

Syzygium alliligneum (Onionwood Satinash)

[N.E. Queensland]

Large evergreen, very ornamental tree with large showy, fluffy, white flowers in February to March, followed by red fruits. The timber has concentric rings of papery bark which resemble the structure of an onion. New leaf growth is pink.

Type: Tree to 15+m
Aspect: Full Sun
Soil: Fertile
Habitat: Wet Sclerophyll

Special features:

- Attracts –
 - Bees
 - Birds
 - Cassowaries
- Bush Tucker
- Screen Tree
- Street Tree