IE INFORMATION NOTICE NO. 84-11: TRAINING PROGRAM DEFICIENCIES

Addressees:

All nuclear power reactor facilities holding an operating license (OL) or construction permit (CP).

Purpose:

This information notice is provided as information that may be of value in upgrading your training programs. This notice relates to training program deficiencies associated with licensed operator training. It is expected that recipients will review the information for applicability to their facilities and consider actions, if appropriate, to preclude a similar problem occurring at their facilities. No specific action or written response is required.

Description of Circumstances:

In February and November of 1983, Region II conducted training assessments at a Region II facility which cast doubt on the adequacy and validity of its operator license training program. An in-depth inspection subsequently verified the existence of deficiencies in the fulfillment of training commitments made in the facility's FSAR and in the documentation of completed operator training. Of particular note was the lack of attention to accuracy on the part of the facility and the individual trainees in the submittal of training history information pursuant to the filing of applications for operator license examinations. These inaccuracies included information related to qualification card completion and statements concerning the length of formal training courses. Had the NRC been aware of the inaccurate statements made in these license applications, license examinations would not have been administered at the facility at that time. The statement on the application (NRC Form 398) that certifies that all required training has been or will be completed includes, as a minimum, that training required by the FSAR has been conducted.

Inaccuracies on operator license applications relating to the degree of training, or other factors identified in NRC rules, are considered a serious matter by the NRC. This is specifically addressed in 10 CFR 55.10(d) and 10 CFR 55.40(b). Individual operator license applicants and facility licensees are responsible for proper filing of operator license applications.

Region II inspections of other facilities have identified failures to meet FSAR commitments concerning licensed operator training. Other instances have been identified in which facilities have failed to fully implement their own procedures for licensed operator training. In some cases, the inspections identified a failure to implement plant-specific system level training and qualification programs.

The NRC-licensed operator examination and certifications program is conducted based on certification that all required training has been or will be completed by the time of the examination and the assumption that the program has been conducted in a quality manner and properly documented. Failure to fully implement the required training program calls into question the certification of the affected operators.

If you have any questions regarding this matter, please contact the Regional Administrator of the appropriate NRC Regional office, or this office.
