Gamma Phi Beta

Miss America Pageant

If you watched the Miss America Pageant in September, you saw two Gamma Phi Beta beauties who represented the states of North Dakota and Washington.

Years of training in tap dance, ballet, modern dance and drama have earned Jeana Wolf (N. Dakota) lead roles in many plays and musicals. While in college, she has been a dance instructor and a member of Dance Consort and the first place dance group in Flickertail Follies. Her pageant talent was a tap dance routine.

Jeana was membership chairman for her chapter and is a member of Psi Chi psychology honorary. Her ambition is to earn a Ph.D. in psychology and become a respected psychologist. The $1,000 scholarship she received from the pageant will help her achieve that goal.

Voted the most talented member of her high school senior class, Jeana also enjoys viewing old movies, tennis, swimming, bowling and water skiing. The eldest of five children, she is from Rugby, N.D.

Monica Hard (Washington) is an accomplished vocalist who has sung the national anthem at a Seattle Mariners baseball game and a Seattle Supersonics basketball game. She has done radio commercials and interviews, and fashion and photographic modeling. Popular singing was her talent for the pageant.

A University of Washington cheerleader, Monica has cheered at the Japan Bowl, Sun Bowl and Rose Bowl. She was named Delta Chi Calendar Girl of the Year.

She plans to enter the field of television broadcasting, specializing in news, magazine programs and/or sports. Her goal is to preserve and enhance a high standard of television broadcasting. She also received a $1,000 scholarship from the pageant.

Monica's interests are tennis, water and snow skiing, jogging, aerobic dancing, bowling and cooking. She has been a camp counselor and volunteers at a children's hospital. From Bellevue, Wash., and the youngest of four children, Monica enjoys spending time with her six nieces and nephews.

Grand Council 1982-84

Dedication, loyalty, leadership ability and motivation are some of the qualities common to Gamma Phi Beta Grand Council members. Elected by the Phoenix Convention delegates, these women gladly contribute their many talents for the benefit of all sisters.

Grand President

Ann Mullen Bronsing (Indiana St.) brings enthusiasm and much Gamma Phi Beta experience to her new position. She has just completed two terms as Alumnae Vice President and previously served as province alumnae director, president-elect and secretary of the St. Louis Alumnae Chapter, secretary of the Lafayette, Ind. Alumnae Chapter and president of the Evansville, Ind. Alumnae Chapter. Service as alumna advisor to Omicron Chapter at the University of Illinois contributes to her qualifications.

St. Louis alumnae recognized her commitment to Gamma Phi Beta by presenting her with the Love, Labor, Learning, Loyalty Award.

Mrs. Bronsing would like to help extend the many opportunities of Gamma Phi Beta to every member. "It is also my goal to keep our Sorority a source of pride to every Gamma Phi Beta," she said.

Formerly in management with Indiana Bell Telephone, she now works part-time for Pepsi-Cola doing special promotions. In support of daughter Holly's activities, Mrs. Bronsing has been a school and Girl Scout volunteer and now watches Holly, 15, ride in horse shows. Husband Rex is a manufacturer's representative in the building industry.

Alumnae Vice President

A face new to Grand Council is that of Phyllis Donaldson Choat (Nebraska). While serving on the PACE Committee as chairman for alumnae, she wrote a series of articles for THE CRESCENT, earning her the Editor's Award. Omaha alumnae also recognized her fine service to the Sorority by presenting her with the chapter's Hall of Fame Award. Mrs. Choat was president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the group.

She believes that Gamma Phi Beta must be responsive to the needs of alumnae in order for the Sorority to receive their support. The development of a career network as a part of the PACE program and special services for older sisters are two of her goals in this area. "We must provide our membership the services they need which cannot be fulfilled by other organizations," she said.

A former Spanish teacher, Mrs. Choat is active in Junior League and as a Girls Club volunteer. She serves her church as secretary of the women's group, as a member of the Altar Guild and as assistant Sunday school superintendent.

Sewing, cake decorating, needlework and traveling in Spanish speaking countries are her favorite spare time activities. She takes every opportunity to speak Spanish and "would like to see a Crescent Circle established in Guadalajara, Mexico, home of many retired Americans."

Husband Norm is a Spanish teacher and coordinator of foreign language teachers. Their children are Laurie, 8 and Eric, 1.

Collegiate Vice President

Service as a province collegiate director and as scholarship advisor to Theta Chapter at Denver University provide Randall Stevens Guerra (Cal St.-Long Beach) with the experience necessary to pursue her goal of developing a close working relationship with the Sorority's collegiate chapters. She also plans to "help our chapters realize their fullest potential."

Mrs. Guerra was Gamma Phi Beta Executive Secretary-Treasurer previous to her election, and also was vice president of the Denver Alumnae Chapter. A member of the Denver Medical Auxiliary and a room mother, she is the former executive director of a Department of Labor project for migrant farmworkers.

Reading mystery novels and accompanying her physician husband, Frank, when he gives medical lectures are two of her other activities. She also keeps busy with children, Steve, 13, Josh, 6, and Nicholas, 11 months.

Director of Finance

Leona Davis Drouet (S. Methodist) is a former area financial advisor and financial advisor and house corporation board treasurer for Gamma Lambda Chapter, Louisiana State University. She has been president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the Baton Rouge Alumnae Chapter. Other activities have included service as a Girl Scout leader, P.T.A. officer, and vice president of the women's group and Altar Guild member at her church.

Her goals include the distribution of manuals and materials to enable house corporations and chapters to operate more efficiently and the continued expansion of the area financial advisor program to provide assistance to more chapter and house corporation board treasurers. Mrs. Drouet also believes that by "establishing more fiscal responsibility at all levels of Gamma Phi Beta, the Sorority can offer more services."

Several years ago, she joined forces with husband Bob, a structural design engineer, to build a greenhouse in the back yard. Inside and outside plants and a vegetable garden compete with tennis for her attention. She plays recreational, league and interclub tennis and also enjoys decoupage and ceramics. Son Cliff, 25, is a forester in Mississippi, and he and his wife provided the Drouets their first grandchild last year. Daughter Suzanne, 22, is a law student.

Director of Expansion

Karen Wander Kline (Iowa St.) will use her "knowledge of, love for and pride in Gamma Phi Beta" to convey the unique qualities and opportunities offered by the Sorority to potential colony members.

She has served as Grand President, Collegiate Vice President, president of the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation, vice president and secretary of the Omaha Alumnae Chapter and alumna advisor and assistant field representative for Delta Gamma Chapter, University of Nebraska-Omaha. Named Omaha Panhellenic Woman of the Year in 1980, she is listed in Outstanding Young Women of America, Who's Who in America and Who's Who of American Women.

Mrs. Kline was president and secretary of P.E.O., president and ways and means chairman of the Community Club (P.T.A.) and a member of Junior League. She is a former merchandising trainee and enjoys sewing, knitting, needlepoint and reading.

Husband Tom is a Delta Tau Delta and project development director for Northern Natural Gas. Daughter Kim is a sophomore at Iowa State University and a Gamma Phi Beta.

NPC Delegate

Gloria Swanson Nelson (Oklahoma) "promotes the interests and goals of Gamma Phi Beta in all interfraternal contacts." In her third term as National Panhellenic Conference Delegate, Gamma Phi Beta has also benefitted from her service as Director of Finance, area financial advisor, vice president of the Dallas Alumnae Chapter, house corporation board treasurer and financial advisor for Alpha Xi Chapter at Southern Methodist University and house corporation board member for Psi Chapter at the University of Oklahoma. She was also president of the Dallas Alumnae Panhellenic and the Texas State Panhellenic.

Mrs. Nelson said, "I will continue to educate our chapters in the use and implementation of the NPC manual and serve as a resource person to our membership in Panhellenic affairs."

She has been employed for 25 years by Isham P. Nelson and Co., certified public accounting firm, and is active in her church. Her granddaughter and grandson command some of her attention as did the making of embroidered baby quilts for each of them.

Executive Secretary-Treasurer

Also new to Grand Council is Marjory Mills Shupert (Colorado St.), who was appointed to her position and is responsible for the operation of Central Office. Active in the Denver Alumnae Chapter, she has been treasurer, a member of various committees, area recommendations chairman, and has held every office on the Denver Camp Board, including president. She was alumnae coordinator in Central Office for three years and a teaching aide in special education.

"I would like to see Central Office become even more of a support mechanism for our volunteers, many of whom are full-time working professionals," said Mrs. Shupert. "We also need to look for ways to preserve and house our historical records."

Her many years of volunteer experience have included time as a Camp Fire Girls leader and new group organizer, room mother, P.T.A. officer, Sunday school teacher and church youth leader and school library helper.

Husband Tom is an engineer and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha. The couple has three children, Cindy, 23, Linda, 22, and Scott, 20.

Grand Council members welcome ideas, comments and suggestions from their sisters. You will find their addresses listed in the directory on page 38.

50 Years Of Canadian Camping

Described as "a tree that grew from an acorn" by Beth Evans Robertson who has been intimately connected with Camp Sechelt since its founding, Gamma Phi Beta's Canadian camp celebrated its golden anniversary in 1982.

The notion of a second camp (the Denver camp was already in operation) for underprivileged girls was first raised at the 1930 Convention, and delegate Dosh Stafford said the Vancouver chapter "would love to run a camp!"

That was the beginning. A largish house was rented at Boundary Bay about a half mile on the Washington state side into which were packed 20 campers, five counselors, one cook and one "camp mother." The campers, 20 in each of the two-week sessions,

Gamma Phis, and everyone was making afghans like mad, lending stuff and raising money."

School nurses helped choose the children, aged 8 to 12, who were neediest. Many had social as well as physical problems. Children and families were then interviewed by collegians. Beth remembers the underfed and hungry children consuming quantities of bread.

"The camp uniform was hideous! Tasteful double brown outfits of brown bloomers and buff blouses." In addition, it was the custom to have each camper make a cotton print dress to wear home. "It was probably the only new dress the camper would receive that year as it was during the depression, and they were much needed during those hard times." But the Campers model dresses they made in 1936.

slept in a large loft on folding canvas cots "so close together that I remember crawling over sleeping bodies to reach one of my campers," Beth recalls. "Somewhat less room than the 41.5 square feet per person required today."

The five counselors slept in double beds and one cot across the hall. There was a two foot wide stairway to get everything up and down, including people. There wasn't even a knotted rope for a fire escape. All bedding was borrowed from Vancouver alumnae, and the entire furnishings of the camp were transported by car to and from Vancouver in three long huge chests the Gamma Phi Betas had made. Somehow the chests got into people's attics, gouging out plaster on the way.

Beth, who was a counselor in 1935 and 1936 with Molly Hodge who added her reminiscences to Beth's for this article, has remained since the camp's inception as "on site repair person."

"As a matter of fact," Vancouver Camp Board Vice President Janet Arbuckle writes, "Gamma Phi Beta really owes the upkeep of the camp to Beth and her husband Waddy, who take their annual vacation at the camp to do all the repair work. Another writer, Ann Barker of the B.C. Magazine, wrote that Beth's projects have included getting all building of the sea wall and dorm organized, getting contracts for the work out for bid, arranging for a Sechelt company to do the work and getting the materials there.

Beth's reminiscences continue: "The Mother's Club was as active as the counselors and camp mother burned a lot of midnight oil toiling over an old Singer getting them completed on time.

"The school nurses thought we were doing a great job. I shudder to think of the single toilet and minimum of water available, questionable dishwashing by the campers, no trained life guards, spotters, or instructors for swimming. We all went in together and just played," Beth recalls.

1936 campers and counselor built a sand castle.

The house had a concrete badminton court which was used for games like dodgeball and goofy relays. Another part of the daily routine was a set of "physical jerks" that had to be performed every morning before breakfast. In addition, there were almost daily sandcastle competitions that produced "artistic, ingenious and huge" creations. These activities were coupled with picnics in the woods, beach bonfires, marshmallow roasts and singing. Most evenings campers and counselors gathered around the fireplace.

During the past 50 years there was a break of several years during World War II when the hassle at customs was so awful that the camp closed. Campers were sent to church camps, Girl Guide or Brownie camps.

After the war the camp was reopened at the original site. "For some reason the whole camp had to walk across into Canada daily to buy and carry home quarts of milk." During those years Taddy Tindle was director.

In 1948 and 1949 the Vancouver alumnae rented an abandoned resort hotel at Sunset Beach in West Vancouver and Joanne Finning Barker was director. "It was a crazy quilt of a lodge. You walked through one or two bedrooms to get to another bedroom," Beth wrote.

"The dining room floor slanted (in fact all the floors did—in different directions) so that everyone tried to avoid sitting at the low end of the crowded tables because any spilled milk landed in your lap."

Mr. Finning, Joanne's dad, came regularly and collected the soiled laundry, drove it in his Cadillac to a laundry, and then returned it a few days later and picked up a new load. He always claimed that his car had a strange smell forever after.

In 1949 Dosh and Eric Stafford noticed that a piece of property at Sechelt, British Columbia was for sale at a very low price, as specified in the will of the deceased owner, Archbishop de Pencier. He had asked that the land be sold to any charitable organization.

It had a little old farmhouse that became the camp kitchen, bath/laundry, dining room, office and director's bedroom. Again the Mother's Club came to the fore and had window seats built for storage, the kitchen enlarged and part of the beach side porch enclosed. In 1950 the first session was held at this site with three counselors, a director and 20 children. The number of campers was increased to 36 when the big dorm was built.

In addition to the farmhouse, there were two or three very small cabins and a smaller cabin and the present boathouse. For many years this was all the camp had and 20 to 25 mattresses had to be brought into the house each fall and stored—literally piled to the roof in the director's room.

There was an old Model T that came with the property and counselors "had to drive in to pick up ice at the Sechelt wharf that had been delivered by the old Union Steamship Company. The ice was packed in sawdust in sacks."

Other details of the physical structure of the site are that it consists of 480 feet of water on property on the Gulf of Georgia. Surrounded by trees and a large play area, the main lodge is in the center of the property with a large dorm to its right and two smaller dorms further to the right. The farthest cabin was built by the camp board members and their husbands and friends. The Marg Berto dorm is the most modern structure.

Purchases that made camp life easier back in the early 1950s were a huge old wooden electric refrigerator and an old clunker of a wringer washing machine that "stood at the ready beside the bathtub in the tiny bathroom." As any water had to be brought by bucket from across the highway, it was a great day when it was piped from a storage tank. It was an even bigger event when public water was piped past the camp and we could hitch on.

In 1952 Marg Hodgson became director. Her husband, Bill, was the cook. Marg was a physical education teacher who established the present mode of program: camp craft, handicrafts, swimming, rowing, team games, badminton and ping pong. Marg continues her love for Gamma Phi Beta as head of the children's committee for the camp board and she is training three young alumnae to eventually take over for her.

Throughout the entire 50 years the aim of the camp has not changed: to provide lots of loving attention and a family atmosphere rather than be a skills camp.

To Receive
Is To Give

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU for your generous donations to the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation. THANK YOU from all the appreciative members who are furthering their education with scholarships and fellowships. THANK YOU from all the "special" children who are able to attend camp. And, THANK YOU for your support.

The names of members and friends whose donations were received by October 1, 1982 are listed here. Those donating $1,000 or more are listed in the Founders Circle; $100 to $999, Crescent Circle; and less than $100, Carnation Circle.

Camp Sechelt counselors' objectives for the summer were: to provide a positive role model, to provide a chance for the campers to enjoy a holiday by creating a happy environment in an outdoor setting, to promote positive interaction with peers, to increase the camper's self-esteem, to promote good hygiene, good table manners and neatness and to develop leadership skills and group cohesiveness and cooperation.

Alumnae Directory

All alumnae should have received a request for the essential information required to assure complete data in the new alumnae directory tentatively scheduled for release in the summer. We sincerely hope that everyone has replied.

Publication of the directory will be handled by Harris Publishing Company of White Plains, N.Y. This company is the sole authorized agent for the production and marketing of the directory, and assumes all financial obligation, including the compilation, editing, billing and distribution of the volume and will cover its costs through individual book sales to alumnae only. This plan will assure the publication of a professionally compiled volume.

During the next several months alumnae will be contacted by telephone for verification of the information to be printed in the directory. At that time, and at that time only, they will be asked if they wish to purchase a copy. The number of directories printed will be based on the number of advance orders received via the phone calls.

Alumnae who have not returned their questionnaires and are not reached by telephone by the Harris firm will be listed in the directory with the address, if current, provided by alumnae records. If you have not received your questionnaire or you do not wish to appear in the directory, please notify Gamma Phi Beta Central Office in writing.

High Energy And Zest For Life Motivate Patti

By Talie McKenzie
Feature Editor

Patti Wilkinson Garamendi (California) makes time in her busy life to enjoy daughter Marie Elizabeth.

Patti Wilkinson Garamendi (California) is definitely not "lost" even though her name appeared on the Missing Persons Bureau list of Gamma Phi Beta.

Pattis' husband ran in the Democratic primary for governor of California in 1982. Karen Berdahl Ongerth (California) wrote: "I believe Patti and her husband, John, are really going places, and Patti is destined to be one of Gamma Phi Beta's more distinguished alumnae."

And while the race for the governor's mansion was a long shot for the current California Senate majority leader, Patti was beside him all the way, hitting the campaign trail early each morning after dropping her four school age children at school. Baby Marie Elizabeth, 1, stays home with Uncle Ozzie, who lives with the Garamendis and ran the household during the campaign. A seasoned campaigner, Patti was John's manager during his bid for reelection to the state senate two years ago. Marcia Gray, another Gamma Phi Beta, wrote of Patti in The Stockton Record last year: "John said I knew the district better than anyone else—and anyway, I am free."

Campaigning is not the only activity that Patti juggles. In addition to running a large (16 room) home in Walnut Grove, Calif., Patti has recently completed her law degree after eight years of night classes, with the births of two daughters taking precedence over going to class on two occasions. She hopes to do rural legal assistance work as well as continue her long time efforts in world hunger programs. Patti has been a U.S. representative to India to the "international dialogue" for the world hunger program. She also volunteers her time for Special Olympics and serves as president of the Legislative Wives Club.

The interest in world hunger is a natural outgrowth of the Garamendis' experiences as Peace Corps volunteers to Ethiopia after their wedding in 1966. During their two years there they lived in a four room mud hut that was coated with cow dung and contained dirt floors and a tin roof. There was no stove or fireplace, no running water, no electricity. Both Garamendis put their Scout training to work as John built a fireplace for Patti to cook on. She knows of 15 native women who copied John's oven made from a five gallon tin, so for the first time ever they could bake bread in their own homes. Less successful was their attempt to teach the Ethiopians the necessity of boiling water.

Their time in Ethiopia was spent teaching seventh and eighth grades. Some students came from as far away as 60 miles. In addition, John devoted himself to community development as advisor and co-worker, assisting coffee producers in growing and marketing their crop and working to teach villagers the advantages of a water pump. Patti believes her greatest contribution was teaching child care, sanitation and sewing.

Her family catches its breath on weekends at the family ranch in Calaveras County where they live in the barn which has been partially converted to living quarters. There they have had indoor plumbing for only about a year and still have no electricity. The children, Tricia, 13, John Jr., 11, Christina, 8, Autumn, 6, and Marie Elizabeth, 1 are the ranch hands, and Patti cooks on an old wood stove just as she does at the Walnut Grove house.

Set adjacent to the Sacramento River with a pear orchard in the back, the Walnut Grove home is the Garamendis' "dream house" even though they rescued it from neglect and spent six months "camping out" there while renovating it six years ago.

Patti credits her computer brain (rounding up five children from five different locations) and her "support system" for her ability to juggle competently her active life. Her "support system" includes husband John who makes the children's school lunches "so the kids know daddy cares" and her mother, mother-in-law and sisters who "shop for my clothes and manage to fit me, even though I'm 5'10". In addition, Patti considers her children a source of relaxation. She rocks them all, takes them individually on campaign trips, and puts their activities first if there is a conflict with a campaign meeting.

Patti is "a woman of high energy who thrives on the prospect of life lived in high gear."

Restored Colorado Hotel Is Author's Haven For Book Publishing Service

By Talie McKenzie
Feature Editor

Marilyn Markham Ross (San Diego St.) isn't one feature story, she's three. A busy lady, Marilyn is setting up a spiritual self-sufficient community in Saguache, Colo.; has helped her husband, Tom, renovate an old hotel on the property and turned it and its dining room into a going business venture; and she runs a unique publishing service that helps self-publishers.

Paradise Valley Community, located in the San Luis Valley mountains in south central Colorado, will be the culmination of Marilyn and Tom's dream to provide a haven for those who wish to have meaningful work and a natural and self-sufficient place to live with people who share a similar spiritual ideal and lifestyle.

Clean air, pure water, and 320 acres of unspoiled land studded with meadows, wildflowers, woods, mountains, wildlife, two creeks, and springs are only a few of the natural amenities the community will offer. Horses, cattle, chickens, rabbits, and fish will supply some of the animal life, and initial residents of the community will develop wind, hydro and alcohol generated electricity. Year round greenhouses and summer gardens will provide fresh produce.

Marilyn said that the community complex, as presently planned, will include a communal living building that will be home to about 20 people. Kitchen, dining and living areas will be shared. The complex will also include a chapel, office buildings, barns, workshops, sheds and solar greenhouses.

The Saguache Hotel and Restaurant specializes in a friendly "at home" atmosphere. Restoring the 19th century charm involved such do-it-yourself projects for Marilyn and Tom as re-plumbing (including a new boiler), adding a gift shop and reinstating the dining room. Their largest dinner group was the Farm Bureau where a restaurant with a capacity of 85 was stretched to the limits and even expanded in four days to handle 120.

Marilyn and her husband were recently honored by the San Luis Valley Historical Society for their work in restoring the hotel and restaurant. "People are so appreciative when they see the grand lady straightening her shoulders and looking proud again. I've enjoyed the restoration. Each room has a personality of its own. Some even have old time family photographs. We love pampering our guests."

She has found herself wearing more than a few hats including cook, waitress, dishwasher and upstairs maid. As she said: "Strange occupations for a gal who just made Who's Who in American Women!"

Such an honor did not come, we feel sure, from her cooking or maid work, but from her company, About Books, Inc., begun three years ago in La Jolla, Calif. It was an outgrowth of the nationwide writing and self-publishing seminars Marilyn and Tom put on. Authors of the award winning Encyclopedia of Self-Publishing, the

Marilyn Markham Ross
(San Diego St.)

Rosses found themselves barraged with questions about book printing, publicity and distribution.

"To my knowledge, no one in the country functions in the way or to the extent we do," said Marilyn. "We have a staff of seven people, a reference library worth thousands of dollars, and a complete writing, publishing and book promotion service." Not only do they get books into print for people, they act as book publicists setting up author tours, getting clients on TV, radio and in the newspapers, lining up book reviews, and selling serial rights.

Marilyn's own writing has been published in national magazines and trade journals. She has taught "Writing for Profit" at the college level, and has just sold out the hard cover edition of her second award winning book, Creative Loafing. She is a member of the Author's Guild, the National Federation of Press women and the National Speakers Association. In addition to her listing in Who's Who in American Women, Marilyn appears in Contemporary Authors and World Who's Who of Women.

For a city girl who was afraid of horses, Marilyn has come a long way as she concentrates now on the establishment of Paradise Valley Community. As she said, "Each day is a fresh learning experience. I guess that's what I find most fascinating about life. It would be terribly boring to always do the same thing and never tap new potentials within yourself."

New Graduates Inspire Collegians

Collegiate consultants are recent graduates who travel from chapter to chapter helping, advising and inspiring collegians in their assigned regions.

The northeast will be seeing Sue Becker (UCLA). Sue was an economics major who was vice president and assistant treasurer of Alpha Iota Chapter, and assistant rush chairman for Panhellenic. Home is Burlingame, Calif., so Sue will be seeing new country. She enjoys tennis, photography and "having fun," something she will get a lot of this year while serving Gamma Phi Beta.

The collegiate consultant at large this year is Beth Happe (N. Iowa), who will share her expertise gained as vice president and president of Gamma Psi Chapter. She has been a volunteer junior probation officer, and majored in social science and secondary education. A native of Carroll, Iowa, Beth enjoys golf and jogging.

The west will be traveled by Julie Shafer (Oklahoma St.). A native of Tulsa, she was vice president and sectional coordinator of Mortar Board, was listed in Who's Who, was active in Panhellenic and served as chief justice of the judicial board.

Terri Telles (Cal. Poly) has the mid-west for her territory. She majored in graphic design and printing management while serving as chapter recording secretary. Terri received the Fresno Alumnae Scholarship, was on the Dean's and President's Lists, and was selected for Order of Omega. A true Californian from Santa Cruz, she enjoys surfing and swimming. Terri was voted most inspirational member of her chapter and graduated with highest honors.

Barb Hurt (Kearney St.) from Hastings, Neb. will be expansion supervisor for the Sorority. She is helping colonize a new chapter at the University of Georgia. Active on campus as senator and vice president of the student senate, she was also Panhellenic rush chairman, consistently on the Dean's List and a finalist for outstanding senior woman.

Due to unforeseen family circumstances, Erin Oates (Arizona) felt the need to resign her position as collegiate consultant.

Six especially able recent graduates have been appointed by Grand Council to assist collegiate chapters this year while attending school themselves to earn advanced degrees.

Brandy Hibbard (Purdue) is closer to her Ponte Vedre, Fla. home at her assignment, Auburn University, where she is pursuing a masters degree in college teaching and a second degree in business. Her undergraduate pursuits included work with the council of

While serving as a graduate counselor at Oregon State, Mary Meyer (Colorado St.) will be pursuing an M.A. in college student services administration and a minor in business. While a collegian she traveled all over Mexico and 35 of the United States with the musical group "Up With People." A member of Mortar Board, she spent the summer running the freshman orientation program at Colorado State.

Lori Scialabba (Maryland) will at-aging and with alcohol awareness. She was Gamma Phi Beta song chairman and a Junior Panhellenic delegate, and was a distinguished scholar.

Continuing this year at Oregon is Baba May (Arizona St.). She is working toward an M.B.A. in finance. She was a cheerleader, and served her chapter as president, vice president and Panhellenic delegate. She enjoys the Oregon outdoors, skiing, hiking and backpacking.

Choosing Drake University for law school is Beth Melvin (Vanderbilt), a native of Troy, Ohio. At Vanderbilt she was chapter treasurer, served on the standards committee and was a scholarship pin recipient. Swimming, hiking and running fill her spare moments.

tend law school at Memphis State as a graduate counselor. She will be sharing her experience as president of Beta Beta Chapter, where she also was Panhellenic delegate and made the Dean's List five times. Lori was a government major and active in student government and the commuter association. Home is Silver Spring, Md.

A Ph.D. candidate in physiology of exercise is Heidi Yamaguchi (William and Mary), who is in her second year at the University of Maryland. A Kearney, N.J. native, she attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where she earned an M.A. She is assistant judicial director at Maryland, and assistant coach of the women's lacrosse team.

Four generations of the Werder family celebrate the 100th birthday of Henrietta Findeisen Werder (Wisconsin). Family members are son Fred Werder, granddaughter Happy Werder Schaffner (Denver) and great granddaughter Carly Schaffner.

Reminiscences Of 100 Years

By Happy Werder Schaffner
(Denver)

On July 15, 1982, Henrietta Findeisen Werder (Wisconsin) celebrated her 100th birthday. She was also celebrating more than 80 years as a Gamma Phi Beta. As her birthday approached, she took some time to reflect upon her active life as sorority woman, wife, restaurateur, businesswoman, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, with me, her Gamma Phi Beta granddaughter.

Grandmother pledged Gamma Phi Beta in 1901. In 1903 she was delegate to the Denver Convention, where she was impressed by the guest speaker, Lindsey Barbee.

She tells me as a once very shy coed, her sorority experiences definitely helped her overcome much of her bashfulness, taught her to get along with many different people in a variety of situations, gave her many opportunities to help others, and very importantly, provided her the perfect opportunity to meet my grandfather, Sigma Chi Hudson "Happy" Werder. She worked closely with her pledge mother, Nelly Etter, and still keeps in touch with Daisy Sullivan Stott, a

"Times have changed in regards to sorority importance," she said. "When I was in college, if a young lady didn't pledge a sorority, she was shunned. It was definitely the thing to do." She was rushed hard by the Kappas, but never regretted her decision to pledge Gamma Phi Beta. It was the highlight of her college years, she said. She enjoyed the sorority sponsored dances (where the waltz and the two-step were the rage) and the true feeling of sisterhood within the chapter.

After graduation, grandmother traveled in Europe and then taught French and German at the University of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Five years later, grandmother and grandfather were married, and from their first venture in home building they became intensely interested in architecture, especially the then very modern works of Frank Lloyd Wright and his student John S. Van Bergen. Their interest in things unusual took them to Hereford, Wyo., where they literally designed a town which was completed in 1919.

Grandmother's life has been filled with innovation. She always seemed one giant step ahead of the crowd. She was always active as an enterprising businesswoman long before that was in style. My grandparents' creative endeavors led them back and forth across the United States, starting restaurants and leaving the "Werder touch." They operated the Granada Team Room in Miami, started the La Tiendeta Tea Room in Coral Gables and operated the Blue Parrot Inn in Denver. Then came the Blue Parrot Inn in Oak Park, Ill., Le Petit Gourmet in Chicago, and Gourmet Hollywood in California. This restaurant was their son Fredrick's (my father) first involvement in his long career in the restaurant business.

After grandfather died in 1946, she started designing the Shadow Mountain Terrace, a luxury hotel in the then sleepy town of Palm Desert, Calif. She operated it until 1969.

She now lives in Santa Ana, Calif. near her son and his wife. She has three granddaughters and six great grandchildren. She spends lots of time corresponding with dear friends.

She has had a life filled with wonderful adventures, none more meaningful to her than her Gamma Phi Beta involvement.

College Collage

Gamma Phi Betas at Wittenberg have been busy with philanthropy projects. Members helped a senior citizens home prepare a float for a city parade. They also donated blood and food to local organizations, and sent toilet articles to Camp Sechelt.

Delta Rho Chapter at Dickinson has discovered a way to promote Panhellenic spirit and to keep fit. They got together with the Kappa Kappa Gammas for an evening of aerobic dancing. The chapter also delivered pink carnations to area alumnae to show their appreciation. At the senior brunch, seniors were treated to a slide show of events during the past four years.

During rush week at the University of Iowa, Rho Chapter had a Sunshine Committee. The committee performed a skit, taught a new song, held a doughnut and fruit breakfast, and gave out various gifts and awards which helped boost everyone's spirits for a great rush.

Gamma Phi Betas and Beta Theta Pis at the University of North Dakota won first place in the Flickertail Follies, a fund raising event for the child evaluation and treatment program at the Grand Forks Rehabilitation Hospital. Their act, entitled "Gamma Beta Song and Dance Co.," featured dancing and singing to many songs popular over the years such as "String of Pearls" and "In The Mood."

Gamma Phi Betas and Beta Theta Pis at USC also teamed up for a musical skit. They presented a comical view of the Supreme Court and won the sweepstakes award for the second consecutive year—a first in the 26 year history of the event. Proceeds from the performance went to Troy Camp, USC's summer camp for underprivileged children. Other activities for the chapter were a family Christmas party, a mother-daughter fashion show and a father-daughter Sunday brunch.

Iowa State Gamma Phi Betas and Kappa Sigmas showed their Homecoming spirit by making a banner. They also held a philanthropy fund raiser, an overnight teeter-tottering session, with the Alpha Sigma Phis. Alumnae and pledges got acquainted at the annual picnic and the chapter welcomed pledges at the Pink Carnation Banquet.

During Pi Chapter's annual scholarship week, one night is set aside to honor members who have earned straight "A"s. Those University of Nebraska sisters with less than perfect scholastic records came to dinner dressed as their "excuse" for not earning a 4.0 grade point average.

Wichita State members held a garage sale to benefit Camp Sechelt. The sale of articles donated by collegians and their families resulted in a profit of $200. Another fund raiser was a dance held at a local disco, with cover charge fees going to the chapter.

Gamma Phi Betas at Bradley hold an unusual fraternity exchange each year. Members try to outdress each other by seeing who can come up with the strangest looking costume. One trip to the local secondhand store and they're decked out for the evening. The PACE Committee at Bradley organized the Name That Sister game. When asked a question, each team had to decide on a Gamma Phi's name as the answer. The winners received university mugs. Another activity was the chapter in-house overnight. Amidst singing and talking, members made pillows to be sent to Camp Sechelt. The committee also promotes chapter events through signs and skits, and provided an ice cream study break during final exams.

Building and decorating booths and heading the clean up effort earned Syracuse Gamma Phi Betas a trophy for all their energetic work for the campus dance marathon. They also sold hats and chicken at the event and sponsored a Valentine's Day party and a celebrity seesaw.

Oregon State members treated their mothers to a fun weekend on campus. A banquet at the house, a fashion show and a turtle race were highlights for the more than 60 mothers in attendance.

dinner and the Sweetheart Dance. Guests at their scholarship banquet were Nobel Prize winner Professor Herbert Brown and his wife and Dean Emeritus Sleman, a Gamma Phi Beta. A weekend of parties and skits, and a fashion show and brunch honored members' mothers.

Events at California State-Fullerton included a pancake breakfast fund raiser and chapter and officers' retreats. Underclassmen took the seniors to dinner and mothers and daughters attended a musical.

Delta Nu Chapter at SW Missouri State held a fashion show as a fund raiser. Members and pledges modeled clothing from area stores.

Last spring was a busy time for Beta Theta Chapter at San Jose State. Mothers were honored with dinner and flowers and fathers were treated to dinner and bowling. A scholarship dessert, a dinner for professors, an alumnae party and designing and making T-shirts for Camp Sechelt completed the semester's activities.

Rutgers Gamma Phi Betas celebrated their fifth year on campus with an all-Greek open house. On Parent's Day, they held a barbecue and as the fathers cooked, the pledges entertained with skits and songs.

Vickie Watson and Lisa Ford (Kansas St.) dress the part for the chapter's jail break party.

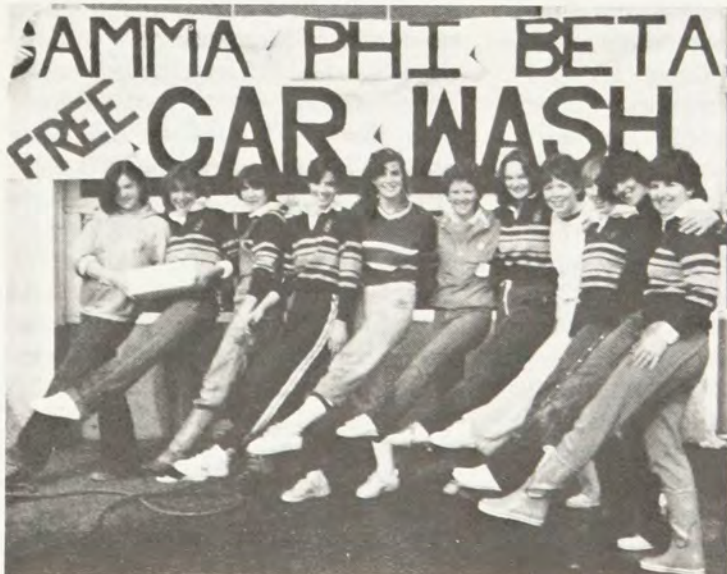

Dressed for sports, Washington State University collegians prepare to greet rushees to Sports Spectacular.

California Polytechnic collegians gather together at the Greek Week awards ceremonies.

University of British Columbia collegians celebrate earning $1,000 by washing cars to benefit Camp Sechelt.

University of California Gamma Phi Betas have an Easter party for 30 children at St. Vincent's Day Home.

Board Game Is 'Discovery'

What began as a motivational tool for her art students to learn about and appreciate the architecture in their own town has grown into a successful business venture and a whole new life for one Indiana Gamma Phi Beta. "Columbus, Ind. is an architectural mecca," according to Marilyn Hanna Brackney (Indiana St.) and has the "greatest concentration of modern buildings designed by contemporary architects of any city in the U.S."

"I had tried various methods to make my students more appreciative of our town, but nothing seemed to work. One day I thought of creating a board game illustrating the architecture, and teaching about the uniqueness of this small town," she said. "I worked on the prototype, rules and final drawings for over a year." Finally, with financial aid from the Chamber of Commerce, "Discover Columbus" was born, and is now used in the schools.

While working on that game, Marilyn and her husband went to Hawaii to visit her brother. Seeing the plans for her Columbus game, he urged her to do one for Hawaii. After two years of research, including several more trips to the island to consult with the Bishop Museum and other sources, "Discover Hawaii" resulted, and is now widely distributed in that state.

Now she plans to do a series of "Discovery" games to be released periodically. Recently she began custom designing games for companies wishing to promote their products or services.

Before becoming an innovative small business woman, Marilyn, a college art major, was a public school teacher for eight years, with time out to rear her two children to school age. Husband Larry is a junior high school science teacher.

"In today's society where connections and money seem to be all important in business dealings, it has been a struggle for our small company to come this far. Changing others' opinions of what a woman can and should do has been difficult, and there have been family problems with which to deal," said Marilyn. "I have learned much about business, as well as myself and others. This is new and fascinating work and I welcome the challenge."

Sister Develops Programs For Handicapped

Betty Jacinto Fairchild (Pacific) has become a national figure in the education of the handicapped, primarily for her development of innovative physical education programs for the visually, orthopedically and acoustically handicapped.

Having taught both high school and college physical education, Betty initiated an adaptive physical education plan for handicapped students in Palo Alto. The U. S. Department of Education took notice and made a film of Betty's program. "Promise of Play" was distributed nationally as a teacher training film.

Betty Jacinto Fairchild

She has co-authored a manual, "Recreational Activities and Games for Handicapped Children," which she says was one of the first resources for teaching adaptive sports and games to the handicapped. She also co-authored a paperback published by the National Easter Seal Society. "Let's Play Games" is a collection of games children with physical handicaps can enjoy.

Fourteen years ago she initiated Games Day for disabled children in Palo Alto. It has grown to include other school districts in the county and the name was changed to Special Games of Santa Clara County. Last year 450 students from 15 schools participated in athletic games and races with 600 volunteers assisting.

During the past 14 years Betty has given many workshops at national and state conventions and has taught special teacher training classes for the handicapped at several California colleges. She has also been a member of the California state committee to revise the physical education guidelines for the handicapped.

Betty's dynamism is not limited to the handicapped. "She's handled almost every office in the Palo Alto Alumnae Chapter," said Kate Clemans Snitjer (Stanford), Palo Alto CRESCENT correspondent. "Her enthusiasm and imagination in arranging our programs has created fun for all of us. You can understand why we want to give financial aid to those children Betty gives so much to. We gave them $150 this year."

Saltwater Originals Created By Designer

Once upon a time an interior design major and a graphics major fell in love, were married, and began a retail needlework business. It was so successful they had to sell it, retaining the wholesale design part of the business.

Together through the years they designed needlepoint, stitchery, and children's fabric items. That, too, was such a success they were able to move from the hustle and bustle of the city to a quiet coastline retreat, where they luxuriate in the generous ocean view, the wildlife and the quiet coast, continuing their designing together.

Sound like a movie script or a fairy tale? It's the real life story of Pat Kendall Terry (Cal. St.-Long Beach) and husband Donald. Together they comprise the highly successful Saltwater Tapestries, a name many Gamma Phi Beta needlepointers may recognize. They design and handpaint canvasses, including an extensive line of Christmas stockings, children's names in various alphabets, and many general items which are marketed across the U.S. They also design on a royalty basis for a major manufacturer, as well as doing custom designs. "We both had decided that we did not want to get into the hassle of breaking into the art world in the 'big city' and that brought about our own design company," recalls Pat.

While tending the burgeoning business together, Pat also found time for Gamma Phi Beta alumnae work. She was pledge advisor for a few years at Long Beach, chapter advisor two different times, and has been generally very active in Long Beach alumnae affairs, serving as vice president and on the house corporation board. Two years ago they moved to Carmel Highlands, and Pat has already become secretary of the Monterey Alumnae Chapter. "My first love is working with the collegians rather than the alumnae, and I dearly miss the opportunity, since there is no chapter here," she says.

"Since we work at home, all of our activities seem to blend together, but we do love exploring the beach with our dogs, remodeling our house, bicycling, sailing and entertaining. We are quite content."

Pat added that the Carmel TranSISter was "absolutely fabulous and I would have been lost without her" when they moved.

Artworks Are Life After 50

"There really is life after 50. You can become what you wish for, if you work for it. Men and women can adopt whole new lifestyles, can start new businesses, simply by diving in and paddling like mad to stay afloat. There is only one other requirement besides a determination to make it work—laugh a lot."

These are some thoughts from Marian Mulligan Sackfield (Kentucky). Marian's second career started five years ago when she offered to help an artist sell some paintings, and has grown into Sackfields Art Consultants, Inc.

Sackfields specializes in working with architectural plans and designer boards to give corporations anything from the right catalog prints to originals in any medium for investment. The same services are available for private buyers.

Knowing the sources for these artworks requires constant research into all the art publications, and attendance at all the big trade shows. And finding the clients keeps Marian delving into business digests as well.

Running the office keeps two daughters and her husband, Frederick, hopping. The family is large enough to shoulder the staffing burden: there are three daughters and two sons. Daughters Mary Sackfield Porter and Catherine Sackfield Salisbery are both Gamma Phi Betas from Kentucky. Daughter Joan and son Tom are in college, and son John lives in Louisville.

"The work is challenging, but it's double rewarding. There is no time to ponder 50," she says. "And being a businesswoman sure beats clinging to the edges of an empty nest.

Beatrice Hill Wittenberg, who served Gamma Phi Beta as Grand President from 1960 to 1964, died in September in California.

Mrs. Wittenberg was initiated into Mu Chapter at Stanford in 1923. She was corresponding secretary, treasurer and president of the Pasadena Alumnae Chapter and alumna advisor and house corporation board member for Beta Alpha Chapter. Appointed Province Alumnae Director in 1957, she served as Alumnae Vice President from 1958 to 1960 and as NPC Delegate from 1964 to 1968.

Mrs. Wittenberg's name is listed on the Sorority's Honor Roll "for 13 continuous years as an international officer, serving with great distinction as Grand president and NPC Delegate to become one of the best known and most respected members of the fraternity world during a time when the forces opposing the Greek system were the most challenging." Her name is also listed on the Service Roll.

Gamma Phi Beta Sorority is urging its members to make memorial gifts to the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation in memory of a lost "sister" or other loved one. Contributions, which are U.S.A. tax deductible, will be used to support the Sorority's philanthropies—camping for special children and financial aid to women students. The latter takes the form of scholarships, fellowships and grants-in-aid.

Members of the remembered one's family will be notified of your gift with a special card mailed from Central Office. Contributions should be made payable to the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation, 7503 Marin Drive, Englewood, CO 80111, and designated as a memorial to (John Doe) on the face of the check.

Help deserving young women while remembering someone you loved.

Active Alumnae

Peoria alumnae honored the Bradley graduating seniors at the May Breakfast. The annual event welcomes collegians to the alumnae chapter.

Kansas City alumnae reported 363 dues paying members last year. An additional $3,000 profit from their Antique and Arts Show enabled them to give funds to seven diverse children's groups in the area. Total profit from the annual fund raising affair was $13,636.35.

Memphis alumnae held a party to which admission was a white elephant to sell at a garage sale. They also held potluck suppers and a program on investments, and redecorated the collegiate chapter's suite.

University of Minnesota women's intercollegiate athletics was the recipient of $4,000 from the Minneapolis-St. Paul alumnae. The funds were the result of their annual Sportsmania which featured a silent auction and spring fashion show with celebrity and sports figures as models.

Philadelphia North Suburban alumnae had an "Hysterical Historical" slide show narrated by Joanne Sallee Kernitz (Wittenberg). Fund raisers included a garage sale, the purchase of magazines through Gamma Phi Beta, the purchase of greeting cards, paper and miscellaneous items through the chapter, and seasonal sales of nuts and plants. The chapter handles a plant sale booth each year for the benefit of Abington Memorial Hospital at its June Fete. Other funds go to send children of abused wives to summer camp. Social events were a Super Bowl party and a barbeque.

Spokane, reflecting new patterns in women's lives, now has Saturday luncheons for all their meetings, including Founders Day. Invitations to members written in humorous verse requesting donations to "bakeless sales" or to "stitchless bazaars" have proved to be effective philanthropy fund raisers. A plaque to be engraved annually with the name of the outstanding junior at the University of Idaho was presented to that chapter in memory of Mary Belle Meldrum Shields.

Virginia Lippert, Melba Spurrier, Linda Clark and Linda Baker display the awards won by Stillwater alumnae and Oklahoma State University collegians at the Phoenix Convention.

A Christmas auction, luncheon raffle and Christmas wreath sales are philanthropic fund raisers for Milwaukee alumnae. Helping the collegians at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee is another favorite activity, along with luncheons, a box lunch picnic and a couples tennis party, the "First Annual Gamma Phi Tennis Open."

Activities of the Philadelphia West Suburban alumnae included the annual dinner and Christmas ornament exchange, a couples progressive dinner and a needlepoint party. Popular programs are the Lunch Bunch and the bridge tournament.

Stillwater, Okla. alumnae treated Beta Psi pledges to a salad supper and get acquainted party.

It was a wonderful weekend of reminiscing for the nearly 150 members and guests who attended the 50th anniversary of the founding of Alpha Upsilon Chapter. The celebration began with a reception hosted by Penn State collegians on Friday evening and continued with a football game and banquet on Saturday. Charter members Sarah Ferree Nupp, Ruth Stover Weiler and Viola Van Noy Zook were in attendance. Thelma Ebert Green traveled the farthest to attend the reunion, coming from California.

be given to a member of Delta Upsilon Chapter at Texas Wesleyan. The award is based on scholastic record and participation and enthusiasm as a chapter member, and was given to Joy Hall. The chapter's meetings this year will include a variety of programs based on the theme "Gamma Phi Friendships."

Chicago alumnae have a favorite meeting in their Christmas auction. Everyone bakes or makes several items for auction, with proceeds going to help defray expenses of sending a delegate to Convention. They expanded their knowledge during the year with programs and guest speakers on women in the ministry, the real estate market and personalized skin care and treatment. An annual plant sale is a "blooming" success and the proceeds are donated to Camp Sechelt and local Girl Scouts.

Just up the road, the Evanston-North Shore alumnae were busy with their 26th annual sale of Christmas greens to benefit Camp Sechelt and special education classes at New Trier and Evanston High Schools. The group's other activities included a white elephant sale and a program by Diane Fawcett Korling (Northwestern), professor of landscape planning.

Fund raising and charity work serve as the focus for sisters of all ages in Fort Lauderdale. They enjoy a Christmas cookie bake and a garage sale to benefit province collegiate chapters. One of their own, Mary Jo Miller, was in charge of the Alumnae Panhellenic style show, and they met one evening to help with March of Dimes publicity.

Indianapolis alumnae are active in many directions, giving extra support to the collegiate chapter at the University of Indiana, helping with the Alumnae Panhellenic Wrap for Charity effort at a local mall and hosting a state day in the fall.

La Jolla alumnae are so proud of Eva Cunningham Ritchie's (San Diego St.) 20 year involvement with the San Diego Alumnae Panhellenic, they presented her with a plaque to commemorate her retirement from that group. It was designed and made by Nancy Hall Pawka (San Diego St.) and presented by Sally Whitton Spiess (Oregon), president of the chapter.

A very active Lincoln Alumnae Chapter had a wide variety of activities from a mother/daughter style show to screening of a Japanese film to jazzercise. Their 12th annual Art Alley and Pi Chapter took a good share of their time and love, too. This year's fashion show featured fashions from Joy and Company, owned by Virginia Wells (Nebraska). Santa appeared for the children's party and in June they had a couples Mexican party.

The Houston Alumnae Chapter has grown so busy, large and spread out that it has a day group, a night group, a bridge group and, now, a North Harris County group. An October coffee featured a guest who spoke about his experiences flying the Himalayas during World War II. Last spring's fund raiser was a coffee and book review of Peg Bracken's Window Over the Sink. This fall the group welcomed 104 Gamma Phi's new to the chapter.

ing up their reputation as champions at collegiate-alumnae relations. The chapter is especially proud to have received that award at Convention as it had been one of their goals.

Beta Tau Chapter at Texas Tech is the focus of the Lubbock alumnae. They particularly enjoyed preparing food and serving as hostesses during rush, and culminating rush week with a supper for members and pledges. Other events with the collegians are a scholarship banquet and a senior brunch. A garage sale helps with needed funds.

Orange County alumnae are proud of their Convention awards for CRESCENT reporting and collegiate-alumnae relations and plan to continue their pace and their involvement with Delta Delta Chapter. Seven alumnae attended Convention.

Omaha alumnae gave $770 to spina bifida from their annual Garden Party proceeds. The amount was matched by the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation to send children afflicted with spina bifida to camp.

Lots of enthusiasm and attendance sparked the year for Riverside, Calif. alumnae as they participated in a birthday dinner with Delta Lambda Chapter and purchased materials and made tablecloths and initiation gowns for the chapter. A progressive dinner with husbands was a highlight.

Many of the Nashville functions will focus on the chapter at Vanderbilt, as they provide dessert for upperclass rush bid day and hostess a pledge/big sister study break. Their major fund raiser is their annual Mistletoe Mart.

A gourmet French luncheon and a speaker from the League of Women Voters kicked off the year for San Francisco alumnae. A garage sale and a program by the Museum of Modern Art were other fall activities. Computers, arts, a fashion artist and a program focusing on career challenges and local networking are future programs sure to lure busy area alumnae.

St. Louis alumnae held a reception for Grand President Ann Mullen Bronsing (Indiana St.). Joining area alumnae were St. Louis Alumnae Panhellenic officers, representatives from Washington University and St. Louis University, and collegians from both schools, members of Phi and Gamma Tau Chapters. Two out of nine collegiate scholarship recipients at the Panhellenic spring luncheon were Gamma Phi Betas Debbie Schwab (SW Missouri

Sherry Crow Adams (Nebraska) and daughter Michaela model at the Lincoln Alumnae Chapter fashion show.

St.) and Wendy Jurkiewicz (Missouri).

What fraternity invited Beta Lambda Chapter to a 50's party in the fall of 1972? Where was the initiation banquet held for the pledge class of spring 1974? These were two of the many questions on the trivia test posed to 40 San Diego State alumnae who attended a reunion at the chapter house. Other activities included an awards presentation recognizing sisters who had the greatest number of legacies, traveled the farthest to attend, and other achievements.

Gamma Phi Beta Bookshelf

Sonya's Mommy Works Simon and Schuster $7.95

Blythe Egan (Northwestern) and her daughter, Sonya, are the subjects of a new children's book, Sonya's Mommy Works. Written and photographed by photojournalist Arlene Alda, it is a child's account of what it's like to have a mother return to work full-time.

Sonya was photographed in various situations ranging from early morning routines to after school activities over a period of five months. "Sonya likes to change her clothes several times in the course of an afternoon, and it took a lot of cajoling to get her back into the original outfit for the sequence I was shooting," Arlene said.

Blythe is an account executive in the Los Angeles office of the public relations firm of Manning, Selvage and Lee. While Sonya was an infant, Blythe worked part-time as a freelance writer and published articles on a wide variety of topics. Before that she worked at Metromedia as a research and production assistant on documentary movies and television series. "I had always planned on returning to work full-time when Sonya was old enough, and was thrilled to go to work for the firm," Blythe said. "When Arlene first told me her concept for a book from a child's point of view about a mother returning to work, I knew immediately how valuable it would be. There really has been very little written directly for the child. Arlene captures the true feelings of a child and presents them totally without judgement."

Arlene Alda is an award winning photographer whose pictures have appeared in, among others, People, Vogue and Good Housekeeping. She has had gallery shows in New York and New Jersey and divides her time between California and New Jersey where she lives with her husband, actor/writer/director Alan Alda.

All The World Is Kin Naturegraph $11.95; $6.95

All The World Is Kin is the creation of two Gamma Phi Betas—Bernice Espy Hicks (Denver), the author, and daughter Laney Hicks (Denver), the artist.

The biographies which constitute the book's contents begin when the author was four years old, and feature, to name a few, Chub, an aging draft horse; Liebnitz, a turtle; and Wigga, a pigeon. It is a book of everyday living whose pages contain the usual quota of drama, heroism, humor and tragedy. It is also an expression of the author's philosophy.

"My close to 70 years of loving and living with animals have both deepened and widened my exhilarating sense of belonging to a larger universe," said Bernice. "They have taught me how precious is simple, spontaneous joy . . . the quiet dignity of unpretentious honesty. They operate in the confidence that they are born to be themselves, not to seem otherwise than they are."

Bernice was initiated in 1931, and became a second generation graduate of the University of Denver. She participated in many campus activities, including Mortar Board, and served for many years in many capacities in civic and humanitarian organizations in Colorado.

In 1960, Laney became a second generation initiate of Theta Chapter, and later a third generation graduate. She earned a B.F.A., and for several years did scientific illustrations which have appeared in many textbooks. Her home is in Wyoming, where she specializes in ranch life, wildlife and landscapes in the media of oil, acrylic, collage and water color. Her loving and insightful portraits of the animals featured in her mother's book as well as the cover illustrations are considered "top notch" by the publishers.

The Cooking School Murders E. P. Dutton $11.50

Virginia Garberson Rich (Iowa St.) has a success in her first mystery novel, The Cooking School Murders. Published in June, it was into a second printing in September and will be the Mystery Guild's February featured alternate. Five publishers bid for the paperback rights.

The novel is the first of a series which combines murder and food, and its setting is a fictional small town in northwestern Iowa, where everyone knows everyone else's foibles and failings. The next, The Baked Bean Supper Murders, is set in Down East Maine, with emphasis on the baked bean and casserole suppers which are one of the chief means of community fund raising there.

Number three is about a coterie of rich widows on the island of Nantucket, where the Riches used to spend part of each year before transferring their allegiance to Maine, and about trying to bake Portuguese bread, which is a Nantucket specialty. A later book in the series, which contains a spectacular collection of chili recipes, is set on an Arizona dude ranch.

Although mystery fiction is new to Virginia, she is an experienced writer. At Iowa State University, where she majored in journalism and served as Omega Chapter president for two years, she wrote her first regular foods column for the college newspaper.

"This was the campus job I was most proud of," she said. "In depression times, a number of men students lived off-campus and tried to save money by cooking their own meals. My column, 'Men Must Eat,' was intended to offer them help. I'm not at all sure that it did."

From the university, Virginia went directly to The Chicago Tribune, where she wrote a daily food column under the name of Mary Meade. Two years later, by then married and living in San Francisco, she became food editor of Sunset magazine.

The years of newspaper and magazine writing are far behind her now. She lives on a working cattle ranch in Arizona and her husband, a corporate executive in New York City, commutes regularly cross country, as he does to Maine during the part of the year when they live there.

Fortune's Fugitive Playboy Press $1.95

Linda Crockett Gray (Florida St.) has a story to tell of how a woman can combine family and career. The story within the story, however, is Fortune's Fugitive, an historical romance that she wrote in an "effort to move back to Florida and make up for loss of income so I wouldn't have to teach while the children were little."

Linda said that "the popularity of historical romances in the past decade has been astounding. The history in these novels is generally poor and inaccurate . . . with aristocrats being mistaken for trollops and famous people portrayed fleetingly and superficially."

Linda figured she could do better. Picking the year 1761 to avoid the well known French revolution, she researched the book for three months with the aid of her husband, Daniel, who teaches European history for Troy State University on the Dothan/Fort Ricker campuses. Not only does she credit him as a "super researcher," but he is her typist.

She spent an additional three months writing the book which she sent off to Playboy Press when she learned that the firm was looking for novels about women by women. They promptly bought the book and published it without revisions, which Linda says is unheard of. As is the fact that a large publishing firm accepts a novel from an "unknown."

Linda feels that her book differs from the basic romance written today, because "relationships between men and women are more intelligent, mature, less emotional. My men don't act or think like adolescents. They make an honest effort to work out a decent relationship."

It is particularly important to realize that she has been a full time mother with three children, housewife and part-time college teacher. But she does have the added boon of her husband's teaching hours—a night schedule has given him the "unique opportunity of diapering, mealtime fun and playtime with the children." It has also given them the opportunity to share housekeeping, child rearing and their writing.

VIRGINIA HILL THAYER DICK (Kansas), a resident of Madison, Wisc., who is initiate number 33 of Sigma Chapter, has given $5,000 to the University of Kansas Endowment Association. Under terms of the gift, the Sigma Chapter Corporation Board will select a scholarship recipient annually based on need, scholarship, character, cooperation and service to the Sorority.

Former Grand President KAREN WANDER KLINE (Iowa St.) was the speaker at the Stillwater, Okla. Panhellenic luncheon last spring. She was treated to a reception at the Oklahoma State chapter house hosted by Beta Psi collegians and area alumnae. Gamma Phi Betas from the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma City University also attended the event. Local alumnae had an opportunity to visit informally with Mrs. Kline at two dinner parties. VIRGINIA LIPPERT (Oklahoma St.) served as chairman of the Gamma Phi Beta Festivities.

JANE ARMSTRONG HARPER, Ph.D. (E. Texas St.), chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages at Tarrant County Junior College, has been named French Teacher of the Year by the Texas Foreign Language Association. She administers the foreign language program for about 900 students and directs a preparatory program for children ages four through 12. Her program was the only foreign language department at a two-year college selected as a model undergraduate program in a survey funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities in 1978.

More than 100 people attended the senior piano recital of MARY PRZYPYSZNY at William and Mary. LAUREL HENRY KENNEDY (Missouri) was awarded the M.B.A. degree with honors from the University of Chicago. Her honors research project was a study of comparative male/female performance in industrial sales. Laurel is manager of marketing services for Mark Controls Reconditioning where she is responsible for strategic planning, new product development, distribution channel management and marketing communications.

CRESCENT Editor KRIS BRANDT RISKE (Wyoming) recently was named secretary of the National Panhellenic Editors' Conference. The group's meetings are held biennially at the same time and place as the National Panhellenic Conference.

HELEN CARR WEIDIG (Syracuse) donated her own Gamma Phi Beta badge and that of her late sister, Alice Carr (Goucher), to the Sorority to be used as presidents' badges for new chapters. Mrs. Weidig lives in a retirement home where she plays the piano for residents each evening before dinner.

For the second year in a row, a Bradley University Gamma Phi Beta has been named Homecoming Queen. JULIE ESSMAN received her crown from last year's winner, SUSAN JOHNSON.

ANN SEVERANCE JOHNSON (San Jose St.) was awarded the Pink Carnation Alumnae Service Award by the San Jose Alumnae Chapter. She served as Beta Theta House Corporation president and was instrumental in establishing the chapter house in San Fernando. Ann has also been active in Panhellenic and community activities.

RUTH ANDREA SEELER, M.D. (Vermont) is president of the Hemophilia Foundation of Illinois. She is an active member of the Chicago Alumnae Chapter.

Beta Beta Chapter at the UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND took second place in Greek Week softball, intramural softball and sorority intramurals. They were ranked eighth out of 80 women's intramural teams at the university.

At the University of Wisconsin, JULIE SOCKS is Panhellenic scholastic coordinator. She has organized a chapter of Order of Omega and is chairman of two all-Greek banquets. ROSEANNE PALMI-SANO is the first woman to be selected as the university's official

Three Boise State Gamma Phi Betas recently have been European exchange students. LISA CRISMAN spent a semester in London, VAL DWORAK went to Paris and LORI MANN studied in West Germany. They all lived with local families, traveled on weekends and excelled in their classes.

At Southwestern Oklahoma State MACHEL JOHNSON is Tau Kappa Epsilon Sweetheart and NADALINE ROACH is Phi Delta Theta Sweetheart.

MARY LUCAS CHRISTENSEN, Ph.D. (Iowa) is the author of the new textbook Microbiology for Nursing and Allied Health Students. The book has been written as an easy to read, easy to understand text for a subject students often find difficult to learn and features a chapter on helpful study hints. Mary's first book, Basic Laboratory Procedures in Diagnostic Virology was published in 1977. She is an assistant professor of pathology and pediatrics at Northwestern University Medical School in Chicago and Director of Virology at The Children's Memorial Hospital.

KATHY KILLEEN (Dickinson) is the winner of a Price Waterhouse scholarship and enrolled in the M.B.A. program at Rutgers. Her achievement assures her of a position upon graduation as a staff auditor with the company. The pay-

The Glendale, Calif. Alumnae Chapter is especially proud of two 50 year members, EDNA FARMER GRUBB (UCLA) and KAY SHELDON EDWARDS (Oregon St.). Mrs. Grubb recently served the chapter as recording secretary and Panhellenic delegate, and was a member of the Beta Alpha House Corporation Board for eight years. She enjoys traveling and has a Gamma Phi Beta daughter, Melinda Grubb Prentice (USC). Mrs. Edwards was a school teacher and counselor for many years and has a collection of 1,500 elephants, most of which were given to her by former students. She and her husband

Gamma Phi Betas who are also members of P.E.O. will be interested to know that the newest member of the International Chapter Executive Board is MARY LOUISE REYNOLDS REMY (Iowa). She was elected and installed as recording secretary of International Chapter at last fall's international convention. A past president of the California State Chapter, Mary Louise has been a P.E.O. for 33 years. During that time, she has spent 14 years as executive secretary to the California State Chapter, before spending six years on the state executive board, moving through the ranks to the presidency. She was initiated into Chapter E, Los Angeles, where three generations of her family have had their membership, and where Mary Louise served three terms as president. She has also been a leader in the Presbyterian Church, Women's Club, PTA, Girl Scouts and Little League.

has been named a merchandising specialist by Gulliford Sales Co. In addition to merchandising, her responsibilities will include administration and sales to retail stores in Minnesota and Wisconsin. She had previously worked for Johnson and Johnson and Cola-Cola, where she was named 1981 Rookie of the Year. She has been a member of the house corporation board at the University of Minnesota, and was also involved with the Chicago Northwest and Indianapolis Alumnae Chapters. Susan is a member of the Junior League of Minneapolis.

Memphis alumnae wish to brag about a few of their number: CAROL DARR was recently named one of three outstanding graduates by Memphis State University. Carol started her law career in Nashville as an apprentice in the state legislature. She then went to Washington, D.C. to serve on the Federal Election Commission, later becoming assistant counsel to the committee on rules and administration of the U.S. Senate, and serving as deputy counsel to the Carter/Mondale Presidential Committee. She is now counsel to the Democratic National Committee. Only two women have been honored in this manner by Memphis State. The other is Gamma Phi Beta TINA SANTI FLAHERTY, Colgate-Palmolive vice president.

Other outstanding Memphis alumnae include PAULA JANIS DEAN, personnel manager at Macy's in New York and DIANE PUGH, owner of her own equestrian shop in Nashville. DERITA COLEMAN WILLIAMS has been accepted to the University of Delaware's Institute for Extensive Study of American Decorative Arts at the Winterthur Museum, the Henry Dupont estate at Wilmington. She is also to be a field representative for the Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts at Winston-Salem, N.C., and will document middle Tennessee's decorative arts prior to 1820.

ornia) who is a perpetual student in metal sculpturing. Glenn has at least one show each year and is also active in literature, music and poetry groups. Her enameled copper jewelry is a coveted contribution to many Memphis alumnae fundraisers.

WINIFRED M. LYDAY (Northwestern) has been appointed assistant director of the administrative office of the Illinois courts. One of her primary responsibilities in this position will be to supervise the development of a statewide information system for the unified Illinois courts.

MABEL EDGE has seen much sorority history at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville. She pledged the Athenaeum Society at the university in 1926, then saw the name changed to Alpha Theta Chi in 1956 and finally became an alumna initiate in 1969 when Gamma Omega Chapter was chartered. Collegians presented her with a plaque for outstanding service as a tribute for her years as alumna advisor. Mrs. Edge is also active in Eastern Star and P.E.O.

LINDA WILLIAMSON BRAMBLETT (Vanderbilt) is national alumni president for Middle Tennessee State University. She is vice president of Peoples National Bank, Shelbyville, Tenn., and as a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Bank Women, represents the Southeastern Region.

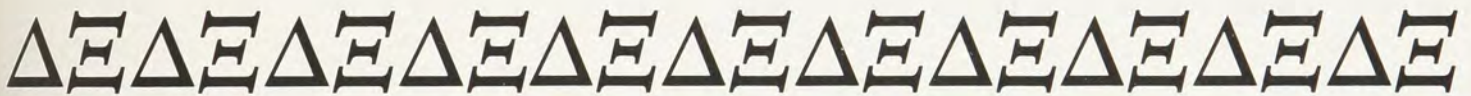

At Dickinson, ANN ADAMS and DANA FLOCK have recently completed internships. Ann worked with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and Dana worked with the Philadelphia family court. LAURA SYNDER is a relief counselor with the United Methodist home, where she develops youth programs. ANDREA PAOLLELLA works with special securities issues at First Boston, an investment bank in New York.

Rho Chapter at the UNIVERSITY OF IOWA has four sets of sisters: Ellen and Sarah Strassburg, Mary and Julie Wahlig, Sharon and Paula Lisac, and Kristen and Lisa Tvedt.

Congratulations to Delta Xi Chapter at Bucknell University for their recent international Scholastic Excellence Award. The award is presented to those chapters maintaining a 3.0 or better grade point average each semester or quarter during a biennium. Their award was inadvertently omitted at the presentation at the Phoenix Convention.

The chapter earned a 3.15 grade point average during the 1980-82 biennium, and has maintained a 3.0 or better grade point average each semester since their 1978 installation.

An Opportunity

The National Panhellenic Editors Conference has developed a three part public relations program to be used at Panhellenic rushee orientation sessions and other events. A slide show, poster and pamphlet make up the package with emphasizes the benefits of the Greek World.

The slide show has instructions on how to personalize it for your area and includes carousel, cassette tape and script. It sells for $95.00.

The full color poster, pictured at right, is $4.00 or three mailed to the same address for $10.75. All badges displayed are those of National Panhellenic Conference sororities.

Produced to complement the slide show, pamphlets are sold in packages of 100 for $12.50.

All items may be ordered from NPEC, Box 2079, Columbus, OH 43216. Prices include postage and handling.
