Installing power cables can be frustrating, especially while maintaining waterproof ratings.

Fortunately, Simx Lighting has a solution.

Simx have revamped the power entry gland from a round hole to one that will snugly fit flat TPS cables, eliminating the need for complicated silicone gap filling and ensuring the IP rating is maintained.

Commercial luminaires come with 1.5mm2 glands, while lower wattage residential ones have a 1.00mm2 option. This upgraded gland can be found on all downlighters and up/downlighters in Simx Lighting's outdoor range, with more products following over time.

Check them out in your nearest Telfer Electrical branch.
