rector of public information Lou Sugo said, "but we certainly encourage the effort." He added that Mack was "frequently impassable" during heavy times on the business strip.

"We would prefer the removal of all the parking from major streets but we wouldn't press it," Sugo continued. "We understand there are businesses that have to have parking to make it. We wouldn't be averse to it (removal of parking), but I don't think we would initiate it. The local government is the group that would. We'd certainly encourage it, but we wouldn't push it."

The only mention the Road Commission ever made about removing parking on the street, according to Sugo, came in a letter dated March 11 from the commission to Woods Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara. The letter from William Walker, chief engineer of the Design Division, discussed the city's plans to erect an entrance sign at the north city limits and constrict the west side of Mack by moving a curb seven feet into the roadway.

The commission approved the sign but killed the curb moving, which the city said would "encourage a sense of arrival and add more space" because "a constriction to 25 feet would create a possible bottleneck if a stalled vehicle, piled snow or back-up from the bank operation restricted the right lane southbound," the commission wrote.

"Traffic counts show Mack to be carrying 30,000 vehicles a day," the letter continued. "The existing operating laneage of two in each direction with two-way median cross-overs is at a capacity flow condition. The city and the Road Commission should begin a study to remove the on-street parking to achieve three lanes in each direction."

"We have not initiated any study," Walker said. "They wanted to reduce the number of lanes in use by narrowing the open lanes from three to two. If we move in any direction it should be to reduce parking and increase the roadway. We have not followed up on this."

"We would encourage this, but I was not aware the city was doing this," Walker said. "It's the coming thing."

THE CITY LAST June sent to the committee-of-the-whole a proposal that the city negotiate either a turn-back agreement for Mack to give the city jurisdiction over the road, or a contract to insure winter and summer maintenance. The proposal is still being discussed by the committee, city officials said.

The city makes money on its parking meters, City Comptroller Assessor Frederick Hornfisher said. The money is put into a parking meter fund and maintenance expenses for lots, meters and salaries for workers are paid from it. All surplus is put into a reserve fund which the city can use to improve the lots and acquire new property, he added.

In the last fiscal year, Hornfisher said the city made $60,000 on parking, but had to spend $90,000 from the reserve to cover the parking meter fund expenses. Fiscal 1981-82 was a year the city made a number of improvements to the lots, he added.

"We make money on a parking," Hornfisher said, and use it by improving the parking and increasing the number of lots."

Video TV course at Assumption

High school and college students have the opportunity to learn about television production during a six-week course called "You're On The Air" beginning Oct. 6. The class, offered through the Assumption Cultural Center in St. Clair Shores, will meet on Wednesdays from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Working with certified instructors from Michigan Educational Television (MET), a non-profit organization, students learn what goes on behind and in front of the camera. They direct, write, edit, announce and video tape their own programs for local cable television.

Through the class, MET provides its students with a step-by-step understanding of the production of a television program. It also gives participants the opportunity to learn about their own community while video taping programs designed especially for their local cable area, according to MET.

The programs, called First Edition, air on Cox Cable, Channel 24. Each one has a news magazine format focusing on the St. Clair Shores community. Features include information from local merchants, city hall and community issues, school events and civic, cultural and club activities.

Instructors for "You're On The Air" are Rose Kurzyniec, Joel Vicary and Jon Robert Toll. The course fee is $30.

For further information, call the Assumption Cultural Center at 779-6111.

The city wouldn't lose general fund revenues, or those needed to fund government operations, by the removal of parking from Mack, Hornfisher said. He added because money was collected from both the municipal lots and parking meters in the same container, there was no way to determine whether the municipal lots were more profitable to operate.

Residents feared the city would use the rezoning to force homeowners out. Commissioners said the lots, although rezoned, could remain one-family residential for as long as the houses were sold to people planning to use them as one-family residences.

Parking lots would begin appearing when residents sold to strip businesses whose purpose was to put up a lot, they said. The businesses would still have to meet all zoning requirements for the lots, commissioners added, noting one condition of the ordinance would be to maintain the surrounding neighborhood.

Businesses would not be allowed to buy the middle of three rezoned homes and convert it into a parking lot, sealing off one resident from the rest of the neighborhood, Fraley said. The Planning Commission would not consider or approve such a request, he added.

A motion by commissioner John Kennedy and supported by Joseph Parthum made to recommend the rezoning but have the council vote on the changes on a case by case method was rejected by the other seven commissioners.

"We would be completely evading the problem," commissioner Peter Gilezan said. "We would be running away from the problem and dumping it in the lap of the council."

Youth shot by Farms policeman

angled their patrol car in to block the Buick's exit. Leaving their vehicle and identifying themselves as police, the two men walked toward the Buick only to see it suddenly accelerate towards them.

Officer Reichling dove back into his car, injuring his right foot as the Buick crashed into his vehicle, according to reports. Officer Pilon fired one shot at the car door, striking the 15-year-old driver in the upper left leg. As the car sped away, Reichling fired three shots, striking the auto in the trunk.

Calling for backup units, Reichling took off in pursuit of the fleeing vehicle, while Pt. Pilon searched the immediate area for the reported second thief.

A second youth, also 15-years-old, was found lying down on the front seat of a 1978 Buick parked on Maison Road, with its engine running. He was arrested without incident.

A check of the vehicle confirmed it had been stolen recently from Detroit.

With Officer Reichling in pursuit, the fleeing vehicle went out of control at Piche and Moross Roads, about a half mile from the scene of the shooting. The suspect was found hiding in bushes in the back yard of a home on Hillcrest Road by Farms Officers John Hagar and Philip Miglio, who had responded to the call for assistance.

The injured juvenile was taken to St. John Hospital for medical attention. He, as well as the other youth, will be turned over to Wayne County Youth authorities to face charges of auto theft, felonious assault with a motor vehicle and receiving and concealing stolen property.

Officer Reichling was also treated and released from a local hospital.

Kites

are almost as big as houses. Practically none of them look like the basic diamond shaped kite we all grew up with. Box shaped, hexagons, octagons, some look like masks, faces and animals. All of them fly, (the wind willing).

One of the most popular competitions is the Great Stroh Can Lift Off, in which the kite can lift the most beer is the winner. Last year's champ hoisted six cases to claim the title.

"The great thing about kiting is that anyone can do it," said Nancy. "We've got blind kites and kites confined to wheel chairs. It doesn't cost much money either. We've got kites that cost as little as 79 cents and others than run into the hundreds. Some make their kites out of tape and garbage bags.

"It attracts all kinds of people," she said. "There are people I see kiting that I wouldn't want to meet in an alley. We've even met some big, burly bikers that scare you just to look at them. But once they're flying, they're just like kids again.

"Kiting isn't for just anyone. It's for everyone."

Encore puts kids on stage

The curtain rose Monday, Oct. 4, on Encore, a workshop in the performing arts offered by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. The nine-week program, designed for students in grades three through eight offers a basic introduction to the performing arts. It's designed for students interested in theater and for those who would simply like to exercise their imaginations and expand their creativity.

"The theater is a fascinating, exciting place," says Maureen Bruce, Encore co-ordinator. "Our aim is to introduce young people to as many aspects of the performing arts as we can. We'd like students to be aware that there are many interesting areas of endeavor in the theater both for actors and technicians."

This workshop meets Monday evenings at the War Memorial through Nov. 29. Registration is open to all students in grades three through eight and the cost is $25.

A make-up session will be held for students who missed the Oct. 4 class.

Maureen Bruce, co-ordinator of Encore, teaches (left to right) Erin Bruce, David Emmerich and Jennifer Schultz the basic techniques of applying theatrical make-up. Mrs. Bruce has a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Detroit and is currently studying for her masters degree in Fine Arts with a major in theater.

Learn to survive parenthood

Thirty-one offerings scheduled by the department of Continuing Education of the Grosse Pointe Public School System will begin the week of Oct. 11. Of this number, 24 are single-session classes and seven are of longer duration.

Beginning on Monday, Oct. 11, are "Music Appreciation for the Beginning Listener" and "Wok Cooking Workshop."

Started to begin on Tuesday, Oct. 12 are "Marriages: A Workshop on Old Needs-New Models" and "Tips From a Master Gardener: Greenhouse Gardening."

Single-session classes to be held Oct. 12 are "Furniture Maintenance," "Handwriting Analysis," "How to Survive Early Parenthood: Red Ears and Runny Noses," "Tips From a Master Gardener: Get Your Garden Ready for Winter," "Using Woodworking Tools: Table Saw and Radial Arm Saw" and "Writing for Results."

On Wednesday, Oct. 13, the schedule includes "How to Give an Effective Speech: Introduction," "How to Write a Press Release," "Patchwork Christmas Stocking," "A Simple Introduction to Home Computers" and "Tips From a Master Gardener: How to Select and Buy Plants."

Three multi-week classes beginning on Thursday, Oct. 14, are "Assertiveness Training," "Investment Strategies for Today" and "Rapid Reading."

Single-session classes on Oct. 14 are "Bridge Clinic: Defensive Bids," "Crewel Embroidery Workshop," "Dance: Dance! Dance! Foxtrot Fun," "Dance! Dance! Dance! Roll Out the Poika," "Demystifying Medicine: Diabetes," "Drapery Making Workshop: Pleats and Linings," "Economics Update: Recession or Depression?" "Plastic Cosmetic Surgery: A Second Opinion" and "Refunding and Couponing."

Two single-session classes will be held on Friday, Oct. 15. They are "Bridge Clinic: Pre-Emptive Bids" and "A Doctor Advises Stay Fit, Stay Healthy, Stay Alive."

A Saturday workshop entitled "Total Prosperity" begins on Saturday, Oct. 16.

For further information on classes planned this fall by the public schools' department of Continuing Education, consult the buff-colored flyer delivered to residences and which is available at the Central Public Library, the branches in the Woods and Park, as well as at the office of Continuing Education located at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte in Grosse Pointe Farms.

For space availability in the upcoming roster of classes call the department at 343-2178.

Church services return to cable

The Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association will televise worship services beginning Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 8 p.m. on Grosse Pointe Cable channel 5, according to coordination committee chairman Dr. Robert C. Linthicum.

The first service, to be repeated Monday, Oct. 18, will be from the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. Services are videotaped 10 days before the first showing, Linthicum said, with most services being taped live.

Participating in the project, in its second season, are St. Paul Lutheran, St. James Lutheran, Ebenezer Baptist, Grosse Pointe Memorial, Salem Memorial Lutheran, First English Lutheran, St. Paul on-the-Lake Roman Catholic, St. Michael Episcopal, First Christian Reformed, Our Lady Star of the Sea Roman Catholic, and Grosse Pointe Congregational Baptist churches.

Other churches are considering joining the project after Christmas, Linthicum said.

Senior Forum focuses on health

Archie Bedell, M.D., Ph.D., will be the keynote speaker at a Senior Forum to be held at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, on Tuesday morning, Oct. 12. The theme of the program, which begins with registration at 8:45 a.m., is "Help Yourself To Health." Dr. Bedell's topic is "Health: A Shared Responsibility."

Other speakers include Cathryn Dow, A.C.S.W., director of social work at St. John Hospital, and Judy Mathews, chairman of the hospice project committee of the Junior League of Detroit. The League has contributed to a variety of non-profit programs, sharing the goal of betterment of the tri-county community. This continuation of the Senior Forum Series has been supported by a Community Assistance Award by the Junior League of Detroit.

Dr. Bedell is chief of the department of family practice, and director of the family practice residency program at Bon Secours Hospital. He is also a member of the medical staff at both St. John and Cottage Hospitals, and medical director of the Luther Haven Convalescent Home. He holds faculty appointments at the Wayne State University School of Medicine, Michigan State University School of Human Medicine, and Mercy College of Detroit. Dr. Bedell is a renowned speaker, both locally and nationally, on the subject of wellness, family medicine education, and health problems of the aging.

Presentations by the three speakers will be followed by small discussion groups, which will enable members of the audience to ask questions. Ed Allardice, director of the Well Being Service for the Aging, is the program chairman.

The Senior Forum is an outgrowth of Seniors Onward for Change, Inc., open to all seniors and others concerned about senior problems such as health, housing, recreation and the quality of life for seniors in the Grosse Pointes-Harper Woods area. The three earlier Forums addressed communication problems, the White House Conference on Aging, housing options, adult day care and community resources currently available to seniors.

The program begins at 9 a.m. and concludes at noon. Advance registration can be made by calling 343-1508.

The Senior Forum Organizing Committee is composed of F. Schoenberg, League of Women Voters; E. Adams, Detroit Area Agency on Aging; J. Austin, Neighborhood Club; G. Carty A.A.R.P., Chapter No. 3430; Sr. J. DeShano, St. John Hospital; Sr. B. Flaherty, St. Paul's Catholic Rectory; M.E. Friedhoff, Visiting Nurses Association; Dr. Heath, Bon Secours Hospital; H. Hush, Services for Older Citizens; A. Jamieson, Detroit Area Agency on Aging; S. Mozena, Junior League of Detroit; W. Peters, Grosse Pointe Public Library; E. Reed, consultant; R. Woodburn, Senior Mens Club of Grosse Pointe; C. Schoessel, Grosse Pointe Public Schools; V. Thomas, Calvary Senior Center and M. Weber, Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center.

Artists go to bat for gallery

Detroit artists and collectors will go to bat in a benefit softball game on behalf of the Detroit Focus Gallery this Sunday, Oct. 10, at Softball City at the Michigan Fairgrounds.

Leading off the action for the afternoon will be the bagpipe music of the St. Andrews Pipe Band followed by Carl Grapentine of WORS — FM singing the National Anthem.

Dr. Frederick J. Cummings, Director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, Captain Danny Gare and Budd Lynch of the Detroit Red Wings will be on hand to throw out the first ball.

Honorary Managers for the teams are Mario Borricci and Sam Palamara who have just completed a successful season coaching the Detroit Softball City Professional Softball Team.

Sen. Jack Faxon will be announcing the game as Pointer Charlie Manos takes to the mound as starting pitcher for the Collectors. Charlie can throw a perfect arc that should be a challenge to the mighty sluggers on the Artists team.

Sponsorship of players has come from all sectors of the community — art galleries, university art departments, corporations, small businesses, consulting firms and individuals. Players include collectors such as Richard Rollins, Tim Mast, Mike Ecksel, Elizabeth Bank, Dottie Doerer and George N'Namdi as well as artists such as Charles McGee, Stanley Rosenthal, Michael Joseph, Russell Keeter, Sue Linburg and Ruth Goldfaden.

John Arledge, General Manager of Softball City has provided the use of Diamond No. 10, an umpire, an announcer and broadcast booth. Softball City is complete with concession stands and public facilities.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets, which must be purchased in advance, are $5 each or four for $15 and may be ordered by calling Softball City at 368-1850, Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or by calling Detroit Focus Gallery at 962-9024, through Saturday, noon to 6 p.m. Softball City does not permit bottles, coolers, thermos jugs or picnic items to be brought into the playing area.

Proceeds from the game will benefit the Detroit Focus Gallery, a non-profit, tax-exempt art gallery located at 743 Beaubien in Greektown.

PWP to sponsor program on divorce

The discussion group of Grosse Pointe Parents Without Partners will sponsor the program "When You File For Divorce" on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m. at Salem Memorial Church, 21230 Moross, Detroit.

A slide film, "Who Is The Friend Of The Court?" will be shown by Gerhard Ritsema, of Friend of the Court and Ed Staniec, director of client services for the Wayne County Friend of the Court. A discussion will follow.

There will be a $1.25 charge for refreshments.

Liggett to offer film festival

As an introduction to American film, seven major films by seven prominent American directors will be shown with accompanying lectures by P. L. Arango at University Liggett School throughout the upcoming school year.

The Grosse Pointe community is invited to view the American film classics, plus a commentary on their thematic and structural contributions to American cinematic art, according to the school.

Series subscriptions are on sale for $20 by check payable to University Liggett School. Single admissions are available at the door for $3 per film and lecture, and students are admitted at half price. All programs begin at 8 p.m. For further information, contact Arango at 884-4444.

The film series includes the following:

- Oct. 15, 18 — "It Happened One Night" by Frank Capra, a comedy starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, 1934.
- Nov. 19, 22 — "Ball of Fire" by Howard Hawks, a romantic comedy with Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, 1941.
- Dec. 17, 20 — "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" by Preston Sturges, starring Eddie Bracken and Betty Hutton, 1944.

• Jan. 21, 24 — "My Darling Clementine" by John Ford, with Henry Fonda as Wyatt Earp at the O.K. Corral, 1946.

• March 11, 14 — "Meet Me in St. Louis" by Vincente Minnelli, an American musical and love story with Judy Garland, 1944.

• April 8, 11 — "Strangers on a Train" by Alfred Hitchcock, with Farley Granger and Robert Walker, attempting perfect murders, 1952.

• May 6, 9 — "Citizen Kane" by Orson Welles who also stars in and wrote this epic work, 1941.

Travelog at library

"South Pacific Adventure" will be presented at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval Avenue, on Thursday, Oct. 7, at 7:30 p.m. This new travelog will be narrated by Rip and Fern Zwickey who are world travelers of many remote lands.

Last fall the Zwickeys provided a film about Antarctica which featured timely footage of the Falkland Islands. Likewise, this year's show will feature Indonesia which includes the Philippines, New Guinea and Kamoda (an area known for its dragon population and ancient cave paintings). A question and answer period will follow. There is no charge for the program which is to be held in the Exhibition Room.

Detroiters arrested for attempted B&E

Three Detroit men have been remanded to Wayne County Jail pending preliminary examination in Circuit Court on charges of attempted breaking and entering in connection with an attempted smash-and-grab at a Woods jewelry store.

Fred Stevens, 22, Joseph Porter, 20, and Floyd Stevens, 21, all of Detroit are being held on $25,000 cash bond each after their arraignment Sunday, Oct. 3, in Woods Municipal Court.

The three were arrested by Woods police in connection with an incident early Saturday morning, Oct. 2, at Pat Scott Jewellers, Inc., 19491 Mack in the Woods. A police car patrolling about 3 a.m. was hailed by a passer-by who told police he saw three men throw something against the front window of the store. When spotted, two hid in the bushes while a third began walking north on Mack, reports said.

Officers headed for the scene while calling the information into the station. Passing the store, police noticed the cracked front window and front door window. The glass, according to reports, was shattered proof, and although broken, no entry was gained.

Officers continued south on Mack to Newcastle where they spotted the 22-year-old Stevens. According to reports, he became very abusive to officers and tried to pull away when police asked his business in the area.

As officers were restraining the man, a light green Ford or Mercury passed them at a high rate of speed followed by another car, according to reports. The second car pulled over and the driver told officers the Mercury was being driven by two men also involved, according to reports.

Because of the struggles of the arrested man, officers were unable to call in the information. They hailed another unit which began the chase. The car was later stopped in the City, police said, and the 21-year-old Stevens and Porter were arrested.

Police believe a brick was used to smash the window, but nothing was taken from the store, they said.

Peace Lutheran honors family

Peace Lutheran Church and Day School, 15700 East Warren Avenue at Balfour Road in Detroit, will honor its minister of music, Edwin Aufdemberge, for 25 years of teaching ministry on Sunday, Oct. 10, at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

The Rev. Carl Aufdemberge of Edwardsville, Ill. will preach and a reception honoring the Aufdemberge family will be held between and after the services.

Lyric Sundays resume at Ford House

Chamber music is enjoying a resurgence of popularity in Grosse Pointe and at the forefront is the Lyric Chamber Ensemble which will begin its third season of concerts at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on Sunday, Oct. 24. The ensemble's founder Fedora Horowitz will open the season with a piano recital that is a preview of her New York concert date.

Ms. Horowitz emigrated to Israel from Rumania following the 1958 Communist takeover and performed as permanent soloist with the Israel Broadcasting Orchestra and throughout Europe and the U.S.

She founded the Lyric Chamber Ensemble in 1980 after meeting Detroit Symphony Orchestra members Joseph Goldman, violinist, and David Saltzman, cellist.

"It's the goal of every musician to work together to hear more than one heart beating when he makes music," Ms. Horowitz said. The trio has been performing together since then and its success at the Ford House has allowed it to expand its concert series to a new location this year at the Birmingham Unitarian Church in Bloomfield Hills.

In the Ford House series, Ms. Horowitz said the group is striving for a balance between recitals and chamber music.

"Chamber music is music in its purest form, the most intimate and, I think, the most accessible medium. When I first came to Detroit, there was a limited amount of it. Now there has been growth, exposure and a resurgence of interest in chamber groups as there has been in opera and dance."

Ms. Horowitz' Oct. 24 recital will include works of Mozart, Bartok, Scriabin and Schumann. Other concerts will highlight the work of Ravel (Nov. 21), Schuman (Jan. 22), Vivaldi and Paganini with the Detroit Woodwind Chamber Players (Feb. 20), violin virtuoso pieces with DSO assistant concertmaster Joseph Goldman (March 6) and Ravel's duo piano works (April 17).

Members of the ensemble include DSO musicians Douglas Cronelsen, clarinet; Shaul Ben-Meir, flute; Ann Ourada, violin; Glenn Mellow, violin; and Debra Fayroian, cello. Guest artists include pianist Joseph Gurt from Eastern Michigan University and bassonist Philip Austin, a member of the Cleveland Orchestra.

All concerts are held Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. The house is open for visits a half hour before the concert. Wine receptions with the artists follow the concerts.

Tickets are $7 per concert or $40 for the series of seven performances. Tickets for series of three and four concerts are available at $18 and $24, respectively. Students are admitted for $5. There is also a senior citizen discount.

For information and reservations call 357-1111.

Hunger Walk III is Sunday

Physicians join Bon Secours Hospital staff

Two new physicians were appointed to the medical staff at Bon Secours Hospital by the Board of Trustees at its Sept. 7 meeting. They are Steven D. Gellman, M.D., internist and assistant director of the Internal Medicine Residency Program, and Syed S. Hossain, M.D., surgeon.

War memorial

Chamber players begin season

The Chamber Music Players of Grosse Pointe will begin a new season of concerts on Oct. 10, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Crystal Ballroom at 2:30 p.m.

Eight program dates have been scheduled. Concerts will be held on the second Sunday of the month at 2:30 p.m. from October through March. On Dec. 12, non-members are invited to participate as guest players.

On Oct. 10 Dorothy Ignasiak and

Betty Peterson, co-chairman, will present Annetta Kelly, trumpet, and Marjorie Connell-Strimpel, piano, performing Concerto in D Major for Trumpet and Piano by Telemann. They will be followed by Sister Rose Carmel Burgess, soprano and Janet Young, piano, presenting a group of songs by Brahms, Wolf and Mozart. The third offering will be a piano selection, Sonata No. 19 in D Major by Haydn, played by Evelyn Scheyer.

A social hour prepared by Doreen Taylor and Horace Hamburger will follow the concert. Guest admission is $3 at the door.

all Savers Certificate Tax-Free

Here's what the one-year All Savers Certificate can mean to you.

Up to $2,000.00 of interest earned on an All Savers Certificate can be excluded from Federal income tax on a joint return ($1,000.00 on an individual return). The amount excluded is also not taxed by the State of Michigan. As a result of this tax savings, the All Savers Certificate can provide a higher after-tax yield than you may be earning from a money market mutual fund or other investments.

If you presently have an All Savers Certificate but have not earned your maximum allowable tax exclusion, you may wish to open a new Standard Federal All Savers Certificate so that total interest earnings can reach the $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 maximum.

Available until December 31, 1982.

Steiner Promotions files repayment plan

Attorneys for Steiner Promotions, Inc. presented disclosure statements and repayment plans in U.S. Bankruptcy Court Thursday, Sept. 30, before Judge George Brody.

According to the repayment plan, creditors will receive an initial 10 percent payment on debts owed. Wayne County Commissioner Ervin Steiner, Jr., who runs the company, will receive nothing for his claims, wages and loans to the company totalling more than $114,000, according to the repayment plan.

The company, which filed under Chapter 11 reorganization of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, reported making a profit of $150,100 from June 15, 1981, the filing date of the petition, to April 30, 1982, according to the disclosure statement. By staying in business, the company hopes to pay off the creditors, according to the repayment plan.

The other option would be the liquidation of assets which the company lists as $3,300. Steiner in an interview earlier this year, said he wanted to keep the company operating so he could repay his creditors.

Payments to creditors will be spaced out over six months under the filed plan. Creditors owed less than $100 will receive initial payments in 60 days after the plan takes effect. There are 14 creditors owed a total of $445,044.

Creditors owed between $100 and $500 will receive their initial 10 percent payments in 90 days, according to the plan. The 16 creditors in this category are owed a total of $1,799,899.

Seven Class Five creditors, owed between $500 and $1,000, will receive their first payments within 120 days under the plan. Class Five creditors, including the Grosse Pointe News, are owed $4,820,899 total.

Creditors with debts owed to them or more than $1,000 will receive payments within 180 days according to the repayment schedule. Creditors are owed $29,546,531 in all, with the largest creditor being Ellis Outdoor Advertising, Inc. who is owed $24,459.

In addition, Steiner Promotions owes state and federal taxes and Michigan Employment Security commission petition and administrative costs totalling $2,379,567 which will be paid in full, according to the repayment plan.

The company has two outstanding claims totalling $240,000 against the state, according to disclosure statements. Steiner Promotions claims it lost $200,000 when the state cancelled its dates at the East Light Guard Armory. The company has sued to recover its loss.

In addition, the company is suing the State Fair for breach of contract. A pavillion scheduled to house a sports wear exhibit the company promoted was not completed in time, according to the company's attorneys, causing the withdrawal of vendors and financial loss to the company.

U-M business school expanding

University of Michigan's dean of Business Administration, Gilbert R. Whitaker, Jr., did some stumping for his fast-growing school last week at a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The dean, who's been on the job for three and a half years, has focused his energies on a development program aimed at maintaining the U of M Business Administration School's top ranking among U.S. colleges. The school is listed in fifth place among colleges and universities in the U.S. producing the greatest number of top executives in Standard and Poor's recently-released college survey.

The school is pioneering in the relatively new areas of computer information systems and organizational behavior in manufacturing, according to Whitaker. It reports an average of 3.5 job offers for each Master's graduate.

Increasing research activity and participation in the school's executive education programs, which last year drew some 7,600 business leaders, have necessitated expansion of the physical plant, according to the dean. A privately-funded building project is planned to accommodate new faculty, visiting executives and students. Plans call for a new library, computing center and other facilities, according to Whitaker.

The dean's reception at the Yacht Club on Wednesday, Sept. 29, was sponsored by Pointers Bob Thibodeau, Jr., Michael and Susan Wheeler, George and Mary Strong, Warren and Ann Watkins and Richard and Susan Measelle.

Whitaker holds a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Wisconsin.

Children's Theater schedules auditions for 'Tom Sawyer'

Tryouts for the musical "Tom Sawyer" will be held at the Grosse Pointe Children's Theater Saturday, Oct. 9, at 4 p.m. in the Veteran's Room.

High school students and young adults will audition for roles as Aunt Polly, Injun Joe, Wiler Douglas and others. Students should bring a musical selection for audition although some roles don't require singing.

Sally Reynolds, theater producer and director for 29 years, said students and young adults have been a part of the theater since its beginning.

"Talent knows no age limit," she said. "Many of our members have gone on to professional careers in all aspects of theater." Ed Hermann, who played Franklin Roosevelt in the movie "Annie" was one of the theater's first members. Gwen Humble has appeared in "Hello Dolly" and television specials and series. She will also appear in an October ABC special, "The Quest."

Grant Collins, managing director of the Music Theater, and Dennis Wickline, producer and director of the Golden Lion Dinner Theater, George Kappaz, cast member on "The Guiding Light" and Elizabeth Parcells are other former members of the theater who have succeeded in the arts, Mrs. Reynolds said.

Many younger students appear locally on television and movies, she added, noting that the Children's Theater doesn't promise students parts on Broadway or in Hollywood. Mrs. Reynolds said she expects the best from each student and a professional attitude.

Grosse Pointe Children's Theater is also aimed at young people who may not go into theater but want to learn a little about it, she said. Apprentice classes are involved with mime, behind-the-scenes study or production, make-up, construction of scenery, lighting, music and creative dance along with other basic elements of drama.

Students who want to get involved will find plenty of chances during the theater's season, Mrs. Reynolds said. Casts are chosen by competitive try-outs and lead roles are always double-cast. Productions appear not only at the War Memorial, but at nursing homes, hospitals and other charitable organizations and television, she said.

Classes meet at the War Memorial on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Anyone interested in the Children's Theater can call 885-6219 or 881-7511 for more information. Auditioners who can't appear during the scheduled times can set up a performance by calling 885-6219.

Cable adds three services

Three new channels were added to Grosse Pointe Cable's One Star Galaxy Service in October, according to vice-president and general manager Michael Reynolds. The new offerings are Music Television, Cable Health Channel and Satellite News Channel.

Music Television, or MTV, is a 24-hour-a-day video music channel that features popular music in stereo. Although much of the music will be video records, animations and experimental interpretation of music, the channel also plans to cover concerts and club dates, music news and personalities. Video disc-jockeys introduce records and provide the show's cohesiveness.

The Cable Health Channel is another 24-hour-a-day service which features information about health, dieting, exercise and physical well-being. Programming will fall into 10 categories: What's New in Health and Science; Keeping Fit; Nutrition; Diet and Eating Well; Thinking and Feeling; Healthy Relationships; Human Interests and Lifestyles; Science, Nature and Technology; Self-Help and Medical Care; Growing Up; and Growing Older, Feeling Younger.

Both of these shows premiered Friday, Oct. 1. The third 24-hour service, Satellite News Channel, will premiere after the company installs a new satellite earth station to pick up the channel, company spokesmen said.

Offered by ABC News and Westinghouse Broadcasting, the channel will feature 18-minute newscasts covering international and national news, and five minutes each of regional and local news.

Because of the new services, channel allocations will be changed, the company said. Satellite News goes to channel 3, MTV to channel 30, and Cable Health to channel 16. All public access, religious, and community announcements will be combined on channel 5, while education goes to channel 19.

The Appalachian Community Service Network on channel 29 recently underwent a name change to The Learning Channel.

A source of unknown reliability insists there is now more American acreage in country clubs than in cemeteries.

Rotary donates to Mexico's 'Happy Smiles'

In the U.S. one seldom sees a person whose face is deformed by a cleft lip. But in Mexico, where health care is more scarce, the deformity is seldom treated — unless the victim happens to live in one of more than two dozen rural communities visited since 1965 by the "Happy Smile" program run by the Fort Worth, Tex., Rotary Club.

Dr. Valentin Garcia and Bob Cole, a retired executive, both of Fort Worth, take medical teams to rural Mexico each year to do as many as 50 rehabilitative operations in a two-week period. The Texas Rotarians also visited Grosse Pointe last week to raise money and support for their program.

They got plenty of both. The Rotary Foundation donated $2,000 to the program, member Ted Hadgis kicked in another $100 out of his own pocket, and Rotary President Dr. Jose Borrego agreed to join the medical team on this year's trip.

Dr. Garcia began the program on his own in 1965 and has made 22 trips since then and worked on 1,200 cases. In a slide and film presentation at the local Rotary Club meeting last week, he explained that horrible cleft lip deformities can be caused by heredity, nutrition or stress. In the U.S., repairs are generally made in the first three months of a child's life. In rural Mexico, the deformity usually goes untreated, and the cleft is often viewed as punishment for some past misdeed by the family. Extreme speech, hearing and psychological problems can result. "The victims in the villages are considered outcasts, and are hidden from the public," the doctor said.

The physician showed slides of the before and after effects of surgery for a few of the "Happy Smile" clients. Tax-deductible contributions may be mailed to Proyecto Huasteco, P.O. Box 2476, Fort Worth, Tex., 76101.

Grosse Pointe Rotary President Jose Borrego (center) handed a check for $2,000 to Dr. Valentin Garcia (right) while Bob Cole (left) looks on. The money will be used by Garcia and Cole for the "Happy Smiles" program which sends a medical team to rural Mexico each year to rehabilitate youngsters and adults who suffer from cleft lip deformities.

The Pelicans celebrate 25th

The Pelicans, a noon luncheon club based at the Detroit Yacht Club, celebrated its 25th anniversary last month with — of course — a party.

The group was founded by Grosse Pointe Park resident Charles S. Tompkins back in the fall of 1957 and is dedicated to the proposition of "freeing Friday afternoon from Industrial Slavery and to luncheon fellowship with business and professional men gathered to enjoy a relaxing cocktail, a delicious meal and an interesting 20-minute talk by a well-informed, well-known speaker."

Those speakers have included the late James R. Hoffa, James Brickley, L. Brooks Patterson, Richard Austin and the late George Pierrot in recent years. In addition, Pelican members have traveled to China, Spain, Scandinavia, Mexico and the Near East.

The group celebrated its silver anniversary with a sirloin of beef dinner and a special yearbook publication.

GOP night at Steiner's

If you vote Republican the place to be on Wednesday, Oct. 13, is Erv Steiner's home, where he will be host to the state's Republican "Action Team". On this evening, Steiner will welcome Republican nominees Richard Headlee (Governor), Tom Brennan (Lieutenant Governor), L. Brooks Patterson (Attorney General) and Beth Andrus (Secretary of State) at a special fund raiser.

It will offer an opportunity to meet and talk with the nominees in a relaxed atmosphere. Steiner said he is looking forward to a good turnout.

Ticket prices are $50 a person, or $75 per couple. For information, call 885-9043.

A round-robin letter originally was a petition with the signatures written in a circle so nobody could figure out who signed first.

Salem center plans child food program

The Salem Memorial Child Care Center will sponsor a Child Care Food Program designed to provide meals to children in child care centers, outside school hours programs and family day care homes.

Meals are available at no separate charge to all children 12 and under, migrant children 15 and under, and older handicapped children enrolled in Salem Memorial Child Care Center without regard to race, sex, color, religion, national origin or handicapped condition.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day, for homeowners like you, I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common. When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's

- Proven in millions of locations
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills
- Popular choice of American homeowners
- Five year limited warranty
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source
- Eligible for 15% tax credit
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters

North parent's night Oct. 12

The annual "Back-to-School Night" at Grosse Pointe North High School is Tuesday Oct. 12.

Theatre North presents 'Mame'

Theatre North and the music department at Grosse Pointe North High School will present the musical comedy "Mame" starring senior Chrissy Mourad in the title role.

"Mame" will be presented Thursday, Oct. 14, Friday, Oct. 15, and Saturday, Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center, 707 Vernier Road.

Eighteen principal actor-singers, 25 dancers and a chorus of 30, plus a student orchestra of 30 will bring the musical to life.

will explain each course, the materials used, the grading system, the course content and typical homework assignments.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria throughout the evening by Mrs. Richard Roland, mother vice-president of the Parent Club, and her committee.

All parents are invited to attend.

Seniors receive merit recognition

Thirty-two Grosse Pointe high school seniors have been awarded letters of commendation in the 28th annual National Merit Scholarship program.

Of the one million students who entered the 1982 Merit Scholarship Competition by taking a qualifying test in 1981, about 35,000 are being commended this month, as they begin their final year of high school.

in their respective states who qualified as Merit Program Semifinalists.

At North High School commendations were presented to Eric Cholack, Steven Ciaravino, Tom Cobau, David Fitzsimmons, Pamela Frederick, Elizabeth Graf, Jeannie Granda, Kathryn Grimes and Matthew Krolkowski.

Letters of commendation were presented to the following students at South High School: Kathryn Ditmars, Wilmer Dorman, Sayeed Iqbal, Leszek Jaszczak, Susan Levitan, Meghan McMahon, Petra Polasek, Grace Robinson, David Ryan, Murray Smith, David Sutherland and John Tatum.

At University Liggett School, seniors Dianne Alcantara and Karen Brown were presented letters of commendation.

Next spring, the NMSC will announce the names of about 5,000 Merit Scholarship winners who will receive awards worth $15 million for college undergraduate study.

ULS hotline begins Oct. 8

University Liggett School has installed a "hotline" to provide information on all school events. By Friday, Oct. 8, the service should be operational to allow calls for a list of upcoming ULS activities.

Class officers elected at Star

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School's Senior Class of 1983 will be led by President Marissa Ventimiglia. Co-ordinators are Mary Meyers, Tammy Kettner, Janice Nowak, Kim Mascar and Allsa McKinney.

Sophomore officers are President Cindy Winiarski, and co-ordinators are Mary Jo Yaklin, Lisa Wild, Theresa Schnitzer and Bridget Roarty.

The juniors, Class of 1984, elected Beth Banaszewski as president. She will be assisted by co-ordinators Betsy Dennehy, Leslie Campbell, Kirsten Sheen and Laura Barnowsky.

Newly-elected freshmen officers are President Traci Bailey, and co-ordinators are Shellie Jackson, Karla Rendz, Gwen Bauer and Marissa George.

Parents invited back to school

Pierce Middle School will host its annual Back-To-School Night for parents on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m.

During Back-To-School Night, parents attend their children's classes in six 10-minute class periods. They will meet teachers and hear about curriculum, class procedures and expectations.

For the first time, this year's program will also permit parents to have brief, individual teacher conferences following the classroom visits.

day's educational process much more effectively after they have visited the school and met our faculty and administrators." said Donald Bassett, Pierce principal.

Back-To-School Night has traditionally been one of the best attended evening events at Pierce.

The program will end with a socialization period and refreshments in the gymnasium at 9:30 p.m.

South parents visit classrooms

Parents of Grosse Pointe South High School students will have an opportunity to go back to school on Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

The annual Back-to-School Night is designed to provide parents with an opportunity to meet teachers and to become more familiar with the high school curriculum, according to Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, South High School Principal.

Plans for the evening will enable parents to follow a mini-schedule of their sons' or daughters' programs.

During each 12-minute class period, the teacher will define briefly the course of study; describe methods used to develop skills and how they are integrated into the course; list the organizational skills required to understand the content of the course; explain the nature and purpose of study guides, assignments and tests; and interpret the criteria used to evaluate student performances, according to Dr. Spagnoli.

Refreshments will be served during the entire evening in Cleminson Hall to give parents a breather during a study or open period.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

For the first time in its 55-year history, Pro Musica will present its concerts at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and Wayne State University. This announcement was made by the society's president, Alex Suczek, at a meeting of the membership renewals committee to launch Pro Musica's 1982-83 membership campaign.

Artists appearing in the society's three programs include two who will be making their Detroit debuts for Pro Musica. Opening attraction is the Takacs String Quartet of Budapest, Hungary, on its first United States tour. The group will perform Friday evening, Nov. 19, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

Lyric tenor Jerry Hadley, of the New York City Opera, will be featured on Pro Musica's second program Friday, March 4, and the final concert will be an April 8 piano recital by Cynthia Raim, recent winner of the Clara Haskell Award in Switzerland, former Detroitite and pupil of Mischa Kottler. These last two programs will take place in Wayne State University's Community Arts Auditorium.

Per Pro Musica tradition, each concert will be followed by a social hour with refreshments and an opportunity to meet and talk to the artists and other members in a relaxed and congenial atmosphere.

With a number of Pro Musica memberships now available, Suczek urged the renewals committee to spread its wings and encourage friends and other music lovers to join. Season memberships are obtainable in advance at no increase in price over last year: the cost is $25 for the three concerts and social hours. Capacity is limited to 400.

To the extent that space is available Pro Musica also sells single admissions at the door — though these are usually limited. Membership includes the opportunity to participate in the governance of the society and to attend the gala annual dinner meeting and concert at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House.

Committee members who can provide memberships and are now working on the subscription drive include Mrs. Evelynne Dewey, of Barrington Road, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller, of Balfour Road, James Diamond, of North Duval Road, Mrs. Sterling Sanford, of Hillcrest Road, Mrs. Robert Suczek, of Fisher Road, Mrs. George Zeitz, of Dearborn Heights, Richard Smoke, of Troy, Mrs. Berj H. Haidostian, of Birmingham, and Mrs. Dolores Rogell, of Southfield.

Season tickets and information concerning Pro Musica are available now by contacting the society's membership secretary, Mrs. John Rainey, at 824-8690, or President Suczek at 885-0783.

An Evening in Athens

Those intrepid and indefatigable Michigan Chapter Circumnavigators Club members are at it again, planning a super-fun party with a super-fine, international flavor. It's an Evening in Athens a week from tomorrow.

Welcome to the big Small World of Rick Walker . . .

Meet RICK WALKER, 15, of Newberry Place, who has just begun his first year in University Liggett's Upper School, who is especially interested in history as it pertains to battles and military conquests (particularly the Napoleonic and Civil War periods), who wants eventually to go to West Point — and who is a maker of armies. Very small armies, to be sure, but very authentic ones: hand cast and hand painted military miniatures, perfect in every detail. "I've always been interested in lead soldiers," Rick says. "The idea of making my own, having as many as I want, really appealed to me." Rick was about 8 when a friend of his parents gave him some old molds. A few years later, on a ULS spring trip to Switzerland, he picked up some more. He began to order via catalogues from Switzerland and Germany; he still does, and keeps meticulous, detailed files of his orders and correspondence. There was a second trip to Switzerland, and on a trip to England Rick picked up some figures for his personal collection of miniatures. Piece de resistance of that collection is a five figure Dresden set, Kaiser Wilhelm II and his staff, by Heyde (circa 1905-14). The classic Dresden molds are lost now, destroyed in World War II. Rick likes to paint the unpainted figures that he buys, "just for myself." He has about 3,000 of them ranged, in various stages of completion, on shelves in his bedroom. He casts his own figures in his basement "factory," and exhibits and demonstrates at military miniature shows and festivals. He's a member, youngest by about 20 years, of the Michigan Society of Figure Collectors, and visited Gettysburg last May when he traveled to Pennsylvania for a figure collectors' convention. Half damn Yankee (mother), half Son of the South (father), his sympathies lie with the Confederacy . . . but he's the very proud owner of a Civil War sword carried by a relative, Thomas Mayberry, as a member of the New York State Volunteers. For a closer look at Rick's clever hands at work, turn to this week's Feature Page.

Present Tedesco concert Oct. 20

Eta Rho, one of 18 chapters forming the South Macomb County Council of Beta Sigma Phi, will present Theodore Tedesco, piano virtuoso, performing the music of Franz Liszt and improvisations on current movie themes in concert Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

He will be joined by guest vocalist Enrico LaRicca, the Neapolitan tenor. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 772-0620.

Beta Sigma Phi, founded April 30, 1931, is social, cultural and service-oriented. The sorority is not affiliated with any college and is now an international organization which donates annually to the Children's Cancer Research Foundation in Boston, to Girlstown, U.S.A., located near Whiteface, Tex., and to Cystic Fibrosis Research.

South Macomb County Council projects this year will include dressing Goodfellow dolls, making up a layette for needy mothers and a cash donation to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation of Michigan. The council also will send cash donations to assist the sorority's international office with its charities.

Eta Rho raises funds for these projects via garage and craft sales, cultural programs and various other activities. In the past, the chapter has sponsored nursing homes, helped with a home for abused women and donated to a drug abuse program.

Family life through the ages . . .

LUCY SMITH, BOBBIE LOCICERO, SANDY STEVENSON and MARTY PETERS (left to right), all of The Park, are busy preparing for the Saint Ambrose Community Players production of Paul Osborn's folk-comedy "Morning's at Seven," a delightful play about family relationships where events of 50 years past are discussed as if they happened yesterday. "Morning's at Seven" will be presented in the Saint Ambrose Parish Hall, Maryland and Hampton, one block off East Jefferson Avenue in The Park, on Friday, Oct. 15, and Saturday, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m. Tickets are $3 in advance by calling 822-2814 or 885-5475 during business hours. They will be $3.50 at the door. Other members of the cast are Bob Jogan, Merrie Gay Ayrault, Dominic Scicluna, Fred Lenard and Dorothy Hunter. The Players will be producing a musical cabaret in December, and will present "Hello, Dolly" in the spring at Grosse Pointe North High School.

Orchestra Hall days are 'free'

The Friends for Orchestra Hall will continue their series of "free" daytime performances, enabling senior citizens, handicapped persons and school age children to enjoy first class music in acoustically perfect Orchestra Hall, this season.

The first program, set for Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 10:30 a.m. is for children in grades three through 12 and will feature Leon Bates, pianist, presenting a recital and workshop on the piano.

The performance lasts approximately one hour. The audience should plan to arrive 30 minutes prior to the concert. Reservations and further information may be obtained by contacting Renee Van Dewater at the Friends office, 833-3702.

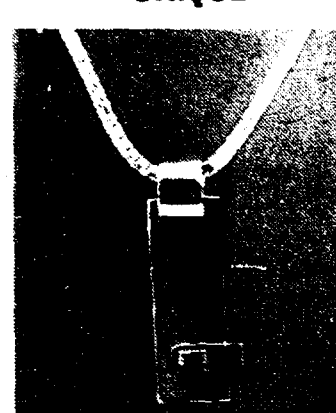

Blooming beauties . . .

Summer's end is always the time for garden awards at the Grosse Pointe Garden Center in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, where the lakeside Trial Gardens provide color and fragrance to delight thousands of visitors who view them annually. The gardens, maintained by some of the area garden clubs affiliated with the Garden Center, are judged three times during the summer. Trophies are presented in the fall, when the names of the clubs whose efforts for the year are judged best are engraved upon a silver urn and pitcher which are permanent features of Garden Center headquarters, and photographs of the winners are added to those already on display from former years. Accepting this year's first place trophy in the photo above from MRS. CHARLES A. BIGELOW (right) is MRS. H. ROBERTSON BRINKER, representing the Pointe Garden Club. Far left and second from left, respectively, are MRS. HOWARD E. BLOOD JR. of the Grosse Pointe Garden Club, which took third place, and MRS. DOUGLAS T. MCCLURE of the Garden Club of Michigan, second place winner. Not pictured is Mrs. David C. Mitchell, Mrs. Blood's co-chairman of the Grosse Pointe Garden Club's Trial Gardens gardening committee this summer.

The special merit award was bestowed on two groups jointly this year. This award, given for overwhelming success with the four center plots of the Trial Gardens, known to be the most difficult of all to maintain, went to the Grand Marais Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ellsworth Allison, and the Village Garden Club, coordinated by Mrs. Bill O. Brink. Current president of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center is Mrs. Paul Hostetter. Mrs. Bigelow is Trial Gardens chairman.

Oktoberfest date for Newcomers

An Oktoberfest is being planned by the Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club for Saturday, Oct. 16, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Festivities, beginning at 7:30 p.m., will include a German knackwurst dinner, with plenty of beer and wine.

Entertainment will feature German piano music, and prizes will be awarded for the best German attire.

Party chairmen for the evening are Joe and Norine Dillon. Serving on their committee are Julie and Crosby Boyd, Kathy and Roy Hunsinger and Phyllis and Greg DeMars.

Couples who have recently moved from an area not touching the boundaries of Grosse Pointe are eligible for membership in the local Newcomers organization, and invited to contact the membership chairmen at 881-2890 or 824-2219 for further information.

Help at hand for overeaters

Overeaters Anonymous meets Friday mornings, at 9:30 a.m., at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on Maumee Avenue, between Neff Road and St. Clair Avenue. The meetings are open to the public.

Italian Festa funds to help fight Lupus

The Michigan Lupus Foundation, Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Chapter, will sponsor an Italian Festa dinner dance starting at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, at Tina's Country House, 23 Mile Road and North Avenue. Each $22.50 per person ticket includes dinner, an open bar, dancing and the chance to take home a prize.

The party is open to the public. All proceeds go to support the Foundation's fight against Lupus, an autoimmune disease that most often strikes young people. Lupus' cause is still unknown. As yet, there is no cure. Once thought of as rare, it is now known to affect almost one million Americans.

Tickets and information about the Festa may be obtained by contacting Terri Militello, benefit chairman, at 884-2090. Terri, who has lost a sister to Lupus and has two other sisters afflicted with the disease, enlisted the help of many friends and relatives to plan this fund raiser.

No tickets will be available at the door. More information about Lupus may be obtained by contacting the Foundation, formed seven years ago to help raise funds for research, patient education and public awareness of the disease, at 775-8310.

Mugging with spirit . . .

MICHAEL FIELDING (left), chairman of Detroit Community Music School's Wine Auction Committee, RUTH (Mrs. Joseph) VANCE (center) and MOLLY and JOE BEYER mugged as the spirits moved them when they were asked to pose for some publicity photos at a recent committee meeting. In truth, Joe neither smokes nor plays the piano, but he has a fine sense of humor, a fine wine cellar — What else would one expect from the proprietor of the Pontchartrain Wine Cellars? — and a sense of dedication when it comes to the Community Music School benefit; he travelled to France to secure wine directly from the Rothschild cellars for the First Annual Detroit International Wine Auction. It's set for this Saturday, Oct. 9, at Somerset Mall. Robert Mondavi, president of Mondavi Wines of Napa Valley, is honorary chairman. J. Brian Cole, president of Christie's of New York, is auctioneer. A "roving feast" with special courses prepared by Detroit's finest chefs will round out the evening. Ticket information may be obtained by contacting the Detroit Community Music School, 831-2870.

Full Sigma Kappa October calendar

Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Sigma Kappa will be busy this month with fund raising projects for their national philanthropies, and members ask everyone to "Be A Lifesaver to the Aging" via support of the Lifesaver Lollipop Sale which opens next Monday, Oct. 11, and will run through Sunday, Oct. 17.

The lollipops will be available from local Sigma Kappas. The sorority is sponsoring this national project to help the elderly become more informed, and plans to contribute financial support to the public broadcasting system's "Over Easy."

All donations to the sale go to the Sigma Kappa Foundation, and are tax deductible.

Some lollipops will be available at the Grosse Pointe Sigma Kappas' garage sale Saturday, Oct. 16, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at 791 Lincoln Road (corner of Goethe). Garage sale proceeds will go to the American Farm School and the Maine Sea Coast Mission, two of the sorority's five national philanthropies.

On a local level, Grosse Pointe alumnae will be creating Halloween goody bags for homebound senior citizens on the Meals at Home delivery route at a meeting Wednesday, Oct. 20, in the home of Dorothy Eggleston.

Church Women to meet Oct. 12

The Women's Association of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will hear "All About Purdue" at their meeting next Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 10 a.m., when members who attended the national meeting of United Presbyterian Women at Purdue University conduct a panel discussion, telling about their experience and what they learned in the various workshops.

Panelists will be Mary Grace (Mrs. Fred) Adams, Karen (Mrs. Thomas) Winger, Jan (Mrs. Charles Jr.) Wright, Jane (Mrs. Alfred) Warren, Sylvia (Mrs. Leslie) Sanders and Marion (Mrs. Staunton) Wilson.

Pointe Book Club is busy

Members of the Grosse Pointe Book Club gathered at the home of Mrs. Thomas Carey, who was assisted by Mrs. John Marshall and Mrs. Kennard Jones, on the third Monday of September for their first meeting of the 1982-83 season.

A gourmet luncheon was followed by Mrs. George Johnson's review of Theodore White's "America in Search of Itself."

Mary Jane Kirchner will present this month's review. The club will meet Monday, Oct. 18, in Mrs. Johnson's Berkshire Road home. Mrs. Bernard Whitely and Mrs. L. Eugene Kelly will serve as co-hostesses.

Park Garden Club to meet

The Moross House, home of the Detroit Garden Center which is currently celebrating its 50th anniversary, will be the setting for the Monday, Oct. 11, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club.

Following a tour of the historic residence and gardens, located on East Jefferson Avenue across from the University Club, the DGC librarian, Jeanne Hillmer, will introduce the group to the Detroit Garden Center Horticultural Library.

Charlette Babcock, hostess for the day, will be assisted by Janet Patton.

To feature temple dances at museum

As a complement to the Detroit Institute of Arts' Asian Collection, temple dances of South India will be performed without charge, courtesy of the DIA's Friends of Asian Art and Performing Arts Department, this Saturday, Oct. 9, at 2 and 4 p.m. in the museum galleries.

The presentation will be given and explained by Sudha Chandra Sekhar. Detailed information about the museum's performing arts activities may be obtained by calling the DIA ticket office, 832-2730.

Friday, Oct. 15, at Detroit's own Grecian Gardens. Dinner will be a family style selection of shish kebab, roast lamb, baked chicken, salad, beverage and dessert. Entertainment will feature 20 Greek dancing maidens and men, performing folk dances and providing instruction in same. There'll be gifts for men and women, members, wives and guests. There'll be enough fun for a whole weekend in this one Evening, if we know our local Circumnavigators (and we do), for if there's one thing our local Circumnavigators insist on having it's a good time — anywhere in the world.

An Exceptional Opportunity

Older people and young children often communicate in a very special way: for example, the Grosse Pointe Branch American Association of University Women sponsors the Volunteer Grandperson Program at Ferry School, through which community members take their interests and hobbies into the school to share with small groups of children and rapport is built between two generations which often spend too little time together.

Interests as complex as celestial navigation or as simple as reading a story serve as springboards for intergenerational sharing. The gap between the generations is bridged: grandparents renew old hopes and children gain a new way of looking at life.

This year, the program is looking for a volunteer coordinator who enjoys working with senior citizens and young children, someone to help find community members, schedule convenient times and arrange for materials and extra help, if necessary. It's a volunteer position — but there is a stipend of $1,000 for the school year. Further information on the program or the position may be obtained by calling 884-4637. Further information on other AAUW projects may be obtained by calling 881-6318.

Shopping The Nation

Specialty gift shopping from across the nation will be available in The Pointe at the end of the month, as stores located in New York and Chicago, Marblehead, Mass., Wilmington, Del., Bryn Mawr, Pa., and elsewhere converge on the Grosse Pointe War Memorial for the annual Planned Parenthood Holiday Mart. General admission is $2 on Thursday, Oct. 28, when Mart hours are 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29 and 30, when the Mart will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Information on Preview Party tickets (Wednesday, Oct. 27, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.) may be obtained by calling 886-9784. Mart proceeds support the educational programs and activities of Planned Parenthood League, Inc.

Congratulations Are in Order . . .

. . . for Grosse Pointe's Dale Austin, 1982 recipient of The Figaro Award, Michigan Opera Theatre's special recognition for outstanding volunteers. Dale and her husband, Dr. Donald Austin, have been members of MOT's Guild since 1974, and currently serve as opera trustees.

The Guild, a volunteer organization, plans hospitality and social functions for visiting performers, provides workers for the MOT Education Department's Docent Program in the public schools, offers clerical support in the opera offices and raises funds through a number of different benefits, such as the MOT Garage Sales. It also administers and staffs the MOT Guild Opera Boutique located in RenCen's Tower 100 and provides volunteer ushers for the opera company's main season at Music Hall.

Dale has worked as a substitute receptionist. For a number of years she has excelled in selling season ticket subscriptions, particularly over the telephone. She has served on numerous committees, including the 1982 Auction and the 1981 Garage Sale committees.

She's also participated in over 15 MOT operas herself, as a supernumerary or "super," an opera extra who appears on-stage in a non-singing role. Last season, she was a 100-year-old gypsy in "Carmen." It was a switch from her usual role, for Dale is known as MOT's leading Lady of the Evening, having played one in several productions. She was appointed supernumerary coordinator by MOT's general director, Dr. David DiChiera, this season.

Even if you're not an opera buff, and you haven't seen her on-stage, you probably know what she looks like. Dale is the attractive blonde in the current MOT season television commercial, appearing with fellow opera trustee Ollie Fretter and opera enthusiasts Bill Kennedy, Dick Purtan and Lem Barney.

And congratulations are in order . . . for Mountain Bourbon, the five gaited gelding owned and shown by Grosse Pointe's Frances Shook, which won the prestigious open five gaited championship at the 1982 Michigan Futurity Horse Show at the State Fair Grounds Sept. 25. Congratulations too, of course, to Miss Shook and trainer Derek Repp, associated with Summerfield Farms in Temperance, O.

Sister Hilda's Phase I night

Sister Hilda, an Episcopalian nun, will be the guest speaker at this Sunday's Phase I meeting at 7:45 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. In her Oct. 10 talk she'll describe her work at the center, located near Belle Isle, where she leads self-help clinics and attends to the needs of Detroit's Inner City residents.

Phase I is an organization of single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly fall through spring for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and sponsor various other activities and projects during the year.

Detroit Genealogical Society to convene

Noel Van Gordon, of the Burton Historical Collection, will speak on "The Special Collections That May Be Overlooked and Better Use of Library Resources" at a meeting of the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research this Saturday, Oct. 9, at 2 p.m. in the Explorer's Room of the Main Branch Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue, opposite the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Consultations with officers of the society will be available in the Burton Historical Collection prior to the meeting. Society publications will be offered following the program.

Time-ly topic for Fox Creek

The Fox Creek Chapter of Questers will meet next Thursday, Oct. 14, at 12:30 at the Sunningdale Drive home of Mrs. Richard Seymour who will be assisted by co-hostess Mrs. F. Geoffrey Welsher. Mrs. Seymour will be sharing her family collection of clocks, found from attic to basement in her house. Her program is entitled "Ticking on All Floors."

MOT presents 'Haunted Castle'

Michigan Opera Theatre opens its 1982-83 season with the United States premier of one of Poland's most celebrated operas, "The Haunted Castle" by Stanislaw Moniuszko, debuted last Friday, Oct. 1, at the Music Hall. Remaining performances of this 19th century work by the Father of Polish Opera, in a newly commissioned English translation, are scheduled for Oct. 8 and 9.

Moniuszko, who died in 1872, wrote widely for the voice. He is perhaps best known for his nationalistic opera "Halka."

"The Haunted Castle" was first performed in Warsaw in 1865, but Czarist censorship prohibited Polish performances of the opera for years; later, the work received wide attention throughout central Europe. It is, despite its political overtones, a lighthearted piece, filled with many colorful scenes depicting Polish life and tradition and magnificent dance numbers such as the fiery Mazur.

The four-act opera, staged for MOT by Wojciech Haik, is being conducted by von Karajan prize-winner Jacek Kasprzyk. It is designed by Milosz Benedyktowicz. The three are veterans of the theater, music and television worlds of Poland. The English translation was done by Sally Williams-Haik, costumes by Marta Sawka.

"The Haunted Castle" tells of two young 17th century knights who pledge to remain bachelors and always be ready to serve their beloved Poland. Of course, others have plans for these two eligible men... and their visit to the haunted castle is their undoing as love conquers all.

To support this expensive "Haunted Castle" project MOT enlisted the aid of Detroit's Polish community, which embarked on an ambitious fundraising campaign to raise $80,000. In addition to this financial donation, the opera company has received priceless support from other individuals and groups.

The Lutnia Singing Society of Detroit was one of the first to offer David DiChiera, general director of Michigan Opera Theatre, encouragement for the project by lending the opera company the entire musical score for "The Haunted Castle." This group, which celebrates its 75th anniversary next year, was given the music in the late 1940s by its sister organization, Lutnia of Warsaw.

Next, Dr. DiChiera found one of the finest collections of Polish costumes and an equally generous Daniel Kozak, owner of the Royal Eagle Restaurant in Indian Village. Kozak has allowed his valuable collection of authentic costumes, including hand-beaded vests, colorful skirts and embroidered blouses, to be used in the production.

Poland has inspired some of the best poster art in the world. "The Haunted Castle" has its own souvenir poster to mark this United States premier, courtesy of Don Burzynski, vice-president and creative director of D.C. Frey and Associates, and commercial photographer Gary Ryan. The two Polish men (Ryan is half Polish) gathered a group of graphic artists, illustrators and printers willing to donate their talents to the project.

The poster is available from the opera offices and at the Opera Theatre Boutique located in Tower 100 of the Renaissance Center.

Tickets for "The Haunted Castle" are on sale now at the Music Hall Box Office and all CTC outlets.

For more information, or to charge tickets by phone, call 963-7680.

Robert G. Johnston, Ph.D., of Wayne State University, will speak on Speech Disorders at the Wednesday, Oct. 13, meeting of the Macomb County Chapter of the American Association of Medical Assistants, Inc.

The program at J. Ross Browne's Whaling Station, located on Van Dyke in Warren, is open to all medical office personnel, including assistants, technicians and managers, and begins with cocktails at 6 p.m.

Dinner, at $8.25 per person, will be served at 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by contacting Anne Frattaretti, 778-4419 (home), 939-6640 (office), no later than Monday, Oct. 11.

German-American ladies will lunch

The German-American Cultural Center Ladies' Auxiliary will present its annual fall fashion show Tuesday, Oct. 12, at noon at the Cultural Center clubhouse on East Outer Drive. Admission is by reservation only. Tickets, at $8.50 per person, are available now by contacting Zelda Varkula, 527-2958.

The fashions, courtesy of Lena of Troy, will be modeled by auxiliary members. A group of "special fashions" will be highlighted this year, plus entertainment and a luncheon featuring chicken breast l'orange and home-baked dessert. Agnes Neumann and Irene Grosse are co-chairing the party.

Grosse Pointe South High School senior CHRISTOPHER WHITNEY, son of MR and MRS CLARK WHITNEY, of Lakepointe Avenue, has been awarded the Rensselaer Medal, given annually to high school students for outstanding achievements in the study of mathematics and science in their junior year.

Dorati returns to lead DSO

From tonight, Thursday, Oct. 7, to Saturday, Oct. 23, Conductor Laureate Antal Dorati will be on the Detroit Symphony Orchestra podium for seven subscription concerts, including six performances at Ford Auditorium plus the premier concert of a new Friday evening series at Orchestra Hall.

In addition, he will direct the DSO at a special concert, featuring popular works by Gershwin and Grofe at popular prices, which has been added to the Ford Auditorium schedule at 3:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17.

For his initial subscription week, tonight, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 7, 8 and 9, Maestro Dorati will open his programs with Haydn's Symphony No. 93 in D. This will be the DSO's first performance of that Haydn work.

Guest soloist for this trio of concerts is French pianist Hortense Cartier-Bresson, making her DSO debut with Bartok's Piano Concerto No. 3. The final selection will be Brahms's Symphony No. 4 in E minor, Op. 98.

Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday at Ford Auditorium and Friday at Orchestra Hall, for 8:30 p.m. Saturday at Ford Auditorium. Single tickets are on sale at Ford Auditorium box office and all CTC outlets. MasterCard and VISA charge card customers may order by telephone at 567-1400.

Rick's fingers fashion armies in miniature

By Janet Mueller

"It takes 30 seconds for the lead to set," explains Rick Walker, maker of military miniatures, "and then there's trimming, filing . . . If I'm making a really detailed figure, like a Napoleonic soldier, it takes about two-and-a-half hours to paint."

At right is the "factory," where Rick casts his figures. At top he applies finishing paint touches to an almost-completed soldier. This is a standard size military miniature: the Samurai warrior for which Rick recently won a prize was considerably smaller, 25 millimeters, and he's done a 15 millimeter piece incorporating a Confederate flag in which all 13 stars are visible! "I'm getting up the nerve to paint the kilt on a Scots soldier," he says.

At bottom, Rick shows off some pieces from his personal collection of historic miniatures, including a Spirit of '76. If you're the sort of person who turns to the Feature Page of a newspaper first, and you want to see more of (and know more about) Rick, turn back to Page One of the Second Section, and start at the beginning of the story . . . photos by Betty Carpenter

Rose Society meets Oct. 13

A fall miniature rose show will be held during this month's meeting of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society. Each member or guest is invited to bring as many as three miniature rose blooms, one bloom per stem, of his/her favorite flowers to the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road, next Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 7:45 p.m.

Ribbons will be awarded for the better blooms, and surprise awards will be presented to the growers of the three best mini roses.

The October meeting will also feature an open discussion on this year's growing season for roses. Members and guests will be invited to share reflections about which rose varieties grew well this season, comments about the new 1982 roses — Brandy, Shreveport, Mon Cheri and the miniature introductions — and discussion of the perennial problems of mildew, blackspot and insects which may have bothered the roses.

The seminar will be conducted by the Pointe Rose Society's Consulting Rosarians. The meeting will conclude with suggestions for rose culture during October and November, and winter protection.

Guests are most welcome. Refreshments will be served. Hostesses for the evening are Marge Vincent, Linda Brabson and Mary Warman.

Wonderful weekend for chrysanthemums

The National Chrysanthemum Society's 39th Annual Chrysanthemum Show will be presented Saturday, Oct. 16, from 1 to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 17, from noon to 5 p.m. at the Tel-Twelve Mall, in conjunction with the National Society's 39th annual meeting which opens Friday, Oct. 15, with a 1:30 p.m. symposium followed by the meeting at 4 p.m. at the Holiday Inn of Southfield.

The show is sponsored by the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society and will feature "Mums in Michigan" as its theme. Over 1,000 entries are expected from members of 58 societies in 30 states and Canada. There is no admission charge for either the show or the symposium, and both are open to the public.

ELEGANT EATING

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a way for the clever family to capture the taste of autumn all winter long via PRESERVED FRUITS.

PICKLED PEACHES

8 lbs. small, firm ripe peaches
1 gallon cold water
2 Tbsp. pickling salt
2 Tbsp. white vinegar
Whole cloves

PICKLING SYRUP

1 quart white vinegar
1 quart water
3 lbs. sugar
4 cinnamon sticks, broken and tied in cheesecloth bag

Peel peaches, then drop into the water solution in which the salt and vinegar have been dissolved (to prevent discoloration). Leave peaches whole and do not remove pits. Stud each peach with 2 or 3 cloves.

Place syrup ingredients in a large enamel preserving kettle and bring to a boil. Add peaches, a few at a time, and simmer uncovered 5 to 7 minutes until barely tender. Remove peaches with a slotted spoon and set aside while cooking the remainder. When all are cooked, bring syrup to a boil and pour over the peaches; cover and let stand overnight (this plums them and greatly improves the flavor).

Next day sterilize 10 pint jars with their lids. Drain the syrup from the peaches and bring to a boil; discard spice bag. Pack peaches in hot jars, then fill jars with boiling syrup to within 1/4-inch of the rim. Seal and process in a hot water bath for 10 minutes. Cool, check seals, and store in cool, dark place for 4 to 6 weeks before using. Makes 10 pints.

Calories about 50 per peach. Cholesterol 0.

PICKLED PEARS

Follow recipe for Pickled Peaches, substituting small, firm-ripe pears for the peaches. Leave on stems, remove bloom ends and peel. Add the cloves and ginger root to the spice bag, if desired.

Calories about 75 per pear. Cholesterol 0.

PICKLED CRAB APPLES

Substitute 8 pounds firm-ripe, unpeeled crab apples for the peaches. Do not peel or remove stems. Cut out only the blossom end and prick each crab apple four to five times with heavy needle to prevent bursting. Add only the cloves to the spice bag, along with the cinnamon.

Calories about 45 per crab apple. Cholesterol 0.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

NEWSPAPERS, television networks, cartoonists and comedians have shared in painting a perfect picture of the strike-frustrated professional football fan: he's the wide-eyed guy, can of beer in hand, staring at a blank TV screen and mumbling something about broken pass patterns. But is that picture accurate?

It has now been more than two weeks since the last whistle blew on pro football in the United States. Aside from a few feelings of anger (at players and owners), boredom (during certain times of the week, like Sundays, Monday evenings and the occasional Thursday night), and a sense of loss (it figures the NFL players would strike when the Detroit Lions get off to a 2-0 start — where were they when we needed them when the Lions were 2-14?) ... people, and football fans, have found they can survive quite well without pro football.

Personally, the only difficulty I've had with the football strike is getting my bearings during the period between Saturday night and Monday morning. I know that Saturday night is the time to stay up late, or go out to a movie, or do any of a dozen things one usually does that night. I also know that Monday is the day when it is nothing short of impossible to drag oneself out of bed and head into work.

It's that in between time which has become a problem since the NFL players went on strike. I mean, without CBS' Phyllis, Brent, Irv and the Greek telling me who will win the games I'll see that day, how will I know what to do between noon and 7 p.m.? Without an endless jumble of instant replays, commercials, slow motion angles and double reverses, how will I know when it's time to take a break for Sunday dinner?

WITHOUT FOOTBALL how will I know it's Sunday?

Realizing what an important problem this could become, I sought guidance from Sister Sean Therese Halpin's eighth grade English classes at St. Paul School. Here's what they came up with in their 500 word compositions: "Without Football, How Will We Know It Is Sunday?"

"You know it's Sunday when mother comes upstairs, drags you out of bed, makes you take a shower, comb your hair nice and put on a suit or dress. All this is going on at 8 a.m., when you went to bed at 2 a.m." — Julie Chickola

"My family is not very involved in the sport of football ..."

"I will know it is Sunday by an invention Julius Caesar claimed which was and still is called a calendar ... not only can I tell it is Sunday with the calendar, I can also tell if it is Monday or Tuesday." — Laura Gagnon

"In my life, football has nothing to do with Sunday ... I prefer listening to and playing music, playing with my friends, being with my family ..."

"There are many ways to know that Sunday is Sunday without football. One way is to read the paper. On top of the page there is the date, month, year and day. A story may also be like this: 'Today, on this Sunday, there will be no football due to the strike.'"

"... you can rake the leaves. Football was your excuse last weekend, but now is the time to get it done. Without football, people will also have no excuse not to get to church." — Katy Distel

"On Sunday afternoons you (could) see generations of families in their living rooms watching their sets and eating chips and drinking beer ... now we are faced with the question of what will happen to the fans? Will they fade into the woodwork? Will team pennants and flags be folded and stuffed into the attic? Or what if the season ends before it has a real chance to start? We will probably never know ..."

"JUST BECAUSE the NFL is on strike, that doesn't mean we don't have football ... many of the stations are offering Canadian football in hopes of satisfying some of the normal football watchers. Some of the networks are attempting to offer other types of sports action, hoping it will make them money the same way football did." — Mike Vazquez

"On Sunday, you won't see football games, but instead you would see reruns of previous Superbowls, or great moments in football, things like that. You would also see more Mel Farr ads, along with other car commercials." — Ray Echlin

"Even without Sunday afternoon football, Sunday is a special day. It is a family day ... a day of being at home together." — Patti Molloy

St. Paul's Sr. Sean was right when she said she got some very thoughtful responses from her English classes. If the message these teenagers are sending out is representative of the football-loving public, the football powers-that-be might take a hard look at the strike situation. They might just be playing out a version of that old line, "what if they gave a football strike and nobody cared?"

After all, Sunday was invented long before anybody knew what first and ten meant.

THOSE GROSSE POINTE Cable TV subscribers who couldn't believe their eyes when they tuned into channel 25, the USA network at around 7:30 p.m., Sept. 29, and thought they were watching the Detroit Tiger-Baltimore Oriole game can rest easy — they really did see what they thought they did. Although Major League Baseball's contract calls for any cable system within 50 miles of a city with a major league team to black out the USA Network's Thursday Night Baseball Series, the Detroit-Baltimore game was shown in this area.

"We are obligated to black Thursday Night baseball. But that game was on Wednesday night and it was a substitute game from the USA Network, another game was to have (Continued on Page 3C)

It was hot. . . . It was so hot for Sunday's 5th annual Free Press marathon, that the "drink or splash" crew in front of the Punch and Judy wouldn't have minded a drink or a splash themselves. Here the sun-soaked runners and wheelchair participants slow down for a pause that refreshes.

... but they had help

Heat couldn't wilt determined runners

Neither heat nor cramps, nor dehydration could keep 3,780 runners from finishing last Sunday's 5th annual Detroit Free Press International Marathon. According to the Free Press, 97 of those who finished were from the Pointe — and from William Weidenbach, of the Woods, who finished fourth, to Carol Balkus, of the Park, who crossed the line seventh from last — each managed to complete the course despite the oppressive heat.

Dave Hinz, 29, of Ann Arbor, was the first runner across the finish line, turning in a time of 2:17:41. Ann Arbor's Karen Hubbard was the first female finisher, finishing in 2:45:05, 36 seconds short of her 1979 course record. Kris Lenzo, 23, of Detroit, was the first participant to finish, turning in his wheelchair time of 2:07:15.

Pointers who lined the Lakeshore, Kerby and Kercheval to catch a glimpse of the sunsoaked runners were rewarded with sights like the guy who competed wearing a multicolored, nylon Afro wig; some seemingly exhausted runners who urged spectators to "Come on, look alive! Let's hear some chatter, we need it!" and backwards runner Scott Weiland, Weiland, of Union Lake, ran the entire course backwards in 4:07:54, thus becoming the first man to run a marathon backwards in front of witnesses and insuring himself a spot in the Guinness Book of World Records.

If the water and Gatorade didn't give sagging runners a boost, it must have been the hundreds of excited spectators who lined the streets for last Sunday's race. As the sign said: Go for it!

Following are the positions and times of Pointe runners who completed the marathon:

FINISHING FOURTH, Weidenbach, 2:23:02; 131 — Thomas Dupont, 2:48:39; 141 — John Liza, 2:49:31; 204 — Jeffrey Toepler, 2:54:14; 214 — Brian Smith, 2:55:19; 316 — David Burandt, 3:01:30; 513 — Timothy Dembeck, 3:09:28.

Number 575 — N. Gudsen, 3:11:52; 582 — James Campbell, 3:12:13; 687 — R. Middleton, 3:16:43; 698 — Robert Lucas, 3:17:02; 703 — David Ferris, 3:17:16; 772 — Gerald Verani, 3:19:25; 820 — David Erlich, 3:20:48; 823 — G. Mark Cook, (Continued on Page 3C) and they kept on going . . .

More than 3,700 runners did just that, finishing the marathon despite the heat. And some, like this runner, made statements while they kept on going. (Photos by Tom Greenwood).

Prep Bowl '82 action is set

For 15 years he was in the limelight as one of major league baseball's premier backstops. Now, Bill Freehan is back in the forefront of service. He has been named honorary chairman of Prep Bowl '82, a 13-hour day of football fun and excitement at the Pontiac Silverdome on Sunday, Nov. 7.

"I see values in programs like the Prep Bowl," says the 11-time All-Star catcher with the Detroit Tigers, "and that's not just athletic but total character development."

Prep Bowl '82 will display the finest in Catholic physical education. Tickets for the Nov. 7 extravaganza at the Silverdome are $3 in advance and are on sale now at the Silverdome Box Office, CTC outlets, Catholic schools, Knights of Columbus Councils, who co-sponsor the festivities, or by sending a check or money order payable to: Catholic High School League, Prep Bowl '82, 305 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226. No. 1—for a while, at least

By Craig Van Vliet

Grosse Pointe South's tennis team continued its excellence this year, earning a No. 1 ranking in the state, by the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association, Sept. 27.

South's tennis coach Stephanie Prychitko was not surprised by the weekly rankings.

"We've won the state title for the last six years," Prychitko said before the Oct. 2 Kingswood meet. "It seems we're always ranked high in the standings, but we won't know what the other teams are like until we play them at the Kingswood Tournament. That's where we'll be matched up against the top teams in the state, including second-ranked Birmingham Seaholm."

(South's tennis team found out where it stacked up against the rest of the state when it placed third at the Kingswood tourney on Oct. 2, behind Kingswood and Birmingham Seaholm.)

The Kingswood tournament was unlike most meets, Prychitko said. The pairing of matches was done by a draw.

Returning from last year's state team are Michele Coddens, No. 2 doubles and Madeleine Willard, No. 2 singles.

Prychitko won't be looking for No. 1 talent because Meghan McMahon is returning to play her senior year. Meghan was the No. 1 singles player in the state in her freshman and sophomore years.

Prychitko, proud of McMahon's talents, calls her "the best player on the team."

South's varsity tennis team is basically a young squad. It is made up of one senior, two juniors, five sophomores and two freshmen.

"We had over 80 girls try out for the team," Prychitko said. "We had to cut down to 41 players but we currently have only 39."

There were only 10 varsity positions and seven J.V. spots for the girls to play in, Prychitko said. "So the girls are really eager to play."

"The reason why I keep so many players is that there is so much interest in the community. If the girls are given the right encouragement they will continue to develop their skills in summer and winter programs," said Prychitko.

"But the real success of the program is in the family encouragement. The girls start playing tennis at a young age with lessons and summer teams, so by the time they show up for high school they already know what they are doing."

"I don't change their game," said Prychitko. "You can't do much in only a nine to 10 week season. All I try to do is to place them where they are."

The top eight tennis teams in the state participated in the Kingswood tournament, which included schools from Class A, B and C-D.

McMahon won the No. 1 singles match, Madeleine Willard the No. 2 singles and Michele Coddens and Lil Peterson the No. 1 doubles title.

"This was a good learning experience for our young team," said Prychitko. "What we have to do now is to prepare for the state meet which is only three weeks away."

South cross country mark at 5-1

South's girls' cross country team upped its record to 5-1 with a 15-48 win over league rival Mt. Clemens last week. South had the first six runners through the finish line on the 5000 meter (three mile) course. South, with two league meets remaining, is attempting to capture its fourth straight league title. Wins over L'Anse Creuse North and Roseville during the next two weeks will insure this goal.

Top runners for South have included sophomore Meg Moisen and senior Suzanne Cebrowski, each running under 20 minutes for the three mile course. Other top South runners include senior Liz Kane, juniors Kathy Mastroianni, Tricia Posselium and Mary Jo Kalmar, sophomores Barb Giroux, Karen Campbell and Kerry Bruce, and freshmen Nancy Solterisch and Kelly Riehl.

South will face L'Anse Creuse North at 4 p.m. Oct. 12 at Patterson Park.

T & C champs are crowned

Nearly 800 tennis buffs battled it out on Grosse Pointe tennis courts in September in the 16th annual Tennis and Crumpets Benefit for Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Tournament finals were held Saturday, Sept. 25 at the Grosse Pointe Indoor Tennis Club. Participants competed in four divisions, including Pro-Am, "A," "B" and "C."

Emily Baker and Joseph Shaheen won top honors in the Pro-Am division. "A" division winners were Dennis Cavanaugh and Jean Rivard. Gayle Gaston and Bill Dobroff won the "B" division finals. Winners in the "C" division were Mr. and Mrs. John Cebrowski.

Runners-up included Jeff Hodges and Faye Robb (Pro-Am), Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keller (A Division), Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Steffes (B Division), and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Grob (C Division). Tournament winners were awarded engraved sterling silver Revere bowls and lucite picture frames complete with their photos taken during the competition.

Tennis and Crumpets proceeds will help support the Research Division of Pediatric Surgery at Children's Hospital of Michigan.

"Our thanks to all who 'raised a racket' for Children's Hospital," said Susie Rohde (Mrs. Arthur J., Jr.), Benefit Chairman. "Players, court hosts and hostesses, volunteers and patrons really gave 200 percent to make Tennis and Crumpets a great success this year!"

North takes 17-14 win

By Paul Regelbrugge

Amassing an amazing 403 total yards, including 17 first downs, North's varsity football team overcame a 7-0 halftime deficit to win on a six-yard touchdown run by senior co-captain Scott DeClaire with just two and a half minutes remaining, 17-14.

"We hadn't put together a 60-yard drive in our first three games, but we had three on Friday," said North coach Frank Sumner. "The whole team played very well."

Junior Fred Schultz, who rushed for 176 yards, put North on the scoreboard with a 25-yard run into the end zone. Dave Bergeron then kicked a 22-yard field goal to put North ahead, 9-7, before a 21-yard touch down run by Clintondale's Lonnie Connors brought the Dragons back on top. DeClaire then gave the Norsemen their second win against two losses with his touchdown.

Offensive stars were Jim Mestdagh, just off the injured list, and Bergeron. Defensively, Dave Babcock, Cedric Patmon and Bergeron kept the Dragons at bay.

North meets Waterford Township this Saturday, Oct. 9, at 1 p.m. on Homecoming Day.

Girls basketball record 1-2

North's girls' basketball team, trailing by only one point at the half against South, went cold while South got hot to win, 57-40. The Norsemen then bounced back to win in overtime, 57-51, against L'Anse Creuse North, before losing again to Brablec, 36-32. North is now 2-5 overall.

Jan Hamilton led the Norsemen with 12 points against the Blue Devils, while Liz Seagram scored 17 points. Jean Genord, 12 and Michelle Witt, 10 to defeat L.C.N.

Brownell cagers are undefeated

The Brownell eighth grade girls' basketball team opened its season with two wins. Brownell first beat L'Anse Creuse Central, 25-7, as co-captain Julie Cook was the game high scorer with eight points. Co-captain Marcia Wright scored five, captain Mary Wachter and Mary Beth Hicks scored four points each. Eleanor Allen added two points for the victors.

Brownell then made it two straight by defeating Parcels, 31-23. Wachter was the game high scorer with 14 points. Wright scored 10, Allen had four and Seagram again led North with 11 points in the Brablec loss.

The JV came up short as they fell to L.C.N., 34-29, before they smashed Brablec, 50-13.

Celeste Sartor led all scorers in both contests with 17 points against L.C.N. and 11 versus Brablec. Pam Boesiger hooped eight and Paula Harms had seven in the latter match.

The freshmen lost to L.C.N., 31-17, before 17 points in the fourth quarter did away with Oakwood, 47-36. Chris Gustafson had 17 points and 7 rebounds in the winning effort.

A cross country win

The girls' cross country team won a Bi-County League match, 15-49, against Lake Shore as nine of the top 10 runners were Norsemen. Martha Whitaker, Patty Loeher and Barb Mezger starred for North.

Secor stars for North

In a battle of the undefeated, the JV football squad prevailed over Warren Cousino, 13-0 last week.

Will Secor ran for a record-breaking 190 yards and a touchdown for North. George Kasza plunged in for North's other score.

Soccer win streak continues

The Norsemen extended their amazing varsity soccer winning streak to nine games with 5-0 whitewashes of South and Chipewah Valley. Now 9-0, North is four points ahead of second place Utica Stevenson and Utica Eisenhower.

South played North to a tight, scoreless first half before the Norsemen exploded with second half goals by Walter Preisz, Paul (Continued on Page 3C)
