SUMMER School is, or was, an idyll—some spell that word the other way—in which the proper blending of work and play was apparent. Twilight on the Campus dotted with figures in light gowns of pastel shades made time and place simulate a land of faery.

THE FEMININE GENDER predominated. The comment heard from all sides is to the effect that less of the lame ducks,—or should one say drakes—are coming back to make up for delinquencies in the preceding term; and more of the earnest young school teachers, avid for instruction, are flocking to a place that combines the academic and the terpsichoric. One of the professors was heard to say that if the students of the regular terms were as keen to be taught as are most of those of the summer term, the profs would wear out sooner than they do.

ATTENDANCE at Summer School did not equal that of the preceding few years. But that was because the training in physical culture, a subject that was required by law under war-time frenzies, was no longer required, and its teaching was transferred to the normal school at Cortland. In addition to this loss in numbers, another falling-off came from the fact that the summer courses in music that flourished under Professor Dann have gradually dwindled, and particularly this year, with Professor Quarles about to leave to take up his new work as head of the music department at the University of Missouri. But in all other courses the attendance has been greatly augmented, and the consensus of opinion is that this year's session was the best in many years.

PHYSICAL CULTURE was not lacking among the summer school students, however, as anyone will agree who saw the early morning classes in equitation, when squadrons of ladies of all ages and sizes astride the Percheron-type artillery horses get their orders from hard-boiled Army sergeants. The finer points, of course, are taught by the officers; but it's the "top" who says, "Say, wot's de matter wid youse? Here it is eight o'clock and ye ain't even mounted yet. Snap into it!"

SWIMMING, too, had its devotees. The pools in Fall Creek, Van Natta's dam in Six Mile, the beach at Stewart Park, and various other places were crowded almost every afternoon. And the bathing suits are such that the beaches of Ostend and Biarritz have nothing on them. That sentence should not be misconstrued; the bathers of the Summer School have something on them, but not over-much. And they get into the bathing togs at some considerable distance from the natatory rendezvous, and walk or motor to the water to the considerable delectation of the passers by.

ART, which seems to come next by a natural transition, showed some development this year, when the classes in drawing and painting, from cast, still life, and from landscapes, held an exhibit at the end of the term with more than two hundred drawings completed in the six weeks. While it was not meant as a showing of excellences, it contained much that indicated real achievement, and real possibilities for the development of Cornell as a summer art center.

FIRE in Roberts Hall on July 24 did a considerable amount of damage in a very brief space of time, when a steel drum of disinfectant exploded in the basement and threatened to destroy the whole building. Fortunately, the start was made shortly after one in the afternoon, rather than at one at night, and the priceless and irreplaceable collections in the building were spared. Some of the publications were destroyed, and the older files of back numbers of agricultural bulletins were badly damaged. Prompt action on the part of the College employees and of the Ithaca fire department alone saved Roberts Hall from complete destruction. As it was, the basement was badly scorched and damaged, and hardly a part of the building was free from disfigurement from the dense smoke.

ITHACA had the experience of a trolley-car strike after thirty-nine years without any such labor difficulty. The strike lasted four days and was ended by a compromise between operators and employees on what both groups characterized as a fifty-fifty basis. The men obtained an increase but not as much as they asked for. The strike caused minimum inconvenience because it came between the regular session and the Summer Session.

ARTHUR C. MILLIKEN '24, student in architecture from Elmhurst, dived off the top of the Hydraulic Laboratory into the pool below the Triphammer Falls and is none the worse for wear. The impact with the water, however, stripped him of his bathing suit by bursting the straps across the shoulders and taking the suit clear off. The distance from the top of the building to the surface of the pool is about one hundred feet and the pool itself is approximately fifteen feet deep.

WEATHER IN ITHACA has been ideal from the point of view of personal enjoyment. The surrounding country has suffered from the drouth which has been so trying and expensive to farmers, and has reduced the creeks to mere trickles; but the proportion of sunlight has been sufficient, the showers have considerably confined themselves mainly to the small hours of the night, and the temperature has more often been too cool than too warm,—still speaking from the angle of creature comfort.

NO MORE IMPRESSIVE ceremonies have been held at Cornell than those participated in jointly by the citizens of Ithaca and the University community on the day of President Harding's funeral, when Schoellkopf Field held about four thousand people gathered to honor the Chief Executive's memory. The addresses, both brief and in just the right key, were made by President Farrand and Judge Willard Kent '08; the music was appropriate, and the whole ceremony had been led up to by the playing of the chimes, which had floated the dead President's favorite hymns "over gleaming lake and dell."

VETERINARIANS met at Cornell in July for the thirty-third annual convention of the New York State Veterinary Medical Society. About one hundred were present at meetings, including C. P. Norgord, the new Assistant State Commissioner of Agriculture, who is especially interested in the problem of tuberculosis in cattle. Cornell's is said to be the first veterinary college established in this country.

WILLIAM L. ALLEN '24, of Healdton, Oklahoma, is reputed as one of the two best all-round athletes at the Plattsburg R. O. T. C. camp, sharing first place honors with a Rutgers man. Third place went to the captain-elect of the Rutgers basketball team, and a letter man in four sports. Other high scorers were Stuart B. Kellogg '24, of Whitesboro; F. E. Smith '24, of Ridgewood; A. M. Stebbins '24, of Brooklyn.

A NEW eighteen-hole course is being constructed by the local Country Club, which takes in the old course east of Triphammer Road and property acquired from the Kline Farm and from Jared T. Newman '75. The Club's property west of Triphammer Road is expected to be sold for building lots.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preachers for the Summer Session have been as follows: July 15, the Rev. Dr. Tertius Van Dyke, Park Avenue Presbyterian Church; July 22, Bishop Charles F. Fiske, of the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York; July 29, Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Washington; August 5, the Rev. Dr. Francis A. Christie, of the Meadville Theological School; August 12, Dr. Shailer Matthews, dean of the of Chicago Divinity School.

Nominate Directors Now

Buffalo Alumni Convention to Vote on Regional Directors Whose Names
Come in Before September 11

As plans mature for the general Alumni Convention to be held in Buffalo on October 11 and 12 under the auspices of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, it is evident that one of the most interesting phases of the sessions will be the election of the twelve regional directors. At the last meeting of the Associate Alumni, held at Ithaca in June, when the name was changed to the Cornell Alumni Corporation, direction and control of alumni matters was vested to a large degree in the alumni clubs throughout the world. This control will be exercised through the board of directors of the new organization. Of the fifteen directors who will comprise the board, twelve will be elected at the convention from the twelve districts into which the world has been divided.

Under the by-laws as adopted in June, any Cornell club having at least twenty members in good standing may nominate one candidate for director in the district in which it falls. It is only necessary to submit the name of the nominee to the secretary of the Corporation thirty days prior to the annual convention. It should be noted particularly by those many alumni who are not members of any club that any group of twenty or more alumni, not members of any club, have similar privileges of nomination. In such cases the nominating petitions are to be signed by at least twenty of the endorsers, and filed with the secretary in the usual manner.

The requirement that nominations must be filed thirty days prior to the convention makes it necessary to send them to the secretary not later than September 11. Nominations will be deemed to have fulfilled the specifications if the enclosing envelope bears a postmark thirty days prior to the opening of the convention, or if the nomination is delivered personally to the secretary. The secretary is Foster M. Coffin '12, 31 Morrill Hall, Ithaca.

Spirited balloting at the convention is indicated by the fact that there is a substantial number of clubs in each of the twelve districts except in District 2. That district comprises metropolitan New York. In all the other districts the number of clubs varies from six to fifteen.

Districts 1 to 4 cover New York State. District 5 is New England and all the European countries; District 6, known as the "Middle Atlantic," New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland. District 7 is the "Keystone," taking in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. District 8, the "Southern," includes Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, the District of Columbia, and the Countries of Mexico, Central America, the West Indies, and South America. District 9 is the "Great Lakes," comprising Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana. District 10, the "Central," includes Illinois and Wisconsin. District 11, the "Western," includes Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, and New Mexico. District 12 is the "Pacific," the States of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, and all foreign countries and territories, excepting Canada, which are not included in one of the foregoing districts.

Members in the Dominion of Canada are to be included in the district immediately south of them; for example, the City of Montreal is included in the Eastern District of New York, and the City of Toronto in the Western District of New York.

YALE HONORS PRESIDENT FARRAND

At its recent commencement Yale conferred upon President Farrand the degree of LL.D. The presentation was made by Professor William Lyon Phelps in the following words:

"Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell, whose first president was a Yale man, and whose present president is about to be. B.A., Princeton, 1888; M.D., College of Physicians and Surgeons; studied at Cambridge and Berlin; has received the degree of Doctor of Laws from four universities. His writings have contributed to our knowledge of history, anthropology, and psychology. He was professor of anthropology at Columbia and president of the University of Colorado, being notable for success in teaching and ability in administration. His services to the cause of public health both in times of war and of peace can hardly be overestimated. He was chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross from March 1919 to October 1921; he was director of tuberculosis work in France of the International Health Board, 1917-18; he was executive secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis from 1905 to 1914. He is an ornament to a famous family formerly associated with Princeton, and becoming more and more identified with Yale.

In conferring the degree President Angell spoke as follows:

"For your outstanding achievements in scholarship and educational administration and for your brilliant services to practical philanthropy, we confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admit you to all its rights and privileges."

A WEDDING in the midst of Commencement Week and reunion times was held on June 16 in Sage Chapel when Miss Catherine Highley Bowers '23, of Columbia, Pennsylvania, was married to Ira Cornwall Matthiessen '23, student in electrical engineering, from Chicago, Ill.

Gives "Dixie" Manuscript

Charles W. Curtis '88 Presents Original
Copy of Famous Song to University Library

Through the gift of Charles W. Curtis '88 of Rochester, Cornell has become the possessor of an unusual manuscript—an author's copy of the famous old song "Dixie" by Daniel Decatur Emmett, also known as the "Father of Minstrelsy." Mr. Curtis brought the manuscript to Ithaca at reunion time last June. The gift includes a photograph of the author. Both have been placed in a show case in the vestibule of the Library.

The original manuscript was stolen from the composer, who died in Mt. Vernon, Ohio, in 1904. Only five of the twenty stanzas are shown in the present copy which was made by the author at the request of a cousin of Mr. Curtis and which came to him upon her death in 1912. Other copies were also made by Emmett and one is now owned by the Ohio State Historical Society.

Mr. Curtis loaned the manuscript of the song for a year to the State Historical Association of North Carolina, where it has been on exhibition in the Hall of History in the State Museum at Raleigh with a background of Confederate flags that saw service in the Civil War.

The story of how the old song came to be written is quoted in the language of the veteran minstrel man as follows:

"I remembered when a boy with the circus that the performers always spoke of Dixie land when winter approached and the season for a tour in the South drew near. This came to be a part of the circus vernacular, and grew from the conflict which was then already being fomented on the slavery question. A man named Dixie owned a great plantation on Manhattan Island. When he was compelled to abandon slavery he took his estates to Maryland and thereafter when a slave owner was compelled to leave the North it came to be remarked that he was going to Dixie's land. From this the term grew until it lost all its provincialism.

"A rainy day had much to do with the composition of the song. I was playing with Bryant's minstrels at 472 Broadway in the spring of 1859. I had written a number of walk arounds and choruses, among them 'Old Dan Tucker,' so that when Neil Bryant came to me after the performance on one Saturday night and asked me to write a new walk around, I thought the request nothing unusual. 'Uncle Dan,' he said, 'I want you to compose a new walk around, one that the boys will whistle and the bands play in the street, something with lots of melody in it.'

"On Sunday it rained incessantly, and with my wife I was compelled to remain indoors. I thought over the walk around all day, but could get no suitable inspiration. I was standing by the window, gazing out at the drizzly, raw day, and the old circus feeling came over me. I hummed the old refrain 'I Wish I Was in Dixie,' and the inspiration struck me. I took my pen and in ten minutes had written the first verses with music. The remaining verses were easy.

"The old circus refrain was given in a pitch that suggested melancholy yearning. When I began to write I voluntarily increased the time until it developed the stirring rhythm of the march. I then took my old fiddle and arranged the orchestra parts. The next Monday evening I sang the song and it took with such favor that I sang no other song during the seven remaining years I was with Bryant. The bands took up the air, and the South adopted it as its own. When the war broke out, Southern bands played it as a rallying air on muster day, and just before Pickett made his famous charge at Gettysburg, he ordered the bands to play 'Dixie.'

"The original manuscript of the song was stolen from me years ago, and I never obtained any clue to its whereabouts. I have heard that a Confederate society in the South has it, but I don't believe it, as I have a letter of request from nearly every society there for the manuscript. I sold the copyright to a publisher for $500 which is all I ever received from the composition."

With the manuscript of "Dixie" Mr. Curtis gave the University a copy of a Masonic Glee Book more than one hundred years old. It contains the words and music of the old drinking song, "An Ode to Anacreon," to the music of which "The Star Spangled Banner" is written. The book also contains other old songs and "rounds" and considerable historical data of the Masonic fraternity.

APPOINT MEDICAL FELLOW

A travelling fellowship in medicine of $2,000 established this year at the Medical College in New York, has been awarded for 1923-24 to Harold E. Himwich, M.D. '19. Dr. Himwich was awarded his B. S. degree by the College of the City of New York in 1915. Since his graduation from the Medical College in 1919 he has been an interne at Bellevue Hospital and since 1921, resident physician on the second medical division of that hospital. For the past six months he has been engaged in research under that department and the Russell Sage Institute of Pathology, of which Dr. Eugene F. DuBois of the Medical College is also medical director.

The new fellowship is open to men and women who have graduated from Cornell within ten years, or who are graduates of other medical colleges within ten years and are now members of the Cornell instructing staff. Candidates must have completed a hospital internship or have engaged in laboratory training or research for two years after graduation. Those who intend to devote their lives to teaching or research will be given preference.

SPORT STUFF

Though the summer is still with us and the rank and file are far afield, the gaunt chiefs of rocky Ithaca are swinging in. The President is back full of health—and salmon of his own killing. Dr. Frank Sheehan—pessimistic but practical—prepares special pads for football injuries which exist only in his prophetic vision. Davy Hoy is penning the usual hard-boiled communications to would be members of the Class of 1927. G. Dobie is adjusting his mind to receive in a meek and Christian spirit the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune.

The football squad has been ordered to report on Monday, September 10 at 9:30 a. m. The veterans will be here at 9:25 Those old birds take no chances.

In the rear of this paper appears a full page advertisement dealing with football tickets and kindred subjects. This may seem unseasonable, but those Old Grads who are familiar with the parable of the Foolish Virgins will cut it out and slip it under the glass plate on their desks. Football tickets mean nothing in August, but October and November are something else again.

COSMOPOLITANS STARTED HERE

The receipt of a publicity article describing the Intercollegiate Cosmopolitan Club of New York, an organization of students from all lands who are studying in the colleges and professional schools of Greater New York, has led to interesting research into the history of the first Cosmopolitan Club, founded at Cornell in 1904.

THE ALUMNI NEWS of December 7, 1904, describes the organization meeting of the Club, held in Boardman Hall the previous week, at which a constitution was adopted and officers and directors were elected. Even at this early date the organization of other chapters in the larger universities of this country was foreseen. The objects of the New York organization for which a new clubhouse is being erected on Riverside Drive, opposite Grant's Tomb, are forecast in the statement of objects formulated at the first Cornell meeting. In the minds of the charter members, these were:

1. To promote the organization of societies with similar aims wherever possible.
2. To maintain club rooms or club-houses wherever possible.
3. To aid and protect students of all nationalities.
4. To maintain free tribunes, where lectures may be delivered on any subject.
5. To promote the individual welfare of the members of the association in whatever country they may be.
6. To promote friendly and commercial relations among the several countries and a higher standard of order, justice, and living.

Twenty-one countries were represented at the first meeting and Professors Thomas F. Hunt, Everett W. Olmsted '91, George P. Bristol, and Frank A. Fetter '92 were the first trustees; Frederick D. Colson '97 was treasurer.

By the beginning of 1905 the club had seventy-five members and its first club rooms, at 311 Eddy Street, in the Goldenburg Block, were officially opened on Founder's Day. An article written by Abraham A. Freedlander '05 for The Era of June, 1905, and reprinted in THE ALUMNI NEWS for September 6, says that the new movement had already begun to attract attention. New York newspapers had commented on it, and a religious conference held in Chicago invited a representative to read a paper on the Cornell organization.

On November 10, 1911, ex-President Andrew D. White spoke at the dedication of the present clubhouse on Bryant Avenue. At the Hague convention of Corda Fratres, or "Brothers of the Heart" organized by university students in Italy in 1898, the Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs was affiliated with this world movement, and at the next convention, held in Rome in 1911, the invitation extended by the Cornell Cosmopolitan Club to meet in Ithaca in 1913 was accepted. At the same time the work of extension of this international federation was turned over to the American Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs, which, in turn, designated a Cornellian, George W. Nasmyth '07, as President Federal of the central committee of the International Federation of Students. In this work, Nasmyth traveled extensively in Europe and helped to perfect the present organization, of which the New York Intercollegiate Cosmopolitan Club is undoubtedly an outgrowth.

A FATHER TO HIS SON

The following letter was written by Professor Samuel N. Spring, a Yale graduate of '98, to his son, now in Yale, somewhat after the manner of the recent widely quoted letter by John D. Swain, Yale '92:

My dear Son: I am setting down here in writing some of the things that you and I have occasionally discussed but never fully formulated. I did not speak of them last night when we were strolling up and down waiting for the train. My heart was too full to utter them, although I had purposely started from home early, I confess, so that there might be time for just a word or two, at least, about the wonderful four years ahead of you. Instead we talked cheerful commonplaces.

It is a wonderful feeling to have a son at Yale now in the midst of things that but yesterday were new and vivid to me. I can almost hear the cheering of the classes as they formed for the march on the night of the Rush, that Wednesday night long ago.

Your going to Yale brings home rather sharply my advancing years, although the grey around my temples and the inclination to sit down comfortably and smoke after 18 holes of golf with you should have done that. We have been great chums, especially since the barrier of childhood was thrown down when you were about fifteen—each year we have been closer together, until now it is man to man. Of course, I do not fill the place that one of your own age does, but perhaps something more, for I can help you over some rough places since I am a bit older, and have in no way lost touch with youth's vision, enthusiasms, and ambitions.

The joy of accomplishing real things is just as keen as when I was your age. Obviously I shall grow old physically, but there need never come a time when I cannot appreciate the experiences which you will be having and, I hope, remain your chum always.

So much by way of introduction, always inevitable as you know from my technical articles, but perhaps not so long.

First of all, let me say that I feel a son is entitled to his father's positive views, not that these are to be thrust upon him, for each man has to decide his own life principles and work out his own practice. What I have to say is said as man to man and to give you the best I can on some problems.

Of course you have heard the hackneyed advice, "Beware of wine and women." That always seems to invite research; therefore, I do not thrust that thesis upon you. You know your mother's and my high standards. You have been singularly clean-minded here at home and at preparatory school. You have had, happily, a large group both of boy and girl friends here, and that is as it should be. You will undoubtedly find social opportunity for making further friendships. It has always seemed to me that association with good women is one of the most valuable things in life. I can count to-day many women as well as men friends. Whether you find girl friends during your course or not, the surest safeguard against putting a blot on your life is in the circle of friends you gain among your fellow students.

I hope you will have a genuine attitude of friendship for all men you meet, not that spirit occasionally present in the unspoken thought, "I wonder if I am friendly with this fellow, whether it will spoil my chances for making —."

Ripen the friendships that are worth while, those that reveal mutual regard and mutual ideals that are high. Real friendships are not mere convenient alliances, but are made by real and unselfish devotion. Be your own self and you will find happy social ties among your classmates.

Doubtless you will play cards at college; a good many men find this a source of diversion. As to gambling, I should greatly prefer that you do not play for stakes. It usually serves merely to strengthen the tendency to take needless risks and long chances as contrasted with sound responsible decisions backed up by thorough, conscientious work so necessary to real accomplishment. It tends to undermine a man's sense of economic values, to degrade sport with commercialism, to foster cheating, and with many men it insidiously undermines their moral standards.

In decision with reference to this and other use of your time you might well keep in mind the real purpose for which you are at Yale and exercise a discriminating judgment of values. You cannot of course realize the length of this period of middle age in which I now find myself. I do, and I can assure you, son, it is a long time and that the most complete and thorough preparation for it will enable you to be of the highest service in life and give you greater happiness. I would not be true to myself if I did not, therefore, urge you to strive for academic honor. Too many undergraduates to-day, as in my day, are content with superficial knowledge and a passing grade. Four years' training in mental laziness is poor preparation for life which requires the keenest mental powers.

Your mother and I both ask and expect you to apply yourself to your courses, but that need not limit you in attainment in other lines, so long as you maintain the proper balance. We desire you, so long as you are in college, to be fully a part of it. I would, therefore, urge you also to strive for physical supremacy as well as intellectual. If you fail to make a team, the endeavor, until you are dropped from the squad, is well worth while; and if you do succeed—well, I can still give the Yale cheer lustily!

Last of all, there is something other than scholarship, than athletics, than mere friendships and happy, carefree existence in college. Some one has said that the only full and final object of all endeavor upon earth is the development of the human soul. That seems more true to me every day. One cannot afford to brush lightly aside all thoughts of religion and live a life of expediency from day to day. The development of the highest character is not by the formulation of a mere "gentleman's code" of conduct, but by belief in and a living, vivid exemplification of the life and teachings of Jesus of Nazareth. A declared position in respect to religion is of the highest importance and it will give your mother and me great joy if you find it in your heart to make your position known. Religion is not in the same realm as the facts of natural science, but is largely a matter of faith, and whether we concede it or not, faith enters into every part of our life. Your service to your fellow students, to Yale, and to your country will be highest if you have striven for spiritual development and have shared the Christian concern for human suffering so wide-spread in these recent years. If you forget all else I have written, remember that I hold sound character above every thing else, for without its development the equipment of your college course is useless.

I would not write at such length if I did not realize how close together we really are and whatever the successes or the failures that may come to you, do not forget the unbounded faith I have in you always.

Love,
DAD.

VISITING PROFESSORS

In addition to members of the regular staff of instruction the following visiting professors have participated in the work of instruction in the Summer Session: Alfred A. Abrams '91, chief of the Division of Visual Instruction, State Education Department, Albany; José B. Alemany, instructor in Spanish, Syracuse; James F. Baldwin, professor of history, Vassar; Arthur E. R. Boak, professor of ancient history, University of Michigan; Samuel T. Bratten, associate professor of geology and geography, University of Missouri; Louise Courtois, instructor in French, University of Oklahoma; G. Watts Cunningham, Ph.D. '08, professor of philosophy, University of Texas; Henry G. Doyle, professor of Romance languages, George Washington University; Edgar S. Furniss, assistant professor of political economy, Yale; Karl W. Gehrkins, professor of school music, Oberlin Conservatory of Music; Jean M. Gélas, instructor in physical education, Hamilton; Hubert J. C. Grierson, professor of rhetoric and English literature, Edinburgh; Vincent L. Guilloton, associate professor of French, Syracuse; Frederick S. Henry, head of the department of modern languages, Tome School; Emily Hickman '01, professor of history, Wells; Fred G. Hoffherr, instructor in French, Columbia; Clyde F. Jeffords, Ph.D. '04, chairman of the department of Latin, Newton High School, Queens, New York; Ernest R. Kroeger, director of the Kroeger School of Music, St. Louis; René Lama, professor of French, Lyceé of Beauvais, France; Victor E. Monnett '22, associate professor of geology, University of Oklahoma; Ulysses G. Weatherly, Ph.D. '94, professor of economics and sociology, Indiana; Frank E. Williams, assistant professor of geography and industry, Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania; Arthur D. Wright, assistant professor of education, Dartmouth; Karl A. Zellar, A.M. '10, Principal of the Niles, Ohio, High School.

Summer School of Agriculture: Charles Beaman, State Normal School, Brockport, N. Y.; John L. Buys, University of Akron; Katherine Cook, specialist in rural education, Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.; Clarence G. Cooper, superintendent of schools, Baltimore County, Md.; Agnes Houston Craig, supervisor of home economics, Springfield, Mass.; John D. Detweiler, professor of biology, Western University, London, Ont.; Richard T. Ely, professor of land economics, University of Wisconsin; A. R. Gilliland, professor of educational psychology, Lafayette; Agnes Hanna, formerly of the University of Chicago; William F. Lusk, professor of agriculture, Mississippi Agricultural College; Jacob S. Orleans, Institute of Educational Research, Columbia.

HOWARD-TURNBULL

Miss Clara Howard '14, who was formerly assistant alumni representative of the University, was quietly married at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. David F. Hoy, in Ithaca, on June 29, to Thomas Turnbull, III, '18. The attendants were the sister of the bride, Frances Howard '26, and the brother of the groom, Gordon Turnbull. Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull are at home at 111 Jones Street, Woodlawn, Pennsylvania.

PUBLICITY activities of the Finger Lakes Association have served to bring to the attention of the public the slogan, "Ithaca, the Home of Cornell University."

THE UNIVERSITY has this summer purchased an additional forty-five acres of land at the northwest corner of the former game farm, in the town of Dryden, which it is understood, will be added to the farms.

Hold Reunion in Paris

M. Pierre Deschamps Welcomes Cornellians to Famous La Boulie Country Club at Versailles—May be Annual Affair

Cornellians who were in Paris on July 28 gathered at the famous La Boulie Country Club at Versailles and held the much heralded "Paris Reunion." A description from Otis P. Williams '23, last year's editor-in-chief of the Sun, indicates that it was a great success.

At eleven o'clock on Saturday, July 28, sixteen Cornellians met in front of the Hotel Crillon and went by train to the Country Club. At the luncheon they were addressed by the distinguished French diplomat, Pierre Deschamps, who welcomed them to the club and spoke a few words on relations in sports between the French and the Americans. It was M. Deschamps who introduced golf into France from America twenty-five years ago. He had become a fan while visiting in the States. He influenced some of his friends to take up the game and shortly built a golf course on his historic estate at Versailles, once the royal hunting preserve. The illustrious statesman is the president of LaBoulie Country Club, and the Cornellians felt unusually fortunate in being welcomed to the club by him.

After the luncheon some of the group played golf while the others visited the Peace Palace at Versailles.

In the evening a dozen more Cornellians joined the party at the banquet at the Hotel Quai d'Orsay. The undergraduates present led Cornell songs which took the alumni back to the Campus. The only hitch was that the Cornell movies could not be extricated from the customs office, after a week's vain effort. It is reported that the committee had great difficulty getting them to England and that they went from Plymouth to Paris and at the time of the banquet lay peacefully in the Gare du Nord.

Arrangements were in charge of Walter R. Manny '13 and M. Raguin, private secretary to Alphonse D. Weil '86. Mr. Weil was unable to be in Paris at the time of the reunion, being in the Swiss Alps.

Some of the Cornellians present made long trips in order to be there. Albert B. Cudebec '08 came up from southern Spain; Willard B. Van Houten '23 came from Berlin; Walter R. Manny '13 from southern France.

The list of those present follows. The first group attended both sessions;

Philip E. Allen '23, George C. Calvert '23, Earl Blough '05, Richard F. S. Starr '24, Professor James H. Rogers of the Department of Economics, Howell S. Cresswell '06, Walter R. Manny '13, D4. Lester M. Hubby '93, Albert C. Cudebec '08, Walter I. L. Duncan '20, Irvine H. Page '21, Morris M. Montgomery '24, Robert W. Breckenridge '23, Harold B. Maynard '23, Otis P. Williams '23.

Russell N. Chase '23, Daniel R. Seydoux '23, Benjamin C. Michelson '19, Charles Goeller '23, Arthur J. Leussler '23, John W. Purcell '23, Nelson H. Genung '90, F. A. Raguin, Burke D. Adams '23, Professor Laurence Pumpelly of the Department of Romance Languages, Willard B. Van Houten '23, Clifford V. Herbert '14, Lewis K. Neff, Jr., '17, Willfred K. Krauss '13, Charles Baskerville, Jr., '19.

New Arts Secretary

Archie M. Palmer '18 Resigns—to be Succeeded by C. Wilson Smith—Trustees make Several Appointments

The Committee on General Administration on August 11 accepted the resignation of Archie M. Palmer '18 as secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences, and appointed C. Wilson Smith, of the University of Missouri to take his place and as assistant professor of education. Palmer takes a position September 1 with Proctor and Gamble, Cincinnati, Ohio, as a member of the sales force.

Professor Smith, the new secretary of the Arts College, studied at the University of Cincinnati and received his degree in law from the University of Colorado. He also has a degree in arts from the University of Missouri, where he has taught English for several years, and a master's degree in education from Harvard.

The Trustees also accepted resignations of Dr. Maude Etheredge, medical adviser of women, J. Lakin Baldrige '15 from the College of Architecture, Dr. E. P. Bugbee, assistant medical adviser for men, R. W. Moore, instructor in agricultural chemistry, John D. Sullivan, instructor in chemistry, and Allen B. Campbell, instructor in mathematics.

They appointed William B. Campbell, instructor in mathematics; Robert B. Corey, instructor in analytical chemistry; Dr. Jenette Evans '14 to be medical adviser of women and instructor in hygiene; Dr. Elizabeth Fulton '18 to be assistant medical adviser of women and instructor in hygiene; Ellsworth J. Carter '14, Charles J. Haskin '24, and Frederick C. Root '24 to be student assistants in the law library; L. O. Morgan to be assistant in anatomy; Elmer Pendell to be instructor in economics; Alfred Rive to be instructor in economics; Leo Gershoy and C. L. Benson to be assistants in ancient history; Miss R. L. Dielmann, reader in ancient history; David H. Wilson, assistant in English history; Wilson Coates, F. G. Marcham and Hartley Simpson to be readers in English history.

THE PROPOSED "Summer Sun" a news-sheet for the summer session, failed to appear, although it was authorized by the directors of The Cornell Daily Sun. The prospective editors obtained jobs for the summer that carried with them less financial risks.

To Consider Women Trustees

Alumni Corporation President Names Committee to Report at Convention on Alumnae Representation

In accordance with the action taken at the meeting in Ithaca in June of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, President Thomas Fleming '05 has appointed the following committee to report at the convention in Buffalo on October 11 and 12 on the general question of representation of women on the Board of Trustees: Nicholas J. Weldgen '05, chairman, Dr. Emily Hickman '01, and Lewis L. Tatum '97.

At the meeting in June it was voted that a committee be appointed to place the matter of women's representation before the alumni, with the object of obtaining action at the October convention for the guidance of the Trustees in considering the problem. This action was taken following the report of Mrs. Charles W. Curtis '88, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, of a meeting of the executive committee of the Federation and of the Committee on General Administration of the Board of Trustees, when the Committee of the Federation had requested such changes as would increase the number of the University Trustees by three, all of whom would be women. Of these three women, one would be elected by the alumni, one appointed by the Governor of New York State, and one elected by the Board itself. The committee on general administration had suggested that the Federation present the problem to the alumni for discussion and action by the fall convention.

SCHURMAN DESCRIBES DEBATE

Dr. J. G. Schurman, the American Minister to China, has sent the ALUMNI NEWS a program of the exercises of an intercollegiate public speaking contest among student representatives of six of the universities and colleges in and about Peking, at which he acted as one of the judges. The other judges were the two former prime ministers, Dr. Yen and Dr. Wang, Father Mullins, and Mr. Edwards, an American connected with the Young Men's Christian Association. The contest took place at the National University on June 2, being the second annual oratorical contest in English of the Intercollegiate Public Speaking League of North China. The speakers all dealt with phases of China's international problems, particular emphasis being laid on the Liaotung Peninsula, Manchuria, and Mongolia. Dr. Schurman notes some of the impressions that the contest made upon him.

"In the first place," he says, "it was in itself a very remarkable spectacle to have in the heart of Peking an auditorium filled with several hundreds of Chinese students listening to orations by other Chinese students in the English language, all intensely interested and remaining until the decision of the judges had been announced. Secondly, the command of English on the part of nearly all the speakers was really wonderful, and the style and diction compared favorably with similar contests in the colleges and universities of the United States. Thirdly, while all the speakers showed a proper patriotic pride, their orations were characterized by an array of facts well arranged and by solid arguments.

"All considered, I derived from the meeting more encouragement regarding the future of China than I have received from any other experience here. I hold that the best way of forecasting the policy of any nation twenty-five or thirty years hence is to note carefully the ideas and aspirations of the college and university students of to-day. Hence this intercollegiate speaking contest in the National University of Peking inspires me with new hope for the future of China, and on talking with Dr. Yen and Dr. Wang after the meeting I found that they shared my sentiments."

Miller, member of the Board.

FACULTY NOTES

DR. ROBERT CHAMBERS, JR., assistant professor of anatomy in the Cornell Medical College, is credited in a recent article in the New York Herald with having perfected a glass needle for microscopic dissection. The point is said to be so fine and responds so delicately to the touch that it can be used inside of microscopic living cells which hitherto could not be studied in the living condition.

PROFESSOR VLADIMIR KARAPETOFF spoke on the Einstein theory of relativity at one of the sessions of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers recently held at Swampscott, Massachusetts.

PROFESSOR GEORGE F. WARREN has been appointed one of the directors of the Federal Land Bank of the Springfield, Massachusetts, District. The district of which Springfield is the center has recently been divided into sub-districts each of which has a representative director.

PROFESSOR SAMUEL N. SPRING, of the Department of Forestry, is a member of the advisory board of the Boy Scout forestry school at Kanckwahke Lake, New York.

PROFESSORS BRISTOW ADAMS and MILLARD ATWOOD '10 attended the meeting of the New York State Press Association in Buffalo on July 6. Professor Adams spoke on "Recent Tendencies in Newspaper Standards," and Professor Atwood on "Local Features for the Country Weekly."

DR. SUTHERLAND SIMPSON, professor of physiology in the Medical College, sailed from Montreal for Scotland on June 28, and attended the eleventh International Physiological Conference in Edinburgh, July 23-28.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM L. WESTERMANN spoke at the Institute of Politics, held during the summer at Williams College, on problems of the Near East.

ERNEST W. SCHODER, professor of hydraulics, has been making a trip across the Continent this summer to visit hydraulic laboratories and power plants. A committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers for the study of hydraulic problems will meet at Cornell on September 15.

PROFESSOR MILLARD V. ATWOOD '10 addressed the annual meeting of the National Editorial Association at Saratoga Springs. The meeting takes the form of a tour, and this year's trip covered New York State. Professor Bristow Adams was with the editors at Lake Placid and in New York City. Next year's meeting will be held in Oklahoma.

PROFESSOR RALPH S. HOSMER attended the meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association at Ottawa in August, as the president of the Society of American Foresters. He and Col. Henry S. Graves, head of the Yale Forest School, were the only representatives of American forestry.

DR. RUBY G. SMITH '14 was one of the principal speakers at the summer school of the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst.

WISEST FARMER in the United States is the title recently conferred on Isaac P. Roberts, first head of the College of Agriculture, by The American Agriculturist. Professor Roberts recently passed his ninetieth birthday at his home in Berkeley, California. He was presented with an illuminated scroll on which Faculty and students of the College had inscribed their names.

DEAN GEORGE G. BOGERT '08 has been granted sabbatical leave of absence from the Law College for the coming year. He will specialize in sales, trusts, and property with the firm of Whitman, Ottinger & Ransom of New York, of which Former Governor Whitman, William L. Ransom '05, and Robert E. Coulson '09 are members. In his absence Professor Charles K. Burdick will head the Law College.

THE LAST public appearance of Professor James T. Quarles as organist of the University was in an organ recital given in Sage Chapel on August 14.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

New York

Coincidentally with the opening this fall of the new home of the club in the building now being erected at the corner of Madison Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street, the officers of the Cornell Club of New York are laying plans for a celebration and housewarming of no mean proportions. The date cannot be announced with certainty, but present plans are based on occupancy in the middle of October. If the building is ready by that date, a dinner and attendant festivities will be held on Friday evening, November 9, the night before the football game with Columbia.

A substantial increase in membership has been the natural by-product of the plans for enlargement, although the gains have come largely as the result of the energy supplied by the special committee headed by J. Dugald White '10. At the last meeting of the board of governors the following eighty-five members were elected: Tristan Antell '13, John M. Ball '16, Arthur W. Barber '95, Erwin S. Barrie '10, William P. Bleakley '04, Arthur E. Booth '19, K. H. Brush '23, Archie C.

Burnett '90, Raymond C. Burton '20, Arthur D. Camp '05, Edward M. Carman '14, J. Champ Carry '19, Malcolm W. Clephane '93, Robert L. Cochran '12, Dr. Charles H. Cocke '05, William L. Colt '94, James J. Coşgrove '09, John Farrell Craig '12, Howard Reid Craig '19, Charles E. Curtis '95, Harold E. Deuel '24, Thomas H. Dugan '17, Wade Duley '23, Albert J. Eckhardt '19, James L. ### Chicago Women

The newly-elected officers of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago are: president, Ruth Stone '10, 243 N. Mason Street; vice-president, Melita Skillen '10, 1445 Greenleaf Avenue; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Amos Hodgkiss '20, 2053 Kenilworth Avenue.

Delaware

A revival of interest on the part of the Cornell University Association of Delaware has resulted in two well attended meetings this spring and early summer. Thirty men attended the meeting on June 30, when the club was entertained by Major William R. Baldwin on his estate at Elk Mills, Maryland. Major Baldwin is a University of Pennsylvania man with a strong Cornell leaning. In the spring two successful meetings were held at the houses of members, Frank G. Tallman '70 and Joseph S. Wilson '09.

It is the plan of the present officers to continue similar gatherings throughout the fall and winter, and there is talk of a meeting in combination with the Princeton men of Delaware.

The present temporary officers are Alfred D. Warner, Jr., '00, president; Allan W. Carpenter '16, vice-president; Joseph H. Shaw '12, secretary and treasurer. The activities committee comprises Vice-President Carpenter as chairman, assisted by Willard R. Heald '18, William B. Megear, Jr., '20, Robert L. Holliday '05, Herbert C. Schneider '17, Paul D. Matthews '18, Edwin H. Thomas '18, and Frank H. Thomas, Jr., '21. Publicity is in charge of Frank H. McCormick '10.

Hartford

Recent elections of officers of the Cornell Club of Hartford, Connecticut, have made Bryant H. Blood '89 president, and Russell B. Hurburt '10, secretary. Both officers are connected with the Pratt and Whitney Company. Beginning in September, the regular monthly luncheons of the club will be resumed, on the second Wednesday of each month at the University Club.

Paris

An informal meeting of the Cornell Alumni Association of Paris was held at luncheon in the garden of the Union Interalliee on July 4. The weather, although dull, was mild and permitted an outdoor service of luncheon for which few opportunities have thus far presented themselves this season. The following were present:

A. D. Weil '86, Edgar Carolan '92, Norman Hutchinson '97, Walter W. Nowak '05, Lawrence Arnold '06, German Larrabure '09, Marcel S. Levy '09, and W. Roy Manny '13.

Hutchinson joined them through the notice published in the papers. He has for some time been a resident of Paris after having been in the diplomatic service.

Henry J. Patten '84 sent his regrets. He is making a trip through Poland and does not expect to return to Paris until September.

Those present pronounced this informal get-together to be most enjoyable and expressed the hope that they might be held at frequent intervals throughout next season.

LITERARY REVIEW

The School of Life

The Hidden Road. By Elsie Singmaster '02. Boston. Houghton Mifflin Company. 1923. 203 cm., pp. vi, 333. Price, $2.

The Hidden Road is, we believe, the best novel that Elsie Singmaster has yet written. It has a simple plot. A young teacher and musician has a series of love adventures and disappointments. But they are exactly the thing she needs to give her the right attitude toward the game of life. The narrative moves on smoothly, with the right mixture of dialogue (in which curiously enough, the heroine takes very little part) to a fitting climax. In the school of bitter experience Phoebe Stannard learns the deeper satisfactions of life and the fact that for some, love must be left out of the list. This is one of the greater novels of the year.

A Noble Philosophy

The Seven Stars. By Liberty Hyde Bailey. New York. Macmillan. 1923. 19 cm., pp. viii, 165. Price, $1.50.

This volume, the fifth of the Background Books, is, in the homely Yankee phrase, worth a good deal more than it costs. A young man, Questor, stands at the threshold of active life. What shall he pin his faith to? In what shall he invest money and effort? Cui bono? Shall he go in for money-making? Pleasure? Reform? Shall he attempt the impossible, or carefully confine himself to what he knows he can do? In a series of sentimental (and philosophical) journeys, in which, Pippa fashion, he impersonates a Martian, or a Rip Van Winkle, or an Alastor, he ponders over the ways and weaknesses of the world and arrives at length at the wisest possible decision. Ah, if only we could in the days of our youth see the world as Questor sees it and avoid the mistakes he detects! For here is the highest wisdom to which mortal has yet reached—that the summum bonum is to live one's own idea of the beautiful life. Aim at the artistic expression of life. Here is the serene thought of the sage couched in a moving and impressive style. No book that we have read in a long time is more worth while.

The Story of the Earth

High School Geography. By Ray H. Whitbeck '01, Professor of Geography in the University of Wisconsin. New York. Macmillan. 1922. 21.5 cm., pp. x, 577. 383 maps and illustrations. Price, $2.

Geography in the high school? Why repeat? Why such a waste of time? On the other hand, may it not be the other things less worth while which have crowded out this absolutely fundamental study? There is certainly a place in the high school for any study which tells us about man and his relation to the forces of nature.

Professor Whitbeck has written a good book. It has all of the needful apparatus of a school text; with its admirable illustrations it can also be read with interest and profit by any one who wants to secure the basic information with which geography deals. It is enlightening and inspiring. It deserves a very wide sale.

The Simple Life

Minglestreams. By Jane Abbott '03. Philadelphia. Lippincott. 1923. 20 cm., pp. 320. Frontispiece in color by H. Weston Taylor. Price, $1.75.

This is one of Mrs. Abbott's most successful stories. It deals with two college girls who sharply rebel against conventions and who learn their lessons in the not unkindly school of experience. There are thus two romances. The plot is skillfully managed and leads to a highly dramatic climax. Withal it is a clean, wholesome, and inspiring story. The minor characters are well handled; but on p. 319 Cornelius Cummings and Thomas Gray, brothers-in-law, are telescoped.

Books and Magazine Articles

Dr. Hendrik Willem Van Loon '05 is living in Cambridge, England, and is re-writing the 1,250,000-word Bible in a small volume of 120,000 words. "One couldn't have a quieter place than Cambridge," he says, "to write a book." And the London correspondent of the New York World comments as follows:

"No, one couldn't. English universities aren't noisy, and some people who live in the hush manage to write pretty well. But one wonders if Dr. Van Loon won't change his ideas about the quiet over here when the British public in general realizes he has been trying to rewrite the Bible.

"This is a churchy country, with a powerful hierarchy, social and ecclesiastic, which means to keep it so. Most churches here teach that the Bible is divinely inspired. What will they say about the foreigner—two kinds of a foreigner, too, Dutch and American—who rewrites the story of the Crucifixion like this:

"When the last nail had been driven in, the soldiers sat down to gamble. In a wide circle the people stood and looked. Some of them were merely curious; others were former pupils. They had ventured back into the town to be with their Master in the last moment. There were a few women.

"It was growing dark rapidly.

"On the cross Jesus was softly murmuring words which few could understand. A kindly Roman soldier had given Him a narcotic to deaden the pain of His lacerated hands and feet.

"By a last and supreme effort He regained consciousness and uttered a prayer. He asked that His enemies be forgiven for what they had done to Him.

"Then He whispered, It is all over.

"And He died"

"It is very good reporting, but we shall look to see what the next issues of the more orthodox nonconformist church reviews have to say about a foreigner who comes to England to 'better' the work of the Apostles.

"Dr. van Loon even has a word of excuse for Pontius Pilate. He says if the Roman Governor had let Jesus off it would have meant dismissal for him without pension. Here the history writer will get the attention of all British colonial administrators and their families."

"Bank Credit and Agriculture Under the National and Federal Reserve Banking Systems" by Professor Ivan Wright, '17-20 Grad., of the University of Illinois, has lately been published by the McGraw-Hill Book Company, in a volume of 340 pages. It is favorably reviewed in The Rotarian for August.

Professor Alfred E. Zimmern contributes to the September Century an interesting article on "The Politics of Martha." He says that to Martha belong the material problems of statesmen and government; such problems as the distribution of the world's mineral resources; problems relating to public health; and the relation of tariffs to international trade. He takes up these problems in detail. In a later issue he will take up "The Problems of Mary."

W. Ellis Schutt '05, A.B. '23, now of New York University, has joined the staff of Ainslee's Magazine, with which he was formerly connected. In addition to his work as a teacher of composition he is again writing fiction.

Dr. Ernest M. Poate 'c6 has been lately writing a good deal of magazine fiction, especially in the line of mystery and detective stories. A longer story of his, "The Trouble at Pinelands," was published by the Chelsea House, New York, and has sold very well; and another, "Behind Locked Doors," will be published in September by the same firm.

Colonel Charles W. Furlong '02 has been getting some fine press notices of his "Let 'Er Buck." The Colorado Springs Gazette, for example, says, "No book on the West or at least none of recent years, is comparable to this admirable volume. The Easterner will find it thrilling; the

ATHLETICS

Football Practice

Notices will soon go out to candidates for the football team that practice will start at Schoellkopf Field Monday, September 10, three weeks before the first game. Coach Dobie, who spent part of the summer teaching football at the University of Illinois School for Coaches is already making plans for the fall campaign. He will be assisted this year by Ray Hunt, who has been associated with Dobie ever since the latter came to Cornell, and by Leonard C. Hanson '23, left tackle on the Varsity team for the past two seasons.

Regulars on last year's eleven who are scheduled to be candidates for the team this year include Captain George R. Pfann, quarterback, Floyd D. Ramsey, right half back, Charles E. Cassidy, fullback, Frank L. Sundstrom, right tackle, and Frank L. Henderson right end. Regulars of last year not in college this year are Edgar L. Kaw, left half back, E. V. Gouinlock and E. S. Buckley, ends, Bartlett Richards, center, and W. R. Rollo and F. A. Flynn, guards.

Announce Football Schedule

The football schedule is announced as follows:

- September 29. St. Bonaventure at Ithaca.
- October 6. Susquehanna at Ithaca.
- October 13. Williams at Ithaca.
- October 20. Colgate at Ithaca.
- November 3. Dartmouth at Hanover.
- November 10. Columbia at New York.
- November 17. Johns Hopkins at Ithaca.
- November 29. Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Westerner will appreciate it for its truthful representation. It is history and a tribute."

Professor Madison Bentley, Ph.D. '98, of the University of Illinois, is the editor of The Psychological Index, the twenty-ninth annual volume of which, filling 275 pages and covering the year 1922, has just been issued from the press of the Cornell Publications Printing Company.

Professor Jacob G. Lipman, A.M. '00, Ph.D. '03, of Rutgers, contributed to the April number of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry an article on "Recent Investigations on the Oxidation of Sulfur by Microorganisms."

The leading article in the July Journal of the American Bar Association is "Constitutional Aspects of American Administrative Law" by Judge Cuthbert W. Pound '87. This was a lecture given by Judge Pound in the course on "The Growth of American Administrative Law" before the St. Louis Bar Association on April 2.

In The Alumni Bulletin of the University of Virginia for July Professor Charles B.

Burke, Ph.D. '01, of the University of Tennessee, writes on the scholarship of his colleague, the late Professor James Douglas Bruce. Professor Bruce was well known in Cornell circles, having spent at least one summer in Ithaca in literary work.

'89 TO HOLD 35-YEAR REUNION

The Class of '89, under the Dix schedule, has no reunion listed for 1924, its thirty-fifth year. The alumni representative and the reunion chairman believe that the thirty-fifth should be kept up; that classes out that long are willing and able to keep it up; and that '89 will want to hold a reunion next year. They request, therefore, that all '89ers make plans now to attend their thirty-five-year-reunion June 13, 14, and 15, 1924. Formal notices will be sent out during the fall.

NEW ALUMNI ASSISTANT

Mary K. Hoyt '20 has been appointed assistant to the Alumni Representative, succeeding the place which Clara Howard '14 filled from the date of the establishment of the alumni office in the summer of 1920 until her recent marriage.

Miss Hoyt comes to Ithaca with two years' experience with the Union Trust Company of Rochester. She had been with that company but a few months when she was appointed manager of the women's department, the position she held at the time of her resignation this summer. During the past year she has served as secretary of the Cornell Women's Club of Rochester. She is a member of Delta Gamma and was graduated with the degree of A. B.

NEW YORK CLUB'S NEIGHBORS

The sixteen-story building at the corner of Madison Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street, New York, which will house the Cornell Club of New York, will be ready for occupancy September 1. Besides the Cornell Club, sixteen national fraternities will have quarters there. They are Alpha Tau Omega, Chi Phi, Chi Psi, Delta Chi, Delta Phi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Sigma Kappa, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi, Theta Xi, Delta Tau Delta, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The insignia of these fraternities are engraved on stone shields forming the frieze around the building, which will be operated by the Allerton Housing Corporation as a bachelor apartment hotel.

PROFESSOR ERNEST R. KROEGER of St. Louis has given weekly piano recitals in Barnes Hall and Professor James T. Quarles has given weekly organ recitals in Sage Chapel and Bailey Hall, throughout the Summer Session.

IRVING L. SCOTT '23, of Provo, Utah, was awarded the Cornell traveling scholarship which gives him the opportunity for a year's study of architecture in Europe.

Published for the alumni of Cornell University by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Company, Incorporated.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly in July and August; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the last Thursday of September. NEXT ISSUE SEPTEMBER 27

The next issue of the ALUMNI NEWS will be that of September 27. With it will begin continuous weekly publication for the new year. Preparation of the index and title page for the present volume will begin shortly after the August issue, and it is expected that they will be ready for distribution sometime in November. Copies of the index and title page will be sent free of charge to those who request them. Incidentally the present number completes the twenty-fifth year of the ALUMNI NEWS.

THE EVENTS OF THE YEAR

The new year that will begin with our next issue offers possible developments that may prove interesting. Certain noteworthy new factors have been announced from time to time which are worth summarizing to give a better idea of their significance.

The outstanding change, of course, is the appointment, after quite an interval, of a dean for the College of Arts and Sciences. While not a colorful event in itself, it ought to prove one of the most stabilizing and important of the events of the past year. Coupled with it in point of time are the appointments of a new secretary of the College, an acting dean of the Law School, and a new dean of the Graduate School. Several professorships have been vacated that may prove difficult to fill. A prophet could easily give himself a busy September by attempting to make comparisons. It will suffice to say that the new year will find several important offices filled by new officers. It is generally expected that they will maintain the gait already set without interruption, and that the Arts College will run more smoothly than it has in several years.

In the matter of buildings, the great advance of the year will be the occupation of the Baker Laboratory of Chemistry upon the beginning of the fall term; the opening of several smaller buildings in the State colleges; probably the beginning of construction on the Willard Straight memorial Union; the opening of Boldt dormitory; and the construction of several other units of the system.

The alumni association will within a few weeks hold its fourth convention in Buffalo on October 11 and 12, moving to Ithaca for the thirteenth. The alumni association will there put into effect its recent reorganization, electing its directors under the district system, and operating for the first time as the Cornell Alumni Corporation. Thenceforward, responsibility for alumni activities will rest in the local club rather than more or less indefinitely on the individual alumnus.

OBITUARY

Frank P. Hoag '76

Notice has been received of the death of Frank Philip Hoag of Wingdale, N. Y., on August 25, 1922. Mr. Hoag was a student in the University in 1871-72, in the course in agriculture. He was registered from Dover, N. Y.

Willard W. Rowlee '88

Professor Willard Winfield Rowlee died at his home, 11 East Avenue, on August 8, after an illness of several months.

Professor Rowlee was born at Fulton, N. Y., on December 15, 1861, the son of George Washington and Sarah Distin Rowlee. Entering the University in 1884 in the course in letters, he graduated in course with the degree of B. L. In college he was a member of the Irving Literary Society, and later became a member of Kappa Sigma and Sigma Xi.

From 1889 to 1893 he was an instructor and graduate student in botany. In the latter year he took his degree of D.Sc. and was made an assistant professor; in 1906 he was promoted to a full professorship of botany. He was a member of the American Society of Naturalists, the Botanical Society of America, and the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He made many contributions to the literature of his subject. He traveled much and made collections in Central America and the West Indies. One of his most recent tasks was, in connection with the War, the investigation of balsa wood for use in airplanes.

But the range of his interests extended far beyond the limits of a chair of science. He was a believer in athletics, wisely administered, and was a trustee of the Athletic Association, and Faculty adviser for football. He was long secretary of the Associate Alumni, chairman of the Commencement Committee and of the Committee on Grounds, and life secretary of his class. A lifelong Republican, he sat on the Board of Aldermen from 1898 to 1902. He was a member of the Protective Police and the Town and Gown Club. He served the University and the city quietly and unostentatiously in many ways.

Professor Rowlee was married on December 22, 1887, to Miss May Howard. Three children were born to them, Elizabeth '17, now Mrs. Arthur T. Lobdell, of McCook, Nebraska, Silence '20, and Howard, now of Omaha, Nebr. Besides his wife and children he is survived by his step-father, Jasper Rowlee, of Fulton, a sister, Mrs. Lewis Ives, of Fulton, and two brothers, George, of Niles, Mich., and Delos, of Fulton.

Selden E. McClusky '93

Seldon Edward McClusky, assistant district attorney of Onondaga County, N. Y., died on July 11 at Gabriel's Sanitarium in the Adirondacks. He had been in ill health for some time, suffering from a stomach condition which was aggravated by complications, and he was taken to the mountains in the hope that the change in climate would benefit his health.

He was born in Louisville, N. Y., fifty-two years ago, and upon completing his grammar school education there he entered the Ogdensburg Free Academy, coming to Cornell in 1891 and receiving the degree of LL. B. in 1893.

For many years after his graduation he was associated with his brother, William M. McClusky, in the practice of law in Syracuse, N. Y., under the firm name of W. J. and S. E. McClusky. Then the partnership was dissolved, each of the brothers opening his own office, and four years ago he was named assistant district attorney for Onondaga County.

Mr. McClusky was a member of the Onondaga County Bar Association, the Citizens' Club, and numerous other clubs and fraternal organizations of Syracuse. He is survived by two brothers, William J. McClusky of Syracuse, and Timothy J. McClusky, of Louisville, and two sisters, Miss Anna McClusky of Louisville, and Sister Mary Annunciation, of Brasher Falls Convent.

Ernest W. Bentley '94

Since the notice of the death of Ernest Wilkinson Bentley was published in our issue of June 28, we have received a letter from his widow, containing interesting facts about his life.

In 1895 he became engaged in the design of gas engines, and in 1896 he was employed by the Acme Sucker Rod Company, of Toledo, designing gas engines for oil well pumping and designing pumping powers and rigs for oil wells. From 1897 to 1900 he was with the Champion Saw and Gas Engine Company, Beaver Falls, Pa., and in 1900 he became associated with the Braddock Machine and Manufacturing Company, Braddock, Pa., leaving that company in 1903 to join the American Steel Hoop Company of Pittsburgh. He remained in that position for five years, and in 1908 he became associated with the Rust Boiler Company of Pittsburgh; in 1909 he entered the employ of the A. D. Granger Company, construction engineers, of New York, having charge of the Pittsburgh office. In this position he sold and installed many steam power plants, and a few gas-engine driven plants. In 1910 he became manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Skinner Engine Company of Erie, Pa., where he remained until 1916, when he went to Florida for his health. He opened an office in Jacksonville, where he handled machinery, having State agencies.

Mr. Bentley's death on August 14, 1922, was very sudden. The South had done much for him, and it was believed that he was getting stronger.

He was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Florida Engineering Society, having joined the societies in 1904 and 1917, respectively, and from 1905 to 1915 he was a member of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania.

Charles B. Swartwood '97

Charles Brown Swartwood, County Judge of Chemung County, N. Y., died at his home in Elmira on February 8.

He was born on May 20, 1872, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Swartwood of Cayuta, N. Y. After attending the Preparatory School at Dundee, N. Y., he entered the Law School in 1895, receiving the degree of LL. B. in 1897. He was a member of Delta Chi, Congress, the Civil Service Reform League, and the Democratic Club, of which he was president, and in his junior year was vice-president of his class in the Law School.

For a number of years after graduation he was corporation counsel for the City of Elmira, and in 1914 he was appointed by Governor Glynn as County Judge for Chemung County, to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Judge George McCann '86 to the Supreme Court. He was elected to the office at the election in 1914, and had held it since that time.

Thomas D. O'Bolger '05

Dr. Thomas Denis O'Bolger, assistant professor of English in the University of Pennsylvania, and an authority upon the Irish drama, died on August 1 at the home of his daughter in Atlantic City. Death was due to pernicious anaemia.

He was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, on February 27, 1871, and after attending public schools and high school, he entered the University in 1901, in the course in arts, remaining only a year. He later received his Ph. D. degree at the University of Pennsylvania, and had since been assistant professor of English there.

Dr. O'Bolger wrote a life of George Bernard Shaw, and was the author of a number of unpublished plays and short stories. He had been in ill health for the past three years. Two years ago the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania granted him leave of absence with pay, and at the close of the last scholastic year they granted him leave for five years with pay.

He is survived by his daughter, Margaret, who is the wife of Paul Bradley, an Atlantic City builder, and a grandson Paul Bradley, Jr., ten months old.

Morris J. Bernstein '08

Morris Jerome Bernstein died in the Long Island College Hospital on April 3.

He was born on August 6, 1885, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Bernstein, and prepared at Erasmus Hall High School, Brooklyn, N. Y., entering the University in 1904 and receiving the degree of LL. B. in 1908. He was a member of the Civic Club and Scroll and Scrip.

He married Miss Frances Wilson of Passiac, N. J., on June 27, 1911.

Mrs. John A. Pope '21

Margaret M. Pope, the wife of John A. Pope '20, died at the Ithaca City Hospital on July 31.

Mrs. Pope was formerly Miss Margaret Weir Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Morrow of Ithaca. She was born on April 7, 1899, and prepared at the Ithaca High School, entering the University in 1917 and receiving the degree of B. S. in 1921. She was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi and Omicron Nu, and served on the Junior Advisory Committee.

For a short time after graduation she was located in New York in the research department of the Childs' Restaurant Company. She married John A. Pope '20 on October 28, 1922, and they had made their home in Oakfield, N. Y.

Surviving her are her parents and two sisters, Anne Morrow McDermott '17, the wife of Thomas C. McDermott '19, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. L. W. Darrow of Great Neck, Long Island.

Marshall A. Southwick '24

Marshall Addison Southwick, a member of the class of 1925 in the College of Agriculture, died on April 20, 1922.

He was born in Gowanda, N. Y., on December 23, 1900, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Southwick, and prepared at the Gowanda High School, entering the University in 1920.

APPRECIATION of the performances of Richard Crooks, tenor, and Felix Salmond, violoncellist, in the last of the Summer Session concerts, was shown by a far-from-capacity audience in Bailey Hall on August 3.

'74 BCE; '87 PhB—The following paragraphs are quoted from a letter from Frank C. Tomlinson '74 to Professor John H. Comstock '74: "We, the Tomlinsons, are just home from the trip of a lifetime, on Thomas Cook and Son's Fiftieth Anniversary Jubilee Cruise, sailing from New York January 24 around the world, and arriving on schedule time, May 31. At our stop in San Francisco I planned to go out to Palo Alto to see Branner. Thought it might be wise to telephone to see if he would be at home, and naturally found out that he had been dead a year. It seemed strange. John C. Branner was still in the telephone directory—a house number and a university office number. I am wondering if there is a son of the same name at the university. The next day our regular 'rubber neck' sightseeing drive was stretched out to Palo Alto and I had a most pleasant short talk with David Starr Jordan '72. He looks well and was hard at work at his desk. On our passenger list was Francis Leon Chrisman '87, with his wife and his son of the same name, of Verona, N. J. You will probably remember him as President White's secretary. I had some very pleasant times with him, but he was in bad condition, especially at the last end of the trip—his heart. He left the ship at San Francisco to go to the Mayo Hospital for treatment." Mr. and Mrs. Chrisman have now returned to their home in Verona, after spending several weeks in Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Chrisman was a patient in the Mayo Hospital. Their sons, Charles Dana, a senior in Harvard, and Francis Leon, Jr., a senior in Syracuse, are spending the summer with their parents.

'89 PhB—The law firm of Taylor, Mayer and Shifrin, of which Perry Post Taylor '89 is head, has moved its offices to 808 Planters Building, St. Louis, being one of the first lawyer tenants of the building. The firm had been located in the Pierce Building for the past sixteen years, having been one of the first lawyer tenants of that building. The Planters Building is the old Planters Hotel Building remodeled into a modern office building, located at Pine, Fourth, and Chestnut Streets, the site of the old hotel mentioned in the writings of Dickens, Mark Twain, and others.

'92 AB—At its last commencement, Colorado College conferred upon Clyde A. Duniway, president of that institution, the degree of L.L.D., and at the same time endowed a Duniway History Prize in his honor. Dr. Duniway is to be absent on leave during the year 1923-4, and has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of that time. He has been appointed director of the British Division of the American University Union in Europe for the coming year, with office at 50 Russell Square, London.

'11, '12 AB—The New York Sun and Globe for June 28 printed the following: "Charles Divine, the poet laureate of the Twenty-seventh Division, is now on his way to Europe, there to gather material for short stories and other salable writings. It must be a noble sensation, that of casting off for foreign shores on such a quest. Just what, we wonder, is the procedure? Does one haunt queer out-of-the-way cafes (one should, it would seem), or is one led by more experienced persons along the path where may be encountered the colorful and the moving things of life. Some day, when we have gathered enough money to pay our passage, we will go off on such a search—and care not a whit whether we find material or not. So much adventure is promised in the purpose that accomplishment or failure cannot matter greatly."

'11 BS, '12 MS, '14 PhD; '15 BS—A daughter, Barbara Jean, was born on May 18 to Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Benjamin (Eva Hollister '15), 175 Forest Avenue, Glen Ridge, N. J.

Cake Eater —model of 1900

He was called dude and dandy then, but you recognize the type.

He majored in haberdashery and took his degree with honors in soxology.

As if that were not enough, he evolved some variations on the cake walk which made them stare.

He even found time to develop a remarkable proficiency on the tandem bicycle, and on Saturday nights he was good enough to bring pleasure into Another's life by wheeling away to the "Ten-Twent-Thirt."

To crowd all this into four short years would seem enough for any mortal. Yet in spite of his attainments there are times, in after life, when our hero wonders.

The glory of his waistcoats has long since faded, while his books are still fresh and clean. Did he perchance put too much thought into the selection of his hats and too little in what went under them?

HE LOOKED OLDER
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

No, fellow citizen, this man, showing us a picture of himself when he was 31 years of age, wasn't wearing those whiskers for the purpose of winning a wager or because he was to appear in an amateur performance for the benefit of the League for the Promotion of Synthetic Burlap.

Twenty-five years ago such buccal brambles as his were common. It was supposed by some of the young men who wore them that they made one look dignified and important, but, aside from that inept assumption, there was a substantial reason for permitting festoons of flax to dangle from the maxillary projections appertaining to man.

Shaving was so difficult and painful, owing to the lack of anything for making such lather as is made by Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream, that whiskers flourished not so much because they were believed to be ornamental as because of the general desire to let torture be confined to limited areas.

The perfection of Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream, after years of scientific effort, has made shaving so easy and so free from discomfort that there is no longer any reason for introducing fashions in whiskers.

With hot water or cold, with soft water or hard, Colgate's makes a moist, fragrant lather that softens each hair of the beard at the base, where the razor's work is done. It leaves the face soothed and velvety.

Fill out and mail the attached coupon for a free trial tube containing cream enough for 12 easier shaves than you can have with anything else that makes lather.
