which he paid and was released. The hearing was July 18.

Norma Skollil was charged, in the second case, with misrepresenting her age to obtain liquor. She was fined $10 and costs and was released. The complaint was filed July 18 and the case heard July 19.

Heard July 19 was the case of John Aubert, charged with delivering liquor to a minor, Norma Skollil. He paid a fine of $10 and costs and was released. All charges were filed by Ralph Norman, county attorney.

July 13 George Benda was charged with a second offense of driving while intoxicated. He was released to appear Monday of this week, but failed to do so, and another warrant has been issued for him. To date he has not been located.

North Loup Lions Call Off Meetings

Due to the fact that about half the members are farmers who find it difficult to meet during the harvest season, the North Loup Lions club voted at its first meeting in July to hold no more meetings until the first Thursday in July.

This is the first time since the club was organized that such action was taken. Most organizations of the kind do not hold meetings through the three summer months.

Sale of Shares in Hospital Will Be Speeded Up Soon

Summer Work Easing In Rural Sections, Area Not Yet Covered

The long, busy harvest is drawing to an end, and the work of collecting the sale of shares in the Ord Cooperative hospital will be speeded up, according to the hospital committee. Many personal contacts have not yet been made, and the fund-raising campaign is far from complete.

There is nothing to be alarmed at in the slow progress to date. The people have been too busy to have much time to give to the matter of purchasing shares. The school districts have been contacted, and some have reported, the reports being very satisfactory.

The finance committee expects to have a complete list of stockholders to date published in next week's Quiz. The present plan is to give all the names but not the amount of stock bought by each member. Meanwhile the fund has been showing a slow but steady growth.

One matter that has been brought up is the question of whether the stock in the hospital is assessable. This was talked over at a meeting of the hospital committee held Friday evening at the Soil Conservation office, at which time reports of the sale of hospital stock were received.

Upon a discussion of the general situation regarding the sale of stock it was the consensus of opinion that one point needed clarification, namely, whether or not the individual stockholders would be assessed by the corporation in case of a deficit. The answer to this is no.

Nebraska law provides that the articles of incorporation shall contain a statement as to "whether or not the private property of the stockholders shall be subject to the payment of corporate debts, and if so, to what extent." In compliance with this requirement the articles of incorporation of the Ord Cooperative Hospital Association contain the following:

"Article V . . . All shares of stock, when issued, shall be fully paid up and non-assessable. The private property of the stockholders shall not be subject to the payment of corporate debts."

It is obvious from this that no individual stockholder will be held liable for the debts or defaults of the corporation. In case the hospital goes into debt, or is forced to close, a situation for the present far removed, no one will be forced to pay up.

When the articles of incorporation were drawn the organizers had in mind the fact that perhaps some persons had heard of someone being assessed by some company, in which they had stock, when that company went under. It was expressly with the desire to eliminate the possibilities of such a situation arising that the above section was inserted in the articles.

If anyone has any questions concerning the stock, the association or the hospital, write to the Quiz and your letter will be published along with the answer it merits.

School for County Agents Takes Dale To North Platte

Learns Fundamentals of Irrigation From Actual Experience

County Agent C. C. Dale believes he learned much of value at a five-day irrigation school held last week, Monday to Friday, at North Platte. The school was put on by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. Dale went by Broken Bow and took M. L. Gould, Custer County Agent, with him.

There were 22 agents present from counties in the central and western sections of Nebraska. They made their headquarters at the North Platte experiment station. Their mornings were spent in the classroom, and their afternoons in field layout work.

Among other items, they checked the intake of water on various types of soil. They built borders and corrugations and irrigation structures in miniature, and did all kinds of irrigation work.

The instructors were John Steele, extension engineer, John Shunk, professor of agriculture engineering at Lincoln, J. C. Adams, superintendent of the North Platte Experiment station, and Dr. M. D. Weldon, soil specialist at the college of agriculture.

They had their evenings free and Dale states that the fishing was good. He also said that the only drawback to the trip was that they had to handle shoes with no soles on them. However, he believes the week was well spent and much valuable information received.

Next Sunday will be the second of a series of sermons on Nature Sermons. The subject is "Have You Felt the Sun's Rays?" Text is taken from Psalm 84-11. We are trying to show the relationship between the physical sun and God the Spiritual Sun.

The church is the coolest place you can find during the summer months, and there is nothing so refreshing if you come and earnestly engage in the worship of God.

Farm Ownership Loan Appropriation Made

Appropriations for Farm Ownership loans through the Farmers Home Administration for the fiscal year of 1950 have recently been announced by Ernest Frisch, state director. $20,000 has been allotted to the State of Nebraska for direct 100% loans which will be used almost without exception, in making loans to veterans to purchase family type farms. Individual cases for initial direct loans to non-veterans will be given consideration if the cases are fully justified.

Insured loans will be made to non-veterans as well as veterans providing they are financially able to make at least a 10% down payment. Under this type of loan, the remaining 90% is obtained through a local lending agency and fully guaranteed by the government.

Applications are to be made at the Farmers Home Administration office. The Farmers Home Administration office is located in the basement of the post office.

Farm Tractor Is Dangerous When Driver Careless

Greatest Source of Farm Accidents, It Requires Watching

Lester Larson, University of Nebraska agricultural engineering demonstrates with a model tricycle-type tractor, just how easy it is to get into accidents and injuries take place.

LINCOLN—Unless the trend is changed, some 18,000 Nebraskans this year will suffer injury from farm accidents—everything from seriously cut fingers to death.

That's why Nebraska farm families are being urged to give special attention to learning about safety during National Farm Safety week, July 24 through 30.

One of the greatest sources of serious farm accidents is the tractor, according to the Nebraska Health Planning committee headed by H. G. Gould, associate director of extension at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture.

From the committee come these tips for safe operation of tractors:

North Loup Has Two Auto-Truck Wrecks in Week

Vehicles Damaged but None Badly Injured in Either Accident

Both vehicles were badly damaged when the G. L. Carter auto and a truck driven by Leonard Edwards collided at the power house intersection at North Loup Friday afternoon. Carter again from the north and met the grain truck driven by Edwards which came from the east. Both vehicles were badly damaged, but neither man was hurt, except for bumps and bruises.

The truck is one belonging to Palmer Foss of Devil's Lake, N. Dak. Mr. Foss and his brother, Harold had hired a plane at the Ord airport and had flown home to have a look at the crops, and the accident occurred while they were away. The truck was being driven on a permit, and at first there was some question in regard to the right to drive it, but this was cleared up by Sheriff Robert G. Hall, who was called to investigate.

At about 1 a. m. Sunday morning a semi truck with 10 tons of salt as cargo and driven by Payne Bogardus of Long Pine, and the Arnold Bros. auto, driven by Bud Covert with Verl Arnold as passenger, collided on highway 11 near the dist. 42 school house. The semi was tipped over on its side and the Arnold auto was badly damaged.

Sheriff Hall investigated, and as a result Covert was haled into Judge Cochran's court Monday on a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated. Covert entered a plea of "not guilty" and the case has been continued.

How the Other Half is Living

Guy Livermore of the Sargent Leader indulged in a bit of reminiscing in the Leader last week, telling about how Sargent looked at the time it started 66 years ago, when Livermore was a boy of seven. The town was laid out in a corn field and an adjoining small grain field. What is now Main street was then a dirt road built in the field.

The Spalding area has lost its Grand Old Man in the passing of Vincent Glaser, 91 years old and a resident of Nebraska since 1883. Mr. Glaser was one of the original homesteaders north of Spalding, a school district director from 1885 to 1912, and a director of the Spalding City bank from 1902 to 1937. He was president of the Spalding elevator from 1895 to 1937, and treasurer of the Spalding Telephone company for 20 years.

Fred Sullwold, a farmer living northeast of Elm Creek, died of injuries received in a tractor accident which happened a week ago Saturday. He was cultivating corn and the tractor went over the embankment at the end of the row, plowing him beneath the machine. He was under the machine three hours before his wife found him. Kearney and Elm Creek firemen were called to remove the tractor, but the man was dead when they arrived.

The death of a Wolbach woman, Mrs. Mina Glenn, 54, brought the state traffic toll to 85. She died as the result of a car collision on the crest of a hill northeast of Wolbach, in which ten other persons were injured.

Broken Bow is looking forward to natural gas by mid-September, with the trenching machine digging ditches for the installation of gas mains now operating in the city limits. This is in line with the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas company's plan to have gas in Broken Bow in 1949, and in Ord in 1950.

Ernest France, dean of all pioneer residents of the Crete area, died Monday of last week, after a continuous residence there for 50 years. He was born in Manitowoc, Wis., in 1863, and came to Nebraska with his parents in 1869. In 1870 the family moved to town and Ernest attended the first school in Crete, taught by C. J. Bowly in his newspaper office.

Ord Softball Teams Play at Comstock

Thursday, July 14, the Ord Girls Softball team beat Comstock 33 to 16 in a four inning game on the Comstock diamond. This was the fourth game for the girls and the second win. The Comstock girls were playing their first game and more competition is expected at their next game which will be played about two weeks.

Girls playing for Ord are Marjorie Adams, Beth Adamek, Della Klinek, Joan Hanson, Alma Owens, Naomi Geweke, Helen Lombard, Irene Auble, Joyce Wilson, Maxine Fuss, Eleanor Copeland, Charlene Severns and Merna Lange. Their next game will be at Comstock Thursday, July 21, for the Homecoming.

The boys' softball team didn't do quite so well as the girls last Thursday. They also played Comstock there, but were beaten 24 to 7 in the full seven innings.

Inland Bids Low On Curtis Paving

The Inland Construction company had the low bid for construction of 30 blocks of paving on the streets of Curtis, Neb., according to the bids opened at a recent meeting by the city council. The bids were for either asphalt or 5 inch concrete.

The bids will not actually be let until the citizens have a chance to express preference on type of paving. The bids were, on the 20-foot wide streets, $5.90 a front foot for 5-inch concrete, or $1.80 for asphalt. Both being well under the engineer's estimate. The bids on the 41 foot street were in proportion.

Comparing prices it was found that the difference in cost between concrete and asphalt on a 50 foot lot would be $55. The life expectancy of asphalt is 5 to 7 years, while that of concrete is 25 to 30 years. For this reason asphalt as a street covering seems to be on the way out in Nebraska.

The above figures are considerably lower than those of a few years ago, and the trend is for still lower prices in the next few years. Because of the fact that some in Ord have been considering paving, but have been waiting for lower costs, the above should be of special interest.

make it a point to brag about cheap meat and low prices because we just can't see the reasons for having low prices one day and week and high prices the next day.

We have tried to maintain an even keel, charging what we know quality meat is worth, and no more than should be charged. For example — we always have top beef liver at 40 cents a pound, pork liver at 25 cents. This is not a special, but an every day price. We sell our roasts — cut from choice quality steer quarters for 49 cents a pound every day of the week, and freshly ground hamburger at 45 cents.

Another Week and No New Entries In Quiz Contest

Rev. E. Olson Gets Big Pike, but Does Not Get Into Competition

One of the surprises of the big Quiz fish contest showed up this week, when Rev. Eugene Olson hooked a northern pike at Hardbrook dam, which tipped the scales at 4 lbs. 9 oz., and measured 27 inches in length.

Unfortunately, the Quiz contest does not include a pike, except in the biggest fish contest for the ladies, and his fish cannot qualify for this and neither can Rev. Olson.

Reports from the dealers who have fishing tackle for sale and from the meat markets, which sell hog melt for bait, show that sales of these commodities have jumped by leaps and bounds since the Quiz published the picture of Archie Bradt's big fish last week.

But here is what Olson has to say about his catch. Was fishing with a rod and reel and beef meat for bait at 7:30 p. m. July 18. Had been fishing about half an hour and was checking the bait and found the fish on the hook.

This seems to be a unique catch as northern pike are not common here and are never known to bite on this sort of bait.

In the rush of making up the contest standings last week, the Quiz made two omissions, neither of which was intentional.

On Sunday, July 24, the locals will journey to Miller to test the power of the Loup Valley's league leads.

Miller Nipped Indians In Wild Slugfest

The Miller baseball club spotted Broken Bow a seven run lead in the first three innings at Miller Sunday and then came roaring back to out-last the Indians 14 to 13 in a wild slugfest, in which 31 hits were recorded, including five home runs.

Broken Bow started off as though it meant business in the first three innings counting a pair of runs in each of the first two innings and four more in the third before Miller got its attack under way to tie the score in the fourth.

The Indians salvaged a little glory, however, by nicking Miller hurlers for three home runs.

Broken Bow plays under the lights at Loup City this Sunday evening, returning home to face Mason City on the new lighted Broken Bow field on July 31.

The locals started their shutout by picking up two runs in the first inning. In the fourth they added four runs, and scored again in the fifth and sixth innings.

On Sunday, July 24, the locals will journey to Miller to test the power of the Loup Valley's league leads.

Minimum Wages.

The Senate of the United States is about to take up the new wage and hour bill known as S. 653, the "Fair Labor Standards Act Amendment of 1949." The senate is due to take action within a few days, and your comments, if you wish to make any, should be sent as telegrams to either of the Nebraska state senators.

On the surface this act seems to be something to be desired. It will increase the minimum wage from 40c to 75c per hour. To the wage earner this looks like a good thing. Under present conditions it might be possible to pay a minimum wage of that amount, but only by increasing the cost of goods sold or services rendered.

Laws are put on the statute books not only for the present, but with an eye to the future. Today the dollar is worth only about half what it was before the war. The time will come when that value will get back to the point it started from, or even beyond. When dollars are cheap, high wages result. When dollars increase in value, it is inevitable that wages must decrease. That is just plain, common sense. The small business man, the restaurant man and thousands of others, simply could not pay a 75c an hour minimum when prices in general get back to where they once were.

The result will be that those who cannot afford to hire help will either reduce the amount of their business so that they can run it alone or in the family, or they will be forced out of business altogether. Thousands of men were forced out of business in the depression years, even though they were able to hire help at low prices.

It is easy to imagine what will happen if a minimum wage of 75c an hour is set and then prices drop to the level they were before the war. If you believe in the rights of the small business man, now is the time to speak up and say so. Tomorrow may be too late.

Why Not For Business?
This paper is not questioning the right or wrong of the Brannan Plan. It may be just what we need, and, inversely, it may ruin the government. But we would like to present a brief for the small businessman, who finds his business is not as good as it used to be. Businessmen tell us that goods are moving slower than they did a year ago, that buyers are not spending as much as they did then.

If this is true, why not a Brannan Plan for the businessman, a plan that will assure him a low price for the goods he buys and a high price for the goods he sells. A plan that will guarantee him a minimum amount of sales, with the understanding that, if his sales do not reach that minimum, the government will step in and buy at the guaranteed sales price enough goods to bring his amount of sales up to the amount set?

The Brannan Plan seeks to hold grain that the farmer has to sell at a high level, and at the same time cut the price of what he has to buy, making up the deficiency from the public treasury. That may not be the exact wording of the plan, but that is what it purports to do. The retail businessman found out during the war, as well as before and since, that prices at the best are uncertain. Up to May 1, a total of 3,002 business failures were reported in 1949. This is practically twice as many as were reported for the same period in 1948, and four times as many as for the period in the year 1947. These figures show that the small businessman is in need of help. He cannot hope for prosperity if the entire country is getting its share of prosperity.

If the plan is good for one group it should be good for all. Labor should be guaranteed plenty of work at a high minimum wage. Doctors, lawyers, dentists, yes, and even editors, should be given a plan whereby their fees would be guaranteed. Teachers and preachers should be protected against the chance of not being able to collect their salaries when due. If we must have the Brannan Plan for one group, by all means let us have it for all.

The Census Taker
Sometime in the next few months it may be early next year, the official census taker will appear upon each family in the area, gathering important statistics. While the time to start the census is next April, the man who asks the questions may call on you at any time.

Just to be on the safe side, this man is provided with proper credentials. His card is adorned with a picture of himself, and is signed by the proper authorities. As swindlers jump at any chance, it is always possible that somebody may figure out a chance to make a little easy money, and will claim to be from the bureau of census. The right man will show you this card. If he does not, ask for it before answering any of his questions. Then, when you know he is what he claims to be, do not hesitate in answering any questions he may ask. The answers are highly important, and cannot be used for any purpose whatever except for statistics. Not even the income tax collector can use them.

The employment census on which the bureau bases its estimate of the number of job holders and job hunters, is rated even more important at the present time than the count of population. This information is valuable to the government and to private industry as an indicator of business conditions.

Some people refuse to cooperate with the census taker, on the ground that to insist on answers is a violation of their individual rights. Perhaps this is true, but answers to most of the questions can be obtained anyway, and it is simply making it inconvenient for a man who is just working at another job.

The monthly census is taken in 38 sample areas of the country, and the results from these areas form a fair estimate of the results from the entire nation. A householder can be compelled to give information, but this is seldom done another householder being substituted instead.

So, when the inquisitive man with the pencil and pad calls at your door, treat him with courtesy. He is merely doing his job, as hundreds of others are doing, and is doing his part to find out a lot of things about our country that you are just as desirous of learning as anybody else is.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

When over in Hawaii I naturally was interested when it was announced that area 3, where we lived, was to have a newspaper. In fact, there was some talk of putting me on the staff of the paper, but when I found that I would not get nearly as much money for the job, I was not interested. However, there were a lot of fellows who were interested. I do not now recall the name of the first editor, but he hired the job in a short time and the navy appointed a man by the name of Clarence M. Davies to take over the job. It wasn't much of a job, or rather, it was a heck of a job. The editor wrote up a lot of fine stories, all of which were submitted to the navy for approval. For various reasons, mostly security, most of the worth while stories were killed and those that didn't say much or mean much were retained.

The name above lacks one letter of being Clarence M. Davies, I believe it or not, the newspaper photographer's name was Bud Zell. He had the toughest job of all, because he had to furnish a couple of dozen pictures for each weekly issue of the paper, and none of them could show any shoreline, and fortifications, any cannon, any air raid shelters, any groups of navy personnel information. Just how he managed to get any pictures at all is a wonder to me. He got by with one, however. He took a picture of the baseball team one day and I stood right beside him and took the same picture. That picture was the only one I had centered of all the pictures I took, but Bud's picture appeared on the front page of the Pearl Harbor Banner, the paper I am talking about.

Another man on the force was Tommy Falco, who was a reporter. Tommy was one of my best friends, and he always let me have a peek at the want ads a day ahead of publication, so if there was anything I wanted to buy, I would get the first chance at it. I got three bicycles that way, at different times, kept them a while and then sold them again, always at the same price, as it happened. I picked up several other articles I wanted through the same source.

I also made it a point to make notes of items of interest, which I would turn over to Tom. We had some mighty fine times together. Last week, over in India, a plane crashed with the loss of all passengers aboard, including 13 newspapermen. I looked over the list of names, and ran across that of Tom Falco, a representative of Business Week Magazine. I am certain that he was the same Tommy I knew. The name is not too common, and Tommy was making newspaper reporting his life's work. It was the first time I had heard from him since I left him in Hawaii, and now it will be the last.

He was a brilliant young man, and I would get a high report on his chosen work. It is too bad that his work had to be ended so soon, but it ended as Tommy would have had it end, in the harness and right on the job.

The job of local correspondent may be a rather prosaic affair, but it is a highly important job, and nobody realizes this more than the editor who gets to depending on a certain amount of news from each locality each week. The Quiz owes a bouquet to a number of its correspondents, and to one in particular, the dean of them all in point of service. At least eleven years ago Mrs. Ethel Hamer began to report the North Loup news, and she has been at it ever since. I don't have to tell you the kind of job she does. You can find out by reading the North Loup page any week. It is not necessary to check every item. In fact, in rush times the items go through without checking at all. They are nicely written, and what is more important, they are correct. The first news story always arrives Monday morning, to be followed by more Tuesday and the final items Wednesday. When other correspondents are able to show as long a period of service as Mrs. Hamer, the Quiz will try to acknowledge them also.

Speaking of the newspaper game in general there are two classes of people the editor could get along nicely without. One is the group who come in and ask to have some thing left out. The other is the group who bring in an item written up and insisting on having it printed exactly as written. By experience the first group has found that the Quiz insists on printing the news, and is becoming almost non-existent. The second group learns that the only items we guarantee to print as written are advertisements. Items are often printed as written, but that is up to the discretion of the editor.

W. J. Coad, elected head of Nebraska Conservation Foundation, made the statement that 75% of Nebraska's lost top soil can and must be recovered. By and large, that is a big order. One has only to look over almost any farm in the county, whether it be in the river bottom or on the hills, to realize that plenty of soil has been washed down the streams. Just how Mr. Coad expects to get this soil back is a mystery. What he really meant, of course, was rebuilding the soil to the fertility it enjoyed when the sod was first broke. Even this is a big job, a job that is worthy of a big man like Mr. Coad, and his associates. However, the rebuilding job is already in the capable hands of the Soil Conservation service, which, in time, will cover all the area of Nebraska.

In rebuilding, the element of time must be taken into consideration. In many places in the state it is as much as 80 years since the elements began their job of tearing down the soil. It is hardly practical to expect to get the soil back where it was in another 80 years, and still continue to raise crops on it, especially such crops as are being taken off these days. But the problem goes deeper than this. It took nature millions of years to build the soil up to the point of fertility it had reached when the settlers came and started out with the breaking plow. In fact, a survey indicates that there are no places where original sod can be found. To really put the soil back where it was, the land should be planted to grass and allowed to remain in that condition over a period of years.

It is hardly practical to expect to build up to the place where they work faster than prairie grass perhaps, but it will still take a long period of time. Besides, nature had her legumes in the prairie country, such plants as the buffalo bean, the wild pea and the many varieties of vetches were to be found in abundance in the original sod, and along roads. They certainly had their part in storing soluble nitrogen in the soil. Yes, W. J. Coad is working on a worthy project, but he is lacking a real job when he attempts to restore 75% of the land's topsoil. More power to him!

Leslie Nash Takes Interesting Trip

A group of ten men, including Leslie Nash, head of the Valley county Soil Conservation service headed by Dean Higgins, district conservationist of Broken Bow, took a most interesting two-day trip. They met at Ainsworth Wednesday morning and from there traveled over a large area.

The object of the trip was a review of the grasslands and grass seedings, including good land, and good irrigated soil. The territory covered included parts of Cherry, Brown, Rock, Thomas, Custer and Lincoln counties and the edge of Logan and McPherson counties.

The primary object of the trip was to study grass seedings in the sandhills. These included among the warm season grasses, grama and love grass, side oats grama and blue stem. Cool season grasses observed included intermediate wheat grass, bromus grass and the new tall wheat grass. The latter is sometimes called alkali wheat grass because of the fact that it is alkali tolerant. At the experiment station at North Platte they had an opportunity to study a number of new types of grass and clover, including a kind of the latter that spreads by roots, which is an important development still in the experimental stages.

From Clayton Burke of Cody, Wyoming comes the following comment: "In a recent Quiz I noticed some mathematical computations as to the relation of a mountain lion's tracks to the animal's weight. There was a lion killed here last week. It was a big "he" one weighing 180 pounds and measuring between 8 and 9 feet in length. His tracks were 4 inches. The above is passed along purely in the interests of science."

10,000 Girls Attend Girls State
Practice in operating the machinery of democratic government was given to more than 10,000 girls in the Girls' State conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary in every state again this summer, according to Mrs. Loren Good, Girls State chairman of the Fidelity unit of the auxiliary here.

"Success of the auxiliary girls state program in training young women for democratic leadership has brought enthusiastic commendation from political leaders and educators everywhere," Mrs. Good said. Due to increased demand for opportunity to attend, many of the girls states were larger this year than ever before. The local auxiliary unit sponsored Genevieve Boyce at the Nebraska Girls' State held at Lincoln.

Attendance to Girls' States is limited to girls who have just completed their third year in high school. They are selected on the basis of leadership and character by a national unit sponsored Genevieve Boyce at the Nebraska Girls' State held at Lincoln.

The Valley County Fair this year is offering the finest entertainment that it has in years. The exhibits should be better than for a long time, as this has been definitely a crop year. More and better stock, finer saddle horses will be seen than for a long, long time.

Valley County Fair Announces Leaders in All Departments

Much Interest Being Shown in Hot Rods, Chitwood's Shows

Today the management of the Valley County fair is announcing superintendents of the various departments. Henry Enger will have charge of the hog department, George Bell of the cattle, Harry Bresley the horses, and Bill Goff the poultry.

Hot Rod Races. Interest in the hot rod races is increasing daily and it is believed they will prove fully as good a drawing card as the races of former years. The fact that there will be local entrants in these events is one of the high points in connection with these races.

New Feature. A feature being put on this year, absolutely new because it could not have been put on before, is the showing of artificial insemination calves. The fair board is giving prizes in this division.

Land Terraplane. The Western Terraplane will be exhibited by the Valley County Soil Conservation service. This machine, one of the most unusual ever to be seen in this area, is a radical departure from the usual, and is especially designed to give the final touches in land leveling.

At its last meeting the North Loup school board contracted with Mr. and Mrs. David H. Albrey to teach in the schools. Mr. Albrey will act as coach and will teach science. Mrs. Albrey will teach 6th, 7th and 8th grades.

Ord Dedicates New Baseball Lights With 1,500 Crowd

Colts Off to Shaky Start, Lose 8 to 3; Band Plays, Speeches

A crowd estimated at 1,500 turned out Tuesday evening at Ord dedicated its new $10,000 lighted baseball field, although intermittent rains throughout the day had threatened cancellation of the program and doubtless cut attendance considerably.

The Ord band, directed by Dr. Glen Auble, started the dedicatory services with a concert at 7:30 and at 8:00 a speaking program was held with Bruce Covey as master of ceremonies. Bill Heuck, on behalf of Ord's business men, gave a brief history of baseball in Ord and forecast increased interest in the game now that lights for night play have been installed.

Best Park in State. Mayor F. L. Blessing accepted the lighted field on behalf of the city and told how it fits into Ord's park and recreational program which now offers a fine bluegrass golf course, concrete tennis courts, pools, lighted football field and cinder track, picnic and playgrounds, all in Bussell park and adjacent athletic field.

Colts Shaky at Start. Mayor Blessing, with Bill Heuck as pitcher and Dick Beran as catcher, pitched the first game of the season. The Ord Colts and their adversaries, the fast St. Paul team, took the field for brief infield work-outs preceding the actual game.

Play started at 8:30 with St. Paul at bat and Dick Beran on the mound for Ord. Let's, the first batter, dribbled out, pitcher to (Continued on page 2)

Soil Conservation District Has New Leveling Machine

Works on Principle of Carpenter's Jointer; For Finishing Up Work

Through the courtesy of the Missouri Valley Caterpillar Co., the Valley County Soil Conservation service has secured the use of a giant land plane. This machine, called the Pacific Terraplane, has a wheel-base of approximately 65 feet. It is a new piece of equipment in this section, but has been widely used in the irrigated sections of California and other far-western states.

The machine is guided in the manner of a hook-and-ladder outfit, with the steering wheel on the rear end. In fact, from the rear end of the plane to the tractor driver is so great that the SCS boys are talking of equipping it with a two-way radio set, so the driver and the steersman can keep in contact with each other.

The arrangement with company allows the supervisors of the district to keep the machine here at no rental cost except when it is in operation. The machine will be available to local land-leveling contractors at the regular rental fee. In spite of its great length the machine can be transported readily over the roads, being mounted on rubber.

The use of the machine will be demonstrated some time next month, if a suitable field can be found, where the owner wishes to try it out. It is highly recommended for putting the final touches on fields seeded to alfalfa.

Jake Dutcher In Clinic Hospital With Broken Neck

Horace Farmer Fell From Haystack on Wednesday

If you are inclined to bewail your discomfort during the present heat wave, think of Jake Dutcher. Mr. Dutcher, a farmer who lives near Horace, is in the Clinic hospital undergoing treatment for a broken and dislocated neck. His head, shoulders and neck are sand-bagged to immobilize them. If he moves his head an inch it is likely to prove fatal.

He was injured last Wednesday when he fell from a tall haystack and landed squarely on his head. Since Mr. Dutcher weighs some 230 lbs. something had to give and something did—his neck. X-ray pictures taken by Dr. C. W. Weekes were sent to the eminent bone specialist, Dr. R. D. Schrock, of Omaha, who confirmed Dr. Weekes' diagnosis of a broken vertebra and advised that the neck also was dislocated. How Mr. Dutcher escaped death or total paralysis is a mystery, Dr. Schrock added.

So far the Horace farmer is progressing well and he is expected to recover.

Postponed Case Ends In Plea of Guilty to Intoxication Charge

In county court Monday afternoon Bud Covert entered a plea of guilty as charged to driving an automobile while intoxicated. When arraigned on the charge last week he pleaded not guilty. The case concerned a collision on the highway near North Loup between the auto driven by Covert and a truck loaded with salt.

Several witnesses for the state were present. Judge Cichon assessed a fine of $50 which Mr. Covert paid, together with costs of $30.60, and was released. His driver's license was suspended for a period of one year.

Two Interesting Cases Heard In District Court

Chitwood Crew To Appear At Iowa State Fair

The Valley county fair at Ord, which opens next Tuesday, August 2, is not the only fair to see the Chitwood Auto Daredevils.

The crew is booked also for the Iowa State Fair at Des Moines, August 27, and is receiving top billing as one of the "most sensational programs of thrillers ever seen at any state fair."

The Daredevils will appear here on Wednesday and Thursday evening, August 3 and 4 in two terrifying, hair-raising performances of death defying crashes and smashes.

Continued Fair and Warmer is Weather Report for Week

Light Showers Relieve Crops, But Much More Will Be Needed Soon

More of the same about describes the weather of the past week. The harvest is practically over, but harvest weather continues, broken only by light showers Monday evening and Tuesday.

These totaled 34 of an inch at Ord, 32 of an inch at North Loup, 64 of an inch in Arcadia, and light showers general over the area. This is not as much as is actually needed, but will help the corn until more comes.

With the ending of harvest in most places, the second cutting of alfalfa is demanding attention. The crop is not as heavy as the first, but is better quality, and most of it will be put up with too much interference from the rain.

To date none of the corn is damaged by the dry weather, but many fields are hit hard by the corn borer, and some fields and parts of fields are heavily infested with grasshoppers.

Tuition Receipts Drop

Miss McClatchey gave out the figures on high school tuition this week, showing a decided drop from the preceding year. The amount paid in the year 1948-49 was $16,914 for tuition. This year the amount is $13,176. The number of tuition students last year was 217, and this year the number is 180, a drop of 37. Beginners this fall will probably offset this loss in numbers in the schools.

Tornado Hits Ord Monday; 1500 Feet Up

Ord people may not have known it, but a near tornado was hovering over them Monday around 5:30 p. m. Ted Slobaszewski, flying a new plane back from Grand Island that afternoon ran into it about five miles from Ord.

First thing I knew the wings began to flutter, then, whoosh, and I was being tossed around like a leaf," Ted described the wind. "I don't know how fast it was, but from the speed of my plane and the way it spun me over and over, the wind must have been more than a hundred miles an hour."

Local labor will be employed and about 20 men will be needed during the rush season, it is believed.

Noble D. Ralston, Long Ord Resident, Died Wednesday

Born at Schuyler, 1881, Spent Many Years at His Trade in Ord Area

In the passing of Noble D. Ralston Wednesday, July 20, Ord lost one of its most capable masons, who spent his life working at his chosen trade, both here and at Schuyler, Neb., his birthplace.

He and his brother-in-law, John Mason, worked at the trade together not only locally, but in numerous large contracts in different parts of the country. Many Ord buildings stand as a monument to their ability as workmen.

A quiet man, Mr. Ralston was not too well known, but those who knew him were all his friends. He was employed at his trade the forenoon of the day that death came to him.

Noble Duffield Ralston, son of Elliot D. and Meda Edmison Ralston, was born Aug. 15, 1881, at Schuyler, Neb., and passed away at his home in Ord, July 20, 1949, at the age of 67 years, 11 months and 25 days.

He married Addie Severson May 3, 1910. He is survived by his wife; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Bott and Mrs. Floyd J. Smith of Schuyler; a niece, Marjorie Smith, of Schuyler, and a nephew, Dick Ralston of Omaha. He was preceded in death by his parents and one brother, Robert Owen Ralston.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Hastings-Pearson chapel, Clyde D. Scott officiating. Mrs. Glen Auble and Mrs. C. M. Davis sang three hymns, accompanied by Mrs. Orin Kellison.

The pall bearers were Everett and Art Mason, Jud Pedro, Len Covert, Vern Stark and Clayton Gilroy. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

first base, but Neilsen singled, Olsen was safe on an error by Dugan and after Peterson was given an intentional walk Nelson hit safely to score two St. Paul runs. The next two batters grounded out to end the inning.

In their half of the first the Colts scored once on hits by R. Beran, Finley and Vail, making the count 2 to 1, but the second inning was a nightmare for both home team and fans.

Bunt's Puzzle Ord.

Edwards, the lead-off man, was safe on a bobbie by Finley, Leth laid down a bunt which no Ord player attempted to field, with result that Edwards advanced and Leth was safe at first. Nielsen hit safely scoring two, Olsen flew out but Peterson got a life on Dugan's error, with Nielsen crossing the plate on the play to bring St. Paul's total for the inning to 3 runs and make the score 5 to 1, before the side was retired. Some other Ord mistakes or omissions which don't appear in the box score took place during the same half inning also, to the extreme exasperation of Ord fans.

After this shaky start, however, the Colts settled down and made a ball game of it. In the third inning they scored again on hits by D. Beran and R. Beran, and in the field they played good baseball generally, retiring St. Paul in order in every inning but the fifth in which frame they scored once on a hit, a fielder's choice and an error.

Patrick took over the pitching chores for Ord in the sixth and did a creditable job. He was in trouble in the ninth when 3 successive errors by R. Moore let two St. Paul runners cross the plate, one of whom got on base via the free route. The Colts scored once in their half of the same inning and the final score was 8 to 3.

Uses Many Players.

Manager Douthitt used a full roster of players including McQuillan, who succeeded Finley at first, Stull and Johnson, each of whom shared catching chores with Vail, Dilla who succeeded Smith in right field in the fourth inning, Watson and Turek, who went in as pinch hitters in the ninth; these besides the regular starting lineup of Moore, R. Beran, Finley, Dugan, Vail, Philbrick, Wozniak, Smith and D. Beran. The fact that it was a non-league game gave him a chance to look over his material and some of the substitutes may be in regular lineup when Arcadia plays here Sunday night.

A recap of the game shows that the Colts made 10 hits to St. Paul's 6, but their 11 errors as compared with only 2 for the Howard county team were responsible for their 8 to 3 defeat.

Nevertheless it was a crowd-satisfying game and better things are expected of the Colts when they face league opponents on the Ord field on the next three Sunday nights.

Trimming Isn't New To Us!

We've never mentioned it before to any great extent—we always figured the practice of trimming bone ends, extra fat, etc., from our cuts before we weigh them was just a matter of good business. That's why this market has been doing that very thing since it was founded.

Insofar as Mother Nature grows it, every ounce of meat you buy from our market is usable. We've always trimmed our meat that way and we will continue to do so.

It's surprising how a few cuts of meat can become especially good buys in summer months. For example, ox-tail. It's a winter favorite for soups, tastes mighty good braised, too. Our regular low price on these is 12 cents a pound—which means that for about 50 cents you can provide the meat part of a darn good meal for a family of five or six. Another inexpensive cut right now is pork loin roast. Our regular price is 38c a pound. Serve it hot for one meal—what's left can be sliced cold for delicious sandwiches.

Just stop in the friendly little market on the north side of the square. We know you'll be back often.

Three St. Paul Boys Find REA Hot Stuff

Last week three St. Paul boys disregarded the danger signs and stopped to investigate the REA sub-station south of St. Paul. They climbed a ground until Joe Larsen, one of the three, came in contact with the hot wires and was knocked to the ground.

The other boys, Pat Larsen and Tommy Jensen, hurried to town for help. The doctors took Joe to the hospital, where he is recovering from burns and a bad gash in the back of his head he received from the fall. It was a lucky warning the boys will not soon forget.

Colts Pound Out 16 Hits, Beat Miller; 3rd in Loup Race

Win Sunday Puts Ord Higher; Arcadia Here Sunday in Crucial Test

Sixteen hits rattled off the bats of the Ord Colts Sunday when by defeating Miller 6 to 3 on the latter's home grounds they served notice that they are still definitely in the race for the League championship and a share in the play-offs to follow. The win advanced them to a tie for 3rd place in the league.

Ord took a lead in the fourth inning, scoring three on hits by Vail, Wozniak and Dick Beran, after Dugan got a life on a Miller error. They added two in the sixth on hits by Don Patrick, Dick Beran, Rol Beran and Finley, and squeezed out another in the eighth when Rol Beran doubled and was brought home by Finley's sharp single.

Most of the Colts definitely had their swatting clothes on, D. Beran and Vail leading the parade with 3 for 4 and 3 for 5 respectively, while R. Beran, Finley, Philbrick and Wozniak each hit safely twice.

The Miller team took an early lead, scoring in the second inning, but the Colts were never headed after the fourth. The Miller "murderer's row" made 12 safe outs of the slants of Beran and Patrick, one of which was an over-the-fence home run by Isben, but never threatened after the second inning.

Beran got credit for the win, though he pitched only four innings. Patrick took over in the fifth and after being twice saved by sharp fielding of the part of R. Moore and Dugan, settled down to a masterful job throughout the remaining innings.

A-field the Ord team turned in its best performance of the year. Only one error was chalked against them, this being a bobble by left fielder Beran which gave a Miller runner an extra base.

Most improved player for Ord was Wozniak, third sacker, who handled several fielding chances perfectly, lined to left in the second and laid down a perfect bunt in the fourth to start a rally which resulted in three Ord runs. A sensational stop by Dugan behind second robbed I. Simmons of a hit in the sixth and Moore's catch of MacFarland's line drive in the fifth, doubling R. Simmons off first, were other features.

The box score follows:

All Time Record Set in Loup City - Broken Bow Game

One Hit by Each Team in 11 Innings Thought To Be Best Known

What undoubtedly will stand as an all-time record was set by Loup City and Broken Bow in their Loup Valley baseball game Sunday. The game went to 13 innings before Loup City finally won, one to nothing. In that time each pitcher yielded only one hit during the game, and neither figured in the winning.

Bill Novosad, on the mound for Loup City, allowed one hit in the first inning, then shut out the visitors without a single hit for 12 innings. He struck out 21 men and allowed only one base on balls.

Bob Korte for Broken Bow, did nearly as well, giving up his only hit in the 11th inning. However, he walked four men, and one of the men walked came in with the winning run. He also struck out 21 men.

With one out in the last of the 13th, Carl Krollowski drew a base on balls, and stole second. Gene Turk then hit a sharp grounder to short, which got away on an error and Krollowski scored to end the ball game.

Arcadia played superior ball to down Ansley 2 to 0, in what proved to be another pitcher's battle. Mason City ran amuck against Comstock, scoring almost to start. The score at the end of 9 innings was 30 to 3. An effort was made to end the game with the 7th inning, but objections were raised, and it went to a finish.

Counting last Sunday's games the team standings are:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Mason City	8	3	.727
Arcadia	7	3	.700
Ord	7	4	.636
Miller	7	6	.538
Ansley	6	5	.545
Loup City	5	6	.454
Broken Bow	2	9	.181
Comstock	1	9	.100

Rural Carriers Will Make Game Bird Count

According to information furnished by the state game, forestation and parks commission, the time is here for another game bird inventory. The work will be done, as usual, by rural carriers throughout the state, who count the birds they see while traveling their routes. The important thing about this count is the ratio of old and young birds.

Six hundred carriers took part in the spring count. They found the pheasants about 80% of a year ago. The number was smaller in the blizzard area, as might be expected. The relation of cocks to hens was about 7 to 4, nearly the same as last year. Quail, prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse were seen in about the same quantities as last year. W. L. Blessing is conducting the count out of Ord.

Catfish Holding Limelight, Quiz Fishing Contest

New Entry Lands In Top Three; Beran Down to 4th Place

Catfish continue to hold the limelight in the Quiz fishing derby, perhaps for the reason that there are more catfish than any other kind. The latest entry is that of Ed Lacia whose fish tipped the scales at 11 lbs. 10 1/2 ozs. This puts the proud fisherman right up among the leaders, and relegates John Beran's 10 pound 12 ounce fish down to fourth place.

Lacia has this to say about his catch. He was fishing at Hardenbrook dam, July 24, at 7 p. m. He was using a rod, with 25 pound test line and Ocean City reel, and a No. 2 Eagle Claw hook. Archie Bradt and Mrs. Lacia were there. He was using a chub for bait.

Ed Lacia and Catfish.

He started fishing about 4 p. m. and caught a few other small catfish. It took Ed, who is solidly built, about 3 or 4 minutes to bring him in and Bradt picked him up with the dip net. He measured slightly longer than Archie's big fish, so Archie came along up-town to see him weighed, as he thought Ed had beaten him out of first place.

If all the other divisions in the Quiz contest were doing as well, we would be highly pleased. A contest of this kind flourishes on competition, and lots of it. The bluegills have been doing all right, although there ought to be some bigger bluegills than the ones already turned in.

But how about the crappie and trout, with only one entry in each division, and the bass, with no entries at all? Surely somebody is catching an occasional fish in these divisions. Any entry at all in any one of the three would be good for a prize until some bigger entry comes along, and there is no certainty that bigger ones will be entered.

Top man, Archie Bradt, says nothing succeeds like success, and that everybody reads the Quiz. Since his picture appeared he has heard from Congressman A. L. Miller at Wash. D. C., A. K. Kovanda at Ithaca, N. Y., Lloyd Parks of Broken Bow and his daughter, Mrs. Speltz, in Grand Island. Well, it took him a long time to become famous, but he finally made.

The standings: Catfish: Archie Bradt, first, 11 lbs. 10 1/2 oz.; Edward Lacia, second, 11 lbs. 10 1/2 oz.; Otto Schroeder, third, 11 lbs. 8 ozs. Bluegills: Lynn Rice, Ord, first, 9 1/2 oz.; Anna Mraz, Ord, second, 9 oz.; Jerry Howart, Ericson, third, 8 oz.

Crappie: Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, Scotia, first, 1 lb., 4 oz. Trout: Roland Norman, first, 1 lb. Bass: No entries. Women: Mrs. Joe Zabludski, Scotia, first, 7 lbs., 13 oz.; Mrs. Rose Suchanek, Ord, and Miss Margaret Zukoski, Scotia, tied for second and third, 6 lbs.

At the Homecoming celebration in Scotia last Thursday the Ord Girls Softball team lost 9 to 14 to the Scotia Girls team. Ord's next game will be with Comstock on the home diamond.

Hold Program For Fullerton Lights

A program was held on the streets of Fullerton at 9 p. m. Saturday night honoring the installation of the new street lights. Mayor Lewis Kremer threw the switch that turned on the lights that were turned over to him by the Consumers Public Power district.

Included in the program were the Fullerton high school band and a male quartet. Announcement was made of Appreciation Days, an event put on by the merchants in which prizes will be awarded each Wednesday afternoon.

Ord Junior Legion Defeats Scotia In Last League Game

Meet North Loupers in Fullerton Monday For First District Game

The Nelson Motors Junior Legion team went to Scotia Sunday and won a rather easy victory over the Legion team of that town, the final score being 21 to 8. Total hits for Ord were 16, for Scotia, 6.

Battery for Ord was Severson, Ed Geneski and Stoward, for Scotia, Beedle and Palsler. Feature of the game was Severson's three 2-base hits. Falter also connected for three hits out of five times at bat. Huetck, Collins and Marion Geneski each got two hits.

This ends the official season for the Junior Legion. The next games will come next week at Fullerton. Ord will meet North Loup in the first contest there. If pitcher Hutchins of North Loup is going good and gets proper support, it should be a real battle.

GRAINS

The grain market has been much better this week after the big drop in wheat last week. We were able to get plenty of cars last week and now the room for your Wheat, Rye, Oats and Barley. We follow the Omaha markets as closely as possible and will always pay you the highest price that the Omaha market will justify except when we have special orders that allow us more than the Omaha market then we pass the extra along to you. No long waits at our elevator, we have a capacity to handle your load very fast. If you are not one of our grain customers try us out on a load or two; you will be pleased.

SEEDS

The market for Brome, Crested Wheat, Sweet Clover is pretty well established now and we have been taking in seed for several days. If you have any of these seeds to sell let us buy them. On alfalfa the price is not fully established and we believe that it will be to your advantage not to contract your alfalfa seed crop at this time. Whenever you have alfalfa seed ready to sell let us make you a bid on it. We have been able to buy most of the alfalfa seed that you have grown for the past twenty years and believe that our prices this year will suit you whenever you are ready to sell your seed.

CLEANING GRAIN

We have the equipment and the experience to clean and treat your grain that you are going to sow this fall. Arrange now to have this cleaning done soon. Your seed should be treated for sometime before sowing, and you can arrange now for this treating job just when you want it done. This cleaning and treating pays well on next years crop.

FERTILIZER

Fertilizer is not going to be very plentiful this winter and we advise you to get your fertilizer as soon as you can. Just at present we have a fair supply of superphosphate and Nitrate on hand. Speak for it now.

IRIS ROOTS

We have a few bushels of Iris Roots and as long as they last we will be glad to give them to you. Come in Saturday and get some of the free Iris Roots.

Highway Safety.

Tomorrow, July 28, has been designated as highway safety day during this year's National Farm Safety week, according to C. J. Sanders, Captain of the Nebraska Safety patrol. We are now in the midst of the annual Farm Safety week, being observed July 24 to 30, and a different phase of farm safety is being stressed each day. More stress is being placed on highway safety because of the fact that it is the leading cause of death and injury over the nation. More farmers are killed and injured each year on the county and state highways than in any other way. For this reason special stress is being placed on the causes of these accidents and the means to prevent them.

In the main, the facts stressed are the need of knowing all traffic laws and living up to them at all times. Even this will not prevent all accidents on the highways, but it will prevent a large percent of them. The most sensible advice to any driver is to "Drive as though every driver you meet is crazy."

To stay within the speed limit, slow down for intersections, display the proper hand signals when making turns, avoid parking on the highway, even for a few minutes, avoid rushing to beat a stop light change, these and others that may occur to the driver, will be a great aid toward highway safety.

Other points are to have your car in good condition at all times especially the brakes, lights and steering gear. Remember that it is virtually suicide to drive at high speed on the highway with badly worn tires. A blowout at such times is almost certain to throw the car off the road.

Remember when you take your tractor out on the public highway, you are enjoying a special privilege. You are driving on a highway without a license for your machine. Do not abuse this privilege. Observe all the rules of the road. Give autos every consideration. Keep on your own side and give the proper signals when making a turn.

Horses Popular.

Perhaps you remember last winter when the snow kept piling higher and higher and the family auto couldn't get out of the yard, much less make the trip to town. Being used to going to town when the need dictated, you soon found the supply of groceries running low.

In many cases there was practically nothing left to eat in the house when somebody from the neighborhood finally got to town. It happened once, and it could happen again. A good team of horses at that time could have got to town, as they always did in the "good old days." But there were few horses in the country last winter. On many farms there were no horses at all, not even a saddle pony. The fact that last winter was the worst on record is no guarantee that the next one might not be just as bad, or worse.

This spring and summer far-seeing men have done and are doing what they promised themselves they would do when and if they got a chance. Slowly but surely the horse population on the farms is growing. It is a safe bet that a lot of farmers will go into next winter better prepared for any emergency than they were last winter.

Another safe bet is that farm larders will be stocked with plenty of food for emergencies by the time the first snow arrives. A long series of rather open winters had most people forget what Nebraska can do in the line of disagreeable weather. No family which passed through the strenuous times of last winter will want to take a chance on another like it.

Perhaps what this country needs today is more people depending on themselves and fewer on the other fellow. When we depend on somebody else, we give away a certain amount of our treasured liberty in exchange. If we continue the process long enough, the time will come when we have no liberty left. Must our watchword be: "Give me Liberty, or Give me Security?"

Col. Henry Rasmussen Leads St. Paul Drive

Col. Henry Rasmussen, well-known St. Paul auctioneer, has been chosen to lead the Howard county hospital drive. He was selected by the hospital board because of his success in a number of other ventures of a like nature. The colonel has not yet fully decided what course he will pursue, but several ideas have been advanced, including a Baseball Brownout, a soap box top contest and a puppet show by the Karre sisters of Cotesfield, under the auspices of the American Legion.

++ Something Different ++

What else shall I tell you about our experiences on our western trip? Shall I tell you how much beautiful neon they have in Rawlins, Wyoming? And what lovely tourist camps... motels they now call them.

Shall I tell you about the six young ferrets that curiously halted on our path as we drove toward Ogallala. They were so slim and pretty and golden-colored. Graceful, too, leaping along beside the highway.

Shall I tell about the time I was driving over the Pacific, around one cliff and headland after another? I took the wheel from Gene because he wanted a nap. We had been driving along through the California ranchlands of Hearst fame. (I didn't believe they had REAL ranches and cowhands in California, but I was forced to admit it after that drive and the wonderful rodeo at Salinas.)

Well, no sooner did I take the wheel than the road became adventurous, as I was saying. Wonderful big trees, and booming surf, and steep grades, up, then down, always around. Fog rolled in, and signs read Danger, and Sharp Curve and stuff like that, so my hands were sticking to the wheel, you might say. And all at once there was a mother deer and two young, right before us. Grade or no grade, I halted. My story is that I did not hit them: Gene tells it a little different than I do.

They were all able to walk casually away, after stopping me.

That rodeo at Salinas, now... I didn't want to go very badly, because I claimed I had seen good rodeos at Burwell and so forth. But I must revise my story a little, for it was a super affair. Hot sunny day, blue sky, scenic location, it began and operated perfectly. An attraction or several running constantly from 12:30 on. No interludes. The Port Ord band on parade, handsome. Hoot Gibson in person. Excellent clowns with a cunning little Hugo, their trained monkey. Fourteen chutes, action from one or more constantly. Two of the best announcers I have ever heard.

A parade beforehand. Several hundred blooded horses on display, ridden by their owners, mostly in family groups. You know, all the family galloped alike, with little Junior on the littlest pony. All the horses matched, trained, gaited. I have never seen so many so beautiful horses... it was marvellous. Really, it was THE perfect rodeo.

And I was raised at Alliance and I think I know a good rodeo when I view one!

Or should I tell you about the entirely different rodeo put on at Cody every night during the summer? Yesir, every night. It is the local pride and hobby. Everyone in Cody rides, rodeos, bulldogs, has horses and darned good ones. Including the Clayton Burkes, where we visited... they have three proud, shiny, spirited beauties.

Riding and rodeoing is such a popular hobby at Cody that business men spend their evenings competing in the calf-roping; their boys and girls compete in the races. Informal, friendly, it was great fun to watch these horse-happy people.

This spring the high school boys and girls practiced and staged a rodeo of their own, and a good one, too, they didn't do bad! declared our Wyoming cousin Clayton proudly.

You may remember his wife too, the former Gertrude Stacy? Formerly of Ord. She is walking again, miraculously, after her horse fell on her last September and broke her leg 12 times, including once through both knee and ankle. And, contrarily, with only a very limp when she is tired.

The Burke family are very interesting. Gertrude paints, and does it well. They all ride, of course, especially after lumber-yard hours. Colleen, or Stacy as she is now called, makes jewelry of silver, collects symphony records, carpenter's her room about once a year. You know... moves bookshelves, builds closets, refinishes the knotty pine walls, and so on.

Perhaps I should tell you about some other cousins. Way down south, seven miles past Palm Springs, is Palm Desert, and here Jess Clements Stacy and Lena Clements are most happily and also they own part of and work in a big new printing plant which puts out the Desert Magazine, a budding favorite.

The building is fabulous, built flat, one-story, pale or white cement or stucco, after that cliff-dweller fashion that shows the heavy ends of beams sticking out like teeth in a comb. Inside, the plant is a printer's dream, vast and spacious, with the newest and best in equipment. There is a large art gallery in connection and also a display of many other objects that are, desert inspired.

Nearly is the new duplex where the daughters of the late Judge Clements live, and it is in the same architecture. Every place down there has to be air conditioned, for the temperature thinks nothing of climbing to 110.

The natives don't think anything about it either: they are used to it.

Win Scholarships

Tuesday, July 26, scholarships were awarded to 200 University of Nebraska students for the coming year.

Included are Clarice Fiala, of Ord, a Miller and Paine scholarship, and Robert Marks, Ord, a Regents' scholarship for upper-class students.

Of interest is the fact that the item was sent in to the Quiz by Maxine Wolfe, employed at the university.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Du Sac, Wis., July 12, 1949

Dear Mr. Leggett:

Find enclosed check for the Ord Quiz. We are always glad to read the Quiz to learn what Valley County friends are doing.

We like Wisconsin very much. The climate is lovely. The rain comes when needed and a lot of it. There is scarcely any wind, and the heat did not bother anyone so far. The thermometer read $5 for just two days.

Wisconsin is a state of scenery. The drive from Prairie Du Sac to Barabow (the county seat) is beautiful. Also from Prairie Du Sac to Madison. The rocks and hills and the Wisconsin river with its beautiful little Island, covered with shrubby, etc. And the drive from Chicago to Milwaukee is simply beautiful at times the drive is close enough to see the lake (Michigan). Everything would be O. K. with us if we had our dear children and grandchildren near us.

But no matter where anyone is, something is always lacking. We were interested in your western trip and there they are in need of doctors and hospitals; another great lack.

Speaking of county fairs, the first one in the state is the Valley county fair, which comes Monday to Thursday of next week. After this year the fair will have been held on every conceivable day from August to October. In the old days it was customary to hold the fair from the middle of September on and even including the first part of October. The idea was to give the farmers the chance to collect every kind of crop to exhibit at the fair. The weather was usually good, but sometimes too cool for comfort, but the lunch stands did a nice business.

I started farming on the home place well over fifty years ago, and took samples of crops to the old fairgrounds two or three years. In case you don't remember it, the old site was across the corner northwest of Bussell Park. It must have been there for a long time even then, for I recall that one of the buildings was badly in need of repairs and was taken down through the roof one day and damaged some of the fancy work.

There was a race track out there, an oval with the long way east and west, and one of the chief features of entertainment was the sulky races. Usually there were about four in each race, and they started hub and hub. Sometimes there would be several from Ord, but the idea was to get some horsemen from other towns, who would bring in a large following of sports to the fair, and bet to the limit on repairs and low race. It was great sport for those who liked it, but we kids didn't think much of it.

It is now about fifty years since the old fairgrounds was abandoned, and one would think all traces of it would have been eliminated by now. However, the old race track can still be traced. The Valley County Soil Conservation service has a map of the area taken from the air, in which the outline of the track still shows up almost as plain as it would have from the air in the old days.

Speaking of viewing the fair from the air. Balloon ascensions were another attraction of fairs fifty years ago. They were advertised for the fair in 1896, I believe, and the aeronaut was on the job with his balloon. The first day was windy, and he waited until nearly sundown for the wind to die before attempting to go up. Then he and his helper started the fire that was to furnish the hot air, worked with it until nearly dark, then discovered a rip in the bag which was letting the hot air out as fast as it was being put in. He did get up in the air the next day, but I had to stay at home, and didn't get to see it, except at the distance of 7 miles, which lacked a lot of being interesting.

The Loup Valley Agricultural society was going strong in 1884, now 65 years ago, and there was some kind of an agricultural organization in the late 1870s, and the county commissioners appropriated funds for the county fair about that time. In point of years and accumulated interest, the Valley County fair antedates any other organization in the county, and has attracted the attention of more people through the years.

They still keep coming back to visit the old home town. John Keating was in Ord last week to visit his only remaining blood relative here, Vera Stark. It recalls to mind the days when there were a whole flock of relatives living here, among them the Charley Crownwells, the Corletts, the Keatings, the Daggetts, the Collins's the Starks and the Charley Kings, just to name a few. Of all the group, Vern is the only one still in the county.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

I rather liked the one pulled by the Wolbach Messenger editor when he told about the way the boys are fishing in the creek there. He said they went down to the creek in the heat of the day and the bullheads would be jumping out of the water to keep from getting scalded, and all they had to do was to pick them up. I might add that they were easy to skin, because they were partly scalded and the skin peeled right off. The best way, however, is to use Mexican jumping beans and scatter them along the bank. When the bullhead sees the bean jump, he jumps out after it. He keeps jumping after it and the bean keeps jumping until the fish tires himself completely out. Some fishermen also get good results by using peas.

The other day I was walking down the west side of the street, and I noticed an old fellow (pretty near as old as I am) on the opposite side. It wasn't a windy day, but he had plenty of trouble lighting his pipe. In fact, he tried three matches between the city hall and the First National bank, and apparently got a light with all of them. I crossed over and passed him at the corner of the bank, and he was reaching for another match.

I am not funny, of course, but I know some people who are and one of them is my old friend, Willie Misko. Bill is a good salesman, and he sells a lot of fishing tackle in a year, but he never goes fishing. He sells a lot of luggage, but never has time to go anywhere. He sells and repairs a lot of harness, but he never goes out and works a team on the farm. He sells saddles, but he doesn't ride the range, and he does not belong to the Ord Saddle club. He sells billboards and he never—Aw, Heck! I just knew something would come up to spoil a good gag.

Last week I received a letter addressed to John Ward, General Delivery, North Loup, Neb. As I am supposed to be the only John Ward in North Loup, I figured the letter was for me, so I opened it, only to find that it must have been for some other John Ward. The name is too common, but back in 1913 I went to Fremont to summer school, and while I was there I got two letters, each addressed to John L. Ward. I figured they must be mine, but in both cases they were intended for somebody else, and the two letters were not for the same person, so there must have been three of us in Fremont at one time, all with a temporary address.

North Loup Flower Show Is Thursday

The North Loup fourth annual flower show is to be held tomorrow (Thursday), in the North Loup community hall. The committee in charge of the show hope for a large display of flowers and they have some splendid prizes this year. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Harris of Hastings will be judges again this year, assisted by some one they will bring with them.

For a classification list, consult last week's Quiz and take your flowers to the show. Hot weather and grasshoppers have damaged many flowers the past two weeks but there should still be a large number of entries. Business houses in North Loup decorated their windows last week to advertise the show, and the Vodehal Pharmacy won first prize and the Farmers Store second. The pharmacy window was filled with miniature dolls and doll furniture, arranged as though being displayed in the flower show. The Farmers Store showed a hunting scene, complete with hills, green grass, dogs, birds and Indians, with large jars of gladioli in the background. Mrs. Vera Anderson judged the windows.
