STUDENTS SHARE CLC SPIRITUAL FEAST

Dr. Mark Corts, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church of Winston-Salem, N.C., is pictured at the center in conversation after his message at the CHRISTIAN LIFE CONFERENCE in January. Dr. Mel Johnson, radio speaker and author of "Tips for Teens," also shared the sermons and discussion sessions at these opening days of the second semester. We share with you here excerpts from Dr. Corts' first message, "The Believer's Gifts."

The Believer's Gifts

Excerpts from message by Dr. Mark Corts

In 1 Corinthians 12 we have the view of the believer's gifts from the standpoint of the body of Christ as a whole. If you look at Ephesians 4, you get a view of the gifts from the standpoint of the giver—Christ. There is another passage in Romans 12 which is the view of the individual believer.

Exodus 31 in the Old Testament is a fantastic passage showing how God is going to accomplish His work through His people. Spiritual gifts are divine enablements to carry out divine mandates.

So you have three things involved: you have a giver, you have a receiver, and you have a gift. God commanded Moses to build the Tabernacle and He called these men and put in their hearts a skill, and the Spirit of God has given them a special endowment to use the natural abilities which also came from God; and all of this was put together to accomplish the work of God.

Let's go back to 1 Corinthians 12. In the Corinthian church demon possession was very common because there was a tremendous giving over to demons, demon worship, and pagan gods. So Paul has to counter all of this to show the real as opposed to the false and that is the whole purpose of chapter 12.

In the first place, in verse 1, Paul says these spiritual gifts are important. In verse 2, he says that idolatry is impotent, and in verse 3, Holy Spirit supervision is immediate. In verses 4-7, Paul gives an outline of the Holy Spirit's ministry in the church—verse 4, the same spirit; verse 5, the same Lord; verse 6, the same God. In verse 7, Paul is alluding to a theme that God never gave a gift except that He gives it to edify and to build up the body of Christ. Every talent, every ability, every natural gift is given to a believer for two purposes—God's glory and others' good. God gives gifts for the purpose of building up others, and He emphasizes that any spiritual gift is to be used for the glory of God and not for personal ecstatic enjoyment to self.

Now let's examine this passage. In verses 4-7 Paul gives a very simple outline—diversity (v. 8-11), different ministrations (v. 12-27), and different workings (v. 28-31). From verses 8-11, the first gift is the word of wisdom, direct insight into truth. Next, the word of knowledge, that is, results from questioning or investigation. Third, faith by the same Spirit, a vision of that which cannot be seen, special faith to do the work of God. Then comes the gift of tongues, next the interpretation of tongues. All these gifts are given to every man as He wills. Here is the one basic problem I have with the modern charismatic movement, or any movement that tells me I must beg the giver for the gift, for the Bible tells me that the Spirit of God divides these gifts to every man as He wills.

Secondly, Paul says God gives to every man as He wills and not as we will, but God gives gifts according to His calling. I cannot fathom God calling you to be a pastor and not really equipping you to be one. I cannot fathom God calling you to a ministry of exhortation and not giving you that gift. And that is what Paul is saying here as he seeks to show the unity of the Spirit in giving the gifts. Then he points out that God will give these things in His own time and in His own way and for His own purpose.

In verses 12-27, the body shares a common unity in the spirit, as seen in verse 12, a common baptism in verse 13, and a common fellowship also in verse 13. The word body is used sixteen times in this paragraph, and that is why I say that this passage shows the use of the gifts within the body of Christ. Let's say it once and for all: God gave spiritual gifts to build up the body.

Alumni Fortify Student Counselling Services

Interviews
with Counsellors

Kermit Zopfi, dean of students, offers counsel and assistance to a young man in his office.

Because the three personnel deans and their secretary are all Bryan alumni, it is of special alumni significance and interest to solicit their views on student life at Bryan today. To guide their reactions in the various aspects of their responsibilities, your alumni executive secretary conducted an interview which resulted in the following replies recorded for you on page two.

Interviews with Counsellors

Kermit Zopfi '50, dean of students and assistant professor, earned both the B.A. and M.A. at Wheaton College and recently acquired the M.A. in guidance and counselling from Azusa Pacific College.

Q. Mr. Zopfi, how is it that you seem to enjoy grappling with the difficult problems that young people face in their individual lives?

Zopfi: Ever since I have been in the Lord's work, I have worked with young people—almost thirty years. I believe the Lord has called me to work with young people. The Lord very definitely led me back to Bryan as Dean of Students in 1972. My training in Christian Education, counseling, and psychology has also prepared me for the work I am doing. Then, too, I do love young people. I view my position as that of a "servant of young people" and not as one who is here to lord it over them. I believe I understand them and their problems. What a joy it is in counseling sessions to see young people give themselves fully to the Lord and find answers and victory in Him and in His Word.

Q. How do you compare Bryan's spiritual position and testimony now with your recollections from your association in 1951-55 as well as your own student days?

Zopfi: I have always had very fond memories of Bryan. I have been at other Christian colleges and have become very well acquainted with many others while serving as a representative for Greater Europe Mission. I would still choose Bryan over any others that I know. All Christian colleges went through some difficult times in the days when students were rebelling on most campuses across the country, even our Christian colleges. Bryan was a spiritual place when I attended here as a freshman and a sophomore in 1946-48. It was a spiritual school when I taught here from 1951-55. Bryan, like all people and other institutions, has changed, BUT BRYAN HAS NOT CHANGED IN ITS STAND FOR JESUS CHRIST AND THE WORD OF GOD. Bryan is just as warm spiritually now as at any time I have ever known it. Our administrators, faculty members, and staff members are just as spiritual as any who have ever been here. Even though our student body has increased considerably in size, it has not seemed to have diminished the spiritual tone of the campus. I have never been with young people who seem to love the Lord as much as our students do. Practical Christian Involvement (our old CSA and FMF) is stronger than ever. A large percentage of students participate in weekly Christian outreach. There is a revival in missionary interest on campus. Mission leaders are thrilled at the response they find among our students. And think, too, of all the Christian teachers for public schools that are being trained at Bryan, and the Christian students who are going into business and other professions.

Karin deRosset '64, dean of women, has continued on the staff since her graduation and is now enrolled in a graduate program at Tennessee Technical University for the master's degree.

Q. Miss deRosset, how did you get started in personnel work at Bryan?

deRosset: I was interviewed for the position of resident assistant during my junior year and was later hired. After having spent my senior year fulfilling the responsibilities of that position, the dean of women talked with me about becoming her assistant the following year. This was something totally unexpected—that I, of all people, should be chosen for such a position of responsibility. That fall I became head resident of Huston Hall and assistant to the dean of women.

Q. What rewards have you found in dealing with the young women?

deRosset: The rewards are too numerous to express here. The lasting friendships with so many of the women students have made it worth any difficulties experienced along the way. It is wonderful to see the changes which take place in the lives of the girls from the time they come as freshmen until they graduate. These changes are often direct results of the Lord's working through many individuals at Bryan, and most of the women students greatly appreciate this and share it with me.

Q. Here's a question for the dean of men: what personal contacts are you able to have with the young men in the dorms?

Andrews: This is what I consider to be a delicate facet of being a head resident. It is their dormitory, and I could very easily be overbearing by making my presence known every day. That means that I have to trust the men who work for me as resident assistants to do the discipline in the dorm. Most of my personal contacts in the dorm are social. I enjoy talking with guys in an informal way in their rooms. There is usually something interesting going on that I participate in. Right now, there is a nerf basketball tournament in which I am entered. It's an annual event run by Jeff Tubbs in his room.

Robert Andrews '67, dean of men and part-time instructor in the Division of Bible Studies, holds the M.Div. from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School and the M.A. in college student personnel services from Tennessee Technical University.

Q. Mr. Andrews, what aspects of your own college and seminary training have helped you most in your present position?

Andrews: The greatest help to me from my own college experience is that I went to Bryan myself. I know what it is like to live in the dorm at Bryan, and I know what I did and didn't like about my head resident and dean. My training at Trinity is what I consider to be the best possible training for this job. I regard my position as that of pastor to the men on campus; the fact that my job requires discipline, rather than being negative, has a positive effect on my relationship with the men. Essentially mine is a spiritual position of leadership for which I was trained at Trinity.

Q. What do you think are the most important differences in attending a Christian college as compared to a secular institution?

Andrews: Academically I believe that the Christian college is far superior because the Christian college professor is still interested in maintaining high academic standards and still believes in absolute "true truth." Socially the Christian college is the ideal place to meet and date fine Christian young people. The secular school has only two things that the Christian school doesn't have: highly specialized majors and a strong challenge to the Christian position that can lead to strong Christian maturity.

Anice Pence '74 is an elementary education major who exchanged an elementary classroom for an apartment in Huston Hall where she is head resident.

Q. How do you like the responsibility of being "mother" for a hundred girls after just graduating yourself?

Pence: Sometimes I joke with the girls about being their mom, but I really prefer that they feel toward me as they would an older friend or sister. I'm glad that I am in this position the year after my graduation because it hasn't been so long ago that I have had some of those same problems. That is a humbling feeling and helps me to picture their various situations much easier. Also, the Lord has given me four good R.A.'s (Resident Assistants) to share that responsibility of being a mother to girls away from home.

Q. What does your work include beside giving permissions for girls to go out of town?

Pence: My work in the office as secretarial assistant involves some secretarial work, some work as receptionist, some counseling, and giving out of information. In the dorm generally I am available to the girls in case they need someone to talk to, or to ask questions of, or as is sometimes the case, to take them to the hospital. At all-in or curfew time, the four R.A.'s in Huston report to me and we discuss any problems at that time. I want to add that my R.A.'s have been a great encouragement to me this year.

ALUMNI NEWS BRIEFS

ARIABELLE LANGLEY ALEXANDER x'36 reports from Daisy, Tenn., that she and her husband, Thomas, an auto mechanic, have two married children, Barbara Anne Raines who has three children, and Gerald who has one child. Gerald had some narrow escapes as a machine gun operator on a helicopter in Vietnam in 1967-68. Ariabelle appreciates the Christian fellowship and education that she has been able to pass on to her children.

JOHN x'37 and Clara DE ROSSET are living at Bambari, Central African Republic, while continuing their missionary ministry under Baptist Mid-Missions. Clara has been busy with large orders for mimeograph materials and John has been doing an unusual amount of traveling for conferences and to assist various individuals including sick ones.

DANIEL '41 and Eleanor HIRSCHY are living in Waterville, Maine, where Dan is pastor of a Baptist church. They recently attended a missionary conference at the Bible Baptist Church in Kingston, Nova Scotia.

NEIL BENFER x'43 is scientific editor for the national oceanic and atmospheric administration for the U.S. Department of Commerce. His wife, Mary Alice, is mathematics teacher in Albemarle County public schools in Virginia. They have four children: Neil, Jr., Carol Ann, Susan Lee, and Brian, who are all college age or older.

ROBERT COLLITT x'50, pastor of Grace Brethren Church in Hagerstown, Md., reports the dedication of a new education wing last fall. This half-million dollar investment is named Grace Learning Center, where Bob has a "gorgeous office." In November Bob married Arlene Spessard (see weddings) whose husband died just a week after FLO (MELLICK) x'46 COLLITT died in April last year. The Collitt newlyweds took a nine-day honeymoon in Haiti. On January 6, Bob left home again for Haiti, taking several men to donate their talent and time to do plumbing for a new dental lab for the clinic at the mission station of the West Indies Mission. Bob spoke to missionaries in a mini-Bible conference and also on the Haitian radio.

GEORGIA (STANDEN) x'49 WEYRICK is an assistant teacher in a non-ambulatory class of mentally retarded children in Murray Ridge School of Elyria, Ohio. The school has 240 students. Her husband, Jim, is manager of maintenance at Pfaunder Company (Elyria), a branch of Sybron Corporation, Rochester, N.Y. The Weyricks have three children: Marianne Kay, 18; Jeffrey David, 16; and Robert James, 14.

ROY '51 and MAXINE (LYKENS) x'52 CLARK moved to Fort Wayne, Ind., in August when Roy became pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church after eighteen years at Bethlehem Baptist Church in Cleveland, Ohio.

Gordon and THELMA (ANDREWS) '53 SVELMOE have been at the Wycliffe Center in Manila since July. Thelma has learned to operate the Justewriter in order to do final typing of the Mansaka New Testament, which will be printed at the DZAS press of the Far East Broadcasting Company in Manila. Gordon does advance checking of the manuscript and then proofreading after it is typed. Their sons attend Faith Academy—Eric, a senior interested in aviation; Bill, a sophomore, and Paul, a freshman. Their furlough is scheduled to begin after the boys finish school in April 1975.

JOYCE (JOHNSON) '54 RATHBUN flew to the States from Seoul, Korea, as one of four escorts for ten Korean orphans who were met by their new parents in Kansas City, Mo., on October 24. She has been teaching at Seoul American Army High School as a substitute to help defray tuition for their four children in Seoul Foreign School. She and JOHN '54 continue to teach English conversation for two hours each week at Myungji University, and John also teaches Biblical literature in the graduate school one night a week. John has additional administrative duties for TEAM Radio Station HLKX to work with governmental and personnel affairs.

EVERETT '56 and FAITH '61 BOYCE are both enrolled for graduate studies at University of Tennessee in Knoxville—Everett has 13 hours in a doctoral program and Faith has 6 hours. Mary Beth is a freshman in nurse's training at Oral Roberts University; Bryan is a senior in West High, Knoxville; and Amy in grade three at Pond Gap Elementary.

TOM x'56 and Joyce SACHER rejoice in the year-round ministry of Camp Streamside, Pa., in the Pocono mountains. Their encouragements include 125 children who found Christ in summer camp, 150 first to fourth graders in released time classes each Tuesday, hundreds in the country reached through Bible club work, and improvements in camp facilities, including a new two-story maintenance building. Their three daughters are Sue in 10th grade, Sandy in 8th, and Shari in 7th.

CHARLES x'57 and Shirley MOORE live in Wichita, Kansas, where they work for Beech Aircraft Corp., Chuck as manager and Shirley as nurse. Chuck frequently ferries planes to various parts of the country and recently included a visit to Bryan. At Homecoming he brought their oldest daughter, Dawn, as a student prospect. Their other children are: Derek, 16; Darlene, 15; Douglas, 12; and Donalee, 6.

The Barth Family

Jim and EILEEN (HARTZELL) '58 QUINN live in Sarver, Pa., where Jim is principal in Freeport Area Schools. He was chosen last year as "Outstanding Community Leader and Noteworthy American." Both Jim and Eileen are active in their church. The Quinns have four daughters: Gaylene, 14; Juli, 12; Cheri, 9; and Heather, 6.

CLIFFORD BRANSON '59 continues as pastor of the Alma Evangelical Free Church in Alma, Neb. He and Mary Alice (Greider) have two children, Elizabeth Jean, 11, and David Heath, 9.

Gary and ALICE (TOBELMANN) '59 FREDRICKS shared in a conference in Nairobi which brought 120 pastors and laymen from 7 countries for 5 days. They heard messages on the abundant Christian life and personal evangelism. Seven couples who attended a fellowship in their home represented seven nationalities and heard personal testimonies plus Four Spiritual Laws.

Grandpa and Grandma Fredricks visited for a month including Christmas to enjoy their two grandsons, Scott and Mark.

DWIGHT '59 and Phyllis ZIMMERMAN continue their ministry with Cedine Bible Mission in Spring City, Tenn., where they reside with their children—Stephen, 16; Phillip, 14; Timothy, 12; Susanne, 11; and Keren Beth, 6.

JERRY '60 and Shirley DAY reside in Columbus, Ind., where Jerry is pastor of the Berean Bible Church and Shirley is teacher in the Bartholomew County School Corp. Their children are Debbie, 17, and Jerry, Jr., 15.

ADIB LIDDAWI '60 is supervisor of teachers for the state of New Jersey, and his wife, Mirth, works in the emergency room of Memorial Hospital near their home in Roselle Park, N.J. They have five children: Diane, 13; Nancy, 12; Stephen, 10; Renee, 8; and Michael, 5.

JOHN RODEN '61 with his wife, Erlanda, and their twin sons, Richard and Roy, now 9, moved in April to Long Prairie, Minn., where John became pastor in that city. He also has a job at Cathedral press working two months out of three.

WAYNE BOMGAARS '62 is principal at a new school and assistant principal at a junior high school in Muskegon, Mich. He and his wife, Sharon, welcomed a new son last June—Benjamin. Sharon is still the director of the Learning Center. They both maintain responsible positions in the church for a full and useful life.

MAURICE ALLEN '63 is assistant elementary principal in the western school corporation of Kokomo, Ind. He and his wife, Carolyn, have two daughters: Amy Rene, 5, and Heather Lynne, 7 months.

DAN x'63 and SHELBY (SKINNER) '61 HARRISON left New Guinea in December to be located at Wycliffe International office in Huntington Beach, Cal., for a period of two years. Dan will be recruiting teachers for Wycliffe schools as superintendent of children's education for Wycliffe Translators. He and Shelby worked from 1966 to 1973 at Wycliffe High School in New Guinea. In January 1974, they started a new school, K-12, which is ungraded and individualized and they also served as houseparents for missionary children. Dan's academic achievements include a full year of graduate study beyond the master's with certification in teaching, in history, social studies, and general science, and for principal and superintendent as well. Shelby has teacher certification from New Jersey in biology and general science.

NED COUEY '64 is director of the Chautauqua Neighborhood Center for Okaloosa-Walton Junior College in De Funiak Springs, Fla., where he lives with his wife, Margaret, and their daughter, Leigh Ann, who is 9 this year.

JANET CLAYCOMB '64 has been doing office work, bus visitation, and teaching a Sunday School class of 8th grade boys and girls in a church in Fort Wayne, Ind. During the summer she assisted at church camp in Angola, Ind., and had charge of 23 horses for 7 weeks. She is still considering possibilities for overseas service again.

RONALD '65 and LOIS (GROENEVELD) '64 ZARTMAN have moved their residence to Nunica, Mich., and Ron continues as pastor of the Fellowship Reformed Church in Muskegon, Mich. They have two children, Onalee, 9, and Timothy, 4.

DAN x'65 and LOUISE (GRAHAM) '68 SHEYDA have been accepted as members-in-training with Wycliffe Bible Translators. They expect to attend Jungle Camp, Mexico, from February 22 to May 19.

DAVID '65 and ANN (KELLY) '65 LIND have a 19-member family, including their own two children and other missionaries' children who attend Fortaleza Academy where David teaches.

BEATRICE SHELBY '66 is doing social work in Roanoke County, Tenn., and living in Kingston, Tenn., after spending several years in the West.

LARRY '66 and ELVERA sp.66 O'NEIL are living in Mapleton, Minn., where Larry is elementary principal of Mapleton public schools. They have two children: Mitchell Kent, 6, and Sharilyn Kayla, 3.

ATTENTION! HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS, COUNSELLORS, PARENTS

This is our special invitation to you to visit the campus during high school spring (Easter) vacation. We'll plan for you . . .

- * to meet this year's students
- * to chat with folks you knew at Bryan
- * to see the changes in our buildings

You're welcome to visit here at any time, of course, but since the week just before or just after Easter Sunday (March 30) is the usual time for high school vacations, we'd like to suggest that you come during those weeks and bring some high schoolers with you.

With advance arrangements we can accommodate student prospects in the dorms. We will also be glad to assist with motel reservations for you if you wish.

Write to our Director of Admissions, Bryan College, Dayton, TN 37321, or call (615) 775-2041, Ext. 27, to request prospective student visitor forms.

Q. Anice, what is the most rewarding part of your work?

Pence: It is to know that something I have said has helped someone. I realize that without God I am nothing and it is really a great feeling to know that God is using you when talking with a girl. The individual contact is what makes this job worthwhile to me.

Q. Do you want to mention the most difficult part?

Pence: That would have to be the millions of odds and ends that have to be remembered or else! When you see so many students come in and out of an office in a day, it makes for variety and confusion.

Q. Karin, what are some of your frustrations?

deRosset: As much as I appreciate all of the women—without exception—it is hard to get away from the job anytime. Even when I am on vacation, the responsibilities of the job carry over. The interruptions (most of them are very legitimate) are almost constant, and over a long period of time it tends to wear a person down physically and emotionally.

Q. How do you cope with the changing attitudes about men's hair length and style?

Andrews: Hair length is not really an issue with me. I enforce the rules to the best of my ability. I believe that we have a reasonable rule, and I know that we have reasonable students. It is not really a problem this year as it has been in the past. That is probably because men's hair styles are getting shorter. Our students look very good compared with students of schools with no hair code, and I believe that our students recognize this and like it the way it is.

Melodie Linebaugh, R.N., the college nurse, who is also a member of the personnel staff, holds the B.S. in Nursing from Cornell University and New York Hospital School of Nursing, and is the first Bryan nurse to have this position as full time responsibility.

Q. How does the incidence of illness relate to various activities or academic pressures?

Linebaugh: There is always a noted rise in illness at the end of a semester when papers are due and finals are soon to be taken. This may be because a student just decides he needs a break or it may be that all the time of staying up late and getting up early, or even doing "all nighters" finally catches up with him.

ALUMNI NEWS (Continued from page 3)

ANN (CHILDERS) MALONEY '67 is taking courses at UNCC for a master's degree in education while also teaching language arts to three eighth grade classes at Indian Trail. She and her husband, Bob, live in Matthews, close to Charlotte, N.C. and have a daughter, Laura, who is 4½ years now.

JOHN BURNS '68 is a teacher in the Hamilton (Ohio) school district and basketball coach.

SHIRLEY (HODGE) FITZ-RITSON x'68 received the bachelor's degree from the University of South Carolina last August.

DAVID '69 and Sue CRAWFORD and their two children are living in Grand Rapids, Mich., while on furlough from Korea. Sue has recently released a new record entitled, "Sue Hong Crawford Sings Happiness." The Crawfords have affiliated with Missionaries for Christ International and plan to return to Korea in the summer.

DON '69 and SHIRLEY (FLEMING) '69 EMERSON are shown with their year-old son, Derek Stephen, in Perry, Mich. Don completed work in August for his master's degree at Michigan State University. He then returned to the job he had vacated for a year as a specialized tutor with the Shiawassee County Intermediate School District. He enjoys the job and finds many opportunities to witness for Christ. Shirley has had several new ventures recently—caring for their baby, taking sewing, swimming, and piano lessons. Both Don and Shirley are involved in activities at their church which has plans for a new auditorium.

Q. Do you think spiritual composure has any effect on physical well-being? If so, what suggestions can you give in this relationship?

Linebaugh: A peaceful and Christ-centered mind affects the body in a very positive way. Worry can bring on many illnesses even to the point of necessitating an operation. Each person who has Christ as the center of his life should remember to commit his life daily (or moment by moment if he has a strong habit of worrying) to the leading of Christ and learn to trust Christ to take care of him as the Word has promised.

Q. What improvements do you think need to be made in the health services at Bryan?

Linebaugh: I feel there is a real need for a place to house especially ill students where they will be undisturbed by their roommates. Also, there is a need for a place to isolate a student with a communicable disease.

Q. What hopes do you have for future development at Bryan?

Andrews: I hope to attend chapel in a beautiful new building with a student body of eight hundred. I hope to have a new dorm so that some of the male students won't have to be asked to live in less favorable housing.

Q. What word do you have for alumni who may have children or friends ready for college?

Zopfi: Send them to Bryan, for I do not believe that you can find a better Christian college. We have a dedicated Christian faculty. The academic training is of the highest caliber. We have a friendly and helpful Christian atmosphere on campus. My special greetings to all alumni. I know so many of you from former times. I am glad to tell you how much I enjoy being back at our alma mater. Thank God that He has kept Bryan true to Himself and His word through the years. Sometimes alumni have said to me, "Isn't it a pity that Bryan has changed!" Bryan has grown, it is now accredited; BUT BRYAN HAS NOT CHANGED SPIRITUALLY. Come and see. As alumni, let us support Bryan in every way possible.
